But she only deemed him an arrant bore,
And he bought him a fan of the palm-leaf style,
He fanned himself and he fanned her, too;
And gently the ambient breeze did wile;
While bolder and bolder the fellow grew—
"Now, what do you think of the case?" said the bore,
He meant himself, did this silly fool;
"Considering we have not met before,
I think your fanning's decidedly cool."
—Goodall's Sun.

The Serviceable Toad.

Toads, next to snakes, says Ben: Perley Poore in the Cultivator, are hated and despised, yet in a garden they devour multitudes of insects that prey on the labors of man, and do not meddle with any of the plants, fruits or flowers that require his cultivation. Some writers have denied that the toad under any circumstances was poisonous; but this is a mistake. When in danger, or when irritated, the tubercular elevations on the backs and sides have the power of secreting a milky fluid, as every one may readily ascertain, and every school boy who is in the habit of pelting them with stones well knows. This fluid, given for defence, as I suppose, is decidedly poisynous, as its effects on other animals fully prove. This is the only power of injuring it possesses; and this secretory and offensive power appears to reside in the skin, as the animal is frequently skinned and sold with the frog in the markets of Europeans cities for food, and eaten with impunity.

Notwithstanding his clumsy and ungainly appearance, there are few animals so quick of motion as the toad and this is shown most distinctly in taking his insect food. It will not unfrequently, in a warm summer evening, when doors are open, make its entrance into the house, where it feeds on flies that approach. Seated on its haunches, it surveys the floor with great gravity; but if an unwary fly alight within four or five inches it disappears with incredible quickness. There can be a slight motion of the toad discovered, a quick snap, as of the jaws, is heard, but the position of the animal is unchanged, while his prey vanishes with the velocity of lightning. A close examination shows, however, that there is a slight motion of the body forward, without moving the feet; and the snap is produced by the shutting of the mouth after the tongue has seized and secured the insect, though so quickly is the operation performed that the tongue is never distinctly seen. The lightning's flash is hardly more quick or fatal than the snap of this reptile to the insect he aims at.

Toads are believed to remain, when unmolested, in the same places for many years, going into winter quarters and coming out in the spring. In England they are purchased by gardeners, who prize them very highly, and although poets have [illegible] as objects of diversion, [illegible] reptile is of [illegible] service to man.

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 3, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - -	$1.50
One copy six months - - - -	75
One copy four " - - - -	50

It is so easy to find fault that it is no credit to find it, and it is certainly no fortune.

Kuklux are reported to have turned up in Florida, having mobbed a white radical by the name of Brown at Apalachicola.

At Opelika two young ladies were run over by a train of cars last Sunday. Their feet and ankles were badly crushed.

Gov. Gordon, of Georgia, is trying to help the Ohio Democrats with his campaign oratory. He might as well have remained at home.

A writer on noses says that those that stand out prominently represent characters that are discontented with their lot. Perhaps that is what incites the owners of them to poke their noses into other people's business.

The Hartford Herald offended one of its readers so severely by omitting his name from the personal column, that the aggrieved idiot writes to the Hartford Progress to complain of it. Newspaper men get on the inside of more rank tom foolery among mankind, and get glimpses of more pitiable weaknesses than any other set of men on earth.

Robert Farley, of Perryville, who is drawing a pension of $8 per month for service rendered in the Mexican war, gives one tenth of this for missions. This is his only income, and he is not able to work, but still he feels it to be his duty to give one-tenth to the Lord.—L. M. Bradley in Ala. Baptist.

Men who have an income of $500 or $1,000 a year and grumble when they are assessed $5 for all church purposes, are requested to paste this item in their hats.

The corner-stone of a monument to Gen. R. E. Lee was laid last week, at Richmond. Editor James R. Randall, of the Anniston Hot Blast, and the author of "My Maryland" took part in the ceremonies. Gen. Joseph E. Johnson, now seventy years of age and Gen. Jubal A. Early were also present on the ocassion. Mr. Randall in writing to his paper reports Gen. Johnston as follows:

Gen. Johnston evidently thinks that the man who "saved the Union" was Jefferson Davis, who lackstatesmanship of a practical or discerning character. "The Confederacy," said Gen. Johnston, "had a chance for success, but Mr. Davis blighted it. We could have had a credit in gold of $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 if Mr. Davis had not pronounced taking cotton the planters offered unconstitutional. He did not hesitate, later on, to take horses, mules and other property against the will of their owners. As he defeated that measure, which would have furnished us with the sinews of war, I think he saved the Union, in the common acceptation of that term."

Will it Ever be Thus?

The citizens of Alabama are a peculiar people as regards patronizing home enterprise and home industry. We read an interview in the Birmingham Sunday Chronicle recently between a reporter of that paper and an iron worker of that city. The iron worker informed the reporter that most of the iron worked by the foundries, machine shops and boiler works of that city was shipped there from Cincinnati, Louisville and New Orleans. The iron worker tried to make it appear that the material could not be furnished them by Birmingham iron manufacturers on account of their being overrun with orders, but we have our doubts about that for in almost every line of business we find the same inconsistent and unreasonable course pursued. For instance the elite of the small towns buy most of their goods from some city merchant when by patronizing their home merchants they would enable them to carry better goods in stock and give just as good bargains as can be had in the cities. Then the fashionable people of our cities think they are not at all stylish unless they order what they wear from New York, Philadelphia and indeed frequently have them imported from London and Paris when they could do just as well by patronizing their home merchants. They would look just as well and no doubt save money by so doing; they would at least help a fellow citizen.

The state of Alabama gave the contract for printing her new code to a Tennessee printing house when it could have been done just as well and probably have been finished sooner in any of her cities; the state printers should have done the work by all means.

The county officers, and merchants in small towns have most of their stationery printed away from home instead of giving the work to the poor printer located in their midst tying to make a living and who can do their work just as well and as cheap as they get it done elsewhere. Indeed a large amount of the printing for the county officers is done outside the state.

We ask will it ever be thus? We cannot believe that it will and we hope the time will hasten when the people of Alabama will give up this unreasonable practice and help to build up and support the communities in which they live by patronizing home enterprise and industries of all kinds.

The Secrets of the Eyes.

Generally speaking, blue eyes signify constancy and devotion to friends.

Black eyes denote as a rule sensuous character and an inconstant, fickle disposition. However, there are some noted exceptions to this rule.

The main characteristic of the violet eye, which is called the woman's eye, are affection and purity, chivalric belief, and limited or deficient intellectuality.

Self-satisfaction and conceit are commonly the characteristic traits represented by the green eye. When the tinge verges on yellowishness, it denotes that the possessor is gifted with strong power of imagination.

The very light blue eye is characteristic of the Northern races, and in a woman it suggests constancy and truth, steadfastness, simplicity, courage and purpose. In a man it is apt to denote a phlegmatic disposition.

Brown eyes are the eyes of the South and East, and denote, as a general rule, passion and lack of originality. In women they mean jealousy and cruelty very often, and in men courage, superstition, and mild recklessness.

Blue eyes usually go with light hair, but when they go with dark hair and complexion there is coupled with the affectionate qualities a tendency to deceive, stimulated by an ambition for conquest and leading to the gratification of admiration.

Hazel is a very difficult color to determine, there are so many different varieties. As a general rule eyes of this color suggest a good deal of strength of character, and generally a sense of mischief and trickery. A blue grey, with bronze streaks radiating from the centre, comes nearest to hazel.

Grey eyes are the most expressive of all eyes, and denote strong qualities of mind and soul. Persons with grey eyes usually have a great deal of patriotism.

The State Press.

Birmingham Herald.]

Alabama may well be proud of her newspapers. They are conducted with enterprise, ability and honesty. A spirit of fearlessness and fair dealing inspires them to a "righteous judgment."

The weekly press is strong—strong in number, capacity, honesty and in the hearts of the people. The Livingston Journal is a first-class weekly, as are the Troy Messenger, the Bullock County Reporter, the Chilton View, the Opelika Times, the Scottsboro Citizen, the Decatur Times, the Union City Herald, and—but the list is too long here to be given.

The Huntsville Democrat is a very good paper, and holds a unique place in Alabama journalism. The Misses Clay not only furnish the copy for it, but set it up in type; there is no higher type of Southern womanhood than theirs.

No braver and truer guardian of the people's welfare, their liberty and happiness can be created than an honest and intelligent press. Every avenue of attack on the citadel of the State is triply guarded by it; the hiding place of crime exposed; the plots of villains made plain; fraud unmasked and justice upheld. No State is so safe as that which is protected by a fearless and unpurchasable press. Such have the people of Alabama, and as such they should and do appreciate it. Esto perpetua.

Chas. Sumner and His Friends.

Sumner was very careful of the feelings of his personal friends, many of whom disagreed emphatically with him on political subjects. Some of them were not of the same party with himself; some were not of the same wing of the party. After President Grant and his cabinet became estranged from the Senator, certain of his friends failed to follow him. Among them was the journalist, Maj. Ben: Perley Poore, who, in his letters and telegrams took strong ground for the president and against the Senator. The contest at the time was exceedingly bitter, and "Perley's" dispatches reflected the degree of acerbity felt by the President's friends.

Sumner's friends were inclined to take issue with the journalist, holding that the tone of his letters was incompatible with his personal relations toward the Senator, and brought them to Sumner's attention. He would hear just enough of them to know what was being spoken of, and then if the paper had been handed him, would throw it into the waste basket, exclaiming: "I like him too well to read his letters." He was once asked, "How can you like him, when he speaks of you in such terms?" and his reply was: "I like the person, not the writer; I do my duty as I see it; let him do his as he sees it. Why should we quarrel?"

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

See change in the advertisement of Messrs. Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton buyers of Birmingham, Ala., which will be found eleswhere in these columns.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

NOTICE NO. 6742.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., September 27, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver U. S. Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., on Nov. 11, 1887, viz: Ann Hicks, widow of George Hicks, Homestead 14686 for the n w ¼ sec 12 township 23 n, range 13 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Hightower and Jackson Campbell, of Randolph, Ala., and William Davis and Rebecca Hightower, of Jemison, Ala.

sep29 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6809.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., October 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: Thomas Harrison, Homestead 16,483 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ sec 4, township 22 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: J. F. Maull, F. G. Crocheron, G. W. Hill, J. P. Givhan, all of Strasburg, Ala.

oct13 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6739.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Sep. 27, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver United States Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., on November 12, 1887, viz: Mary J. Thornton, Homestead 13247 for the n e ¼ sec 33, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Harrison Kendrick, Thomas P. Connel, Elijah Welden, Bud Kendrick, all of Verbena, Ala.

sep29* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6823.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: Mary E. Gentry, homestead 12826 for the n ½ of n e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: George W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 25, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on Dec. 3, 1887, viz: John S. Davis, homestead 16776 for the s w ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 28 township 24 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: French Nabors, of Montevallo, Ala., Sam Curry, William D. Carter and Shelby Lucus, of Brierfield, Ala.

oct27 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Seale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

MAKES CHILD-BIRTH EASY!

SHORTENS LABOR. LESSENS THE PAIN ATTENDING IT! DIMINISHES THE DANGER to LIFE of MOTHER and CHILD.

Should be used a few months before confinement. Send for book "To Mothers," mailed free.

Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle.

☞ Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

THE LIGHT-RUNNING NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR. NEVER OUT OF ORDER.

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.

CHICAGO ILL. - 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. - DALLAS TEX.

ST LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 6825.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 18, 1887, viz: Orville Roper, Homestead 13419 for the e ½ of ne ¼ and s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n e ¼ of s e ¼ sec 28 township 21 n range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Smith, James C. Mims, Francis M. Headley, of Clanton, Ala., and Lee Hayse, of Maplesville, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6846.

U. S. Land Office, Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 21st, 1887; viz: Albert N. Wilson, Homestead 13234 for the s e ¼ of section 6, township 20 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James H. Griffis, Robert L. Williams, Solomon Owen, Ely Owen, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6824.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 18, viz: Monroe M. Durbin, Homestead 13060 for the s ½ of n w ¼ and n ½ of s w ¼ sec 30 township 21 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James R. Broadhead, Madison Popwell, John Edwards, and Newton Culp, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6822.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: James P. Gentry, Homestead No. 10388 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Geo. W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE

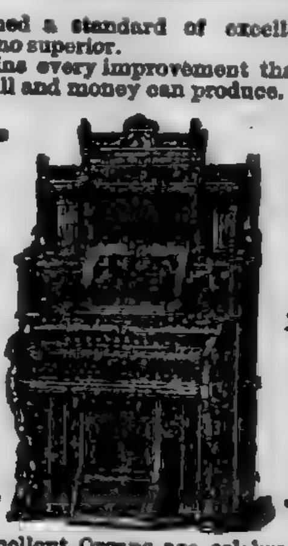
ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT IS GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES

HODGES SARSAPARILLA CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.

T. I. N. C. IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA

SOLD EVERYWHERE

MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.



THE CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION, UNEQUALED FACILITIES, SKILLED WORKMEN, BEST MATERIAL, COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.

Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,

CHICAGO, ILL.

L&N

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

THE GREAT Through Trunk Line

Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS, And the Cities of N. ORLEANS, MOBILE, and MONTGOM'Y, MEMPHIS, NASHVILLE,

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A. Louisville, Ky.

(3)

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

E. WALL. P. GIACOPAZZI.

WALL & GIACOPAZZI,

Wholesale Fruit, Produce and Commission Merchants,

Second Ave. and Twentieth St.

Birmingham, - - - Ala.

References: S. Oteri, New Orleans; Jos. Denunzio, Louisville; Buhr, Wendte & Co., Cincinnati; Underhill, Stewart & Shotta, N. Y.; Wm. D. Clarke & Co., New Orleans; Cowing & Clark, Cincinnati; A. G. Conant & Co., N. Y.; First National Bank, Birmingham, Ala.

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.

Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.

Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,

MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA,

Are displaying a Complete and Varied Assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Millinery.

Special attention given to Mail Orders. Samples cheerfully furnished on application.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,

Temple Stores, - - Commerce St.

Montgomery, Ala.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,

mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

WILSON HOUSE.

A. P. SIMS, Proprietor.

Corner 21st Street and 2nd Ave.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

The above house is first-class in all its appointments, and is under the exclusive control of A. P. SIMS, an experienced hotel manager.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

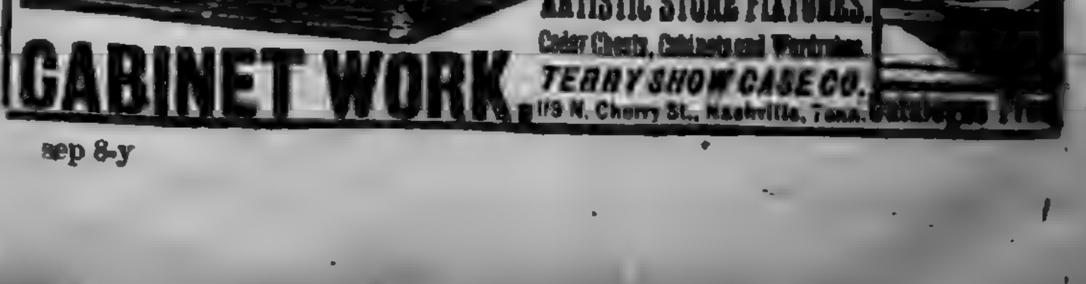
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER, Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.



SHOW WALL CENTRE RIBBON CASES

ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.

Cedar Chests, Cabinets and Wardrobes.

CABINET WORK.

TERRY SHOW CASE CO.

119 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 3, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.

—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 13	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors. Market steady. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midling 9¼c. Middling 8¾c: Low Middling 8½c.

MONTGOMERY.—Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 9 1-16c, Middling 8 13-16c. Low Middling 8 1-16c.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Mrs. Lewis, of this place, is quite sick.

Christmas will come on Sunday this year.

Thursday, Nov. 24th, is next Thanksgiving day.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. Walter Cary, of Montevallo, was in Clanton Saturday.

Mr. J. P. Allen, of Jemison, spent last Saturday in Clanton.

Mrs. Willis Lowe is visiting friends at Wetumpka this week.

Blank deeds, mortgages, notes, drafts and receipts for sale at this office.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Confectioneries and family groceries at C. L. Phillips'. Call on him near the drug store.

Willie Lowe, son of Mrs. Jim Lowe, near this place, has been quite ill for several weeks.

Mr. Jno. N. Thornton, of the Shelby Sentinel force, spent Sunday at his home in this place.

We have just received a large stock of job printing stationery. Send us your work.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

The front hall and steps of the court house were actually swept clean on last Saturday. What next.

Miss Reid Hide, well known in Clanton, was married, on the night of the 1st inst., to a Mr. John McCay.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of little Tommie Aldridge, the two year old son of Mr. J. H. Aldridge.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Mr. Lee Stewart is now waiting on customers in Mr. R. Ehrman's store. We predict that Lee will make a good "counter-jumper."

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Mr. Henry Deramus, of Antauga county, was in Clanton this week trying to buy a home here. He was offered several places, but decided to return home and bring his wife over to see them before purchasing.

Winter Shoes.

I am now selling a heavy grade of shoes for winter wear. They are the kind to keep your feet dry and warm, as well as last a long time. Come and see the shoes, examine the quality, consider the low prices, and then buy and be happy all the winter. I have a fine handsewed shoe at $5.00 per pair.

Yours Truly,

W. L. SAMPEY.

Mrs. Phillips has just received a new lot of hats and caps. Has a better assortment of Misses and children's hats than ever. Call on her.

Miss Georgia Lowe sent the married half of the VIEW some nice sugar cane this week. Mr. Willis Lowe also brought the VIEW some five specimens of his cane crop.

Mr. Alfred Baker is having a nice residence erected on his lot near the cemetery and when finished will move his family into it. He has rented out his place one mile east of town.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Rev. A. J. Briggs, our Methodist pastor is spending the week in Clanton and will preach several sermons at night while here. Next Sabbath is his regular appointment at this place.

We have a nice stock of novels always on hand at the VIEW Stationery Stand. Have just received a new supply, call and purchase before they are picked over. Only 25 cents each.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Mr. T. M. Edwards has added a nice stock of dry goods to his grocery business and is now prepared to sell you dry goods, groceries and confectioneries as cheap as the cheapest. Read his advertisement in another column and call on him.

The concert at the courthouse Tuesday night was not very well attended, though it is said to have been a very pleasing entertainment by those who did go. The church benefit amounted to little, as the total receipts were only about $9.00.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly, the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Mr. W. T. Mahan, of Jumbo, brought to the VIEW office on Friday last a specimen of ribbon cane raised by him the past year which measures seven feet in height and contains eighteen well matured joints. This shows how well this crop can be grown on our pine lands, and as it is a valuable crop its cultivation should be more general.

Mr. W. W. Cook, of Birmingham, who was recently united in marriage to Miss Mamie Marsh, formerly of this place, was in Clanton last Monday in company with his mother-in-law. They came down on business and returned Monday night. Mrs. Marsh succeeded in disposing of her property at this place. She sold to Mr. W. E. Johnson, for $500.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Out of the several routes of new railroads being surveyed through our county we hope that Clanton may be so fortunate as to get one of them. A through line crossing the L. & N. at this place would help our town and county very much. In consequence of the transportation facilities which such a road would give us, our little city would build up much faster than it is now doing. A surveying party was in Clanton a few weeks ago surveying a route for the Atlanta & Alabama Railroad from Atlanta to Selma.

What is home without the children? Sad indeed without their merry voices and endearing ways. To endeavor to keep them in health is a pleasant duty, and a dose of White's Cream Vermifuge administered when needed never fails to produce the desired effect, and a lot of ugly Worms is expelled; which if allowed to remain would cause the child untold suffering.

A cross mark on your paper after your name means that your subscription is due. Of course we do not mean any offense to a patron by this means of informing him of the fact, but do it because it is a convenient and cheap way of imparting the information, and because it is a custom with us and with many country papers. We cannot find time or go to the expense of writing a letter to each subscriber and no reasonable man could expect us to do so, but we would do this rather than offend those who may be unreasonable if we just knew who they were.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boshee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

An Echo of Papa's Thoughts.

Boston Budget: A little member of a Boston household has been greatly wrought up by the advent of a litter of kittens, and particularly exercised over the drowning of most of them. The question as to which should be permitted to live and which consigned to a watery grave had been long discussed, and the discussion had left an indellible impression on the little fellow's mind. Some days after the family of which he is a member was augmented by the birth of triplets, and the little boy, on being first presented to the new comers, startled everybody by the query: "Papa how many is oo goin' to dwown?"

A house full of healthy, hearty children, presided over by christian parents is a heaven on earth, but home is anything but pleasant when full of sick, fretful children. Provide them with White's Cream Vermifuge which never fails when used according to directions for the expulsion of worms. This remedy is the best ever offered the public. It moves the worms sure as death.

Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment is so well known that only a word as a reminder is necessary. No one who has suffered with Piles needs to be told more than once that Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment is positively a permanent cure for that harrassing disease. The incredulous are asked to give it one trial and be convinced that this incomparable remedy is all that is claimed.

Verbena.

Rev. A. J. Briggs, Jr., preached here Sunday morning and night of the 23rd ult. His father dedicated a new church near Selma on that day.

Mr. Mitchell Williamson, of Birmingham spent a few days with family and friends recently.

Mr. A. D. Bentley, of Clanton, came down to hear his old college mate preach.

Dr. Thomas Davis, of Anniston, was in Verbena recently.

Mrs. Mary Thompson has returned from Montgomery.

Mrs. Wingate has gone to Birmingham to see friends.

Mr. Charlie Reid, has brought a new "grip-sack," filled it with samples and joined the "commercial tourists."

President and Mrs. Cleveland paid Verbena a flying visit on the 20th ult. About three hundred admirers met at the Station to pay their respects. Mrs. Cleveland received two pommegranates and a humming bird's nest.

Last Sunday being fifth Sunday, no services here.

Rev. L. G. Skipper has been carrying on a protracted meeting in Prattville.

Mr. Caldwell, a Baptist minister, has been in Verbena several days.

Mrs. Mary Thompson was called to Birmingham to see her neice, Miss Bettie Saunders, who is dangerously ill. Her many friends here are quite anxious about her.

We have quite an acquisition in the way of improved stock. Squire Wells and Mr. Billing purchased a lot of fine Jersey's and shorthorns for their "Sandy Spring" farm. Mr. Fred Thornton bought two short-horn heifers for his home here.

Col. Jeff. Falkner has purchased some extra Jersey cows and heifers for his "Lake Farm."

Our new postmaster, Mr. A. L. Haralson, has moved his office across the street to Dr. Calley's office.

Mr. John Farley is the happiest man in our village. A fine son named for his father.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 24, '87.

To Probate Judges, Circuit Clerks and others.

GENTLEMEN: The following positive instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington, are in force.

"Registers of Land Offices have no right, officially, to receive any monies whatever, except such as are paid to them by Receivers, as salary, fees, and commissions."—Extract from Circular.

The Receiver is the only officer authorized to receive money coming to the office.

Hereafter you will forward all monies, checks, money orders, &c., to Wm. C. Jordan, Receiver, with the papers, or a letter explanatory thereof. Information as to the cost of any service required will be referred to the Receiver for answer, as he is the proper officer to receive all fees."—Extract from Circular.

A strict observance of these rules must be complied with as this Register has no discretion in the matter.

All applications, Final Proofs, &c., containing money forwarded to the Receiver, will be handed the Register, the Receiver retaining the money.

J. G. HARRIS, Register.

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

1887 1887

Fall & Winter!

We have in stock the most complete line of

General Merchandise

COMPRISING

Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, Notions, Hardware, Drugs, Etc.

We sell goods at reasonable prices, and guarantee correct weights and measures. Highest price paid for cotton in cash, and goods exchanged for produce.

T. E. CALLIER & SON,
aug25-3m Dixie, Ala.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

THE

Verbena High School.

VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.

FACULTY:

E. D. ACKER, A. B., LLB., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.

MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.

MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.

MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.

CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class "	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00.

Tuition is payable in advance.
Students will be prepared for any class in college.

Tax Notice.

(LAST CALL.)

I will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and county taxes of Chilton county for the year 1887:

Strassburg	November	15
Pine Hill	"	16
D. H. Mullins'	"	17
Jemison	"	18
Hunt's Mill	"	19
Providence	"	22
Concord Church	"	21
Macedonia	"	23
Benson	"	14
Maplesville	"	24
Howison & Carter's Mill	"	30
R. Latham's	"	25
Stanton	"	26
Dixie	"	29
Valley Creek Church	"	28
Kincheon	December	12
Verbena	"	8
Cooper's	"	7
Clanton	"	3
John Gore's	"	5
Joe Allred	"	6
Pratt Saw Mill	"	9
Wells & McCranie's Mill	"	10
Patrick's Old Mill	"	13

And at Clanton ten last days of the year.

oct 13 D. A. WHITE, T. C. C. C.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!

JOHN B. RODEN,

Bookseller and Stationer,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade. I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and

Sell For Cash Across the Counter.

No exceptions made for anybody.

A. J. BROOKS.

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,

FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,

Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

—JOBBERS IN—

Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.

PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.

GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.

THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.

OFFICE COR. 1st AVE. AND 21st STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,

Machinery & Mill Supplies,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES,
BOILERS,
SAW MILLS,
CORN MILLS,
SHINGLE MACHINES,
CORN MILLS,
SUGAR MILLS,

COTTON GINS.
COTTON PRESSES.
PULLEYS,
SHAFTING,
BELTING, and
MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 ly Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

G. E. WILLIAMS,

BLACKSMITH

—AND—

WHEELWRIGHT.

CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.

☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞Will go far and near.

Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,

—DEALER IN—

Guns and Ammunition,

GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,

Wholesale Grocers,

P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,

Artistic Photographer

10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞Correspondence solicited.☜
[jan21-1f]

Nabers & Morrow,

Wholesale Druggists,

FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

MEDICINES,

Fine Wines, Liquors, Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's

BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to

Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞MONTGOMERY STABLES,☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 448. jauly

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,

Leading Tailor.

1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods.

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best Workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,

—DEALER IN—

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.

CLANTON, ALA.

☞Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'F'G Co., Baltimore, Md. oct6-6m

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
I. N. Langston.
NO SHODDY GOODS!
LOW PRICES
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

JOB PRINTING
—OF—
EVERY DESCRIPTION
NEATLY EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE.
Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention!
GIVE US A TRIAL!

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

A Valuable Autograph.

A very charming young lady, with an autograph album in her hand, approached Mr. E. M. Rossiter, the Treasurer of the New York Central Railroad Company, at a social gathering a few evenings ago, and requested him to add his name to her collection.

"See," she said, "I have only names of prominent men in my album, and I have long wanted yours to complete it."

"Oh, I don't believe you really care very much for my autograph?"

"Indeed, I do," asserted the lady. "I wouldn't miss getting it for anything."

"Not for a hundred dollar bill?" asked the New York Central's Treasurer.

"No, not for a hundred dollar bill."

Mr. Rossiter took the album, and with a stylographic pen wrote on a blank page of the book a check on the Chemical National Bank for $100, payable to the young lady.

"There," he said, as he handed her the album, "I have taken you at your word. You can take your choice between keeping my autograph or parting with it and getting the hundred dollar bill."

The lady was highly delighted at this addition to her album, and showed it to her father. He is a business man, and his first act after reading the check was to turn it over and glance at the back. There, in a bold hand, was the indorsement:

Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not its goal.
FREDERICK J. JONES,
1887. Narragansett Pier.

"Who is this Jones?" asked paterfamilias.

"Oh, that is a young gentleman whom I met at the seashore a few weeks ago," avowed the daughter.

"Well," said the old gentleman, "I don't suppose his indorsement adds to the value of the check, but if you should ever try to cash it you will have to explain how it got there."—New York Sun.

The Persian Woman's Bath.

The bath takes up a good deal of the time of all Persian women. Even the poorest will attend the Hamman at least once a week. For the lady the bath is one of the serious affairs of life, and takes up daily from two to four hours of her time. It is something more than our idea of a bath. The victim is scraped and parboiled. The soles of the feet are pumiced until they are soft and tender as those of a little child. The hair is thoroughly washed by means of hot water and the saponaceous clay for which Shiraz is celebrated. Then the attendants mix in a brazen bowl the aromatic henna, with the requisite amount of lemon juice, till a brown paste of the consistency of gruel is produced, and handfuls of the repulsive looking compound are smeared over the lady's head. Then the hair, collected into a mass, is bound up in cabbage-leaves. Small quantities of the dye are smeared over the eyebrows; the soles of the feet, the toes, the palms of the hands, and the finger-tips are also covered with it. And now the lady has to sit perfectly still for from one to three hours, till, like a meerschaum pipe, she colors; and it is exactly the color obtained on the best specimens of pipes that is most fashionable among the Persian ladies. Day after day the bath is thronged with women, each sitting perfectly still for the color to "take." But they have their reward, for the henna dyes the hair a beautiful deep warm chestnut; hence gray hair is unknown among Persian ladies. While the coloring process has been going on, tongues have been running, and a good deal of scandal has been exchanged. The female barber, with a pair of tweezers, has removed every outlying hair from the region of the lady's eyebrows. It is the ambition of every Persian woman that her eyebrows shall meet, or at least appear to do so. So attractive are eyebrows that meet that they are called the "bridge of love." The first care, then, of the Persian beauty is with a little pencil of antimony to unite her eyebrows, and then she proceeds to make them appear of unnatural thickness; her eyelashes are penciled, too, in a manner not unknown to our own countrywomen. By this time the lady will have smoked many kalians or water pipes, she will have partaken of tea, and regaled herself with coffee; iced sherbets, too, will not have been wanting. Her finger tips, nails and palms, as well as the soles of her feet and her toes, have attained a bright chestnut hue, which will last a week. The hair is carefully washed once more. It is seldom under a yard long, often much more; for the Persian woman never cuts her hair, except in front, perhaps, when two heavy love locks are left on either side of the face. The ladies now return home to their noonday breakfasts. After breakfast there is generally a siesta, and this in a hot country is almost a necessity. About 4 tea and pipes appear, and then the lady receives callers, or pays visits, or perhaps does a little shopping, or takes the air mounted on her ambling mule or a donkey of snowy whiteness.—St. James's Gazette.

Fashion Notes.

Black stockings are fashionable.

A revival of tinsel is talked about.

Silver parasol handles show many designs of leaves, flowers, fruits, etc.

The correct jacket for fall wear is in cloths of color to match any costume.

Ribbon folds are especially in vogue, and will continue to be throughout the season.

Mikado and Mandarin prints are new cotton dress materials in quaint fantastic designs.

Some of the rough woolen stuffs come in large blanket plaids, others in medium sized checks.

Net draperies with flouncings of guipure lace are noted on dinner and evening dresses.

Modistes predict that white coats will become popular during the winter for visiting costumes.

In the imported hats that have been accepted as being particularly modish and especially stylish, lace straw and brocade is prominent.

The same latitude in details is seen this fall in fashionable garments, hats, bonnets, frocks, and wraps that has prevailed in bygone seasons.

For tailor-made gowns fine smooth broadcloth is in special favor and the colors most in vogue embrace black, zinc dark blue, mode, gray, olive, mauve, tan and claret.

Among revivals in mediæval styles of dress, those for children, reproducing the garments worn by little people in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, are very picturesque and also very comfortable.

Steel, copper, gold and silver braids, and sometimes all of these combined, are used in decorating jackets, suits, and wraps of various kinds. The patterns in which these braids are put on are exceedingly novel and very elaborate.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle.

Knowledge of our duties is the most useful part of our philosophy.

Do not imagine a thing is simple because you happen to think it is.

Our actions must clothe us with an immortality, loathsome or glorious.

Iron endurance and uncomplaining renunciation are the two poles of human force.

It is shallowness that decides instantly—that always thinks it knows what it is about.

Those who blow the coals of others' strife may chance to have the sparks fly in their faces.

He is truly great that is little in himself, and that maketh no account of any height of honor.

When the forenoons of life are wasted there is not much hope of a peaceful and fruitful evening.

Be courageous and noble-minded; our own heart, and not other men's opinions of us form our true honor.

To aim at the heart's excellences, without seeking the spirit's agency, is a delusion and a dangerous dream.

Seek to converse in purity with your own pure mind and with God. The first and highest purity is that of the soul.

The poet Tennyson has his motto in incrusted tiles on the pavement of the hall: "The truth against the world."

Humility is the first lesson we learn from reflection, and self distrust the first proof we give of having obtained a knowledge of ourselves.

Finch Catching in Holland.

Finch catching during October and November is a favorite amusement all day long of Dutch sportsmen who have "finch houses." Jacqueline drove us, therefore, early, through green tree tunnels, whence sandy copse paths diverged, into the heart of the downs, where the air was fresh and stillness great. Putting up the courcuse at one of the picturesque little farms scattered here and there—mostly of bright painted brick, with a broad black stripe along the base and then a white one—we walked through sandy potato clearings and coppice till we came to a level lawn before a wooden hut. A dozen green hutches on stands contained the cages of as many finches, singing trillingly—all the better it was supposed that these poor little prisoners were blinded! There was a turfed bank behind the cages, hiding a grass alley beyond, with nets laid on either side, while down the middle hopped decoy finches tied by the leg to bent wires. We now inspected the hut close by, most hospitably welcomed by its owners, who had come to see that all was prepared for the season's sport. The hut was cunningly cocstructed, half open for air, yet screened by a breastwork. Midmost was the fowler's chair, before glazed peep holes in the wall facing the grass alley, and with net ropes attached on either hand. As the great migratory flocks of finches land on these dunes in October and rest in the copses, they are lured by the singing decoys into the alley where their kind are hopping. They settle down to chat. The nets are drawn over them and their necks promptly wrung. On the walls a score was painted of many years' sport. Last season, 1883, 4,425 finches were caught in this finchery alone. There are several others here.—English Magazine.

Wives in Korea.

Easy marriages and quick divorces are common in Korea, and among the servants in the foreign houses here some amusing illustrations occur. In one family where the services of an extra maid servant were found necessary the Korean cook was asked if he could find a good woman for the place.

"Oh, yes," said the cook, "I am going to be married soon and perhaps my wife will do."

"Whom are you to marry? What sort of a woman is she? and how old?" put the master.

"Oh, well, there are two or three that I know of, and I will let you see them, and I will marry the one that will suit you best for a servant."

They tried to inculcate high American morals into him, and tell him that he must marry the one he loved best, without considering them in the matter at all; but the cook was bound to be obliging, and when he brought as his bride a rather nice-looking young Korean woman, they had to believe that he had considered the family's wants in making his choice. In a short time, sad to relate, he beat and abused her, and, finally being discharged, divorced her, which for a Korean woman is a position of great disgrace. The man in the case of course incurs no blame. In the old Korean times, wives, who had murdered their husbands, were buried in the ground up to their chins, and every passer-by dealt them a blow, a kick, or sword-thrust, or hurled a stone at them.—Seoul Letter.

An Interesting Relic.

Eight years before Columbus discovered America an old Portuguese sailor named Diego Cam went cruising down the coast of West Africa until he came to a great river, on whose south bank he set up a big white stone and carved an inscription upon it celebrating its discovery. It was the mighty Congo, and for many years the famous Pedra Padrao stood on the old sailor's achievement. Years later, when all eyes were turned to the new world, the Congo had been almost forgotten, and when it next attracted notice the Pedra Padrao had disappeared. The spot where it stood has for centuries been known as Padrao Point. Three or four months ago Baron von Schwebin, the Swedish traveler, heard from some natives of a large fetich stone hidden in the tall jungle grass at some distance from the beach. It was only after long palavers with the chiefs that he obtained permission to visit the revered object. He found to his delight the veritable Pedra Padrao, its well-known inscription only partly effaced. The famous monument of a great discovery will doubtless be treasured hereafter as one of the most interesting relics of the early navigators.—New York Sun.

Railroad Presidents.

Now that the face and figure of the President of one of the greatest railroad companies in this country are showing the strain to which his responsibility subjects him, the public is again reminded that the high salaries and lustre of a railroad presidency scarcely compensate for the wear and tear of the place in these days of giant corporations and intense competition. The Vanderbilts all think that William H. died of overwork as President of the Central, just as Mr. Rutter did before him, and as Colonel Thomas A. Scott did also. So, too, do the friends of the late President Orton, of the Western Union Company, account for his death. Railroad men say that the one head of a great railroad who does not exhibit the crushing influences of his task is President Adams, of the Union Pacific.—New York Sun.

McGilligan and the Pig.

A few years ago there lived in the little village of Florenceville, on the St. John River, New Brunswick, a little north of Ireland schoolmaster and petty shopkeeper by the name of McGilligan. He was small of stature and of mind, but great in his own estimation.

If not placed in some petty office he was convinced that everything was going wrong, and at every district meeting and in every hour of every day he would be loud in his denunciation of the powers that were. So, to keep peace, he was usually accommodated with some office that no one else wanted. This particular spring he was elected hogreave or pound keeper.

There lived in the same village John Darkis, a blacksmith and a noted practical joker. One day, while the honors of his office were still fresh upon McGilligan, Darkis dropped into Mr. Hog-Reave's little shop with the startling news that a pig was running loose on the common.

"Whose pig is it?" asked McGilligan.

"God knows," answered John; "but it ought to be in pound."

"Sure," said the poundkeeper, "I'll see that the laws are enforced," and in his fresh white shirt and white vest and trousers he sallied forth to apprehend the disturber of the peace.

For some reason, probably best known to the blacksmith, every boy and loafer and yellow dog in the village was on the common, watching the pig, which was a very small one, black as a crow and unconscious that its minutes of liberty were numbered.

McGilligan surrounded the pig, but it refused to be driven into the pound. Some way, every time it was at the entrance some villainous boy would manage to start it the other way. The old man threatened, coaxed and chased the pig until he was about tired out and on the point of abandoning the pursuit, when Darkis reminded him that the pig must go to pound. "True," said McGilligan, "but how the deuce am I to get him there?"

"Why," explained the exasperated reeve, "carry him in; he's but a little one."

No sooner said than done. McGilligan caught it and deposited it in the pound, but he himself was a sorry sight. His snowy clothes were as black as the pig. The rascally blacksmith had taken the pig and thoroughly rubbed him with lampblack and oil. McGilligan's ambition for office was satisfied.

Professional Etiquette prevents some doctors from advertising their skill, but we are bound by no such conventional rules and think that if we make a discovery that is of benefit to our fellows, we ought to spread the fact to the whole land. Therefore we cause to be published throughout the land the fact that Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the best known remedy for consumption (scrofula of the lungs) and kindred diseases. Send 10 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on consumption, with unsurpassed means of self-treatment. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

New Jersey has 38,000 children, between 7 and 12 years of age, who do not attend school.

"I Cure Fits."

This heading is a familiar sight to most newspaper readers, as it has appeared regularly in the best publications for many years past.

Dr. H. G. Root, of 183 Pearl St., New York, has a world wide reputation as a successful specialist in this distressing disease, and has, no doubt, cured more cases than all other doctors combined. As an evidence of good faith the doctor sends a free sample bottle of his remedy to all sufferers who write for it if they give their Express and Postoffice address.

Mexico buys more pistols than all the United States. They are of the biggest calibre.

Woman and Her Diseases is the title of a large illustrated treatise, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y., sent to any address for ten cents in stamps. It teaches successful self-treatment.

The latest thing in charities is furnishing "free legal advice to the poor."

Unlike other cathartics, Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" do not render the bowels costive after operation, but on the contrary, establish a permanently healthy action. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. By druggists.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor pays her chief cook $7,000 per annum. She has dyspepsia.

Tallest People Lazy.

Why are the tallest people the laziest? They are longer in bed than others, and if they neglect their coughs or colds, they will be there still longer. Use Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

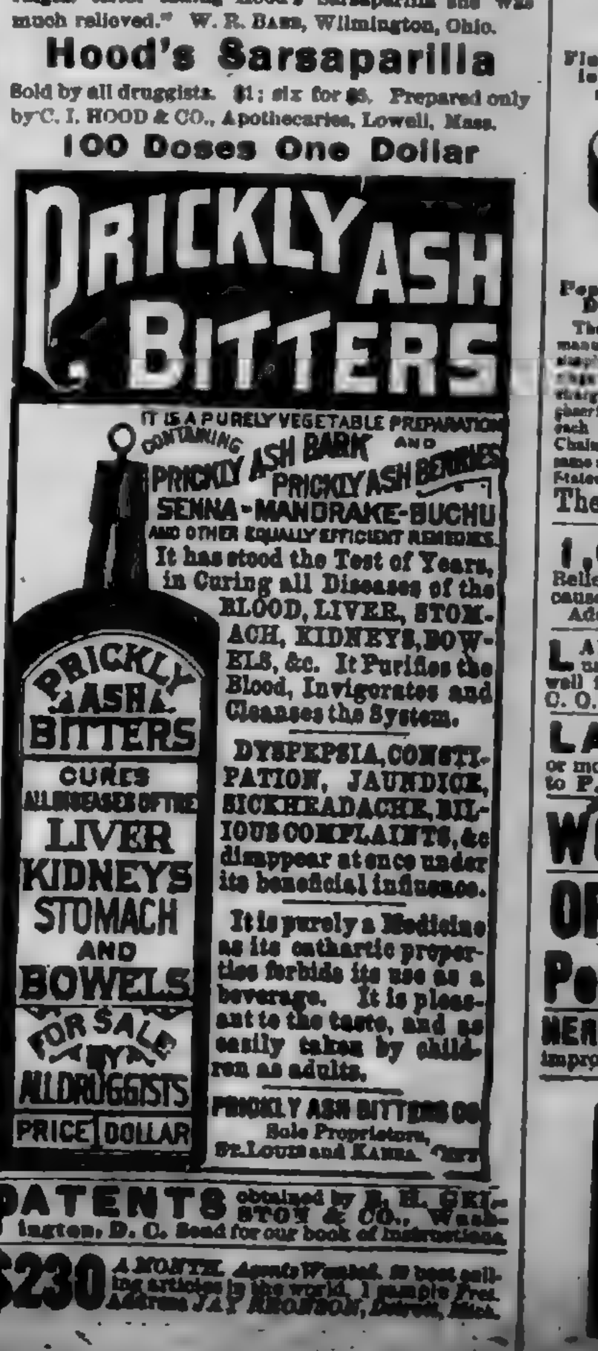
Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

EVERY person is interested in their own affairs, and if this meets the eye of any one who is suffering from the effects of a torpid liver, we will admit that he is interested in getting well. Get a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters, use it as directed, and you will always be glad you read this item.

If you are bothered with "hard times" and want to learn how to turn time into money quickly and pleasantly, write to B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va. They have a plan on foot that you ought carefully to consider.

Sick Headache
Is one of the most distressing affections; and people who are its victims deserve sympathy. But the great success Hood's Sarsaparilla has had in curing sick headache makes it seem almost foolish to allow the trouble to continue. By its toning and invigorating effect upon the digestive organs, Hood's Sarsaparilla readily gives relief when headache arises from indigestion; and in neuralgic conditions by building up the debilitated system, Hood's Sarsaparilla removes the cause and hence overcomes the difficulty.
"My wife suffered from sick headache and neuralgia. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla she was much relieved." W. R. BABB, Wilmington, Ohio.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar



PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CURES ALL DISEASES OF THE LIVER KIDNEYS STOMACH AND BOWELS FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS
PRICE DOLLAR
IT IS A PURELY VEGETABLE PREPARATION CONTAINING PRICKLY ASH BARK AND PRICKLY ASH BERRIES SENNA-MANDRAKE-BUCHU AND OTHER EQUALLY EFFICIENT REMEDIES.
It has stood the Test of Years, in Curing all Diseases of the BLOOD, LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, &c. It Purifies the Blood, Invigorates and Cleanses the System.
DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, JAUNDICE, SICKHEADACHE, BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, &c disappear at once under its beneficial influence.
It is purely a Medicine as its cathartic properties forbids its use as a beverage. It is pleasant to the taste, and as easily taken by children as adults.
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CO. Sole Proprietors, St. Louis and Kansas City.

PATENTS obtained by R. H. GRISTON & CO., Washington, D. C. Send for our book of instructions.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases can be cured if properly treated in time, as shown by the following statement from D. C. FREEMAN, Sidney: "Having been a great sufferer from pulmonary attacks, and gradually wasting away for the past two years, it affords me pleasure to testify that SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil with Lime and Soda has given me great relief, and I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering in a similar way to myself. In addition, I would say that it is very pleasant to take."

Give slops to Drs. Sun & Air, and the other doctors cannot get in their work.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers. Send for Pamphlet on Female Diseases, free; securely sealed. Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N.Y.

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES of the Loisettian system.
I. Wholly unlike Mnemonics in Conception, Process, Development and Results.
II. The Natural Memory Restored to its right use and made powerful. Precisely as the Microscope and Telescope constitute a Scientific extension of the Natural Eyesight, so is the Scientifically trained Memory an extension of the Natural Memory.
III. The power of Continuous Attention growing apace with the Memory.
IV. Memory and Attention being strengthened to the highest degree by the five lessons, the System is no longer used, except in rare cases at first and afterwards in none at all.
"Prof. Loisette gave me a new memory"—Hon. Judah P. Benjamin.—"It has greatly strengthened my natural memory"—Hon. W. W. Astor, late U. S. Minister to Italy.—"Prof. Loisette's system appears to me to warrant the strongest endorsement"—John C. Minor, M. D.—"I regret that it did not form a part of the curriculum of our schools"—Stephen Rand, Esq., Paymaster of the U. S. Navy.—"There is not one institution of learning in the land that would be without its aid if its worth were known"—Rev. A. J. McInerney, Rector of St. Mary's Church, Annapolis.—"I have formed one class by correspondence, and have decided that hereafter I shall try to induce all my students to master this system before they engage in the linguistic studies under my direction"—Rev. Francis B. Denio, Professor of Hebrew in the Bangor Theological Seminary.—"Prof. Loisette's system is a great boom not only to the student of shorthand, but to the veteran reporter"—W. W. Wilson, Stenographer.
"Since learning your System, I find I can soon learn to play any piece of music without notes, a feat impossible to me formerly"—Eliza Cawthorne.—"No man has a memory so poor that this method will not greatly aid it; nor has any one a memory so good as not to stand in need of the help which it can furnish"—Prof. Wm. R. Harper, of Yale.—"By his System I have already learned one book in one reading, and I intend to learn many more in the same way"—Sir Edward H. Meredyth, Bart.—"I confidently recommend your system to all who desire to strengthen their memory and cure their mind wandering"—Bernard Ellis, Esq.—"It is a perfect memory system"—Weekly Budget.—"I do not say that I made myself a walking Hume or Macaulay, but I do say that what I had learned, I knew perfectly, thanks to your system. The result was full marks (150)"—Reginald E. Murray, Esq.—"I have just come off top in a Bursary examination, and I owe my success in great measure to the general improvement which your system had effected in my retentiveness and acumen"—Thomas Tait, Esq.—"I have no hesitation in thoroughly recommending the system to all who are in earnest in wishing to train their memories effectively, and are therefore willing to take reasonable pains to obtain so useful a result"—Mr. Richard A. Proctor, the Astronomer.—"Prof. Loisette did not create a memory for me; no, nothing of the kind. And yet he did for me what amounted to the same thing, for he proved to me that I already had a memory, a thing which I was not aware of till then. I had before been able, like most people, to store up and lose things in the dark cellar of my memory, but he showed me how to light up the cellar. It is the difference—to change the figure—between having money where you can't collect it, and having it in your pocket. The information cost me but little yet I value it at a prodigious figure"—S. L. Clemens, (Mark Twain).—"There is this all-important difference between other systems and that of Prof. Loisette, that while the former are arbitrary and artificial the latter is entirely based upon Physiological and Psychological principles"—The Peoples Friend.—"I thus saved twenty hours out of twenty-four in learning the two sermons"—Rev. S. H. Lee.
Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at Wellesley College and 400 at University of Pennsylvania; 350 at Oberlin College and three large classes at Chautauqua.
Prospectuses sent POST FREE, with opinions in full of eminent people in both continents.
Great inducements to Correspondence Classes.
Address
PROF. LOISETTE,
237 Fifth Avenue, New York.

QUEEN OF THE SOUTH
PORTABLE MILLS.
SELECT FRENCH BUHRS,
For Stock Feed or Meal
For Family Use.
Six Sizes. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Write for Descriptive Circular.
Mention this paper.
Straub Machinery Co.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty-five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

YOU WILL SAVE MONEY, Time, Pain, Trouble and will CURE
CATARRH.
BY USING
Ely's Cream Balm.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N.Y.

A GRAND OFFER!
Solid Rolled Gold Rings almost GIVEN AWAY!

Engagement Ring, 10c.
Lady's Gold Shield, 10c.
Fluted Band set with two lovely Blue Turquoise and a Brilliant, 15c.
Fluted Band with ornamental cap, Austrian Diamond setting, 15c.
Popular Flat Band, Rhine Diamond setting, 25c.
Handsome Cameo, 50 cents.

The above cuts represent six of the latest and most popular designs manufactured in the ring line. The prices we name here are special, simply to introduce our goods. We guarantee each of the above rings to be made of Solid 18k. Rolled Gold Plate. Other dealers charge from $1.50 to $2.00 for rings not half as good. We will cheerfully refund the money to any dissatisfied customer. With each ring we send our Large Illustrated Catalogue of Watches, Chains, Charms and other Jewelry. We take postage stamps the same as cash. Rings sent post-paid to any postoffice in the United States but not to Canada. Mention this paper. Send your address to The Domestic Mfg. Co. Wallingford, Conn.

1,000,000 Ladies Wanted to use our "Magnetic Hairpins." They Relieve Nervous Headache and the discomfort often caused by all other hairpins. Sample Box 10c. Address G. E. M. CO., Vineland, New Jersey.

LADIES at home can make money by working for us; no canvassing. We furnish material and pay well for satisfactory work. Send $1.00 for sample. C. O. BUCK & CO., 60 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

LAND OWNERS! WILL BUY 1,000 ACRES or more, if cheap. Send full description and terms to P. O. BOX 677, Philadelphia, Pa.

WORK FOR ALL. $30 a week and expenses paid. Valuable outfit and particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

HERBRAND FIFTH WHEEL. Latest buggy and Carriage improvement. HERBRAND CO., Fremont, O.

The Original
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.
Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.
SICK HEADACHE,
Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD
is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.
SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.
By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.
Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.
"Untold Agony from Catarrh."
Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."
"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."
THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."
Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.
ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

ROUGH ON RATS

TRADE MARK
DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE
Gone where the Woodbine Twineth.
Rats are smart, but "ROUGH ON RATS" beats them. Clears out Rats, Mice, Roaches, Water Bugs, Flies, Beetles, Moths, Ants, Mosquitoes, Bed-bugs, Insects, Potato Bugs, Sparrows, Skunks, Weasel, Gophers, Chipmunks, Moles, Musk Rats, Jack Rabbits, Squirrels. 15c & 25c.

ROUGH ON DIRT
Washing and Starching Powder. A revelation in housekeeping. A new discovery, beats the world. How to Wash and Iron.
Dishes, Glassware, Windows, made clear as crystal with Rough on Dirt.
YOUNG GIRLS The most inexperienced can, with Rough on Dirt, do as nice washing and ironing as can be done in any laundry. Boiling not necessary; unlike any other it can be used in both WASHING and STARCHING you need have no fear in using this article; being free from vile alkali it does not rot, yellow nor injure the finest fabric; clears, bleaches, whitens. The only article that can be added to starch (hot or cold) to give a good body and beautiful gloss; insist on your Druggist or Grocer getting it for you. 10 & 25c. E. S. Wells, Jersey City.

ROUGH ON CORNS for hard or soft Corns 15c. At Druggists.

SUPERIOR QUALITY
ESTAB. 1824
MUSIC BOXES
1876
Gautschi & Sons
1030 Chestnut St.
PHILADELPHIA SEND STAMP FOR CATALOGUE.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

GOLDSMITH & SULLIVAN'S
Business College!
Fitten Building, ATLANTA, GA. Most practical College South. Best course at least cost. Send for catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

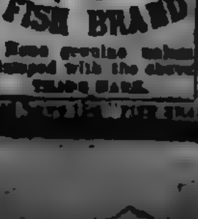
PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D.C.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

PENSIONS An increase may be due. Address Geo. E. Stevens & Co., Grover Bl'g, Washingt'n, D.C.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

A. N. U. ......Forty-three, '87



None genuine unless stamped with the above TRADE MARK.
SLICKER
Is The Best Waterproof Coat Ever Made.
Don't waste your money on a gum or rubber coat. The FISH BRAND SLICKER is absolutely water and wind proof, and will keep you dry in the hardest storm. Ask for the "FISH BRAND" SLICKER and take no other. If your storekeeper does not have the "FISH BRAND", send for descriptive catalogue to A. J. TOWER, 20 Simmons St., Boston, Mass.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$5 00	$7 50	$11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 00	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	30 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	36 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors.

"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."

TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1887. NUMBER 1.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

WITH DOG AND GUN.

SHOOTING IN THE WEST, SOUTH, NORTH AND EAST.

Hunting Prairie Chicken, Quail, Woodcock and Partridge—What a Well-Trained Dog Comes to Know.

Of the many who go afield with dog and gun, there is none who can claim preeminence, but probably Mr. W. Tallman, of New York, has had as wide a range of experience and is as thoroughly familiar with the ways of birds and dogs as any sportsman in the country. His face is familiar to all who attend field trials, and he is known as a very successful trainer of hunting dogs. Mr. Tallman says: "The birds most hunted with dogs are prairie chickens, quail, woodcock and partridge. The first are found in the Middle-Western States in wide, open country, and afford pretty fair sport. The shooting usually begins in September, when the birds are in coveys and are feeding in the cornfields. You go after prairie chickens in a farm wagon and take two or more dogs, setters or pointers. You want dogs that will range wide and keep well ahead of the wagon. As you may get over a good many miles of prairie during the day, you will stay in the wagon until your dogs find the birds. When a dog points, you drive up as close as you think proper, and either alight and flush the birds or stay in the wagon and shoot them as they rise. Early in the season, before they have been shot at much, a wagon can be driven pretty near them before they will fly. They will take short flights, and it is easy to follow a covey and bag nearly the whole of it. When the birds are plenty it is no difficult thing to just about fill a wagon in a day's shooting. One reason for going in a wagon is that you will get more than you could carry in a bag. Much depends upon the dogs, however. You want dogs that will range wide—that is, keep well ahead and cover a great deal of ground. They must be steady, too, because they may have to point some time before you get to them. Badly broken dogs would flush the birds in their impatience.

PRAIRIE CHICKEN SHOOTING.

"The prairie chicken or pinnated grouse rises easy and has a steady flight. It is not difficult to shoot them, and it becomes rather dull sport. Almost anybody can kill them in the open country. In the corn fields it is a little quicker work, but while a sportsman accustomed to Eastern shooting makes little of it, the native prairie shooters think it almost useless to go into the corn after birds. Late in the season the chickens go in packs instead of coveys, and take long flights, and then it is harder to get them. But prairie chicken shooting cannot compare with quail shooting, such as we have in the North and East. In the South, where quail are plenty yet, the shooting is comparatively easy. You go on horseback in wide country and find the birds in coveys. The dogs range ahead, and if they are steady and your horse is used to the work, you ride up and go ahead of them when they point. If you get only two or three birds out of a covey you are satisfied, because you can find any number of coveys during the day, and are sure of getting a good bag. In the North, however, quail are not so plenty, and, as you may not find but one or two coveys in a day, you must do more thorough work. You don't use a horse in this shooting. Twenty years ago the quail were found in low brush, and would rise above it when flushed, so that the shooting was comparatively open. But they have become educated, and taken to the wooded hill-sides. Their flight is very sharp and swift, and they frequent thick cover. When flushed they go straight away like bullets. You see where they drop, but they are likely to run on the ground and fly again, and then it is hard to find them. You want a good dog, one that will range close and obey every word and motion of your hand. With such a dog you ought to get three or four birds out of a covey if you are a quick, sure shot.

QUAIL SHOOTING IN THE SOUTH.

The best woodcock shooting is after the first frost in October. The birds are in the cover until August, when they scatter and feed at night in the corn fields. Then comes their moulting season, and they take to the brier patches. In August and September you don't find them. After the frosts they begin their flight South. If the cool weather comes on gradually the birds linger along the route, but if the frosts are sudden and severe the shooting lasts only a few days. The woodcock then are found among the white birches and on side hills, where the shooting is difficult. Their flight is very sharp. You hear a whirr of wings and just catch a glimpse of a small object whizzing among the trees. There is no time to look along the barrel of your gun and take aim. You just fix your eye on the small, whizzing object, throw up the gun, and let drive. Perhaps you get a bird and perhaps you don't. A man who had never shot anything but prairie chickens would lose sight of a woodcock before he was half ready to fire. Although the woodcock is hard to hit, he is easily killed when you do hit him. After the woodcock have gone and the leaves have fallen from the trees partridge shooting begins and lasts well into the winter. Early in the fall the birds go in large coveys, but later they get scattered and go singly. Of course they are shot a great deal before snow flies, but the real sport is in the first winter months. Then you must know the ground pretty well, because the birds take rather long flights and are not so plenty that you can let one go and feel certain of finding another soon. When a bird flies you know by its course that it will go to a certain thicket, and you work to that point confident of finding it. Then is when you want a dog that will range close and carefully, and wait for you when you are delayed by briers and brush. Two or three birds in a day's tramp ought to satisfy anybody who hunts partridge for love of sport and that is about all he is likely to get. The partridge is a quick, sharp flyer, rises suddenly, and shoots away without any preliminary flourishes. You must shoot promptly. If you don't the trees get in your way, and if you stop to take aim you won't see anything to aim at.

WOODCOCK SHOOTING.

"There is a great difference in dogs, and in training them you must study their individual temperaments and capacities. Methods that will succeed with one dog may fail with another. One will be intelligent and quick to learn what you want him to do, and another will be slow to understand. After making a dog realize that you must be obeyed, the only thing necessary is to make him understand what you require of him. Setters and pointers are the breeds used in hunting birds. They work in the same way, and there is not much choice between them. If anything, the setter is liable to be more tractable. Being long-coated, the setter can endure cold better than the pointer, and is better protected from briers and brush. There are more good setters than good pointers for the same reason that white sheep yield more wool than black ones.

"It is interesting to work in the field and shoot over a thoroughly broken and intelligent dog. He ranges just ahead, working up the wind, and when he scents the birds he stops, points with his noise in their direction, and becomes as motionless as a statue. If you know the dog you can tell very closely how far ahead the bird is. When the dog lifts his nose rather high and sniffs the air, the bird is quite a distance away. If he stands with his nose poked straight ahead, the bird is not far away. If he stands rigid, with his legs braced and muscles tense and his head turned to one side, the bird is lying close by, perhaps within a yard of the dog's nose. I have known dogs to get excited and eager on a close point and catch the birds themselves, but a steady dog will stand perfectly still if the bird is within a foot of him. So long as the dog remains motionless the bird will not attempt to escape, but will lie still and watch him. Sometimes I have stepped forward and picked up a bird up from the grass or out of a hole in which it was trying to hide. When the bird rises the dog charges—that is, he drops flat upon the ground and remains there until ordered to hie on or fetch dead birds. A good dog watches the birds that are shot and remembers where they fall. When ordered to fetch he goes quickly to where a bird dropped, picks it up carefully to avoid tearing it, and brings it to his master. He will hold it in his mouth until his master reaches his hand out to take it. When the dog cannot see the birds fall, he can find them by scent. A keen-nosed dog can tell the difference between live and dead birds, and will not point the latter. Some dogs will point a wounded bird, however. If several birds have been shot and the dog has difficulty in locating them, he may be directed by motions of the hand. He keeps one eye on his master and goes straight ahead or to one side or the other in obedience to indications given. An old dog, well trained when young and carefully handled for many seasons in the field by a man who understands dog nature, will hunt as intelligently as a man and require little if any instruction. He will range wide in an open field and close in the brush, quarter up the wind, and never go over the same ground twice, charge at the rise of the bird, and seek dead as soon as his master gives a sign."—New York Sun.

A CLOSE POINT.

RETRIEVING BIRD.

The Coquette.

Why is the coquette condemned?

She is an amiable being; her mission is to please.

There is nothing small about her. She does no business at retail. She distributes pleasure at wholesale, while her mischief is disposed of in job lots.

She is the enlivening element amid the heavy formalities of society. She stirs up the froth where otherwise 'twould be a solid omelet that is served up to you.

'Tis the coquette that provides all the amusement, suggests the riding party, plans the picnic, gives dash to the private theatricals.

She is the soul of the house, the salt of the banquet; the subtle power of her personal presence is felt rather than defined everywhere.

She is a blessing to the community at large when she employs her time removing the glaring self-complacency of the average young man.

The man who has become possessed of the opinion that a woman dare not jilt him becomes, sometimes, a useful citizen through the coquette's ministrations.

How could society dispose of that pampered son of fortune, possessing a dashing tally-ho, unlimited ice-cream assets and superabundant sentiment in his composition, if the coquette did not take him under her wing for a season?

Ah, for the pleasures of life the coquette is only too rare.

It is not every one who possesses the ability for such a career. It requires great energy, infinite tact, and a gay and airy spirit.

Some one attempted to be facetious when he said a coquette was a rose from which every admirer plucked a leaf, leaving only the thorns for her husband, but history teaches the reverse.

The coquette oftener makes a model wife; her experience gives her a great knowledge of men. She knows their weaknesses thoroughly and it enables her to adapt herself to all her husband's foibles and hoodwink him into accepting her own without him discovering he is doing so.

But then if you do not like the coquette, you will have no difficulty in finding a female companion of the same mind as yourself.

* * *

A Suitor Scared.

She (blushing deeply)—"And you wish to pay your addresses to me?"

He (enthusiastically)—"That has been the dream of my existence since I first met you."

She—"I scarcely know what to say. I think I must consult with mother."

He—"Certainly. I should expect you, as a dutiful daughter, to consult your mother on a matter of so much importance."

She—"You have never met mother?"

He—"I never had that pleasure."

She—"You will be delighted to know her. She is a noted woman's rights woman and President of the Society for Female Emancipation."

He (somewhat frigidly)—"H'm! Is that so?"

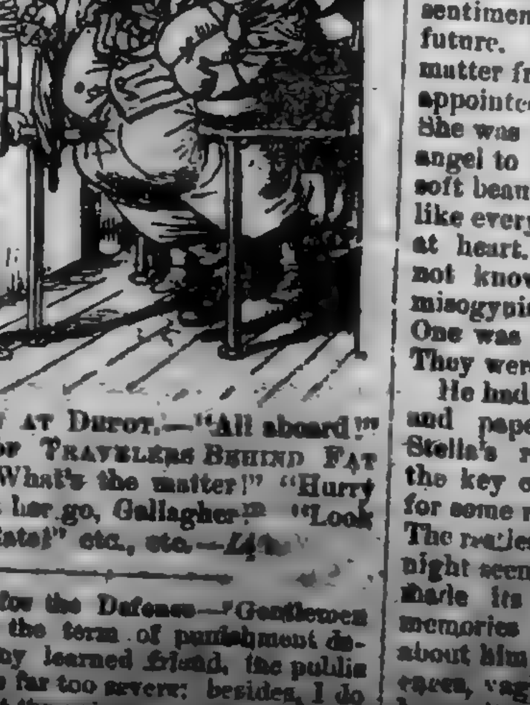
She (proudly)—"Well, you would think so if you heard her talk. Why, she is just boiling over with fervor on the subject of woman's wrongs.

He (consulting his watch)—"Well—er—I—I—er—ought to have told you that I—er—couldn't stay but a minute this evening. My—er—Uncle is in town and—er—Well, I will call again when we can renew the subject of this evening's conversation.—Boston Courier.

The New G. A. R. Commander.

JUDGE REA, OF MINNESOTA.

Ins and Outs of Travel.



DOORMAN AT DEPOT.—"All aboard!" CHORUS OF TRAVELERS BEHIND FAT PARTY.—"What's the matter!" "Hurry up!" "Let her go, Gallagher!" "Look alive!" "Rats!" etc., etc.—Life.

COUNSEL for the Defence—"Gentlemen of the jury, the term of punishment demanded by my learned friend, the public prosecutor, is far too severe; besides, I do not think that the prisoner, with his weak constitution, will be able to work out a sentence of penal servitude for life."

A MOTHER'S HEART.

A stretch of level meadow land,
By patches gray and brown between,
Save where long, intervening fields
Are brightened by the tender green
Of early wheat—a rippling stream,
Through sedgy banks, flows swift and fair,
And glimpses of a village dim,
In distance, makes a picture fair.

Here on the edge, a lily pond,
'Neath crowded foliage, lithe as palms,
And daises coy, like country maids,
Peeping to catch reflected charms
In the blue mirror, flecked with white,
And there the lustrous lilies lie,
In a soft drowse, and, dreaming, hide
Their hearts of gold from curious eyes.

Sweet Christabel, with innocent brow,
My little maid, but twelve years old,
Stands smiling. "I would fain," she says,
"Find some one with a heart of gold
Like these pure, fragrant lily buds,
That bathe at will in air and dew;
If I could reach their garden bed
I'd make a wreath of them for you."

I break a slender alder stem,
The waxen beauties draw to shore,
A regal cluster, dripping pearls,
And still my darling asks for more;
Then platting swift the shining crown
She lifts it to my tresses' fold,
And cries with sudden tenderness,
"Yours, mother, is a heart of gold."
—Mary A. Denison.

THE ORIENTAL BOX.

BY EVELYN THORPE.

There was a chill in the night, but it was divinely still and clear. One of the windows opening from the library into the garden stood wide open. Hugh Leffingwell reveled in fresh air, in all hygienic rigors. Sixty winters had bleached his hair and seamed his imperious face, but they had been powerless to dim the keenness of his glance, to impair the athletic straightness of his build, to dull the unbending aggressiveness of his caustic temper, of his sardonic misanthropy.

It was a handsome, harsh, eagle-like visage on which the light of the low lamp fell. Presently the eyes wandered to the window and the block of white moonlight touching its threshold. Hugh Leffingwell rose, and with his hands crossed behind his back wandered out into the garden.

Under the quiescence of the night there was a vague stirring of spring, a vague premonition of a coming change. The stern man walking over the moon-bathed lawn on the outskirts of which the outlines of leafless boughs cast a fine inky tracery, a hair-drawn interlacement, lifted his face once or twice and the shadow of some emotion seemed to pass over it. Such a night brought back memories—memories not yet buried beyond resurrection, though the dust of long years lay heaped upon them.

At a turn of the walk the high encircling stone wall came into view. There was a little door in it, sometimes used by the gardener, but more generally closed and locked. It now stood ajar.

Hugh Leffingwell frowned. Carelessness in any department of the domestic machinery this autocrat who had retired from the world visited with relentless vigor. He walked forward with a quickened step.

At that moment, from the shadow of a clump of evergreen trees, a young man emerged and a young girl.

The girl turned white and with an instinctive gesture, as though half begging protection, half giving it, she laid her hand on the young man's arm. He was a handsome, beardless young fellow. He recovered himself quickly, and a look of determination which did him credit, settled about his mouth.

"Mr. Leffingwell—" he began.

"So!" interrupted the old man slowly, and as though the other had not spoken, "my timid niece deceives me, does she?"

"Uncle!" cried the girl, with trembling appeal, "I never meant to! If you would have allowed Hal to come to the house—"

"Allowed him to come to the house?" laughed Hugh Leffingwell. "No I don't think I was likely to do that!"

"Mr. Leffingwell," began the young man anew, "it would never have been my wish to enter your grounds secretly in this way could I have seen Stella in any other manner. To make her my wife is the dearest wish of my life—"

"Which, like many other dearest wishes, will go unfulfilled. And since I find that my own niece cannot be trusted, that she steals out of the house at night to meet young men at the garden gate, I shall see to it that something is done to restrain her propensities in that direction from now on."

And with the same unruffled, sardonic calmness, which to Stella was more dreadful, because more unusual, than one of his usual bursts of uncontrollable passion, Hugh Leffingwell took his niece by the arm, and, without a glance in the direction of the young man, led her back to the house.

* * * * * * * *

Half an hour later Hugh Leffingwell was again alone in his library; but this time he was not reading. He had put down his niece's little love dream—"the romantic puppy love of those two young snips"—with his usual high-handed success, and he flattered himself that he could take such measures as would effectually make an end both to their sentiment and their deception in the future. He now dismissed the entire matter from his mind. He was not disappointed in Stella, he told himself. She was very fair, very delicate, a young angel to the sense of vision in her frail, soft beauty. But she was a woman, and, like every other woman, weak and false at heart. Did he, Hugh Leffingwell, not know the brood? The bitter old misogynist laughed shortly to himself. One was a good sample of the whole. They were all alike—all alike.

He had settled himself to his books and papers on first descending from Stella's room and deliberately turning the key of her door behind him. But, for some reason his thoughts wandered. The restless influence of this late March night seemed in a subtle fashion to have made its way into his blood. The memories which had come thronging about him like a troop of shadowy presences, vague, haunting, half defined, as he walked under the moonlight, rose again into nearer being, taking on a [illegible]tude. We all have such moments, when the present recedes, and the past rushes into the vacant place with the force of a liberated tide when the dikes are opened. The dike may have been a strong one and high; it has stood through so many years that we may have forgotten the pent-up waters lying silent on the other side. But nature never suffers wholly a divorce from that which has been, and she has strange and unexpected touches wherewith to raise the spell of sorrow long exorcised, a weird power over dormant chords that suddenly go vibrating backward until they rouse a myraid echoes in the chambers of the dead.

For some time Hugh Leffingwell walked to and fro through the length and breadth of the silent library. All the house was still. If the elves and sprites of the night were abroad their revels were not more soundless than the subterraneous up-pushing of the coming blades of grass.

Presently the master of the house went to a tall desk in one corner of the room, and unlocking it with a key which he extracted from a metal box, he drew from the recess of a small drawer a second box—a wooden box of curious Oriental workmanship—long and rather flat. He had not looked at it for thirty years.

What made him take it out and open it to-night? He himself could not have told.

Slowly, and with a strange expression, he drew out the yellowed contents, and, sitting before the fire, laid them upon his knee. Two small bundles of letters, tied by a faded ribbon, emitting the dead, acrid, musty odor of objects long shut away from the air and the light, a lock of soft hair, a pressed rose—the old, old tokens. How do men of sixty, if they chance to have preserved any such embodied memories, usually regard them? With the genial laugh of the philosopher who has learned the relative value of things; with a half-Rabelaisian smile at the rememberances of that time when the blood ran warm and the pulse beat fast; with a saddened, senile shake of the head as the shadows of lost hopes and dreams pass in dim procession before the dulled and sluggish vision. But Hugh Leffingwell was a strange man—owned in his nature an adamantine fibre that refused to run into the molds which shape the development of other men. When he had last locked this box and its contents out of his sight it had been with a dark passion of scorn and hatred that through all the intervening years had survived, that had wrapped the whole course of his life and changed him into the gloomy recluse as which alone the few friends of his latter days had known him. And even now, as his nervous fingers untied the little bundles and the letters fell dispersed to the floor, the same look of hatred, the same scorn, flared up in his deep-set eyes.

Oh, yes; she had been pretty enough, the creature to whom these letters had been written! She had yellow hair, and a long, swan-like neck, and eyes like violets under water. And she had looked as true, as innocent, as saint-like—well, as that little chit of a Stella, whom he had caught keeping a tryst with the beardless boy he had turned from his door a month before! And yet there had seemed in her something stronger, something more vital, too. She had taken his soul captive: he, the self-centred man of thirty who had never loved easily, to whom to love at all was to love changelessly, with that absorption and exclusiveness which is more pain than pleasure to him who feels it. Hugh Leffingwell was a rich man now, but then he was poor and without standing, without opening, without prospects, save as he saw them in his own consciousness of strength, and as she professed to see them through her faith and her love. How steadfast seemed that faith of hers! How sweet—ah me—how sweet had been her love! . . . .

That last night he had gone to her father's house she was all in white, with her yellow hair hanging in curls about her milk-white throat and a rose at her breast. . . . She had followed him out when he was going away, out upon the moon-checkered shadow of the porch. He was to be back in less than a month; no great journey. But the separation before them both seemed one of interminable years. . . . Three weeks had not passed before he heard that she was to be married. As he looked back it occurred to him that for days he must have been out of his mind. Fast as steam could carry him he hurried back. He believed nothing. She, with her own lips, must tell him that she had thrown him over. He forced himself into her presence. He heard the truth. Even then he doubted her own faithlessness. Her father, he knew, had never liked him. He besought her, he commanded her, to tell him that she had been coerced, driven, compelled into this marriage. She turned as white as the dead, but she spoke steadily. No one had compelled her. The man she was about to marry was rich—very rich.

'And you are marrying him because he is rich?"

She looked up at him.

"Yes."

He laughed. He turned and left the house.

A few weeks later she was married. She only lived a year. Two days after her death the box was brought to him by an old family servant whom she had trusted. "They was her last words to bring it," said the woman. Hugh Leffingwell opened it. It contained what he had expected—his letters to the girl he had loved, and more, a lock of her hair and a rose—the rose she had worn in her breast the night they parted before he went on his journey. The touch of these objects had burned his fingers.

He started up now from his sitting posture, and the box, which had lain on his knees, rolled off and struck the brass andiron of the fireplace before it fell against the tiles and near the red embers of the logs. With an instinctive motion, Hugh Leffingwell stooped and rescued it from its threatening doom. As he took it up it seemed to him that something rattled. He looked at the box more closely. He saw that it had a false bottom, which, sliding out through the force of the concussion, revealed a folded paper within. The most cursory examination of the interior of the box would have made its mechanism patent to the eye. But Hugh Leffingwell, on that day thirty years ago when he had received it, had crushed its contents back with a feverish hand and thrust it out of sight without a second glance, to remain undestroyed, but ever unopened till he himself should pass beyond. He drew the paper from its long hiding place with a hand that had grown suddenly unsteady. So faint were the time-dimmed characters, written as in the feeble hand of one in great straits of illness, and so blurred had the old man's eyes become that he had to take the letter nearer to the light, and then pause a moment.

HUGH: They have told me that I cannot live, and I know myself that I am dying. I can speak now. Him whom the truth would have injured—my father—has passed away. Perhaps the telling of it can do no good now. If it were to do again I would do it. But you shall know it. My father had been guilty of forgery. Only by my marriage to the man who would settle upon me a large sum could he be saved. That is all. I could not tell you then. I made you think of me as badly as you could because I was afraid of myself. Good-bye. Perhaps you will never forgive me. But I loved you always.

MIRIAM.

* * * * * * * *

When Stella came gliding down to the breakfast table the next morning her young face was wan, and the traces of a sleepless night and many tears were marked in purple circles about her eyes. She was a few minutes late, and she glanced toward the hearth rug where her uncle stood with a nervous apprehension. To her surprise, however, he made no comment.

She drew near timidly to wish him good morning, and then she saw how changed, how ill, how aged he looked.

"Uncle," she pleaded, full of a tender ruth that obliterated and forgot her own sorrows: "Are you not well?"

Instead of answering he put his arm about her shoulders and pressed her head forward so that he could read every suffering line of her face. It was like a bruised flower.

"Do you care for me, Stella?" he asked. "Have you any love, any affection, at all for me?"

"Uncle, uncle!" sobbed the girl, thrilled through and through by the altered tone of his voice, all her poor heart overflowing: "I love you dearly, dearly! If you would only let me!"

"Have I been very harsh to you, Stella?" he said again, still holding her, still in the same voice.

"No, no—I would always have been happy if you had only loved me a little,' she said eagerly.

"Poor child!" He dropped his arm from her shoulder saw the smile that dawned through her tears.

"Yes," he said, speaking more to himself than to her, "I believe you do love me—cross-grained, hard, selfish old man that I have been—I believe you love me well enough to make a great sacrifice for me. Is it not so, Stella?"

She understood his meaning, and though her lips quivered, she impelled herself to utter the words bravely.

"I have been thinking of you many times since last night, uncle," she said. Her eyes were fixed on the ground and her voice was very low. "If—if you do not wish it—if you can never—never relent toward Hal—I will do as you think best." But the effort was almost too great for her strength.

"I believe you, child, I believe you!" said Hugh Leffingwell. He stooped over her and for the first time since she had been left to his sole charge, a wee infant, he kissed her forehead. "But it shall not be." He paused. His next words were unintelligible to her. "Two wrecked lives are enough." He looked down at her. He smiled. "Call Hal back,,' he said.—New York Mercury.

A Washington Duel.

One of the first duels fought at Washington, says Ben: Perley Poore, was the result of an angry discussion in the House of Representatives between Mr. Gardiner, a dashing young Federalist of the Hamilton school, and Mr. Campbell, a Democrat. A challenge ensued, and the only magistrate at the National Capital at that time was Samuel Harrison Smith, then the young editor of the National Intelligencer. He was called on to arrest the belligerents, and he promptly repaired to the boarding-house kept by three kind-hearted old maids, the Misses Finegan, where Gardiner messed. The mess received Mr. Smith very politely, and some of the members told him that they would, with great pleasure, give bail for the peaceful conduct of Gardiner within the limits of the district. Mr. Smith, however, insisted that he must bind Gardiner over to keep the peace within the United States. They said they would convince him that his jurisdiction did not extend beyond the District of Columbia; and of all earthly things the learned and long argument was most to Mr. Smith's taste. He went for his authorities, and, bringing in his books, prepared for a set-to in good earnest. Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, undertook to reason Mr. Smith out of his premises, and spoke at great length. Meanwhile Mr. Gardiner and his second slipped out, took a carriage, went to the designated ground, fought the duel, in which Mr. Gardiner was wounded, and returned to the house, where they found Messrs. Bayard and Smith still busily engaged in the case. Mr. Smith acknowledged that he had been foiled and paid for a bowl of punch.

A Bear Hunter's Close Call.

The largest bear any of us ever saw was a cinnamon that came within an inch of killing one of my men, a good hunter and first class guide—Charles Huff. He had set his traps near Sunlight, in the spring, and was unable to visit them for a week. When he got to the bait, trap and log were gone. After taking up the trail he soon found the remnants of his log chewed to match wood; the bear, evidently a large one, had gone off with the trap. He followed his trail as long as he had light, but found nothing, and had to return to camp. Next day, very foolishly, he took the trail again alone, beginning where he had left off. After a long march he came to the steep side of a hill; the bear had evidently gone up there; on the soft, snow sodden ground the trail was plain. Just as he was beginning to ascend there was a rush and a roar, and the bear was on him. He had no time to put his repeater to his shoulder, but, letting it fall between his hands, pulled the trigger. The bear was within a few feet of him, and by a great chance the unaimed bullet took him between the eyes. He had evidently tried the hillside, and, worried by the heavy trap, had come back on his trail and lain behind a great heap of dirt, into which he had partly burrowed, waiting for his enemy. Among the debris of spring-tide—fallen stones and uprooted trees—a bear could easily lie hidden, if he was mad and wanted to conceal himself, till the enemy was within a [illegible]

THREE SCORE AND TEN.

I am past my three score years and ten;
I have quaffed full cups of bliss and bane;
Grown drunk on folly like other men.
With its present sweet and after-pain;
I have had my share of cloud and sun;
And what is it all, when all is done!

We have had our frolic, Life and I;
Jovial comrades we used to be.
Full sails to-day, with a silver sky,
Anon dead calm and a sullen sea.
Now I fear the waves, so I hug the shore
With my tattered sail and broken oar.

I have worn love's flower upon my breast,
And said my prayers to a woman's face.
The saints forgive us! If men addressed
Such orisons to the heavenly Grace,
They would upward mount, as strong birds do,
And answer bring from the heavenly blue!

I have known the best that life can hold
Of fame and fortune, love and power.
And when my riotous blood grew cold,
I cheered with books the lingering hour;
Banqueting on the costly wine
Which Genius pours from her flagons fine.

Yet I would rather lie to-day
Where orchard blooms drift down their snow.
And feel lost youth in my pulses play,
Its rosy wine in my hot cheeks glow;
I would rather be young, and foolish, forsooth,
Than own the baubles we buy with youth.

I would barter fortune, fame, and power,
All knowledge gained of books and men,
For my old delight at the first spring flower,
A robin's egg, or a captured wren
From its nest hid under the tossing plume
Of a sweet, old-fashioned lilac bloom.

With the world's stale feast I am surfeited;
I long to day for the old-time thrill
At the purple pomp of a pansy bed,
Or the fresh spring scent of a daffodil.
Alas, I shall never be thrilled again!
I am old. Yes; past three score and ten.
—May Riley Smith, in the Cosmopolitan.

PITH AND POINT.

The salient features of a regatta are the yachts.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

By a wise provision of Providence, close beside the little tree on which nutmegs grow, often stands a greater.

The reason drunken men seldom go down is because the whisky makes their head swim.—Duluth Paragrapher.

Advice to young ladies who are setting their caps: Use percussion caps so that the "pop" may be heard.—New Haven News.

"Butter is up," says a market report. Exactly. We have seen butter that no four men could hold down.—Burlington Free Press.

Fond Wife—"Would you believe that Mrs. Eccles, next door, speaks seven languages?" Fond Husband—"Certainly I would; she's got tongue enough to speak fifty.—Harper's Bazar.

"Bessie, I hear your sister is sick. What ails her?" "I don't know, ma'am. Maybe it's the diploma." "The what, child?" "The diploma. I heard mother say that she took it at school."—Times-Democrat.

When little Bessie was taken to the menagerie, the first thing her eyes lighted on was the Bactrian camel. "Oh, mamma!" she exclaimed, "look at that cow with two bustles on!"—Burlington Free Press.

Cashier's Wife (reading)—"The advantages of paper are in its lack of bulk. A man could easily carry $40,000,000 if in $10,000 bills. Cashier (meditatively)—"Well, well. I never thought of it."—Omaha World.

A tortoise recently found had engraved on its shell, "Adam, year 1." The man on whose property the tortoise was found recognized Adam's signature. Adam used to drive team for him, but he cannot imagine why he didn't add the other three figures—886.—Norristown Herald.

THEIR PROSPECTS SPOILED.

They thought to have a cottage neat
With honeysuckles twining,
And live in lovers' transports sweet,
All other cares resigning.

The goal of peace they thought to win
And happily through life to jog,
And so they might, had it not been
For papa and the dog.

A Young Man of Great Nerve.

"Speaking of nerve," said a Chicago club man, "I will tell you a story of a young man, the son of one of our largest manufacturers, who displayed the greatest nerve of any man I ever heard of. He was an officer in the navy, on one of the old hulks of our boasted squadron, which had the honor to escort General Grant on some of his excursions along the coast of China. The aforesaid hulk or vessel was off the coast of Japan, in that most treacherous of all seas, caught in a terrific gale. Everything was done to make her weather the sea, but the violence of the storm continued unabating, and it was found that the boat would go to pieces. The officers and seamen were called on deck, and it was the unanimous opinion that it was only a question of time, and a mighty short one, when she would succumb to the elements. The small boats were all put in order, a stock of provisions was placed in each, and the officers and crew were parceled off for the different boats. Everything was ready to put off at a moment's notice, and every one was expecting a terrible struggle for life, if not death by drowning.

"The suspense was something impossible to conceive unless one has had a similar experience. A man can look forward to being hung or shot with comparative intrepidity, but to face drowning is a torture of the soul most harrowing. This young man knew no fear, never knew any, and probably never will. He was born fearless and he cannot help it. While all the other officers and men were on deck ready and waiting to jump in their boats, he quietly remarked 'that as there seems to be nothing else to do, I'll go down and take a nap.' And he went down to his cabin and went to sleep. [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 10, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

A negro was hung for murder by due course of law at Union Springs last week.

Any man pays too much for his whistle when he has to wet it 15 or 20 times a day.

A mob of sixty armed men took George Hart from the Opelika jail on Sunday night and hung him. The victim was charged with murder.

A Deatsville farmer made a hundred dollars off a watermelon patch this year, and a neighboring doctor made two hundred dollars off the same patch.

The nervous and excitable need not read the VIEW's "humorous" birthday greeting this week. They can skip it or brace up and read it some other week.

T. D. Cory and W. T. B. Lynch have been appointed delegates for this congressional district to the Farmer's National Congress which meets in Chicago next Tuesday.

We venture to say that Mr. Rufus N. Rhodes, of the Birmingham, Herald is without a superior as a newspaper man in the Southern States, not even excepting Col Charley Jones, of the Jacksonville Times-Union, or Boss Grady of the Constitution.

The Democracy made a clean swoop in New York State on Tuesday. This was the most important election held on that day, and the victory of the Democracy is sufficient to insure a second term for Grover Cleveland, the best President the country has ever had.

Ex-Governor Watts, the only surviving member of Jefferson Davis' Cabinet, was present at the ovation of the great Confederate leader, at Macon, Ga.—Eutaw Whig.

We notice the above going the rounds generally. It contains an error as Senator Reagan, of Texas, was a member of Mr. Davis' cabinet.

The Montgomery Dispatch is charged with being conducted by "indiscreet young men." Verily that is a strong point about the Dispatch. The trouble heretofore has been that there were too many "discreet" papers and editors in Alabama. Self-interest being the basis of their discretion.

Secretary Lamar, of the Department of the Interior has been tendered and accepted the place on the U. S. Supreme Court Bench made vacant by the death of Justice Woods. It is thought that Postmaster-General Vilas will be given Mr. Lamar's place at the head of the Interior Department.

The report of the grand jury of Etowah county recommending the impeachment of the probate judge for corruption in office has caused a great deal of excitement in the county. The specific charge against the judge was a failure to pay over license money collected for the county during the year 1886 and 1887. Since the report was made public the judge has paid up the amount and a petition is being circulated among his friends asking that the impeachment be abandoned. The petition is signed by ten members of the grand jury which reported him. It is a pity that these ten members did not know their minds before the report was read.—Fort Payne Journal.

We have had the Piedmont Exposition, the President and the jam at Atlanta; we have had the President and the State Fair at Montgomery, which was a model of order and civility for so large a crowd; we have had President Davis and family pass through our State, receiving a delightful ovation from crowds all along the line; but, what has become of Ike Vincent? We heard of him before the Court in July last—since when, like Emin Pasha in the wilds of Africa, he has not been heard from. What is the matter with the Advertiser and the Dispatch, our model progressive newspapers? Are you asleep?—Tuskaloosa Gazette.

No they are not asleep. The Advertiser is kept busy watching its new press work seven days in the week—which needs watching perhaps. The Dispatch has its hands full rubbing salt into raw places on the Advertiser. Vincent has probably escaped.

Our Birthday.

To-day the VIEW is a vigorous six-year-old, beginning its seventh volumn with this issue.

It came into existence of necessity—with a will indomitable, a spirit unconquerable, and a heart for any fate. Without such characteristics it might have early succumbed to the discouragements thrown in its way.

Its career has been fruitful and interesting, and its course has been marked by nothing to cause its management regret. It is true that there have been asinine actors behind the scenes in some of the wonderful dramas that have marked its career. These have discoursed in a very learned (?) manner of its "ignorance" so-called. Perhaps it is ignorant of a great many things. If so, those who are more wise should give it sympathy rather than censure. That is the way to exercise the greatest of all virtues—charity. But instead, they have at times presented fine-spun theories on unimportant subjects embellished only by a characteristic acridity of phraseology, and presented them in such a manner as to leave it very clear to the public mind that these acrobatic theorists would be unable to distinguish the difference between a syllogism and a hole in the ground, and their assumptions could not have been dignified with the title of arguments. By continuing to read the VIEW these theorists can improve their education.

Again, there have been bad men—and we don't see how it is possible that the VIEW can have made enemies of other than bad and mean men—who have laid to the account of the paper the charges of misrepresenting, garbling, prevaricating and what not? "Evil to him who evil thinks" is an old proverb as true as trite. Being evil and thinking evil of others they have permitted that part of the body physical known as the spleen to have too great sway over themselves. That was very wrong, but we bear them no ill-will, and we are sure that with the masses they have done us no injury. By continuing to read the VIEW they may improve their morals, and if their cases are not utterly hopeless may in time learn to "tell the truth and shame the devil," as Mr. William Shakespeare so aptly remarks.

Prejudice, which sees what it pleases cannot see what is plain. Bad men will seize every opportunity to create prejudice against what they do not like, and after one is within its withering grasp it is not an easy task to pull out, and all the ill-feeling and prejudice that one has been made to feel is attributed to the person or thing against which the prejudice exists. By no other rule can we account for some of the egregious blunders that have been made in regard to this paper—its policy and its motives. And as these blunders have advertised the paper very beneficially over the county and the State, there is no reason why we should mourn. We take things as they come.

We do not think the VIEW has wronged any person or party, for it speaks falsely of none. Nor has it ever desired to misrepresent things or persons, knowing that misrepresentation of others can only redound to its own hurt. Our actual experience has proven that where we have only made mistakes, the consequences have been meted out to us from certain sources without charity. We have no complaints to make and propose to shirk no responsibility on that account.

The charges and counter-charges proceeding from "our friends—the enemy" have been rich, but not rare, coming from the sources they have, and have been too numerous to deserve any further special mention. We give the foregoing only to show that the course of the VIEW has not been devoid of interest, nor its work without effect; and it still survives at the same old stand. After a careful and extended canvass of the county, it is apparent that the opposition to the paper is confined to a few who begrudge its influence. They have a right to oppose it whenever they choose to do so, and we shall make no objection to that; and we have a right to say that it is a source of pride and pleasure to find that the influence of the paper is strong and altogether for good.

During the year closed our subscription list has been gratifyingly increased, and the advertising patronage notably improved. The size of our town and the fact that in the county we have so large a population unable to read, has precluded as unsafe any further investment in the paper for a time. It would surprise some to know of the large number of subscribers on our list that are unable to read, and whose children read the paper to them. We are continually making additions to our job printing outfit, and will shortly have a new and improved job press in the office, direct from the manufacturer in New York. This branch of our business is growing to such an extent as to make this addition necessary.

So much about the VIEW. We do not impose upon our readers thusly but once a year, and we beg them to pardon our garrulity and make no attempt to dodge the auger. They can learn from all this that the VIEW is here to stay awhile, and in the future as in the past will be prepared to handle all the work and all the trouble that may be thrown in its way, and will always find honest means to dispose of the latter at a fair profit. Such is life, and such is business you know.

To-morrow the critics will begin. You know who the critics are. They are the lovely flat-heads who have tried and failed to "bust" the VIEW.

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Four dynamite bombs were found in the cell of Louis Linng, one of the anarchists in jail at Chicago, on Sunday last. Mrs. Parsons says they were carried into the cell by Linng's girl, Miss Mueller, who smuggled them in by means of an enormous bustle which she wore. "A woman in the case," is such a hoary old chestnut, that "a woman's bustle in the case" will do very well for a change. The circumstance has caused a revulsion of public sentiment against the prisoners.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

The Birmingham Age after complimenting the country weeklies very highly in another issue slams at them for having no opinions. The Age is largely dependent upon its country exchanges for matter to fill its columns and should not speak in that way of them. By the way our opinion is that the Age has a bad exchange editor if he is unable to find opinions in the country press.

NOTICE NO. 6809.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: Thomas Harrison, Homestead 16,483 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ sec 4, township 22 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his contiduous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: J. F. Maull, F. G. Crocheron, G. W. Hill, J. P. Givhan, all of Strasburg, Ala.

oct13 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6823.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: Mary E. Gentry, homestead 12826 for the n ½ of n e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: George W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 25, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on Dec. 3, 1887, viz: John S. Davis, homestead 16776 for the s w ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 28 township 24 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: French Nabors, of Montevallo, Ala., Sam Curry, William D. Carter and Shelby Lucus, of Brierfield, Ala.

oct27 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Seale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR
A SPECIFIC FOR WOMAN'S DISEASES
—SUCH AS—
Painful Profuse Suppressed Scanty and Irregular
MENSTRUATION OR MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. ☞ Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.
Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.
A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.
Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.
Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle.
☞ Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address
COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

THE LIGHT-RUNNING
NEW HOME
SEWING MACHINE
PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR. NEVER OUT OF ORDER.
NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO ILL. — 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. — DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-ly

BRICK WORK
J. M. DAWSON,
CLANTON, ALA.
Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 6825.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 18, 1887, viz: Orville Roper, Homestead 12419 for the e ½ of ne ¼ and s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n e ¼ of s e ¼ sec 28 township 21 n range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Smith, James C. Mims, Francis M. Headley, of Clanton, Ala., and Lee Hayse, of Maplesville, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6846.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 21st, 1887, viz: Albert N. Wilson, Homestead [illegible] for the s e ¼ of section 8, township 20 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James H. Griffis, Robert L. Williams, Solomon Owen, Ely Owen, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6824.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 18, viz: Monroe M. Durbin, Homestead 13060 for the s ½ of n w ¼ and n ½ of s w ¼ sec 30 township 21 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James R. Broadhead, Madison Popwell, John Edwards, and Newton Culp, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6822.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 11, 1887,

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: James P. Gentry, Homestead No. 10588 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Geo. W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

RANGUM ROOT
LINIMENT.
NEVER FAILS TO CURE
SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION
50 CENTS PER BOTTLE
ETHIOPIAN PILE IS GUARANTEED TO OINTMENT
CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES
HODGES SARSAPARILLA
CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.
T. I. N. C.
IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA
SOLD EVERYWHERE
MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO
NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE CHICAGO
COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.
It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS
THE POPULAR ORGAN
Instruction Books and Piano Stools.
Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.
The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.
Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L&N
(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.)
THE GREAT
Through Trunk Line
Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS,
And the Cities of NASHVILLE, MEMPHIS, MONTGOMERY, MOBILE, N. ORLEANS
Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled
SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE
From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to
NORTH, EAST & WEST
PULLMAN CARS Without change to [illegible] Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.
THROUGH COACHES
From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Points in the Northwest
EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.
See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A.
(6) Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,
CLANTON, ALA.,
IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McREE,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Groceries,
—AND—
General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.
Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.
FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.
1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.
☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜
P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

E. WALL. P. GIACOPAZZI.
WALL & GIACOPAZZI,
Wholesale Fruit, Produce and Commission Merchants,
Second Ave. and Twentieth St.
Birmingham, - - - Ala.
References: S. Oteri, New Orleans; Jos. Denunzio, Louisville; Buhr, Wendte & Co., Cincinnati; Underhill, Stewart & Shotta, N. Y.; Wm. D. Clarke & Co., New Orleans; Cowing & Clark, Cincinnati; A. G. Conant & Co., N. Y.; First National Bank, Birmingham, Ala.

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—DOES—
Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing
Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.
NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,
Birmingham, Ala.
—DEALERS IN—
HARDWARE,
Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,
MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA,
Are displaying a Complete and Varied Assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Millinery.
Special attention given to Mail Orders. Samples cheerfully furnished on application.
R. E. BOLLING & SON,
Temple Stores, - - Commerce St.
Montgomery, Ala.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!
WE ARE OPENING CHEAP
SEED RICE for PLANTERS,
AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,
CRACKED CORN for STOCK,
The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish
BOLTED MEAL
IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.
SHIVERS & WISE,
mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

WILSON HOUSE.
A. P. SIMS, Proprietor.
Corner 21st Street and 2nd Ave.
BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.
The above house is first-class in all its appointments, and is under the exclusive control of A. P. SIMS, an experienced hotel manager.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.
Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.
Office and Salesrooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.
Birmingham, Alabama.
Jobbers and Retailers of
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,
Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,
Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.
☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜
We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.
WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

SHOW CASES
ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES
CABINET WORK
TERRY SHOW CASE CO.
sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 10, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors Market steady. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midling 9¼c. Middling 8¾c. Low Middling 8½c.

MONTGOMERY — Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 91-16c. Middling 8 13-16c. Low Middling 8 1-16c.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Miss Mamie Bivings is visiting friends in Birmingham.

Mr. R. C. Hide has gone to Birmingham to engage in business.

Tom Watts, Jr., Esq., of Montgomery spent Monday in Clanton.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. George W. Bains, of Birmingham is among his friends in Clanton.

Mrs. S. J. Brock, of Montgomery, visited her relatives at this place last week.

Commissioners' court was held last Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday.

Little Miss Emma Matthews, of Montgomery county, is attending Clanton Academy.

Mrs. Ray, of Montgomery, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Phillips in Clanton.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Confectioneries and family groceries at C. L. Phillips'. Call on him near the drug store.

Little Tommie Aldridge died on Wednesday night last and was buried Thursday afternoon.

Miss Jennie Carver, of Montgomery county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Middleton in Clanton.

Miss Mary Stamp, of Elmore, visited relatives, Mr. A. J. Hall's family, near Clanton last week.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

Mr. F. J. Davis, of this place, has gone to Birmingham to work for Youngblood & Ehrman in the lumber business.

County court was held Monday morning. All the cases brought up before that tribunal were appealed to the circuit court.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The hour for holding Sabbath school at the Baptist church has been changed from morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. We hope the attendance will be better than it has been for the past few Sabbaths.

Winter Shoes.

I am now selling a heavy grade of shoes for winter wear. They are the kind to keep your feet dry and warm, as well as last a long time. Come and see the shoes, examine the quality, consider the low prices, and then buy and be happy all the winter. I have a fine handsewed shoe at $5.00 per pair.

Yours Truly,
W. L. SAMPEY.

Christmas will soon be here and old man Santa Claus will make his headquarters at the VIEW Stationery Stand. Don't fail to call and see the pretty things he will have here

The boiler of the saw mill of Mr. Henry Mahan, in the Jumbo neighborhood, exploded on last Friday week and killed the engineer whose name was Mason. We understand that Mr. Mahan will replace the boiler at once and resume work.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy

A Deadly Circular Saw.

An Age reporter learned yesterday of the horrible death of a negro at Maull's mill, on the L. & N. road, between Jemison and Lomax stations, Wednesday. The negro, who was engaged in turning logs near a large circular saw, slipped and fell across it. He was cut to pieces.—B'ham Age.

Mr. J. C. Woolley, who is well known in this place, desires to inform his many friends in Chilton county that he is now connected with the house of J. R. Swinford, at Strasburg and will be glad to wait on them at all times and can sell them anything in the dry good and grocery line as cheap as any store in the county n10-4t

The hot well question will soon be settled to the satisfaction of the most doubtful, as Mr. McCranie has purchased the saw mill of Mr. Biasingame located at the well and proposes to move it away this week He will put up a mill a few miles west of town. The hot well will now have a chance to cool off if it wants to.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Entertainment.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will have a mite meeting at the residence of Mrs. B. H. Chestnut to-morrow (Friday) night. Everybody invited to come and bring a mite. A beautiful chair tidy, made and presented to the Society by Miss Annie Graft of Robinson Springs, will be drawn for at the meeting. The tidy is on exhibition at the VIEW office. Chances are only ten cents each.

Thieves at Work.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, who lives in the Dixie settlement had her residence entered by burglars on Thursday night last. The thieves got into her trunk and stole $500 in money but took nothing else. It is evident that the rogue knew all about the money being there before committing the robbery. Our informant Mr. Buckner Harris reported that there was no clew to lead to the discovery of the burglars. Mrs. Johnson is a widow and the loss is a heavy one for her.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

A Rainbow Party.

The young people of Clanton enjoyed themselves very much on Tuesday night at the residence of Mr. W. L. Sampey. The occasion was a "rainbow party." Where it got its name we cannot say and would hate to be held responsible for it. Each young lady brought an apron with her to be hemmed by the young man to whose lot she happened to fall in the drawing. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the young men in deciding which finger to wear the thimble on. To the majority of them the forefinger seemed to be the proper one. Mr. A. D. Bentley received the prize for the best work and Mr. R. C. Duke was awarded a thimble with instruction to learn how to sew.

Rev. A. J. Briggs filled his regular monthly appointments at this place on Sunday last. He will preach here once more before the meeting of the annual conference of Alabama Methodists at Greensboro. We are quite sure that we express the sentiment of the entire christian community at this place in hoping that Mr. Briggs may be returned to this station for another twelve months at least. We will want him here to complete the work which he so successfully inaugurated of building a new church. With such capable and ready assistance as that extended by Mr. O. A. Duke and the Ladies' Aid Society we now have a church building that all feel proud of and we are glad to know that the intention is to complete the work in the best style and as soon as it can conveniently be done. But this is only a mite of the good work that our Methodist pastor has done, and the desire for his return is general.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boshee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

A gentleman who had been afflicted with piles for years and vainly sought relief in many lands, was told by a friend that Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment was a certain cure for that disease. The rest is soon told for whoever uses Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment will surely find speedy and permanent relief.

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

October 30th 1887.

Through the energies of our most esteemed citizen Mr. D. J. Watersworth, our beautiful Methodist church was dedicated.

The protracted meeting lasted only two days on account of inclement weather.

We cannot blame Mr. N. W. Foshee for being a little despondent, as he has not been able to move his injured foot. We hope to see him up soon.

It is bad to be frightened by a ghost on return from church at night, especially when the company of a pretty girl is hugely enjoyed. Next morning the ghost makers found it necessary to climb a tall tree to recover a good broom and some useful garments.

A fine looking widower thinks a worthy young lady of our town much prettier than Mrs. Cleveland. We admire his judgment.

How would a young man feel, in company with two lively girls and plenty of the best ground-pea candy to munch on, your correspondent would feel like going again.

ONWARD.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Stanton Puffs.

We are glad to see Mr. C. W. Plant at work again.

Mrs. Dixie Little has gone on a visit to relatives in Mobile.

Miss Lucy Wilson is on a visit to Cross Plains.

The new locomotive is now doing regular work and we suppose is giving satisfaction.

Last Saturday a number of our local Nimrods had an exciting fox hunt. Reynard kept them busy from 3 a. m. to 3 p. m. and got away. He must have been unusually sly.

The Methodist church at Stanton was duly organized last 5th Sunday by Rev. Mr. Noble.

Rev. J. M. McCord expects to preach at the Baptist Church 4th Sabbath in November.

Since Miss Susie McGehee's removal to the Judson at Marion, Miss Lillie McGee presides at the organ for the Baptists.

It is expected that Prof. Harwood will move his family here in a short time. His patrons are pleased with his methods of teaching.

An assembly of K. of L. has been organized in the Clanton Ford neighborhood. We are anxious to see what they expect to accomplish. 89.

The dearest spot on earth to me is home, and whatever conduces to the health or comfort of the home circle is regarded as a blessing. In the category of blessings we place White's Cream Vermifuge, the best worm medicine in the world. It never fails to expel worms when their presence in the stomach is indicated by the usual symptoms.

Indelible ink 25 cents a bottle at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Obituary.

Died, on the night of November 2nd, little Tommie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aldridge, aged two years and ten days.

How we miss you little darling,
None but father and mother knows,
But God gave you and he took you
In His dear arms for sweet repose.

How we miss you round our fireside,
When oh! that sweet and pratling tongue.
Could only lisp a few words sweetly,
But sweetest music in our home.

Oh! God heal our wounded spirits,
Now we feel thy chastening rod,
Help us live to meet in Heaven
Our darling at the throne of God.

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

The best novels for sale at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

1887 1887

Fall & Winter!

We have in stock the most complete line of

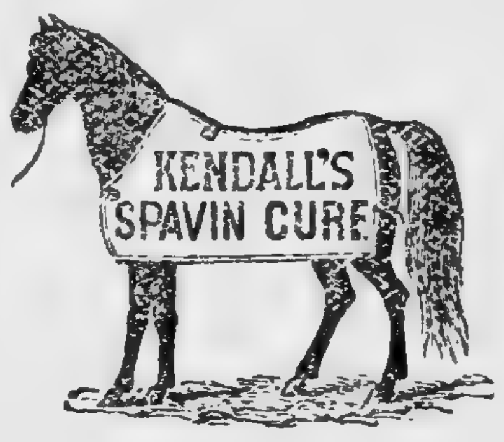
General Merchandise

COMPRISING

Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, Notions, Hardware, Drugs, Etc.

We sell goods at reasonable prices and guarantee correct weights and measures. Highest price paid for cotton in cash, and goods exchanged for produce.

T. E. CALLIER & SON,
aug25-3m Dixie, Ala.



The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

THE

Verbena High School.

VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.

FACULTY:

E. D. ACKER, A. B., LLB., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.

MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.

MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.

MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.

CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00

Tuition is payable in advance.
Students will be prepared for any class in college.

Tax Notice.

(LAST CALL.)

I will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and county taxes of Chilton county for the year 1887:

Strassburg	November	15
Pine Hill	"	16
D. H. Mullins'	"	17
Jemison	"	18
Hunt's Mill	"	19
Providence	"	22
Concord Church	"	21
Macedonia	"	23
Benson	"	14
Maplesville	"	24
Howison & Carter's Mill	"	30
R. Latham's	"	25
Stanton	"	28
Dixie	"	29
Valley Creek Church	"	28
Kincheon	December	12
Verbena	"	8
Cooper's	"	7
Clanton	"	3
John Gore's	"	5
Joe Allred	"	6
Pratt Saw Mill	"	9
Wells & McCranie's Mill	"	10
Patrick's Old Mill	"	13

And at Clanton ten last days of the year.

oct 13 D. A. WHITE, T. C. C. C.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!

JOHN B. RODEN,

Bookseller and Stationer,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and

Sell For Cash Across the Counter.

No exceptions made for anybody.

A. J. BROOKS.

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,

FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET.

Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

—JOBBERS IN—

Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.

PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.

GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.

THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.

OFFICE COR. 1st AVE. AND 21st STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,

Machinery & Mill Supplies,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES,
BOILERS,
SAW MILLS,
CORN MILLS,
SHINGLE MACHINES,
CORN MILLS,
SUGAR MILLS,

COTTON GINS,
COTTON PRESSES.
PULLEYS,
SHAFTING,
BELTING, and
MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

G. E. WILLIAMS, BLACKSMITH

—AND—

WHEELWRIGHT.

CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY.
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.

☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY.

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford Ala [aug15-y

W. A. Ricketts,

DEALER IN

Guns and Ammunition.

GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
37 19th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA

BANDMAN & CO.,

Wholesale Grocers,

P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA
Jan 1 '6m

TRESSLAR,

Artistic Photographer

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty

Photograms, on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch or Enameled Photograph

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged

☞ Correspondence Solicited.

[jan1-y]

Nabers & Morrow,

Wholesale Druggists,

FIRST AVENUE,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

MEDICINES,

Fine Wines, Liquors

Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chas. [illegible] Oils [illegible]

J. M. Hutchason's

BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to

Always ready to take Contracts for Filling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞MONTGOMERY STABLES,☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. jan1y

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER,

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the

BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,

Leading Tailor.

1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods.

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,

—DEALER IN—

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES,

Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.

CLANTON, ALA.

☞Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'F'G Co., Baltimore, Md. oct5-6m

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 10, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.

—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors Market steady. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midling 9¼c. Middling 8¾c. Low Middling 8½c.

MONTGOMERY — Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 9 1-16c. Middling 8 13-16c. Low Middling 8 1-16c.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Miss Mamie Bivings is visiting friends in Birmingham.

Mr. R. C. Hide has gone to Birmingham to engage in business.

Tom Watts, Jr., Esq., of Montgomery spent Monday in Clanton.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. George W. Bains, of Birmingham is among his friends in Clanton.

Mrs. S. J. Brock, of Montgomery, visited her relatives at this place last week.

Commissioners' court was held last Monday and Tuesday and Wednesday.

Little Miss Emma Matthews, of Montgomery county, is attending Clanton Academy.

Mrs. Ray, of Montgomery, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Phillips in Clanton.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Confectioneries and family groceries at C. L. Phillips'. Call on him near the drug store.

Little Tommie Aldridge died on Wednesday night last and was buried Thursday afternoon.

Miss Jennie Carver, of Montgomery county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Middleton in Clanton.

Miss Mary Stamp, of Elmore, visited relatives, Mr. A. J. Hall's family, near Clanton last week.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

Mr. F. J. Davis, of this place, has gone to Birmingham to work for Youngblood & Ehrman in the lumber business.

County court was held Monday morning. All the cases brought up before that tribunal were appealed to the circuit court.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

The hour for holding Sabbath school at the Baptist church has been changed from morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. We hope the attendance will be better than it has been for the past few Sabbaths.

Winter Shoes.

I am now selling a heavy grade of shoes for winter wear. They are the kind to keep your feet dry and warm, as well as last a long time. Come and see the shoes, examine the quality, consider the low prices, and then buy and be happy all the winter. I have a fine handsewed shoe at $5.00 per pair.

Yours Truly,
W. L. SAMPEY.

Christmas will soon be here and old man Santa Claus will make his headquarters at the VIEW Stationery Stand. Don't fail to call and see the pretty things he will have here.

The boiler of the saw mill of Mr. Henry Mahan, in the Jumbo neighborhood, exploded on last Friday week and killed the engineer whose name was Mason. We understand that Mr. Mahan will replace the boiler at once and resume work.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

A Deadly Circular Saw.

An Age reporter learned yesterday of the horrible death of a negro at Maull's mill, on the L. & N. road, between Jemison and Lomax stations, Wednesday. The negro, who was engaged in turning logs near a large circular saw, slipped and fell across it. He was cut to pieces.—B'ham Age.

Mr. J. C. Woolley, who is well known in this place, desires to inform his many friends in Chilton county that he is now connected with the house of J. R. Swinford, at Strasburg and will be glad to wait on them at all times and can sell them anything in the dry good and grocery line as cheap as any store in the county. n10-4t

The hot well question will soon be settled to the satisfaction of the most doubtful, as Mr. McCranic has purchased the saw mill of Mr. Blasingame located at the well and proposes to move it away this week. He will put up a mill a few miles west of town. The hot well will now have a chance to cool off if it wants to.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Entertainment.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will have a mite meeting at the residence of Mrs. B. H. Chestnut to-morrow (Friday) night. Everybody invited to come and bring a mite. A beautiful chair tidy, made and presented to the Society by Miss Annie Graft of Robinson Springs, will be drawn for at the meeting. The tidy is on exhibition at the VIEW office. Chances are only ten cents each.

Thieves at Work.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, who lives in the Dixie settlement had her residence entered by burglars on Thursday night last. The thieves got into her trunk and stole $500 in money but took nothing else. It is evident that the rogue knew all about the money being there before committing the robbery. Our informant Mr. Buckner Harris reported that there was no clew to lead to the discovery of the burglars. Mrs. Johnson is a widow and the loss is a heavy one for her.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

A Rainbow Party.

The young people of Clanton enjoyed themselves very much on Tuesday night at the residence of Mr. W. L. Sampey. The occasion was a "rainbow party." Where it got its name we cannot say and would hate to be held responsible for it. Each young lady brought an apron with her to be hemmed by the young man to whose lot she happened to fall in the drawing. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the young men in deciding which finger to wear the thimble on. To the majority of them the forefinger seemed to be the proper one. Mr. A. D. Bentley received the prize for the best work and Mr. R. C. Duke was awarded a thimble with instruction to learn how to sew.

Rev. A. J. Briggs filled his regular monthly appointments at this place on Sunday last. He will preach here once more before the meeting of the annual conference of Alabama Methodists at Greensboro. We are quite sure that we express the sentiment of the entire christian community at this place in hoping that Mr. Briggs may be returned to this station for another twelve months at least. We will want him here to complete the work which he so successfully inaugurated of building a new church. With such capable and ready assistance as that extended by Mr. O. A. Duke and the Ladies' Aid Society we now have a church building that all feel proud of and we are glad to know that the intention is to complete the work in the best style and as soon as it can conveniently be done. But this is only a mite of the good work that our Methodist pastor has done, and the desire for his return is general.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boshee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

A gentleman who had been afflicted with piles for years and vainly sought relief in many lands, was told by a friend that Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment was a certain cure for that disease. The rest is soon told for whoever uses Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment will surely find speedy and permanent relief.

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

October 30th 1887.

Through the energies of our most esteemed citizen Mr. D. J. Watersworth, our beautiful Methodist church was dedicated.

The protracted meeting lasted only two days on account of inclement weather.

We cannot blame Mr. N. W. Foshee for being a little despondent, as he has not been able to move his injured foot. We hope to see him up soon.

It is bad to be frightened by a ghost on return from church at night, especially when the company of a pretty girl is hugely enjoyed. Next morning the ghost makers found it necessary to climb a tall tree to recover a good broom and some useful garments.

A fine looking widower thinks a worthy young lady of our town much prettier than Mrs. Cleveland. We admire his judgment.

How would a young man feel, in company with two lively girls and plenty of the best ground-pea candy to munch on, your correspondent would feel like going again.

ONWARD.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Stanton Puffs.

We are glad to see Mr. C. W. Plant at work again.

Mrs. Dixie Little has gone on a visit to relatives in Mobile.

Miss Lucy Wilson is on a visit to Cross Plains.

The new locomotive is now doing regular work and we suppose is giving satisfaction.

Last Saturday a number of our local Nimrods had an exciting fox hunt. Reynard kept them busy from 3 a. m. to 3 p. m. and got away. He must have been unusually sly.

The Methodist church at Stanton was duly organized last 5th Sunday by Rev. Mr. Noble.

Rev. J. M. McCord expects to preach at the Baptist Church 4th Sabbath in November.

Since Miss Susie McGehee's removal to the Judson at Marion, Miss Lillie McGee presides at the organ for the Baptists.

It is expected that Prof. Harwood will move his family here in a short time. His patrons are pleased with his methods of teaching.

An assembly of K. of L. has been organized in the Clanton Ford neighborhood. We are anxious to see what they expect to accomplish.

89.

The dearest spot on earth to me is home, and whatever conduces to the health or comfort of the home circle is regarded as a blessing. In the category of blessings we place White's Cream Vermifuge, the best worm medicine in the world. It never fails to expel worms when their presence in the stomach is indicated by the usual symptoms.

Indelible ink 25 cents a bottle at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Obituary.

Died, on the night of November 2nd, little Tommie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aldridge, aged two years and ten days.

How we miss you little darling,
None but father and mother knows,
But God gave you and he took you
In His dear arms for sweet repose.

How we miss you round our fireside,
When oh! that sweet and pratling tongue.
Could only lisp a few words sweetly,
But sweetest music in our home.

Oh! God heal our wounded spirits,
Now we feel thy chastening rod,
Help us live to meet in Heaven
Our darling at the throne of God.

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

The best novels for sale at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

1887 1887

Fall & Winter!

We have in stock the most complete line of

General Merchandise

COMPRISING

Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, Notions, Hardware, Drugs, Etc.

We sell goods at reasonable prices, and guarantee correct weights and measures. Highest price paid for cotton in cash, and goods exchanged for produce.

T. E. CALLIER & SON,
aug25-3m Dixie, Ala.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.

Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.

Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,

J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

THE

Verbena High School.

VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.

FACULTY:

E. D. ACKER, A. B., LLB., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.

MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.

MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.

MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.

CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00

Tuition is payable in advance.

Students will be prepared for any class in college.

Tax Notice.

(LAST CALL.)

I will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and county taxes of Chilton county for the year 1887:

Strassburg	November	15
Pine Hill	"	16
D. H. Mullins'	"	17
Jemison	"	18
Hunt's Mill	"	19
Providence	"	22
Concord Church	"	21
Macedonia	"	23
Benson	"	14
Maplesville	"	24
Howison & Carter's Mill	"	30
R. Latham's	"	25
Stanton	"	26
Dixie	"	29
Valley Creek Church	"	28
Kincheon	December	12
Verbena	"	8
Cooper's	"	7
Clanton	"	3
John Gore's	"	5
Joe Allred	"	6
Pratt Saw Mill	"	9
Wells & McCranie's Mill	"	10
Patrick's Old Mill	"	13

And at Clanton ten last days of the year.

oct 13 D. A. WHITE, T. C. C.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!

JOHN B. RODEN,

Bookseller and Stationer,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade.

I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and

Sell For Cash Across the Counter.

No exceptions made for anybody.

A. J. BROOKS.

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,

FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,

Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

—JOBBERS IN—

Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.

PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.

GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.

THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.

OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,

Machinery & Mill Supplies,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS,

COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

G. E. WILLIAMS,

BLACKSMITH

—AND—

WHEELWRIGHT.

CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,

Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

P. O. BOX 282.

☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞ Will go far and near.

Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,

—DEALER IN—

Guns and Ammunition,

GUN AND LOCKSMITH,

205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA

BANDMAN & CO.,

Wholesale Grocers,

P. O BOX 251,

1st Avenue, bet. 19th and 19th Streets

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

jan 13 9m

TRESSLAR,

Artistic Photographer

10 COURT SQUARE,

Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞Correspondence solicited.☜

[jan21-1y]

Nabers & Morrow,

Wholesale Druggists,

FIRST AVENUE,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

MEDICINES,

Fine Wines, Liquors,

Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co's Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's

BOARDING, LIVERY

—AND—

SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to

Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞MONTGOMERY STABLES,☜

Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,

Telephone 446. janly

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER,

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE

(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds

Work Done in the

BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,

Leading Tailor.

1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods,

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,

—DEALER IN—

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.

CLANTON, ALA.

☞Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'F'G Co., Baltimore, Md. oct6-6m

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
I. N. Langston.
NO SHODDY GOODS!
·:· LOW ·:· PRICES ·:·
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
☞ Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
☞ For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
☞ When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

JOB PRINTING
—OF—
EVERY DESCRIPTION
NEATLY EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE.
Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention!
GIVE US A TRIAL!

POPULAR SCIENCE.

At least 10,000 preserved humming-birds are now embraced in the collection in the British Museum. The finest collection on this side of the Atlantic, containing about 2,000 specimens, has been presented by Mr. D. G. Elliot to the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Flour is like butter, it absorbs smells readily. It should not be kept in a place where there are onions, fish, decaying vegetables, or other odorous substances, or in a damp room or cellar. Keep it in a cool, dry, airy room, not exposed to a freezing temperature, nor to one above seventy degrees, and always sift before using.

A recent observer of sunflowers attributes their antimalarial action to their obsorption of water from the soil, as well as to their accredited properties of absorbing malarial germs, and emitting much oxygen. During June, 1885, a quarter of an acre of sunflowers exhaled in the form of vapor an average of sixty-five gallons of water daily.

The most sensitive instrument yet made for measuring degrees of heat has recently been exhibited at a soiree of the English Royal Society by Mr. C. V. Boys, who calls it the "radiomicrometer." Mr. Boys is able to produce a visible effect of heat on a half-penny held at a distance of more than 1,000 feet from an ordinary candle flame.

Cotton, according to a scientific authority, is not a fibre, but a plant hair. It holds to be spun into a thread because of peculiar twists in each hair, shown under the microscope, especially in polarized light. Linen thread may be spun, because the flax fibres have certain roughnesses on their surfaces, which enable them to cling together. Hence it is impossible to make as fine linen as cotton cloth, but it is much stronger.

Mr. Eric Bruce, who has worked out the idea of signaling at night by a captive balloon lighted inside by electric incandescent lamps, has just completed one for the Belgian government. The signaling is effected by cutting off and letting on the current feeding the lamps by means of a key like that used in telegraphy. Mr. Bruce's latest balloon is fifteen feet in diameter and 2,000 cubic feet in capacity. It is made of varnished cambric and is translucent. Six Edison and Swan lamps of eight and ten-candle power are mounted inside.

M. Alphonse de Candolle believes he has established as certain, by his researches into the heredity of the eyes, the fact that women have a larger proportion of brown eyes than men; that where both parents have eyes of the same color the chances are eighty-eight to twelve that the children will have, at ten years of age, eyes of the same color; and that where the parents have eyes of different colors the chances are fifty five to forty-five in favor of brown as against blue or gray for the children. He also thinks it probable that persons of the brown type are more likely to be healthy than the blonde.

Russian archæologists, who are under the patronage of the Czar, are working throughout the empire or wherever the imperial army open up new fields. They have done much during the past decade to illuminate dark blanks in Byzantine and earlier records. One of the most interesting of their discoveries is just announced. At Tashkend have been recently found extensive Greek remains, chiefly terra-cotta vases, silver-gilt ornaments, and small statuettes, all purely Hellenic, and obviously bespeaking a common domestic use. This discovery shows that the frontiers of the Greek kingdom in Bactria must have extended many hundred miles further north-east than has heretofore been supposed. Probably it is the beginning of a series of developments giving to Central Asia an entirely novel archæological interest.

Plate Glass Insurance.

"Our business is not so risky as fire insurance," said a member of a company that insured plate glass, "because we can better protect ourselves against over valuation and our losses are lessened by salvage. Plate glass windows, as a general thing, meet with damage from three different causes. Fire destroys the most, many are broken by accident or through malice, while a few are blown in by wind storms. It is very seldom that a window is so badly shattered that we can't save some portion of it, and as we make it a rule to replace all panes that are broken instead of paying out the value in cash, you can readily see that our losses are not so heavy unless a very large pane gets shivered into atoms. We buy the glass at good discount and have our own men to put it in. All the glass you see in the outside office is salvage, and it is only in exceptionable cases that we are unable to replace a pane from our stock on hand. Even the scraps are of value. They are put to many uses, especially for shelves in front of the cashiers' windows in banks and other offices.

"Plate glass is one of the most peculiar things in the world. At times it will stand any amount of hard usage, and then again the least thing will break it. I could tell you many queer stories in this relation. I have dropped a heavy hammer on a piece without injuring it, and when I have tried to show a friend how hard a blow it would stand, I have had it grind into powder."—New York Sun.

A High Cliff on the Maine Coast.

There is a perpendicular cliff on the Westport shore in the Sasanoa river, Lincoln county, Me., rising more than a hundred feet above the surface of the water.

Here, as early as 1676, one Dagget, an Indian trader, used to moor his sloop beneath the precipitous wall, and carry on trade with the Indians on its summit, they lowering down their furs to him in his boat and hoisting up his goods in return. Protected from sudden assaults by this towering cliffside he called it his castle, and painted high up on its surface a hand as a sign of amity. On the face of this cliff there is the figure of an Indian, with a bow, produced by natural stains in the rock. The resemblance to a human figure is very striking. When the British came up in 1814 to lay Wiscasset under contribution they reported this rock to be "as high as St. Paul's steeple and alive with militia-men.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Needs Confirmation.

The latest theory advanced, that, by an order of Providence, three per cent. more men than women are born in war time, while three per cent. more women than men are born in peace, we are inclined to regard as needing confirmation. It is not probable that Providence has an open eye to the battles that are going on upon the earth's surface, or makes a special interposition to repair the losses men create by their own crimes or follies. —Boston Herald.

The distance from San Francisco to Pekin, China, is about 7,000 miles. The Sandwich Islands are southwest from San Francisco, nearly 2,000 miles.

Valuable Find.

About three years ago the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company undertook to sink an artesian well near Sierra Blanco, 95 miles east of El Paso. The pipe was down 600 feet, when a cavern was struck, the drill dropped about six feet and a current of air rushed up the pipe. The well was abandoned, and the tubing acted as a flue from the cavern to the surface of the earth. Ever since that time the people of the vicinity have resorted to the spot in summer, to enjoy the cool and invigorating air that comes up the pipe. The current of air ebbs and flows like the ocean tides, the the current being outward one day and downward the next. The upward flow has been discovered to possess magnetic properties, and the people who live near the well call it the "fountain of youth."

Has Throat-Cancer.

Notwithstanding the efforts that have been made by the doctors in attendance upon the Crown Prince of Germany, to keep the public in the dark concerning the true nature of their patient's malady, it is said to be the common belief of physicians in Germany, that the prince is afflicted with cancer in the throat, which will soon prove fatal If this be the true state of affairs, the peace of Europe seems to depend upon two lives, both of which must soon terminate, the Emperor being extremely old, and he who comes next to him in the succession being moribund. Upon the death of the prince and his father, the crown will go to young Prince William, whose aspirations for military glory in general, are combined with strong hatred of France.

A SHARP engagement took place on the frontier of Servia between Albanian brigands who had attempted a raid into Servia and a force of frontier guards. Ten Servians and twenty Albanians were killed. Two Servian battalions have been ordered to the frontier.

IN Memphis a little girl presented to Mrs. Cleveland a bouquet of cotton bolls as a souvenir "from King Cotton to the Queen of Hearts."

Brown's Little Joke.

"Why, Brown, how short your coat is," said Jones one day to his friend Brown, who wittily replied: "Yes; but it will be long enough before I get another." Some men spend so much for medicines that neither heal nor help them, that new clothes is with them like angel's visits—few and far between. Internal fevers, weakness of the lungs, shortness of breath and lingering coughs, soon yield to the magic influence of that royal remedy, Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."

Mary Anderson wears a cloak in "A Winter's Tale" which took 35 women 3 weeks to make.

Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children.

Chronic Coughs and Bronchitis can be cured by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Prominent physicians use it and testify to its great value. Please read the following: "I used Scott's Emulsion for an obstinate Cough with Hemorrhage, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation, Sleeplessness, &c. All of these have now left, and I believe your Emulsion has saved a case or well-developed Consumption."—T. J. FINDLEY, M. D., Lone Star, Texas.

When the tramp approaches the house, the cry is, "Now is the time to raise clubs."

Offer No. 170.

FREE!—TO MERCHANTS ONLY:—A three-foot French glass, oval-front Show Case. Address at once, R. W. TANSILL & Co., 55 State St., Chicago.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.

Send for Pamphlet on Female Diseases, free; securely sealed. Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N.Y.

Catarrh
May affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, and, strange to say, the most liable to be neglected. It originates in a cold, or succession of colds, combined with impure blood. The wonderful success Hood's Sarsaparilla has had in curing catarrh warrants us in urging all who suffer with this disease to try the peculiar medicine. It renovates and invigorates the blood and tones every organ.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me of catarrh, soreness of the bronchial tubes and terrible headache."—R. GIBBONS, Hamilton, Ohio.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
IT IS A PURELY VEGETABLE PREPARATION CONTAINING PRICKLY ASH BARK AND PRICKLY ASH BERRIES SENNA-MANDRAKE-BUCHU AND OTHER EQUALLY EFFICIENT REMEDIES. It has stood the Test of Years, in Curing all Diseases of the BLOOD, LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, &c. It Purifies the Blood, Invigorates and Cleanses the System.
DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, JAUNDICE, SICKHEADACHE, BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, &c disappear at once under its beneficial influence.
It is purely a Medicine as its cathartic properties forbids its use as a beverage. It is pleasant to the taste, and as easily taken by children as adults.
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CO
Sole Proprietors,
ST. LOUIS and KANSAS CITY

LADIES at home can make money by working for us; no canvassing. We furnish material and pay well for satisfactory work. Send $1 00 for sample. C. O. BUCK & CO., 80 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

PENSIONS to Soldiers and Heirs. Send for circulars. No fee unless successful. E. H. GELSTON & CO., Washington, D. C.

WORK FOR ALL. $30 a week and expenses paid. Valuable outfit and particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D.C

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chautauqua University, &c. Prospectus post free from PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

$500 Reward.

The former proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for years made a standing public offer in all American newspapers of $500 reward for a case of catarrh that he could not cure. The present proprietors have renewed this offer. All the druggists sell this Remedy, together with the "Douche," and all other appliances advised to be used in connection with it. No catarrh patient is longer able to say "I cannot be cured." You get $500 in case of failure.

Sixty of the wealthiest negroes in Alabama show an aggregate wealth of $593,000.

Functional derangement of the female system is quickly cured by the use of Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." It removes pain and restores health and strength. By all druggists.

Mr. Spurgeon, the noted English Baptist preacher has withdrawn from that Church.

The success of some of the Agents employed by B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond, Va., is truly marvellous. It is not an unusual thing for their agents to make as high as $20 and $30 a day and sometimes their profits run up as high as $40 and $50—even more. But we hesitate to tell you the whole truth, or you will scarcely believe we are in earnest. Write them and see for yourself what they will do for you.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

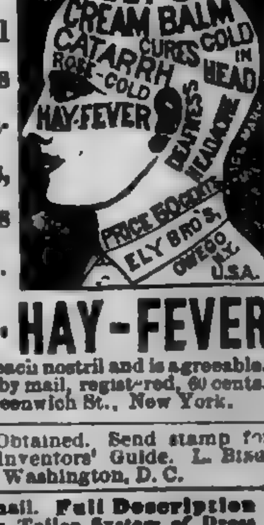
ITCHING PILES.—Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. It is equally efficacious in curing all Skin Diseases. DR. SWAYNE & SON, Proprietors, Phila. By mail for 50 cents. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT for sale by druggists.

EVERY person is interested in their own affairs, and if this meets the eye of any one who is suffering from the effects of a torpid liver, we will admit that he is interested in getting well. Get a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters, use it as directed, and you will always be glad you read this item.

The Effect of Sleeping in Cars

Is the contracting of cold which often results seriously to the lungs. Never neglect a cold, but take in time Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein—nature's great cough medicine.

ELY'S
CREAM BALM
Cleanses the Nasal Passages, Allays Pain and Inflammation, Heals the Sores, Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell.
TRY THE CURE.
CATARRH
HAY-FEVER
A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cents. ELY BROTHERS, 235 Greenwich St., New York.



PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.

FREE By return mail. Full Description Moody's New Tailor System of Dress Cutting. MOODY & CO., Cincinnati, O.

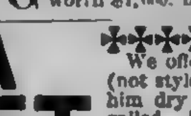
MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT
Penetrates Muscle, Membrane and Tissue to the very Marrow Bones. Give it one trial and be convinced! It banishes all pain instantly. Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Swellings, Contracted Muscles, Diseased Tendons, Bites and Poisonous Stings, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Strains, Burns, Scalds, Piles, Lame Back and every AILMENT that can be cured by an OUTWARD APPLICATION!! AILMENTS OF HORSES, MULES, CATTLE AND SHEEP.
Such as Foot Rot, Screw Worm, Shoulder Rot, Hollow Horn, Grub & Hoof Disease in Cattle, Scratches in Horses and Mules, Wind galls, Sprains, Spavins, Swinney, Ringbone, Stiff Joints, Lameness and Soreness, Diseased Hoofs, Harness and Saddle Sores and Galls, Blotches, Skin Lumps, Loss of Hair, and everything curable by external application, the MUSTANG LINIMENT is Matchless. Rub it in very thoroughly.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty-five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list.
E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.



SOLDIERS all get Pensions, if ¼ disabled; Officers' travel pay, bounty collected; Deserters relieved; 21 years' practice. Success or no fee. [illegible] & Son, Washington, D. C.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

☞ The man who has invested from three to five dollars in a Rubber Coat, and at his first half hour's experience in a storm finds to his sorrow that it is hardly a better protection than a mosquito netting, not only feels chagrined at being so badly taken in, but also feels if he does not look exactly like
A WET HEN
We offer the man who wants service (not style) a garment that will keep him dry in the hardest storm. It is called TOWER'S FISH BRAND "SLICKER," a name familiar to every Cow-boy all over the land. With them the only perfect Wind and Waterproof Coat is "Tower's Fish Brand Slicker."
Ask for the "FISH BRAND" SLICKER and take no other. If your storekeeper does not have the FISH BRAND, send for descriptive catalogue. A. J. TOWER, 20 Simmons St., Boston, Mass.

ROUGH ON ITCH
"Rough on Itch" Ointment cures Skin Humors, Pimples, Flesh Worms, Ring Worm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Itch, Ivy Poison, Barber's Itch, Scald Head, Eczema. 50c. Druggists. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N.J.

ROUGH ON PILES
Cures piles or hemorrhoids, itching, protruding, bleeding, internal or other. Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c Druggists or mail. E. S. Wells, Jersey City.

ROUGH ON BILE PILLS, 10c. 25c.
Active but mild. Cathartic. Small Granules. Small Dose. For Sick Headache, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Anti-Bilious.

ROUGH ON CATARRH Complete cure worst chronic cases. Unequaled for Catarrhal throat affections, foul breath, offensive odors. Ask for "Rough on Catarrh." 50c. Druggists.

ROUGH ON TOOTHACHE Instant relief. 15c.

ROUGH ON CORNS HARD OR SOFT CORNS. 15c.

ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, and all Diseases of the BLOOD, can be cured only by DR. HAIR'S SYSTEM of Treatment, which is now recognized by the medical world as the only one that will positively and permanently cure Asthma, its kindred affections and all blood diseases. Not only does it excel all other methods in giving quick relief, but it absolutely cures the worst cases permanently. Thousands have been cured by it. Convincing and conclusive proof will be found in my 64 page Treatise, sent free.
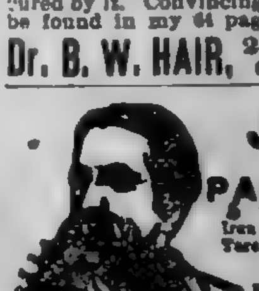
Dr. B. W. HAIR, 233 W. FOURTH ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO.



JONES
PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

$100 to $300 A MONTH can be made working for us. AGENTS preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

OPIUM and WHISKEY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. Woolley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga. Office 65 Whitehall Street. Mention this paper.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. [illegible]

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

A. N. U. .... Forty-four, '87

The Youth's Companion
FOR 1888.
A Remarkable Volume.
Increased in Size. Finely Illustrated. 400,000 Subscribers.
Eminent Authors.
Special Articles of great interest, written for the Companion, will appear from the following Eminent Authors of Great Britain and the United States:
Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone,
Professor Tyndall,
Gen. George Crook,
Archdeacon Farrar,
Gen. Lord Wolseley,
Clara Louise Kellogg,
Justin McCarthy, M. P.,
Louisa M. Alcott.
And one hundred other well-known and popular writers.
Six Serial Stories,
WILL BE GIVEN IN 1888, FULLY ILLUSTRATED AND BY FAVORITE AUTHORS, INCLUDING
J. T. Trowbridge, C. A. Stephens,
AND OTHERS. ALSO,
200 Short Stories; Tales of Adventure;
Illustrated Articles of Travel; Sketches of Eminent Men;
Historical and Scientific Articles; Bright Sayings;
1000 Short Articles; Anecdotes; Sketches of Natural History; Poetry.
Twelve Pages Weekly, instead of eight pages, will be given nearly every week during 1888, increasing the size of the paper almost one-half, giving an extraordinary amount and variety of choice reading and illustrations, without any advance in the subscription price.
Two Millions of People Read It.
FREE TO JAN 1, 1888.
SPECIAL OFFER.
To any New Subscriber who will CUT OUT and send us this Slip, with name and P. O. address and $1.75 in Money Order, Express Money Order, Registered Letter or Check, for a year's subscription to the Companion, we will send the paper free each week to Jan. 1st, 1888, and for a full year from that date to Jan. 1st, 1889. If ordered at once this offer will include
A $2.50 PAPER FOR $1.75.
The Double Holiday Numbers
For Thanksgiving and Christmas, twenty pages each, with Colored Covers and Full-page Frontispiece Pictures, which are a feature of the Companion volume. They will be unusually attractive this year.
Address PERRY MASON & CO., 45 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.
Specimen Copies and Colored Announcement and Calendar free, if you mention this paper.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

INCHES.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 15	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors.

"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."

TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA.. THURSDAY. NOVEMBER 17, 1887. NUMBER 2.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

George Westinghouse, Jr., inventor of the air-brake, is worth $9,000,000. "This is, perhaps, the largest fortune ever made out of wind," says the Atlanta Constitution.

The electric motor gains ground so rapidly that it is hard to keep pace with all the new applications. One of the motors of recent commercial introduction is already in use in over 120 industries.

An Italian musician, of an ungovernable temper, threatened to punish his child very severely; the girl was so frightened that she became a stutterer, and the physician says she will be a stutterer all her life.

The world's production of wheat this year very closely approximates the quantity normally required for consumption. The surplus of the exporting countries is put down as aggregating 260,000,000 bushels, and the wants of the importing countries at a total of 248,000,000 bushels.

It is said that the English co-operatives have a bank whose transactions amount to $80,000,000 a year. They have 1,400 stores, and do a business of $150,000,000 a year. Their 900,000 members receive an annual profit of $45,000,000. Their profits during the past twenty-four years have been $150,000,000.

The latest eclipse of the sun seems to have added nothing to astronomical knowledge. The observing parties were widely scattered, but clouds obscured both sun and moon at every point of observation, and no one, except the ingenious Russian who went above the clouds in a balloon, obtained more than a partial glimpse of the eclipse. This is unfortunate for the cause of science, but it will cause the next eclipse to be watched for with even keener interest and anxiety.

A very interesting exhibition of illuminants and of naphtha products has been opened in St. Petersburg. The Ministry of Imperial Domains offers two prizes, one of 2,500 roubles, for a cheap lamp of simple construction, in which the heavy unrefined naphtha oil could be burned, and which might be used in the poorer villages, and a second prize of 1,000 roubles for a lamp of better construction to burn the same oil. The Ministry of War offers three prizes, each of 500 roubles, the first for a stove for room-heating which would burn naphtha refuse; the second for a useful, cheap galvanic battery for electric lighting, and the third for phosphoric substances to be used in illuminating. In addition there is a prize of 1,000 roubles for the best apparatus for day and night signaling. The prizes are open to all—to foreigners as well as to Russians.

The output of gold and silver in Montana this year is expected to be close to $35,000,000, almost all of which will be extracted from gold quartz and argentiferous leads. There is not a miner in the Territory who believes that more than one lead has been found out of every one hundred that are in the hills waiting for the prospector's pick to uncover them. Extensive regions lying within the Territory have not been prospected at all. Other great areas are known to contain large bodies of ore, but prospectors are not sufficiently numerous to permit those regions to be prospected. Well educated men who are familiar with the mineral belts of the Territory, have repeatedly asserted that there is more gold and silver in Montana than there is now in circulation in the world, and that her mines will, inside of the next seventy-five years, yield $5,000,000,000, which sum equals the money in circulation today. This outside the yield of copper.

The pursuit of certain avocations continues to involve the penalty of certain ailments. Telegraph operators are liable, after long service, to a peculiar palsy of the wrist, but if recent instances are evidence of the working of the law, they are now to become liable to softening of the brain, a trouble of a much more serious nature. The sufferers are chiefly operators who are crowded together in the rooms where a number of instruments are clicking together with an incessant clatter. The theory is that the constant pounding of the air waves upon the head and upon the drum of the ear in such a noisy room affects the brain just as a man softens a lemon by rolling and squeezing it until the pulp inside becomes liquid. One of the leading officials of the Western Union Company was compelled to give up business some time ago on account of the approach of this trouble, and his brother, who is in the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Company, is said to be threatened with the same malady. In the rank and file of those who are confined to the operating tables the instances are even more decided. The first sign of the approaching disease of the brain is a simple headache, which is so ordinary a matter as to be often, if not generally, disregarded. It is not until the disease has got a serious foothold frequently that the victim is aware of its dangerous character. Operators in small offices with only one or two keys are not known to be affected, the cases already treated by the doctors being, as said, confined to the great central receiving and distributing rooms in the main offices.

THANKSGIVING.

O Thou, whose power the earth displays,
Whose promises of life are ours,
The springtime offered Thee her praise
Amid the censers of the flowers.

And now again, O Love Divine,
A thousand vales the harvest fills;
We seek thy house to-day, and join
The eternal chorus of the hills.

MEETING IN THE RAIN.

A THANKSGIVING ROMANCE.

On a gloomy evening in November a young lady was walking rapidly along the country road leading out of the little village of N——. It was an isolated region, and she had met no one, except now and then a tired laborer returning from his short autumn day's work, who gazed at her with some surprise, as he made her an uncouth salutation.

For this young lady, Miss Violet Dennis by name, was very evidently not of this locality, as one saw at a glance. From the top of her little close walking hat to the tip of her dainty boot, she was as elegant and stylish as nature and art could make her. Her presence here just now was due to the fact that she had lingered late at a country boarding-house, where she had accompanied an invalid aunt, after the gay season of the watering places was over. This was the last evening of her stay at N——, and she was now returning from the daily constitutional which she made a great point of. She was walking rapidly, for there was an imminent threatening of rain—already a few stray drops had fallen. Reflecting that she had neither waterproof nor umbrella, she began to feel very apprehensive, and not without reason, for in a few minutes more she found herself in the midst of a steady, settled downpour, which soon drenched her. She couldn't help laughing at the idea of her absurd appearance, and was plodding bravely on, when she suddenly became aware of a buggy approaching her.

It contained one person only—a young gentleman, who had the air of a man of the world, and was dressed in the rough textured, well fitting equipments suited to a hunting expedition.

The rain was coming down in torrents as he approached Miss Dennis, and he gave her a very bewildered gaze, and lifted his hat automatically as he passed. The next instant an expression of wonder, doubt and surprise came into his face, and he abruptly turned his horse and came up to her side, springing from the buggy and addressing her with much earnestness.

"Pray let me drive you to your destination," he said, baring his head to the rain and looking at her scrutinizingly.

"Thank you very much, but I don't mind the rain," said Miss Dennis. "Besides, I am half way there, and am already wet."

"Allow me to insist, though I have no right," he said, with a manner that was extremely deferential, despite its hurry. "It is really the only thing to do."

Almost before she knew what she was doing, Violet found herself walking toward the buggy, and the next instant the young man had taken from it a man's rubber coat, and was holding it out for her to put on. At this Miss Dennis drew back, somewhat haughtily. She was often called haughty by her friends, and sometimes laughed at by them because of it.

"Oblige me by putting this on at once," the young man said, in a voice that had such an imperious ring that Violet was actually surprised into compliance. An instant more a firm hand under her elbow had assisted her to her seat, and the young man had taken a seat beside her, and carefully drawn the rubber blanket around her.

"Where to?" he said, turning and facing her, and as he did so, broke into a broad smile. There was nothing in the smile but pure amusement, but, none the less, she resented it.

"To Mrs. Harper's boarding house, at this end of the village, if you know," she answered distantly.

"I do not know, I regret to say. But you will direct me, please."

Miss Dennis merely bowed in reply.

"I do not know this country at all," the gentleman went on, "and you, I suppose, are almost as much a stranger to it."

This was unendurable! What right had he to be trying to find out things about her? She avoided looking towards the handsome, brown-bearded face so near to her, and answered, in a chilling tone:

"On the contrary, I know it very well."

"Then you live in this neighborhood?" he asked, in a surprised tone.

"I beg your pardon," said Violet, severely, not that she did not understand him, but that she wished to intimidate him so that he would not repeat the question.

"I asked if you lived in this neighborhood," her companion said, quite unabashed, and with a twinkle in his eyes that would probably have angered her further still if she had deigned to meet his gaze.

"No, I do not live in this neighborhood," answered the girl, icily.

"I am sure the neighborhood is vastly the loser thereby."

Violet threw back her head with a motion of haughty indignation, whereat the stranger broke into a little merry laugh.

At last the drive came to an end, and it was with infinite satisfaction that she pointed out Mrs. Harper's house.

"I am much obliged to you," she forced herself to say, "though I regret exceedingly having trespassed on your kindness."

"Don't mention it, I beg of you," the young man answered, airily. "I consider myself infinitely the favored party, I assure you. I am indebted to you for a charming drive, which has had no drawback, except its shortness."

Well, surely! This was beyond all precedent! How could a man look so essentially a gentleman and be so ill-bred and obnoxious! Violet was in a rage. When the buggy stopped before Mrs. Harper's gate, the young man kept his seat while he said:

"I hope I may be permitted to learn the name of my charming driving companion, that I may know by what title I am to cherish her in my memory. In return let me offer my card."

He had taken out his pocketbook, and now extended a small bit of pasteboard toward her; but she would not even glance at it.

"Will you be kind enough to let me get out?" said Miss Dennis, in a voice of scarcely controlled indignation. "I have thanked you for your assistance, but I have no wish to know your name, and certainly none to acquaint you with mine."

And, scarcely giving him time to descend from the buggy, Violet sprang past him, ignoring his proffered hand, and ran toward the gate. Before she had reached it, however, the words, "My coat, if you please; excuse my mentioning it," checked her, and she was obliged to submit to the humiliation of taking off the big rubber coat, and returning it to him. She felt that he was smiling, but she would not look at him. As the young man received the coat, he said, gravely,:

"Since you decline to read my name, I must tell it to you. Allow me to introduce myself as——"

But the young lady had by this time turned her back, and was walking rapidly toward the house, and he paused abruptly in the utterance of his name, perceiving that she was already out of earshot. He laughed to himself—a laugh of genuine amusement—and resumed his seat in the buggy, seeming in no way discomfited by the treatment he had received.

Miss Dennis, for her part, was thoroughly mortified and indignant; but being a sensible girl, she reflected that she was going back to the city the next morning, and need have no apprehensions for the future, and so she said nothing of her adventure to any one.

Shortly after Miss Dennis's train had left, next morning, the brown-bearded stranger called at Mrs. Harper's, and actually had the assurance to ask for Miss Dennis, in the easiest way in the world, and offer his card to be sent up to her. But he was informed by the servant that Miss Dennis had returned to her home in the city, and so he was compelled to retrace his steps with a somewhat dejected and disappointed visage.

* * * * *

Miss Dennis's city home was a very elegant and luxurious one, and on Thanksgiving evening its decorations and furnishings were to be seen to the best advantage, by reason of the splendors of lights and flowers which prevailed everywhere. There was to be a grand family dinner given in special honor of a young gentleman, a somewhat distant relation, recently returned from a prolonged stay abroad. He had landed in America some weeks back, but was now first come to this his native city to pay his respects to the family with due form and ceremony.

Violet was looking her very loveliest to-night, in a beautiful white silk with natural flowers, and there was unquestionably a look of eager anticipation in the eyes which she constantly turned towards the door.

And there was really sufficient reason for the heightened color that shone in her cheeks to-night, for this young cousin, Arthur Darcy, had been long ago settled upon, by all the friends of both parties, as a most suitable match for her. The young people were naturally so congenial and so drawn to each other, that the thing would probably have come about of itself if their kind friends had not been so obtrusive, and finally roused Miss Dennis's haughty spirit, so that when young Darcy offered himself she said she had no fancy for being married to order, and met him with a flat refusal. Stung by the rejection, Darcy sailed for Europe immediately, and it was not until after he had left that Violet had begun to feel that, perhaps, she had made a mistake. She was not a girl to repine, however, and she was young and ardent and fond of society, and she had been a very gay and popular feature therein during these years, but she had never had her heart so really touched by any one as it had been by the cousin she had by her own act, banished, and although she had not been enough in love to pine for him, she felt exhilarated at the thought of seeing him again.

When the door opened at last and he came in, looking very quiet and elegant in his evening dress, with his smooth-shaven cheeks and brown mustache and somewhat bronzed complexion, Violet thought him a good deal changed, and yet she told him she would have known him anywhere.

"I was scarcely more than a lad when I went away," he said, "and these are the years in which a man changes most. You are changed, too, Violet, and for the better—which you have not had the grace to say to me. I should have known you, of course; but with you it is different. There is an infallible mark of identification."

"Oh, you still remember the three little moles, do you?" said Violet, putting her white hand up to her cheek and laying her finger upon three tiny dark-brown spots near the corner of her right eye.

They were no larger than freckles, and as they heightened the effect of her brilliant complexion, her admirers were apt to dwell upon them as one of her chief beauties.

"Of course I remember them," said Mr. Darcy, "and as they are ineradicable, you could never succeed in hiding your identity from me, if you went to the ends of the earth."

There was rather a tender intonation in his voice as he said this, and Violet felt her heart a little stirred by the sound of these familiar tones. They were standing apart for a moment, and no one heard her as she said, playfully:

"It was you who went to the ends of the earth—not I."

"It was you who sent me," he said, "and it is you who have brought me back."

"Not consciously or voluntarily," said Violet, with a touch of her old hauteur.

"No; unconsciously and involuntarily," he answered, "but surely and unmistakably, for all that."

There was no opportunity for further conversation between them now, and very soon dinner was announced, and as they were separated there, it was late before Mr. Darcy found himself again at Miss Dennis's side. He had lingered after all the guests had gone, and now they were quite alone.

"So you would have known me anywhere, Violet?" he asked, looking down at her rather fondly as she stood beside him.

"I could never fail to know your eyes," she said. "They, at least, have not changed."

"Neither has the heart changed," he said, gently. "Every now and then, when I was far away, I used to fall into the most torturing doubts about you. I had made up my mind—idiot that I was—that I would never come back to you, and that you could never have loved me at all, if you could send me away like that. I think now that perhaps—maybe—well, possibly I was mistaken. Was I?"

"I don't know," said Violet, not prepared for immediate surrender. "There's one feeling I always have about you. When I am in trouble or worried, or when I think any one has treated me badly, I always think of you. I suppose it is having no father or brother that makes me think of you when I want some one to take care of me. Now a thing happened not long ago——"

And then she proceeded to give him an account of the rude and presumptuous man, who had taken advantage of her helplessness to force himself upon her acquaintance, to which he listened patiently, and at the end answered, somewhat irrelevantly: "And so you are sure you would have known me anywhere?"

"Oh, yes; I'm certain of that."

"Even if you had seen my eyes—though persistently avoiding them—and if I had had a big brown beard all over my face—and it had been in a most unexpected region, in a pouring rain, in the twilight of a winter evening?"

"What are you talking about?" said Violet, bewildered.

"I am trying to prove that I had a more faithful memory than you. Not even the rain, nor the isolation, nor the twilight, nor the rubber coat, nor the draggled feathers, disguised from me. I confess I had some doubts until you got into the buggy. Then I had a good view of the right side of your face, and saw the three little moles which identified you beyond possibility of mistake. The fancy seized me then to play a part and see if you still retained the old haughty manner that has cost me so much, and that I look for in vain in the person of this meek maiden beside me."

Violet did not speak. She was too astounded, so he went on:

"If you remember, I tried to make myself known, but you would neither read my card nor hear my name. You ran and left me relentlessly, but I had a horse I could not leave, so I resolved to rectify matters by calling next day and sending my card, knowing you would come down at once, and picturing your surprise, when I explained my double identity. I had gone down to join some friends in shooting, and expected to be some days in the neighborhood. You may imagine my disappointment, therefore, when I called only to learn that you were gone."

It was some time before Violet quite forgave him for the ruse he had practiced, but he made his peace at last, and before they parted, he took from his pocket a bright and sparkling object, which he slipped upon her finger.

"Will you accept that from me, Violet?" he said. "I bought that jewel long ago, because it was a very pure and perfect one, resolving that if I ever asked any woman to marry me, I would offer it to her. Somehow I have never been able to fancy it on any hand but yours. Will you take it, Violet, and with it a heart that has been faithful to you throughout all these years of separation?"

* * * * * *

Violet still wears the ring, and it serves as a guard now to another, which, though it has no jewel in it, is a thing more precious still, which Arthur Darcy put on her hand before the winter that followed that Thanksgiving Day was over.

Mrs. Cleveland's Simple Luncheon.

A Philadelphia letter to the Chicago Tribune says: She stood the torture of long-continued handshaking here admirably, though it raised some big blisters on her hands. She was pretty well worn out when she left at nearly midnight on the train for home. She had just come from the big dinner given to the President by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and other learned bodies. While her husband and the other guests on the floor were discussing a superb menu, she and a coterie of other ladies looked on from the Prince of Wales's box, and ate nothing more filling than the substance of many laudatory speeches. She counted, however, on a good solid luncheon on the way home, as an order had been left at a fashionable hotel near by for something uncommonly good. As she was seated in her compartment of the drawing-room car that President Roberts of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had placed at her disposal, and the train was about to start, the French head-waiter from the hotel came in with his face as sad-looking as a figure on a tombstone.

"Madame," he explained; "Madame, something terrible has happened—ah! very terrible!"

"What?" asked the President's wife, in alarm, her face beginning to pale.

"You remember the luncheon?"

"Well?"

"We came with it here too soon. There was no fire here anywhere, and we were forbidden to make one for fear of filling the depot with smoke, and so rendering it objectionable to your nostrils, madame."

"Yes."

"And so we sent it back to the hotel to keep it warm. My waiters, who have just come from the hotel with wraps for some of the ladies, were not informed, and so they have left the luncheon behind."

"O, it is nothing," answered Mrs. Cleveland, with the spirit of a martyr. "We shall manage to get along. But, dear me, I am hungry!"

"Will you never forgive us, madame?"

"I forgive you now. But is there really nothing to eat on the car?"

"Nothing, madame."

"Nothing!"

"Except, madame, some bread."

"Bread! Then we are all right."

"And some butter, madame."

"Good!"

"And some tomatoes. We intended them for salad."

"Tomatoes! Why, we revell in luxury!"

Off the train started, and for half an hour afterwards apparently, the first lady of the land gayly munched bread and butter and raw tomatoes. She expressed only one regret—there was no salt for the tomatoes.

English waiters assert that a typical American rarely gives tips.

BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SKETCHES FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

A Hot Wave For the Eskimo—Obeying Instructions—He Did Not Get Away—Enthusiasm Squelched, Etc.

The Eskimo sits on his porch of ice
While the sweat from his brow falls and freezes,
He fans himself with his hat, and exclaims:
"Oh, how this hot spell doth squeeze us!"
He thrusts his bare feet into the snow,
And says: "I will die a hero,
For who can live when the mercury's up
To fifty degrees of zero!

"If it gets much hotter there'll be a thaw,
And I'll burn up, sure as blazes;
It's a terrible thing for a fellow to melt
And never leave any traces.
We'll have warm meals before long, I fear,
And the seal-oil soon will soften;
The air is torridly horrid, I would
I were in my ice-hewn coffin.

"My walrus suit I have laid aside,
But still I awfully suffer,
I wish I was nearer the north pole now,
Or that to heat I were tougher."
The thermometer points to forty-five,
And with burning fears it fills him—
The very blood in his veins thaws out,
Circulation sets in, and it kills him.
—Tid-Bits.

Obeying Instructions.

Old Lady (to grocer's boy).—"Don't you know, boy, that it is very rude to whistle when dealing with a lady?"

Boy—"That's what the boss told me to do, mum."

Old Lady—"Told you to whistle?"

Boy—"Yes, 'm. He said if we ever sold you anything we'd have to whistle for the money."—Bazar.

He Did Not Get Away.

"You never drink or smoke, do you, George, dear?" she said. "You know I could never marry a man who drinks and smokes."

George, in a broken-hearted tone of voice, admitted that he did smoke and drink a little, and turned to go.

But a pair of white, twenty-seven-year-old arms were around his neck in a moment.

"Never mind, George," said the girl; "perhaps my wifely influence will induce you to give them up."—New York Sun.

Enthusiasm Squelched.

Enthusiastic Citizen (about to visit Europe)—"How delightful it will be to tread the bounding billow and inhale the invigorating oxygen of the sea, the sea, the boundless sea! I long to see it! to breathe in great draughts of life-giving air. I shall want to stand every moment on the prow of the steamer with my mouth open."

Citizen's Wife (encouragingly)—"You probably will. That's the way all the ocean travelers do."

A dejected silence ensues.—Detroit Free Press.

Always Tell the Truth.

A careless man while at work in the Back Bay the other day dropped a brick from the second-story of the building upon which he was engaged. Leaning over the wall he discovered a well-dressed gentleman with his hat crushed over his eyes and ears and engaged in a desperate effort to extricate his head from its battered covering.

"Did that brick strike any one down there?" the man inquired, his voice quivering with apprehension. The afflicted citizen, who had just removed the dismantled cranial adornment, replied, with considerable wrath:

"Yes, sir; it hit me."

"That's right," came the cool and exasperating response. "I would rather have wasted 1,000 bricks than to have had you tell me a lie about it."—Boston Record.

A Sign That Worked Both Ways.

"I'm not the least superstitious," said a lady in the street car to her escort, "but there is one sign that I've never known to fail. If I see the new moon over my left shoulder I'm just as sure to have bad luck as can be, and if I see it over my right shoulder I always have good luck."

"That is very remarkable."

"Isn't it. Now last month I saw the moon over my left shoulder, and the very next day I went out riding on Dolly and she threw me. Wasn't that awful luck?"

"It was, indeed. Did you ever know it to work the other way?"

"Certainly, I have. I saw the moon over my right shoulder this month, and the other day when I was out driving, and the horse overturned the carriage, I didn't even get hurt, although I might have been killed. Oh, I'm sure it never fails.—Merchant Traveler.

A "Short-Hand" Writer.

By an accident while gunning in Missouri when a boy, Postmaster J. C. Hendrix, of Brooklyn, shot off the fingers off his right hand. In writing, the New York Tribune says, he holds his pen between his thumb and the stub of his fist. When he was a college sophomore at Cornell he accepted the editorship of a little foolscap-sized sheet daily at Ithaca, in the place of the former editor, who had suddenly disappeared. Mr. Hendrix composed the entire staff, doing the work of reporter, correspondent, scissors driver and leader writer. In his capacity as reporter he attended a supper of the Ancient Order of Hibernians on the evening of St. Patrick's Day. A burly looking Irishman watched him as his pen, so queerly held, ran nimbly along over the paper. Again the next day the same man brought a companion with him into the newspaper office, and, after buying a copy of the paper, loitered behind with his eyes fixed upon the editor, who was then scribbling away as rapidly as the night before. Then turning to his friend the Hibernian said:

"Faith, it's often Oi've huhrd tell of thim short-hand writers, but this is the furst toime Oi ivver sit oiyes on one of thim!"

Not Very Conversational.

There is an American in the customs service in China who is quite a character. His coolness and assurance have tried the patience of Sir Robert Hart the Imperial Director of Customs many times these twenty years, but he is still there. He never could learn Chinese, and even when it was made imperative that the customs men should know the language to some extent he didn't learn it. He was always doing something wrong, or against the rules. On one occasion Sir Robert Hart was in Shanghai, and, walking down the Band, he met the American, whose post was at a Southern port. The American saluted.

"Well, sir," said Hart, "will you have the goodness to explain why you are not at your post in Amoy?"

"Certainly, Sir Robert. I am traveling with a No. 1 Mandarin on duty."

"You! You can't be of much use. How do you manage? You don't understand Chinese?"

"No; but I don't talk to him."

"How can you get on without talking to him?"

"Well, you see, Sir Robert, he's dead."

He was escorting the body of a dead Mandarin to his family place.—San Francisco Chronicle.

"Once a Day."

Thirty years ago, one of the most famous elephants that traveled in this country was "Old Columbus." During one of his summer trips through Virginia, he stopped at the town of D——. In the neighboring town of H——, a boy familiarly called "Dave," and notorious for leadership in all kinds of mischievous tricks, determined to show off before the other boys at "Old Columbus's" expense, and invited several of his companions to go with him.

Having come to the elephant's stable, Dave gave him, first, candy, then cake, and finally cried: "Now, boys!" and slipped a piece of tobacco into his proboscis, intending to get out of danger, and enjoy "Old Columbus's" disgust and anger.

But, before he could move Columbus seized him, and whirled him upward through the opening overhead against the roof the stable.

Unhurt by his unexpected "rise," Dave dropped on the hay-mow. The other boys below, supposing this to be the "trick" promised them, cried out in admiration:

"Dave, Dave, do that again!"

Dave comfortably seated out of harm's way, very earnestly answered:

"No, boys! I only do that trick once a day!"

The Exhaustiveness of City Life

There are advantages in city life, but there are results that lessen the gains. It is not merely that there are risks from sewage gas and crowded rooms, but from numbers that hinder interest. City life brings out the ingenuity of man, but there is a great exhaustion of vital power. There is constant wear and tear of the system by the multiplicity of things claiming attention. Think of the committee meetings to be attended, of the multiplied agencies demanding attention; of the fierce competition for existence; of the strain put on men of small capital by the existence and advertising power of large houses; of the many sights compelling thought; of the paralysis sometimes produced by the mightier work to be overtaken, and the difficulty of making oneself felt amid the moving crowds of the city. Then add the lateness of the hours the shops remain open; the amount of gas used and the bad air breathed; the rapidity with which every customer has to be attended to; the distance it is necessary to travel, on trivial business, frequently, in a city; the hurrying to catch trains; the complex arrangements to be met, and it must be confessed that city life is most exhaustive. The drafts on nervous energy are constant. There is great excitement, and the loss caused is not so readily repaired as in the country. The air is not so pure. It has been vitiated by bad odors from every source breathed and rebreathed; there is no ozone in it. This accounts for the sense of lassitude so many experience. The superintendence of country toil or actual work has a more restorative influence than city work. Agriculture has been thought beneath many, and it has thus been left to lower the minds, as though the best cultivator of the land would be one who had least cultivation of brain. To what, however, do men of leisure and competency so readily turn as to farming? It is evidently the normal state in which pleasure and profit are best combined. Man was not intended to be a mere machine to get money. The growth of cities means that men live rather to gain wealth than to produce it. Men make money there, but at what cost is it? How much is lost? Some say: "No, there are these advantages in towns that lectures, services and amusements can be more readily reached." Nearly all could be gained in the country under better management.—The Quiver.

Self-Mending Snakes.

Oliver White, Secretary of the Peoria (Ill.) Scientific Association, says in a letter to the Scientific American: "I believe that you, like most scientific writers, are inclined to scout the idea of the 'Glass-Snakes' putting themselves together" and crawling away after being broken in pieces. Now, facts are facts, no matter what philosophy may say. About ten years ago I caught one of these reptiles, broke him in pieces from one to two inches long, from the anus to the tip of his tail—two-thirds of the whole length of the way—then placed a cage over him so that he could by no means escape, and mistakes were impossible. Then, on returning to the place twenty-four hours after, the snake was there, sound and whole, in full length. On close examination, however, I could see where most of the breaks had been, and the first section, about an inch and a half long, was not perfectly in place, so that the fine longitudinal lines of the figure were perhaps one-sixteenth of an inch out of the way. The remaining fractions corresponded, not with that, but with the body. I did not know then that this putting together process was seriously controverted by scientific men, and supposed from previous careless experiments that it was only the illiterate who doubted.

Why She Cried.

Children are sensitive plants in the human garden. Touch them roughly and they shrink from you. Few of us appreciate the depth of feeling they possess.

At the Wednesday night concert in Grand Circus Park last week a gentleman noticed a little girl crying.

"What is it, little one?" he asked.

"It's the music," said the child, sobbing. "I don't like to hear the band play, 'cause my little sister's dead."—Detroit Free Press.

A CREOLE SERENADE.

The lily bares her snowy breast
Beneath the summer moon;
The moth pursues his honeyed quest
Where sucked the bee at noon;
And from the fountain's liquid light
The fairy music flies
To plead for me the love, to-night,
Thy wayward heart denies.

Sail, Love, sail
Across the slumber sea,
And freight thy bark,
Amid the dark,
With tender dreams of me!

The lissome rose with balmy feet
Around thy lattice climbs;
The breeze steals in with winglets fleet
To breathe his silver rhymes;
While I, with weary waiting worn,
Gaze up with wistful eyes,
And guard thy slumbers till the morn
Comes laughing up the skies.

Sail, Love, sail
Across the slumber sea,
And freight thy bark,
Amid the dark,
With tender dreams of me!
—Samuel M. Peck, in Times-Democrat.

PITH AND POINT.

A tight fit—Delirium tremens.

You can't give a busy hotel clerk any points on the nights of labor.—Hotel Mail.

A dancing-master, having invented a neat style of waltz, announces a new movement on foot.

A poet writes: "I owe no man a dollar." We never did know a poet who could get any credit.—Boston Post.

The chestnut crop is so abundant that nobody need feel under obligations to add anything to it.—New York Sun.

Little pens of metal,
Little drops of ink,
Make the tyrant tremble
And the people think.
—Springfield Union.

The king of Spain is seventeen months old and only gets $1,000,000 a year. But if he sticks to business and gets around to the throne early in the morning, and only takes twenty minutes for lunch, and doesn't knock off before dark, there is no reason why he shouldn't have his salary raised.—Life.

"You must understand, Mr. Dumley, in seeking the hand of my daughter," said the old man, "that she will bring you no dowry until after my death." "I understand, sir," said Dumley, hopefully, "but you must bear in mind, my dear sir, that you are getting well on in years."—Harper's Bazar.

Her face was very sweet to see,
Her countenance was full of glee,
"Ah, you are passing fair!" said he,
Her hand was very soft and wee,
Up handed her car fare, did he.
"Ah you are passing fare!" said she.
And as the lovers rode away
Right past the fair grounds blithe and gay,
"Ah, we are passing fair!" said they.
—Goodall's Sun.

Painted Peas.

"I wouldn't order those French peas, if I were you," observed a well-known New York physician to a Mail and Express reporter, as they were dining in an upper Broadway cafe.

"Why not?"

"Because green peas, especially French ones, are deceptive. Time was when green peas were as honest a vegetable as ever grew. But in this age of deception and fraud very few vegetables can preserve their integrity."

"Do you mean to say that these are bogus peas?"

"No, but the color is sometimes bogus. It's as unreal as the paint on an actress's face."

"Is it dangerous?"

"I have never known it to do anything more dangerous than to kill a person. It is usually, however, not that dangerous. I only know of one fatal case, and in that instance a mistake had been made in coloring the peas; too much poison had been used. Sulphate of copper is the poison the canners use to paint on their faded vegetables the verdant hue of growth and freshness. A small quantity only is used."

"Why don't the authorities prevent the sale of them?"

"It is not a universally accepted fact that they are poisonous. American doctors, notably the members of the Massachusetts Board of Health, agree that the combination of sulphate of copper and peas is hurtful. On the contrary, many French and Bulgarian physicians claim that it not only is not harmful, but is a positive remedial agency, and sometimes recommend it to patients suffering from certain maladies. For my part, though, I prefer my vegetables unadorned. I like them plain and clothed in the colors nature gave them. A decorated pea has no charms for me."

Mother of Pearl.

In the western suburbs of Vienna flourishes an industry which, as a general rule, does not attract much public attention, although it is of some importance. This is the manufacture of articles and ornaments where mother of pearl is used. Attention has lately been drawn to this industry, owing to the breaking out of a strike among those engaged in it. It appears that the value of the crude mother of pearl which is annually consumed in the district is 3,000,000 florins (about £300,000), while the value of exported articles is 8,000,000 florins (about £670,000). In the latter figures are not included the articles which are sold in the home market, so that making an allowance for this item the annual value of mother of pearl articles produced in the neighborhood of Vienna may be set down at about £1,000,000 sterling, showing that this industry is one of considerable importance.—Industries.

Blind Persons Notice Obstructions.

"I stood in an aisle," said Mr. Harrison of the Institution for the Blind, "when a blind boy was walking toward me, and just as he came opposite I put up my hand before his face. It brought him up short, and he flung his head back to avoid the obstruction. I did not touch him with my hand, nor did I speak, nor give any other indication of my presence. How was he enabled to know the obstruction was there?"

"Has that experiment been tried in more than one case?"

"It has been tried often and in many cases, and always with success."—New York Sun.

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 17, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

Two hundred citizens and forty policemen wounded in a single day by socialist rioters in London is worse than the work of the anarchists in Chicago. Such was the result of a riot last Sunday in Trafalgar Square.

Mayor Skaggs, of Talladega, writes a two column article for the Montgomery Advertiser, in the hope of getting "a new idea" into the head of its editor. Mayor Skaggs article was a waste of words, as it undertook a hopeless task.

Joseph Pulitzer, of the New York World, whose opposition to President Cleveland has been as whimsical as the antics of a dancing bear, since the elections of last week says: "Cleveland is the luckiest man in the world, and Blaine is a dead cock in the pit."

Gen. George W. Margan, of Ohio, is out in a card denying that Gov. Gordon, of Georgia, kissed him at a public meeting held in the city of Cleveland last week. Gov. Gordon would hardly have kissed an Ohio woman, much less an Ohio man.—Gainesville Messenger.

Dynamite is helping the liquor men to fight prohibition in the west. Inspector Anderson at Orangeville, Oregon, had his house blown up by dynamite on the 15th inst., and on his gate post was found a note warning him to make no further attempt to enforce the prohibition law.

New York Sun: Jay Gould receives some curious telegrams. Among those he received immediately after it became known that the Western Union had absorbed the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Company was the following: "To Jay Gould & Son, Proprietors of the Earth, 195 Broadway:—I congratulate you on your success in swallowing your old rival, the B. & O. Water it well; then build a wire fence around the moon."

Vincent.

In the city court of Montgomery on last Saturday the cases of the State vs. I. H. Vincent were taken up. An agreement was reached whereby one of the cases would be taken up, and on its disposition the remaining thirty-six cases standing on the docket against the prisoner would be settled by being nol prossed. In the case taken up the jury returned a verdict of guilty and the defendant was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary by the court. This will close the prosecution against the prisoner. The Dispatch says:

The sentences of Isaac H. Vincent, the defaulting state treasurer, in the three cases in which he has been convicted, aggregate fifteen years. If he lives to serve out the term, he will be 62 years of age. In each of the other three dozen cases against him a nol pros has been extended. The democratic party is making it warm for defaulters all along the line.

The Anarchists Hang.

Four of the condemned anarchists were hung on Friday in the jail of Cook county, Illinois, at Chicago. Louis Lingg, one of the seven convicted, succeeded in committing suicide by means of a dynamite explosive secretly passed to him by some one outside the jail. Two others, Fielden and Schwab, succeeded in obtaining commutation of their sentence to imprisonment for life in the State penitentiary. The other four, Spies, Fischer, Engel and Parsons met their fate as stated. In May, 1886, these seven men were instrumental in the wounding of sixty-five Chicago policemen, seven or eight of whom died from the effects of their wounds. The weapon used was a dynamite bomb. The bomb thrower, whose name was Schaunbelt, was never captured. All were foreigners with the exception of Parsons, who was a native of Alabama, and during the reconstruction era, was a radical leader of the negroes in Texas.

The best press comment upon the event which has come within our observation, we take from the New York Commercial Advertiser, which says:

"Anarchists all over the country should take warning from the terrible fate of their brethren in Chicago yesterday. They call society a monster. Let them beware then, how they excite this monster to use its awful strength in crushing them. In defending law and order against wanton attacks, there is no length of severity and cruelty even to which society will not go. Human lives are but as dust in the balance when the safety of society demands their sacrifice. Four men paid the penalty yesterday. The next time these anarchists hurl themselves against the rock of our civilization they may perish by the hundreds or thousands. Society will kill them, bury them, and go about its business. They are like the bird's who dash through the night at the torch of liberty on Bedloe's Island and are stricken dead, while the light burns undimmed as before.

"During the New York City draft riots society killed a thousand men. They did not have the honor of a trial. They were shot, bayonetted or clubbed to death in their tracks. As society warmed to the work it gave no quarter, as it received none. It had as little mercy as fear. If there are tigerish instincts in our poor human nature, anarchists do not monopolize them. Policemen and soldiers often forget that they are blind and passionless instruments of the law and thirst for blood. If the constituted authorities shirk their duty, quiet and peaceable citizens organize vigilance committees, and make a gallows of every lamp post. There is no frenzy or ferocity among mankind, or the beasts, like that of society, when defied and imperiled. Witness the slaughter of the Communists—men, women and children, after the government troops were in complete possession of Paris. It was an indiscriminate butchery, in which innocence suffered with guilt, and it did not stop until the soldiers' hands were weary with killing. Thus frightful are the reserved forces of society which Anarchists would call into action. Let them beware!"

AN OLD-TIME DEMOCRATIC LOVE FEAST AT WASHINGTON.

Grover Elated and Dan's Face Wreathed in Smiles.

General Opinion That Cleveland is Sure of Re-Election.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Democrats are more than jubilant today. In fact, the Democracy at the National capital was on a broad grin since the glorious news came over the wires. There is every evidence at the White House of satisfaction at the result of the election in New York. They have very little to say, but are evidently delighted. The President has received numerous congratulatory dispatches, and he saw several callers, but refused to comment on the result. Col. Lamont was well pleased, but did not care to talk much for publication. He said, however: "The result is extremely gratifying. Of course, I do not see how the republicans can hope to carry New York now. They had many things to their advantage in this contest, and if they were going to carry the State they should have done so this time. They have won nothing since the presidential election, and I don't see how they can hope for anything from New York in the future."

Senator Voorhees was found at the Jefferson Club. He said: Its glorious! Glorious! The result of these elections means the ascendency of the Democratic party for the next twenty-five years, and, perhaps fifty years, and it means the renomination of Cleveland unanimously and his triumphant election. It also settles Blaine. He will not be a candidate next year, for he is shrewd enough to see that no republican can be elected. But down in my very heart," remarked the Senator, "I feel good over old Virginia, I tell you. Cleveland has a strong hold upon the popular regard. Why every mention of his name on the stump brought forth the heartiest applause, and the cheers showed that the Democracy admired him. "I anticipated a falling off on the George vote, because I knew the Irish Democrats would desert him. They are tired of him and of McGlynn. George is now dead. Any leader in politics who loses half his vote in a year is doomed."

Senators Vest and Pugh also called on the President to-day and extended their congratulations. He received all the kindly expressions in a hearty cordial manner, and when the suggestion was made that he was good for another term, he made no response beyond expressing his gratification at the result.

"As good as settled," Representative Crain said, speaking of the elections. "It means Cleveland for another term. Nothing can beat him if he lives."

Senator Vest coincided in that opinion. He said that Cleveland will be renominated unanimously and elected.

Senator Pugh, of Alabama, was delighted at the result. He thought that the vote in New York shows that the Democrats are united and earnest, and that nothing can defeat them. The nomination of a son of the late Gen. Grant, he said, was an appeal to sentiment, and his defeat showed that the Democrats are not carried away from their party and principles, "Democratic rule for fifty years."

"First Auditor Chenowith, of the treasury declared that he had never been so happy. "It means," he said, "Democratic rule in this country for the next fifty years."

Card From a Penitent.

I was born on the 10th day of July, 1852, in Macon county, Ala., and lived there until the year 1863. Then my father moved to Shelby county, and in 1864 he moved down into Chilton county. I was living there until the 5th day of March 1886. And now my dear friends I know I have been advised as much as any boy could be, by my father and mother. Both have prayed for me and have done all they could for me to be saved in Heaven. In 1871 I was married to a good christian lady, and one that has at any and all times been ready to do anything for me, and now if I had taken her advice I would have been with her and my children to-day. On the 29th day of July, 1884, I was in a crowd of drunken men and was drinking myself, when I got in a difficulty with one of my best friends named James A. Dudley. Now I am in the penitentiary for a term of five years, and whiskey is the cause of my trouble, and my poor wife and children are the sufferers the same as myself. My children will be raised up uneducated; and to think that I am deprived of all that is near and dear to me, of all the pleasures and joys of this life. I have been in prison now about two years and have not in all this time seen my wife and children. Now I will say to my friends if they will help to get me out of prison I will promise you to never again drink any more intoxicating liquors and I will become a good citizen, and this shall be a lesson to me up to my death. I will close asking all christian people to pray for me and my dear wife and children I remain your unfortunate friend,

JAMES Z. HILL,
Pratt Mines, Ala.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5-ly Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

NOTICE NO. 6809.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: Thomas Harrison, Homestead 10,483 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ sec 4, township 22 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: J. F. Maull, F. G. Crocheron, G. W. Hill, J. P. Gilchen, all of Strasburg, Ala.

oct13 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6823.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.
October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887 viz: Mary E. Gentry, homestead 12926 for the n ½ of n e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: George W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 25, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on Dec. 3, 1887, viz: John S. Davis, homestead 16776 for the s w ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 28 township 24 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: French Nabors, of Montevallo, Ala., Sam Curry, William D. Carter and Shelby Lucus, of Brierfield, Ala.

oct27 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Seale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver U. S. Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of n w ¼, and n w ¼ of n e ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 16 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

A SPECIFIC FOR WOMAN'S DISEASES

—SUCH AS—

Painful Profuse Suppressed Scanty and Irregular MENSTRUATION or MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS AND FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle. Ask your Dealer for a copy of the COLLINS' [illegible] ALMANAC, or Address

COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO. ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

NEW HOME
PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR
NEVER OUT OF ORDER.
NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO, ILL. 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,
CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb25-tf]

NOTICE NO. 6825.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct 11, 1887

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 18, 1887, viz: Orville Roper, Homestead 13415 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n e ¼ of s e ¼ sec 2[illegible] township 21 n range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Smith, James C. Mims, Francis M. Headley, of Clanton, Ala., and Lee Hayse, of Mapleville, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6846.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on November 21st, 1887, viz: Albert N. Wilson, Homestead 13234 for the s e ¼ of section 6, township 20 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James H. Griffis, Robert L. Williams, Solomon Owen, Ely Owen, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6824.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 11, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at, Clanton, Ala., on November 18, viz: Monroe M. Durbin, Homestead 13080 for the s ½ of n w ¼ and n ½ of s w ¼ sec 30 township 21 n range 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James R. Broadhead, Madison Popwell, John Edwards, and Newton Culp, all of Kincheon, Ala.

oct13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6822.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
October 11, 1887,

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on November 19, 1887, viz: James P. Gentry, Homestead No. 10388 for the s w ¼ of n e ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 26, township 23 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Geo. W. Gothard, Levi J. Martin, Walter Gothard, William R. Cofer, all of Jemison, Ala.

oct 13* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE

ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT IS GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES

HODGES SARSAPARILLA CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.

T. I. N. C. IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA

SOLD EVERYWHERE

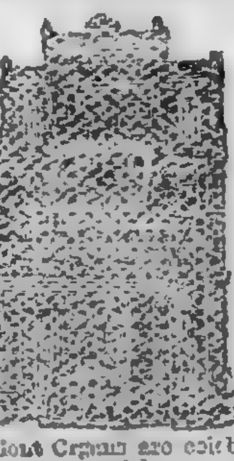
MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.



EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.

Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L & N

THE GREAT Through Trunk Line

Without change and with speed unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans & Mobile or Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Louisville, Nashville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A. Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,
CLANTON, ALA.,
IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.
Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.
(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,
Birmingham, Ala.

Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT & BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,
AND YELLOW SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,
—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,
The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,
—DOES—
Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,
Birmingham, Ala.
—DEALERS IN—
HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,
MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA,
Are displaying a Complete and Varied Assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes,
Clothing and Millinery.

Special attention given to Mail Orders. Samples cheerfully furnished on application.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,
Temple Stores, - - Commerce St.
Montgomery, Ala.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!
WE ARE OPENING CHEAP
SEED RICE for PLANTERS,
AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,
CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL
IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

WILSON HOUSE.
A. P. SIMS, Proprietor.
Corner 21st Street and 2nd Ave.
BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

The above house is first-class in all its appointments, and is under the exclusive control of A. P. SIMS, an experienced hotel manager.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,
Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES.

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

SHOW WALL CENTRE RIBBON CASES
ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.
Cedar Chests, Cabinets and Wardrobes.
CABINET WORK.
TERRY SHOW CASE CO.
20 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn. Catalogue Free

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 17, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors Market steady. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midlling 9⅝c. Middling 9⅜c. Low Middling 8⅞c.

MONTGOMERY — Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 9⅝c. Middling 9⅜c. Low Middling 9⅛.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Only five weeks till Christmas.

Christmas tree candles and sticks at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND.

Mrs. Ehrman, of this place, will spend the winter in Montgomery.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Confectioneries and family groceries at C. L. Phillips'. Call on him near the drug store.

The social gatherings, which will be kept up through the Christmas holidays, have already commenced in Clanton.

Mr. John Atkinson, of the Kincheon neighborhood has had the bright face of a little girl added to his household the past week.

Thanks to Mr. A. J. Hall for some very fine white globe and ruta bagga turnips. The largest of which weighed five pounds.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

The VIEW Stationery Stand will have a larger stock of Christmas goods this year than ever before. Be sure to come and see them.

The tidy drawn for at the mite meeting last Friday night was won by Mrs. B. H. Chesnutt, at whose house the meeting was held.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

Two prominent citizens had a fisticuff at the depot last week, which resulted in one retiring from the field of gore with a bad eye.

Attention is called to the advertisement of C. J. Hadaway, of Montgomery, dealer in saddles and harness, which will be found on fourth page.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Efforts are being made to have Rev. A. J. Briggs preach at the Clanton Methodist church two Sundays in the month during the next year should Mr. Briggs be returned to this station. We hope these efforts will be successful. Mr. O. A. Duke who is a generous contributor in this matter thinks they will be.

Winter Shoes.

I am now selling a heavy grade of shoes for winter wear. They are the kind to keep your feet dry and warm, as well as last a long time. Come and see the shoes, examine the quality, consider the low prices, and then buy and be happy all the winter. I have a fine handsewed shoe at $5.00 per pair.

Yours Truly,
W. L. SAMPEY.

We have received a part of our stock of Christmas goods and now have them displayed at the VIEW Stationery Stand. Will have more coming soon.

Cotton was selling at Verbena on Saturday at 9:40 for middling. Mr. Brooks said there had been 858 bales shipped from Verbena up to that time during the present season.

Mr. R. Ehrman had a difficulty with one of his negro hands on Saturday. The trouble ended with the darkey receiving a flesh wound in the left arm from a revolver. Wound not serious.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Mr. Joel White, bookseller and stationer, of Montgomery, has an advertisement in the VIEW to which the attention of our readers is called. His is one of the oldest established houses in the state.

We regret to state that Mr. J. B. Morgan and family will leaves us in a few days for their old home in North Alabama, Lawrence county. We regret to lose such citizens as these but our best wishes go with them.

It is almost time to begin talking about Christmas trees. The Sunday schools will of course have them as there is nothing that affords the children more pleasure and the opportunity does not come but once a year.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Corbett & Bros., of Birmingham, wholesale manufacturers and dealers in saddles and harness, have an advertisement in the VIEW to which attention is called. They will furnish dealers with goods in their line at Nashville prices.

The Avondale Enterprise in a complimentary mention of the VIEW for which it has our thanks, calls it the Clinton VIEW. Clinton is a little town over in Greene county which we notice is often advertised at the expense of Clanton.

Mr. Frank Nummie is to be congratulated upon the arrival of two new boys at his residence in the Kincheon neighborhood. The VIEW also extends congratulations to Mrs. Nummie and the little Nummies. Subscribe for your county paper Frank.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

There will be a meeting at the Methodist church next Sunday evening at 2 o'clock, to decide whether we shall have preaching from Rev. Mr. Briggs twice a month or not. All who are interested regardless of denomination are urgently requested to be present.

The Mineral City Tin and Stove House, of Birmingham, has renewed its advertisement in the VIEW which will be found on fourth page. Mr. Pat Walsh the manager of this house says he has the exclusive sale of the best cooking stove made, known as the "Mary" stove. Patronize him.

Mr. J. C. Woolley, who is well known in this place, desires to inform his many friends in Chilton county that he is now connected with the house of J. R. Swinford, at Strasburg and will be glad to wait on them at all times and can sell them anything in the dry good and grocery line as cheap as any store in the county. n10-4t

The world is full of shams, but there is no sham about White's Cream Vermifuge, a preparation intended for the benefit of children suffering with worms. We could show many testimonials of its efficency. It is largely used and the good it has accomplished cannot be estimated. Look to the health of your children, rid them of worms by using White's Cream Vermifuge.

The price of cotton is on the up grade now. Let it move on and up.

One of the Best.

Says the Montgomery Dispatch: The CHILTON VIEW began its 7th volume on the 10th inst. The VIEW is one of the best weekly papers in the State and we congratulate it upon its continued success.

Modesty compels us to omit the personal compliment from our esteemed contemporary.

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Without Foundation.

EDITORS VIEW: I notice an extract in the VIEW from Birmingham Age reporting death of a negro killed at my mill. Permit me to say that the report is utterly without foundation whatever. No one has been killed or injured at my mill for a long time and I deem such false reports to be injurous.

J. F. MAULL.

We have often heard that it is some times necessary to go away from home in order to get the news, and that was what we thought when we published the item from the Age.

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Notes.

Our postoffice is now located in the romantic building opposite the depot convenient to all.

The hotel is closed for the winter but this is not as it should be. Clanton and Verbena could by judicious advertising be made famous winter resorts for northern visitors and summer resorts for denizens of southern cities. Let us progress.

The Major's wind mill still revolves, and is more ornamental than a gas derrick.

Considering the short crop and low price of cotton and consequent hard times present and prospective, we would urge producers to diversify. Try to raise more home supplies and don't be ashamed to raise and wear woolen clothes. Let's have more sheep and less dogs. We need a strict "dog law." Argument is unnecessary to prove this! We should also give more attention to gardening "for profit." Those magical cities will furnish a good market.

We believe there is enormous profit in the culture of broom corn.

Mr. Editor, I would like to call on some of your other correspondents to give us an inter-change of ideas on agricultural subjects, not forgetting that it is important that we all pull together.

JOHN.

Rev. A. J. Briggs preached two able sermons Sunday; his next appointment here will be his last before conference.

Mrs. Clisby and daughters, Misses Hattie and Anna have returned from an extended visit to Montgomery.

Mr. Mitchell Williamson, of Birmingham, visited his family here and one of the assistants of the high school.

We have here a new Professor in the village. Prof. Acker, Jr., "ten pounds."

Miss Gullette and the Misses Benson, of Wilcox, have opened a dress-making establisment on Elm Street.

Mrs. Capt. Paine has gone to her old home in Virginia to spend some time.

Mr. Teeple, of Chicago, is here spending the winter on account of health. Chilton county would make a splendid winter resort for the northwest. High, dry atmosphere, pure, free-stone water, pine forests, etc.

Our passenger and freight station house has received a new coat of paint.

A big wedding cake will be cut in Verbena Thursday night. Your correspondent has a sweet tooth left yet.

Mrs. Cleveland kindly remembered Verbena, her card received by Master Crawford Merriwether reads thus: "The accompanying card is sent in acknowledgement of the kind remembrance received by Mrs. Cleveland during her recent visit to Alabama from Master Crawford Merriwether. Signed FRANCES CLEVELAND. Executive Mansion, Washington, Nov. 2."

It is a serious mistake not to alleviate all that needs alleviation as far as lies within our power. If you have a friend suffering with Piles whisper in his ear that Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment not only alleviates but positively cures that disease. We wager that he will not stand upon the order of his going but will go at once for Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment.

Special From Cooper's.

Rev. Mr. Hardy Jones has been called to the pastorship of the Baptist church at this place and has accepted the call. The church is in a very prosperous condition.

P. C. DENNIS.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Said a friend the other day, "Lawrence that birthday article was not a bad one. I have more than once heard the VIEW misrepresented and lied about. But that is the fate of all. Rot-gut, you have noticed, after bringing white men to the level of the Jesse Dukes will fool them into finding horrible bugbears among the best things in the world." Yes, we have noticed.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boshee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

When the South takes on its long hoped for growth in population from the north and west then we may look for anarchists and socialists, and we will have a worse element to contend with than the negro has heretofore been. Some of the dread element is here now as there was a meeting of thirty or forty anarchists in Birmingham Monday night, for the purpose of denouncing the hanging of their Chicago brethren as a "judicial murder."

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

1887 1887
Fall & Winter!
We have in stock the most complete line of
General Merchandise
COMPRISING
Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, Notions, Hardware, Drugs, Etc.
We sell goods at reasonable prices, and guarantee correct weights and measures. Highest price paid for cotton in cash, and goods exchanged for produce.
T. E. CALLIER & SON,
aug25-8m Dixie, Ala.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.
Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.
From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

THE
Verbena High School.
:o:
VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.
:o:
Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.
FACULTY:
E. D. ACKER, A. B., LLB., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.
MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.
MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.
MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.
CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00

Tuition is payable in advance.
Students will be prepared for any class in college.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!
JOHN B. RODEN,
Bookseller and Stationer,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,
Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.
☞ Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!
Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade, I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and
Sell For Cash Across the Counter.
No exceptions made for anybody.
A. J. BROOKS.
Verbena, Ala, Sept. 23, 1887.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,
—MONTGOMERY, ALA.—
Large Stock! Low Prices!
Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.
GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.
☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON
W. H. SARTOR,
FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.
☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,
FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.
—JOBBERS IN—
Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,
ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.
PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.
GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.
THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.
OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.
2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.
Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants
MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.
—AND DEALERS IN—
Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.
Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.
We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.
We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,
Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES,
BOILERS,
SAW MILLS,
CORN MILLS,
SHINGLE MACHINES,
CORN MILLS,
SUGAR MILLS,
COTTON GINS,
COTTON PRESSES,
PULLEYS,
SHAFTING,
BELTING, and
MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.
Largest Stock in the State.
Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.
☞ Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.
Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.
☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,
—DEALER IN—
Guns and Ammunition,
GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA

BANDMAN & CO.,
—o—
Wholesale Grocers,
—o—
P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,
Artistic Photographer
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Life Size Photographs a Specialty.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dial. Enameled Photographs.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,
Wholesale Druggists,
FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
MEDICINES,
Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.
☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's
BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.
Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.
Drayling and Hauling Promptly Attended to
Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt
Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.
RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.
Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.
☞ MONTGOMERY STABLES, ☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. janly

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,
Leading Tailor.
1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Keeps constantly in stock a full line of
Elegant Goods.
ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,
—DEALER IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES,
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.
☞ Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 cts. Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN Mfg. Co., Baltimore, Md. oct9-6

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
I. N. Langston.
NO SHODDY GOODS!
-:- LOW -:- PRICES -:-
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager,
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Papers, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y)

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street.
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
23 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, - MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Collars & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m

Orders for Fancy and Plain Job Printing receive prompt attention at this office.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

A photographer, connected with the United States Signal Corps, had obtained a photograph of a sunrise from the summit of Pike's Peak.

A French horticulturist, Count de Buysson, ensures the growth of seeds so old as to have a doubtful germinating power by soaking them for thirty-six hours in water containing a little guano or other source of nitrogen.

An increase in the demand for mica has resulted from its use for electrical purposes, and special machinery has been devised for getting out the mineral. Electricians usually select the whitest kinds, some colored micas having so much iron that their insulating property is affected.

An Oxford meteorologist seeks to prove that the European and American magnetic poles are coincident with the centres of greatest cold for the two continents, and that the shiftings of the magnetic poles is due to the same series of astronomical and geological causes which produce the secular changes in climate.

Prospectors are roaming about the mountain country of Tennessee, through which railroads are to pass, seeking ore-beds, which can now be bought for merely nominal prices. Rich lead and silver ore have been found in several localities. In one immense cave in Putnam County five distinct veins of lead, all valuable, have been found.

An English observer recommends the locomotive as a cheap hygrometer for farmers and others living near railroads. When the escaping steam remains long suspended the air is near its point of saturation with moisture, but when the steam quickly disappears, as if swallowed up, the weather is dry and there is little prospect of rain.

A scientific journal, in an attempt to prove that mankind could not exert mechanical force enough of their own to produce the amount of heat needed to raise the crops necessary daily to feed themselves, states that "the mechanical equivalent of the vertical sunshine received upon a square mile of the earth's service is computed to be 3,323,000,000 pounds raised a foot high in a second.

Mr. Ernest Hart, of the Smoke Abatement Institute, fears that London will always suffer from fogs, because it is placed in a river valley, on a clay soil, and is bordered on the Essex side by low-lying lands very imperfectly drained, and on the north side by the Harrow Weald. The fogs generated, the results of damp exhalations, are greatly aggravated by the parks, most of which require draining. But if the smoke is got rid of the fogs will be much less dense.

The latest theory of the mode of formation of ozone in the atmosphere is that of C. Wurster, whose observations have led him to conclude that it is formed by the action of clouds. He states that when clouds are continually formed from above they become highly charged with this active form of oxygen, whilst those formed from below only contain it in notable quantity in their upper layer. This theory has no advantage over many others, it admits of confirmation or refutation both by observation and experiment. Artificial clouds are easly formed, may be confined in glass vessels, and there exposed to sunlight. Ordinary oxonometer paper contained in the same vessel will at once display the formation of ozone if it actually occurs.

Curious Relics of a Prehistoric Age.

At the White Plains Saltworks on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, beyond Wadsworth, in sinking large pits or wells many fish, perfectly preserved, have been found in the strata of rock salt cut through. The salt field occupies what was once the bottom of a large lake. The fish found are of the pike or pickerel species, and from twelve to sixteen inches in length. No such fish are now seen in any of our Nevada lakes. The specimens are not petrified, but are preserved in perfect form, flesh and all, as though they had been frozen up in cakes of ice. The saltworks are located near the centre of a basin in which was once a lake thirty miles long, by from twelve to fifteen miles in width and over 300 feet deep in places, as is shown by the ancient water lines on the bordering hills. The fish found imbedded in the layers of rock salt are doubtless thousands of years old. After being exposed to the sun and air for a day or two they become as hard as wood. At the time Jason Baldwin, now watchman at the Osbiston shaft in this city, was Superintendent of the White Plains works, he found great numbers of these fish. In a pit eight feet square and about sixteen feet deep dozens of them were found, there being sometimes five or six in a bunch. It was found that they could even be eaten, but they were not very palatable, and it was necessary to soak them in fresh water for two or three days before attempting to cook them.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

What Locomotive Whistles Mean.

One long blast of the whistle is a signal for approaching stations, railroad crossings and junctions.

One short blast of the whistle is a signal to apply the brakes—stop.

Two long blasts of the whistle are a signal to throw off the brakes.

Two short blasts of the whistle are an answer to the conductor's signal to stop at the next station.

Three long blasts of the whistle are a signal that the train has parted.

Three short blasts of the whistle when the train is standing are a signal that the train will back.

Three short blasts of the whistle when the train is running are a signal to be given by passenger trains, when displaying signals for a following train, to call the attention of trains they meet or pass to the signals.

Four long blasts of the whistle are a signal to call in the flagman.

Four short blasts of the whistle are the engineer's call for signals from switchmen, watchmen and trainmen.

Two long, followed by two short, blasts of the whistle are a signal for approaching road crossings at grade.

Five short blasts of the whistle are a signal to the flagman to go back and protect the rear of the train.

A succession of short blasts of the whistle is an alarm for persons or cattle on the track, and calls the attention of trainmen to danger ahead.—Racine (Wis.) Journal.

His Woe.

Said the mother: "The earth is sunny,
All nature is blithe and glad!
And you, my son, are looking Down-hearted, glum and sad."

"My soul is stricken with anguish,
I'm not myself to-day:
'I can not sing the old songs,'
I fly from all that's gay."

"Oh, why this gloom-eyed sorrow?"
His worried mother cried;
"My secret I'll unbosom,"
The dutiful son replied.

"A mule's kicked out my front teeth,"
Then, with a wailing sob;
"I can't eat corn off the cob, mother!
I can't eat corn off the cob!"

—R. K. Munkittrick.

THE LAND BOOM.

Prices Way Up Among the Stars—The Dangers to be Avoided.

The wonderful land boom of the past year has excited very general attention.

It has not been confined to any one locality, for, as Chauncey M. Depew said, after a visit to the west, "At nearly every one of the trade centres we visited, we found extravagant and untenable views of prospective real estate values."

Of course the vast army of men engaged, in one way or another in these enterprises, were loth to believe their views either extravagant or untenable. Both they and Depew are right to a certain extent.

Land values have rapidly and permanently increased in this country in the last fifty years. This is especially noticeable in the "jumping" west, along the lines of new railroads.

Thousands of new cities have sprung up, with a growth perfectly astonishing, and great fortunes have been made in real estate.

Land values must continue to increase generally, because the available area of land in the country is now so small as to render inevitable its entire absorption in a few years.

One hundred years from now, at the present rate of increase, our population will be 400 to the square mile—twice as many as in the largest European nations.

To be a safe speculator, it is necessary to study cause and effect, as the proprietors of Warner's safe cure did in preparing their remedy. Its success is great because it reaches the cause of disease. Every drop of blood coursing through the system passes through the kidneys. If they are in sound working order, the blood is purified; if deranged, poison, that should be eliminated, is carried through the blood channels to every part of the system. The poison attacks the weak points, and so come the long list of resulting ailments. Remedy the cause, put the purifying organs in health, and the whole system becomes healthy.

There must be a solid basis for a land boom, however, or it will inevitably result in a crash, entailing great losses and subsequent injurious depression.

Two thousand dollars per front foot for land in some cities might be a judicious investment, in others, very indiscreet. It is wise to make investments of a character indicating a permanent, if slower, growth and increase of value.

AN OLD NANTUCKET SEA KING.

A Little Biography With an Antique Flavor and a Smack of the Sea.

[From the Chicago Times.]

"There were a lot of splendid shipmasters just passing off the stage when I was a boy," says a Nantucket man. "I must say they seemed to me in character, enterprise and lofty demeanor fully equal to all I had heard related of their daring and enterprise.

"The greatest family of island shipmasters was the Wests. They were descended in part from the noble Ichabod Paddock, who removed to Nantucket late in 1600, by invitation, to teach the people how to catch whales. Charles West married a descendant of this great whaleman. They had a son Stephen, who was master of a ship as early as 1802. Stephen was one of the most successful of our shipmasters. He was a bosom friend of the great merchant, Jacob Barker; they were boys together; in fact, Jacob has told me that Capt. West gave him his first start in life. I saw the former in 1850, in his eighty-fifth year, at the captain's death-bed, asking him what he could do for him in such a tender, pathetic spirit that I forgave Mr. Barker all he had omitted to do for his friend in life. In 1790 Capt. West commenced his career as a South Sea whale fisherman, and continued in it until 1798, when the French troubles compelled its suspension. In 1800, however, he was away as first lieutenant of the Oneida, a twenty-gun ship, bound on a voyage to China, via Cape Horn and the Marquesas Islands, where she expected to lay in her cargo of seal skins. The Oneida was absent seventeen months, and returned with a rich cargo of teas, silks and nankeens, so profitable that it was talked of in the counting-rooms of all our ports.

Whaling was just then reviving. The ship John Jay, then in the China trade, was purchased, and Mr. West went out in her as first officer on a voyage to Brazil Banks. On his return Seth Russel & Sons, of New Bedford, offered him command of the Dolphin, in which he sailed on a whaling voyage to the South Seas. She registered but 130 tons and was probably the smallest vessel that ever sailed on such a voyage. Well out on the whaling grounds the young Captain discovered that the vessel was leaking and was also very defective in her upper works. He put her into Delgoa Bay, on the coast of Africa, where he found a number of his townsmen in command of English, French and American ships. He called to his aid the carpenters and smiths of these ships, went into the woods and cut timbers, repaired his ship and refastened her throughout. Then they went for a cruise off the Cape of Good Hope, fell in with schools of whales, filled the ship in six weeks and were home full, the first ship of the season. Capt. West's reputation was now assured. In the ship Martha he made two voyages to the Brazil Banks and to Patagonia, taking upward of 1,850 barrels of sperm oil each time, but losing the last—captured by the English ship Nimrod in the war of 1812. On the return of peace he made three seven month's voyages in old ship Martha, returning full each time. Then the Liverpool packet Pacific was bought, and in her in a seven months' voyage he took 2,400 barrels of oil. He made a second voyage with like results. He then performed his last voyage in the South America, taking 700 barrels, and retired from the sea, having brought 25,000 barrels of oil into port. He died in 1853, nearly eighty-five years of age.

National Disgrace.

New York is disgraced by the Grant mausoleum in Riverside Park. The first sight one gets of it is shocking—it is so small, and plain, and cheap. It is a fairly good copy of an old-time Dutch bake-oven done in variegated bricks. The temporary resting place of Garfield's remains in Cleveland is far handsomer. Not an hour of daylight passes that from one to twenty visitors do not visit the Grant tomb, and on Sundays thousands go there. The improvement of the park around the tomb has made the latter look shabbier than it used to. A few trees, particularly if they were placed so as to hide the sight of it from a distance, would save the city from its present humiliation in some degree.

THE last 300,000 of the silver trade dollars recently redeemed by the Government are now being melted up in the assay office. The total amount received by the sub treasury in trade dollars and turned over to the assay office to be melted was $3,500,000. The silver has been cast into bars and bricks, and stored in one of the vaults of the assay office.

A RESTAURANT has been opened in London for exclusive patronage of people who are troubled with corpulence, the food being entirely anti-fat.

TRINITY Parish of New York will be asked to contribute $1,000,000 to the new Episcopal Cathedral.

Over-Worked Women.

For "worn-out" "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, house-keepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. PRICE $1.00 A BOTTLE, OR SIX BOTTLES FOR $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for ten cents in stamps.

Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Paris, France, is to have 200,000 electric lights planted in its streets.

* * * * A disease of so delicate a nature as stricture of the urethra should only be entrusted to those of large experience and skill. By our improved methods we have been enabled to speedily and permanently cure hundreds of the worst cases. Pamphlet, references and terms, 10 cents in stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The king of Siam has 3,000 wives. He is a monarch of firmness and courage.

Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children:

Chronic Coughs and Bronchitis, can be cured by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Prominent physicians use it and testify to its great value. Please read the following: "I used Scott's Emulsion for an obstinate Cough with Hemorrhage, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation, Sleeplessness, &c. All of these have now left, and I believe your Emulsion has saved a case or well-developed Consumption."—T. J. FINDLEY, M. D., Lone Star, Texas.

China, for taxing purposes, recently made a census and the population is 319,683,500.

The Special Offer

of THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, which we have published, includes the admirable Double Holiday Numbers for Thanksgiving and Christmas, with colored covers and full-page pictures, twenty pages each. These, with the other weekly issues to January 1, 1888, will be sent free to all new subscribers who send $1.75 for a year's subscription to January, 1889. THE COMPANION has been greatly enlarged, is finely illustrated, and no other weekly literary paper gives so much for so low a price.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,

T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

EVERY person is interested in their own affairs, and if this meets the eye of any one who is suffering from the effects of a torpid liver, we will admit that he is interested in getting well. Get a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters, use it as directed, and you will always be glad you read this item.

Offer No. 171.

FREE!—TO MERCHANTS ONLY: A genuine Meerchaum Smoker's Set, (five pieces), in satin-lined plush case. Address at once, R. W. TANSILL & CO., 55 State street, Chicago.

When can a man have something and nothing in his pocket at the same time? When there is a hole in it. If there is a hole in the lungs it can be healed with Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.

Send for Pamphlet on Female Diseases, free; securely sealed. Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N.Y.

An Australian sheep raiser has been buying sheep in Vermont for breeding purposes.

Sick and bilious headache cured by Dr. Pierce's "Pellets"

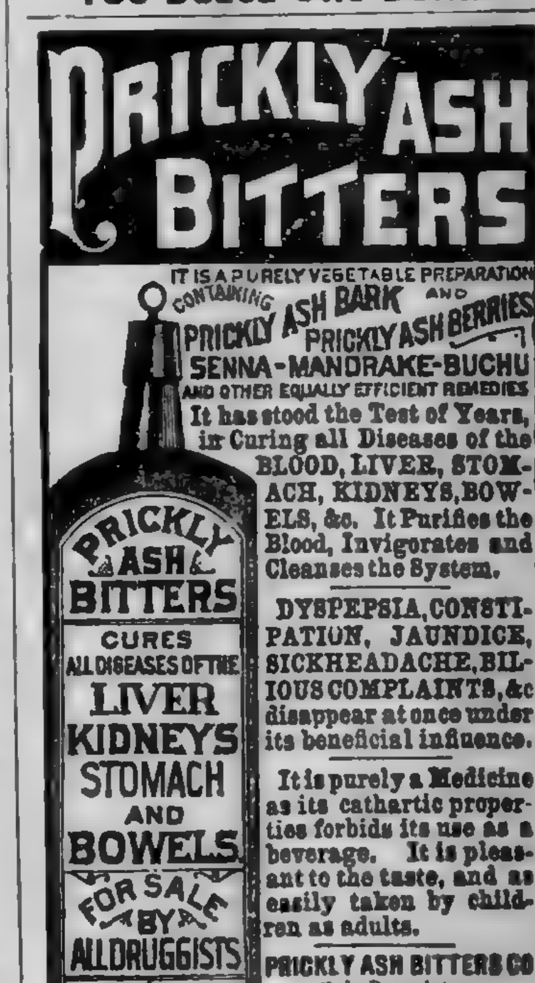
At Oswego, N. Y. Rev. Dr. McGlynn said that he longed to preach from a pulpit again.

Chronic Catarrh

Cannot be cured by local applications. It is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease and soon effects a permanent cure. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system and makes you feel renewed in strength and health. Be sure to get Hood's.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh and it has done me a great deal of good. I recommend it to all within my reach."—LUTHER D. ROBBINS, East Thompson, Ct.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar



PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
IT IS A PURELY VEGETABLE PREPARATION CONTAINING PRICKLY ASH BARK AND PRICKLY ASH BERRIES SENNA-MANDRAKE-BUCHU AND OTHER EQUALLY EFFICIENT REMEDIES
It has stood the Test of Years, in Curing all Diseases of the BLOOD, LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, &c. It Purifies the Blood, Invigorates and Cleanses the System.
DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, JAUNDICE, SICKHEADACHE, BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, &c disappear at once under its beneficial influence.
It is purely a Medicine as its cathartic properties forbids its use as a beverage. It is pleasant to the taste, and as easily taken by children as adults.
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CO
Sole Proprietors,
ST. LOUIS and KANSAS CITY

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 250 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

HERBRAND FIFTH WHEEL. Latest Buggy and Carriage improvement. HERBRAND CO., Fremont, O.

PALMS' Business College, Phila., Pa. Situations furnished. Life Scholarship, $40. Write.

DAYLIGHT.

If a gentleman by the name of Day volunteers to throw the light of his experience into the darkened places of misery, so that others may go and do as he has done and enjoy life, may it not be reasonably called daylight? As for instance, take the case of Captain Sargent S. Day, Gloucester, Mass., who writes April 16, 1881: "Some time ago I was suffering with rheumatism. I used a small portion of St. Jacobs Oil and was cured at once. I have used it for sprains and never once have known it to fail. I will never be without a bottle." Captain Day also received a circular letter, and in reply under date of July 1, 1887, he says: "I used the Oil as stated and was permanently cured of rheumatism by its use." During the intervening six years there had been no recurrence of the pain. Also a letter from Mr. H. M. Converse, of the Warren (Mass.) Herald, dated July 9, 1887, as follows: "In response to yours of June 22, would say that in 1880 my wife had a severe attack of rheumatism in shoulder and arm, so that she could not raise her hand to her head. A few applications of St. Jacobs Oil cured her permanently, and she has had no return of it." Another case is that of Mr. R. B. Kyle, Tower Hill, Appomattox county, Va., who writes, November, 1886: "Was afflicted for several years with rheumatism and grew worse all the time. Eminent physicians gave no relief; had spasms, and was not expected to live; was rubbed all over with St. Jacobs Oil. The first application relieved, the second removed the pain, continued use cured me; no relapse in five years, and do as much work as ever." These are proofs of the perfection of the remedy, and, taken in connection with the miracles performed in other cases, it has no equal.

Ely's Cream Balm.
Gives relief at once and cures
Cold in Head
Catarrh and Hay Fever.
Not a Liquid or Snuff.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N.Y.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

GOES DIRECT TO WEAK SPOTS
KILLS MALARIA
WELLS' HEALTH RENEWER

Don't allow yourself to break. Keep up Youth, Health, Vigor. At first signs of going back, begin use of WELLS' HEALTH RENEWER. For weak men, delicate women. Renews energy. Cures Dyspepsia, Mental or Physical Weakness, Nervous and General Debility. Fever and Ague. Nice to take, true merit, unequaled for TORPID LIVER and NIGHT SWEATS, Leanness, Nervous Prostration, heavy labored or restless sleep, exhausted, tired, languid, faint, "ALL GONE" feeling, distress in the back or head. Wind on bowels or stomach. $1, 6 for $5. Druggists or Express. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J., U. S. A.

SUPERIOR ESTAB. 1824 QUALITY
MUSIC BOXES
Gautschi & Sons 1876 PHILA 1030 Chestnut St
PHILADELPHIA ÷ SEND STAMP FOR CATALOGUE.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their Widows, Pensions now for you all. Address E. H. Gelston & Co., Washington, D.C.

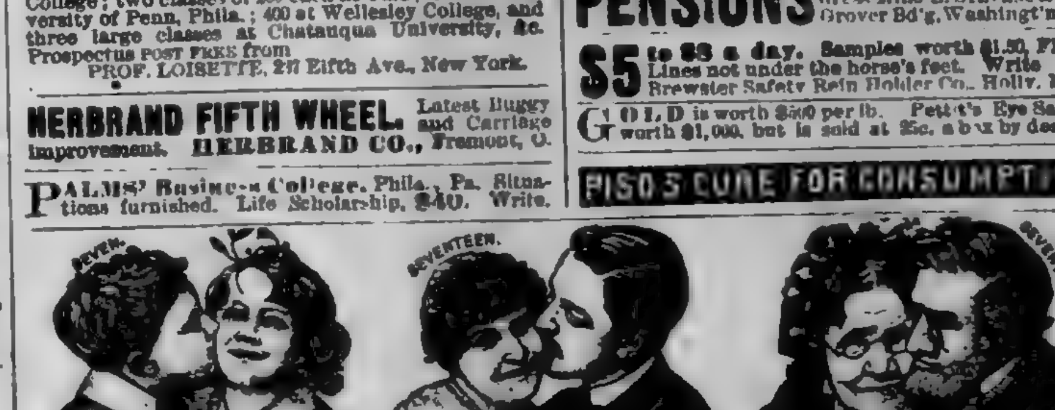
WORK FOR ALL. $30 a week and expenses paid. Valuable outfit and particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

PENSIONS An increase may be due. Address MILO B. STEVENS & Co., Grover Bd'g, Washingt'n, D.C.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION



This represents a healthy life.
Throughout its various scenes,
Just such a life as they enjoy
Who use the Smith's Bile Beans.

Smith's BILE BEANS purify the blood, by acting directly and promptly on the Liver, Skin and Kidneys. They consist of a vegetable combination that has no equal in medical science. They cure Constipation, Malaria, and Dyspepsia, and are a safeguard against all forms of fevers, chills and fever, gall stones, and Bright's disease. Send 4 cents postage for a sample package and test the TRUTH of what we say. Price, 25 cents per bottle, mailed to any address, postpaid. DOSE ONE BEAN. Sold by druggists.
J. F. SMITH & CO., PROPRIETORS, ST. LOUIS, MO.

The original Photograph, panel size, of this picture sent on receipt of 10c. in stamps. Address, BILE BEANS, St. Louis, Mo.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND
SLICKER
Is The Best Waterproof Coat Ever Made.
None genuine unless stamped with the above TRADE MARK. [illegible] The FISH BRAND SLICKER [illegible] keep you dry in the hardest storm. [illegible] A. J. TOWER, [illegible]

W. C. T. U.
PORTRAITS.

MEMBERS of the W. C. T. U. will be delighted to learn that DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, the greatest of all Family Magazines, has commenced a series of finely executed portraits of the Presidents of the W. C. T. U., each accompanied by a short biographical sketch. The November number (now ready) contains a life-like picture of Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the National Organization. This will be followed by that of Mrs. Mary Towne Burt, President of the New York State Organization, after which will appear, each month, one of the other State Presidents, until the list is completed. The series will be a most valuable one, and every lady should possess this collection of portraits of some of the brightest women of our country.

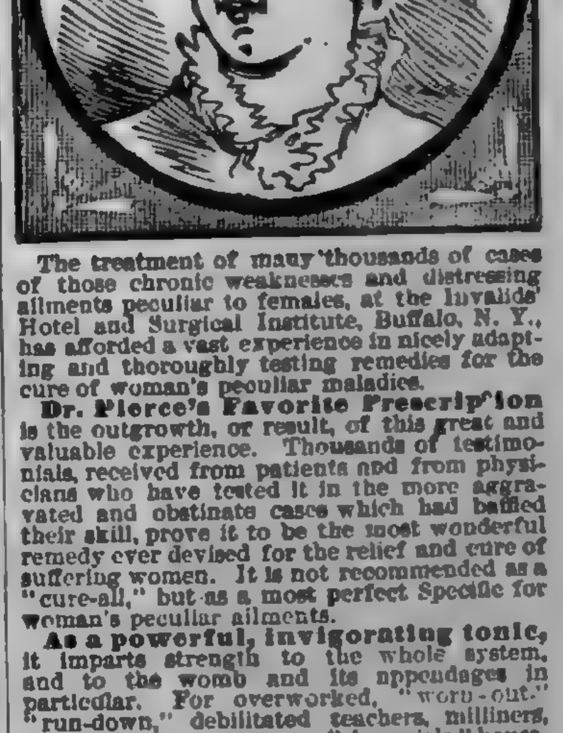
Buy in your vicinity, or send to the publisher for the November number, and you will be surprised at its contents. Besides its many other attractions, it contains a finely executed portrait of the late Hon. John B. Finch.

Many suppose DEMOREST'S MONTHLY to be a fashion magazine. This is a great mistake. It undoubtedly contains the finest FASHION DEPARTMENT of any magazine published, but this is the case from the fact that great enterprise and experience are shown, so that each department is equal to a magazine in itself. By subscribing for Demorest's you really get a dozen magazines in one, and secure amusement and instruction for the whole family. It contains Stories, Poems, and other Literary attractions, including Artistic, Scientific, and Household matters, and is illustrated with original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures, and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each copy of "DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE" contains a COUPON ORDER entitling the holder to the selection of ANY PATTERN illustrated in any number of the Magazine, and IN ANY OF THE SIZES manufactured, making during the year Twelve Patterns, valued at from 20 cents to 30 cents each.

This is a most liberal offer; and ladies are learning that, besides having the best Literary and Household Magazine that is published, they can save between $3.00 and $4.00 per year by subscribing for DEMOREST'S MONTHLY.

YEARLY SUBSCRIPTIONS $2.00.
Single Copies (containing Pattern Coupon) 20 cents.
W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher,
15 East 14th Street, New York.
Sold by all Newsdealers and Postmasters.



The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

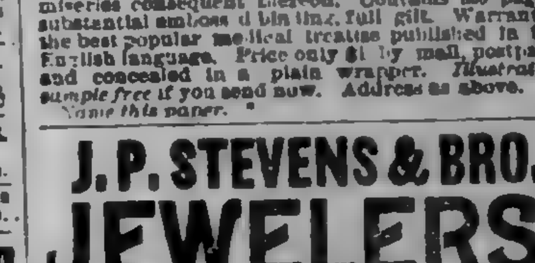
For large, illustrated Treatise on Diseases of Women (160 pages, paper-covered), send ten cents in stamps. Address,

World's Dispensary Medical Association,
663 Main St., BUFFALO, N. Y.

EXHAUSTED VITALITY
A Great Medical Work for Young and Middle-Aged Men.



KNOW THYSELF.
PUBLISHED by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass. WM. H. PARKER, M. D., Consulting Physician. More than one million copies sold. It treats upon Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline, Exhausted Vitality, Impaired Vigor and Impurities of the Blood, and the untold miseries consequent thereon. Contains 300 pages, substantial embossed binding, full gilt. Warranted the best popular medical treatise published in the English language. Price only $1 by mail, postpaid, and concealed in a plain wrapper. Illustrative sample free if you send now. Address as above. Name this paper.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

GOLDSMITH & SULLIVAN'S
Business College!
Fitten Building, ATLANTA, GA. Most practical College South. Best course at least cost. Send for catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

LADIES at home can make money by working for us; no canvassing. We furnish material and pay well for satisfactory work. Send $1 00 for sample. C. O. BUCK & CO., 50 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D.C.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	33 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION.' TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA.. THURSDAY. NOVEMBER 24, 1887. NUMBER 3.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

MONEY MAKERS:

PRETTY GIRLS WHO MAKE MONEY AND BONDS.

One of the Industries in Which Women are Superior to Men—The Way They Make and Handle Millions.

"Those are the girls who make money," remarked a gentleman as a long line of girls came laughing and chatting out of the big buildings opposite The Star office. They were happy and cheerful and as handsomely dressed and jauntily arrayed as if they were just making their exit from a matinee.

A reporter ventured up to the eighth floor of the big building to see the money-making process. The request made to one of the officials of the company was not a new one and had heretofore been invariably refused, for this great establishment has its secret processes, which it keeps as safely guarded as it does the securities of nations and corporations which it manufactures. But on this occasion the point was yielded, and, accompanied by one of the officers, the round of the establishment was made.

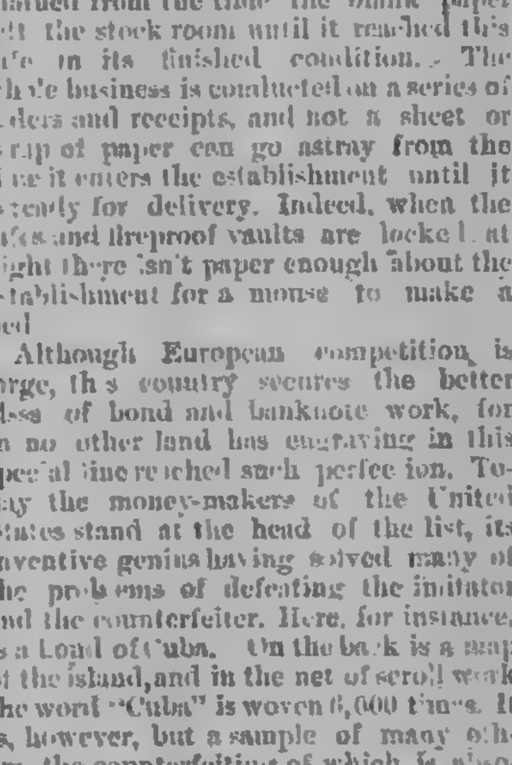
Seated at their desks in the company's office are the young ladies who act as accountants and timekeepers. They are experts at figures, and the whole business of the department has been reduced to such a system that almost at a glance the cost of everything that enters into the work, even to the gum on the back of a stamp, can be ascertained.

COUNTERS AT WORK.

A door to the left was opened, and disclosed to view ten dozen girls engaged in verifying numbers and counting perfected work. Here great skill and quick perception are required. Sharp eyes run with the speed of lightning down the long rows of coupons and verify the numbers, while other eyes, equally as quick, examine each sheet and it is passed along or tossed out as imperfect, until the finished work reaches the "counter," by whom it is bundled, marked and certified with her signature. It then goes to the great safe, where it is receipted for, and the work is finished.

Standing in this safe, surrounded by millions of securities, including many of the South and Central American republics, as well as innumerable corporations in the United States and Europe, the process of engraving and printing was explained from the time the blank paper left the stock room until it reached this safe in its finished condition. The whole business is conducted on a series of orders and receipts, and not a sheet or strip of paper can go astray from the time it enters the establishment until it is ready for delivery. Indeed, when the safes and fireproof vaults are locked at night there isn't paper enough about the establishment for a mouse to make a bed.

Although European competition is large, this country secures the better class of bond and banknote work, for in no other land has engraving in this special line reached such perfection. To-day the money-makers of the United States stand at the head of the list, its inventive genius having solved many of the problems of defeating the imitator and the counterfeiter. Here, for instance, is a bond of Cuba. On the back is a map of the island, and in the net of scroll work the word "Cuba" is woven 6,000 times. It is, however, but a sample of many others, the counterfeiting of which is absolutely impossible. In the passage of one of these sheets of paper through the house it has been subjected to fifty-two countings from as many different persons. Every spoiled and defective sheet has also been accounted for.



A "FLY" GIRL.

The engraving rooms, where skilled artists were at their work: the process by which the engraved plates were transferred to the steel press plates and hardened; the geometrical lathe for engraving scroll work, which cannot be duplicated by hand; the printing and the ink rooms—all were visited, as were also the great iron vaults, containing hundreds of perfect plates, from which an average of 10,000,000 each of securities have been printed.

And except in the heavier parts of the business and in the engraving rooms, the girls who make money were everywhere. They were met in the halls and rooms of the building, their arms burdened with the bundles of securities, which they were transporting on their way to perfection, the amount in hand being great enough to make them millionaires; in the rooms running numbering machines, as counters, pinners, flyers; and in the press room, where each girl was assisting "her man" in running the press, by damping, laying and flying the sheet, while "her man" applied the ink, prepared the plate, and did the presswork. In this department each girl speaks of the pressman as "her man," the two working together, and when one is absent the other, perforce, is idle also. In fact, whenever girls are employed in the mechanical department of making money, they appear as man's assistant and helpmate. In the tower of the building there was a perfect beehive of girls hard at work examining and preparing the money on the tables before them, and happy and cheerful looking ladies they were, too, as were about all employed in the establishment.

The very character of the work precludes the possibility of much talking. The eye, the touch and the mind must be intent on the task in hand, for negligence or inattention is certain to be detected at the next stage the money takes in transit.

"Why do you employ girls in the process of money making instead of men and boys?" asked the reporter of his guide.

"Because they are quicker of perception, have a more delicate sense of touch and are more tractable than boys. In fact, a girl of sixteen, if suited to our employ, has the fixed habits of a man of twenty-six combined with greater expertness. Then they have a deeper sense of duty, do exactly as they are instructed, and are in every way more reliable than boys, or even very young men.

NUMBERING THE BONDS.

"Every girl in our employ has been recommended by people in good standing. Many of them are daughters of people who have been able to give them liberal educations, and some of them have parents or kinsfolk depending upon them. Before we engage a girl we investigate her history."

"Do many of the girls marry employes of the establishment?"

"Occasionally they do. In fact, several of the girls in the press room have married 'her man.' But marriage generally ends their service here. They retire voluntarily to become the centre of a home circle, and usually make excellent wives. We have several cases where husbands have died, however, and the girls have returned to our employ."—New York Star.

The Annual Capture of Turkey.

O What Wealth!

Wife of young literary man—"Why, George! A hundred dollars for that magazine story! How long did it take you to write it?"

Young husband (nonchalantly)—"Oh, I don't know. A couple of days, I suppose."

Wife (exultantly)—"Fifty dollars a day! That's three hundred dollars a week, and twelve hundred a month. Twelve times twelve is one hundred and forty-four—fourteen thousand four hundred dollars a year! Why, George, we can keep a carriage and horses just as well as not!"—Harper's Bazar.

Wanted A Man of More Sand.

"You say, Mr. Smith," said the girl in a low, thoughtful, this-is-a-serious-matter sort of tone, "that you have loved me for five years and have never dared to tell me so until to-night?"

"Yes," he replied.

"Well, I cannot be your wife. A man who has no more courage than that would feign to be asleep while a burglar stole his baby's shoes.—Epoch.

Wasted Sweetness.

Miss Clara—"And so your engagement with Mr. Featherly is at an end, Ethel?"

Miss Ethel—"Yes, for evermore."

Miss Clara—"Will you return the presents he gave you?"

Miss Ethel—"No, I cannot do that. He never gave me anything but caramels and ice cream."—New York Sun.

The Important Point.

"Why, he goes out in the nicest society. He calls on the W——s, the swellest people in town."

"Calls on them, does he? But do they let him in?"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

An Anxiety.

Aunty—"Why, Laurie, you seem to be growing every day!"

Laurie (whose one idea is his birthday next week)—"Yes, Aunty; I'm afraid I shall be six before my birthday!"—Punch.

HELP ONE ANOTHER.

"Help one another, the snowflake said,
As they cuddled down in their fleecy bed;
"One of us here would not be felt,
One of us here would quickly melt;
But I'll help you and you help me,
And then what a big white drift we'll see!"

"Help one another," the maple spray
Said to its fellow leaves one day:
"The sun would wither me here alone,
Long enough ere the day is gone;
But I'll help you and you help me,
And then what a splendid shade there'll be!"

"Help one another," the dewdrop cried,
Seeing another drop close to its side;
'This warm south breeze would drive me away,
And I should be gone ere noon to-day;
And I'll help you and you help me,
And we'll make a brook and run to sea."

'Help one another," a grain of sand
Said to another grain just at hand:
"The wind may carry me over the sea,
And then, O, what will become of me?
But come, my brother, give me your hand,
We'll build a mountain and there we'll stand."

—Chambers's Journal.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

BY THOMAS P. MORGAN.

"What's that yer readin', Paul?"

"Longfellow."

"Which feller?"

"Longfellow's 'Hiawatha'."

"Wal, who was Longfellow, and what was his Hia—what yer call hit?'

"He was a poet, and 'Hiawatha' was his greatest poem. Listen to this:

"'Of the beasts he learned the language,
Learned their names and all their secrets,
How the beavers build their lodges,
Where the squirrels hid their acorns,
How the reindeer ran so swiftly,
Why the rabbit was so timid,
Talked with them whene'er he met them,
Called them Hiawatha's brothers.'

"Ain't that kinder beautiful?"

"Beautiful! Huh!" snorted the other. "Why, the blame thing don't even rhyme!" Then he added: "Wal, you jest let Longfellow rest and hustle out to the sod corn. The chinchbugs has eat hit till hit's worthless 'cept fer fodder. Come, stir yer stumps," he commanded as the boy hesitated. "Stir them triflin' stumps an' git amongst the corn. Let Longfellow rest, I tell ye, an' come on!"

Thus admonished Paul laid on the clock shelf the worn and faded copy of Longfellow's poems that the Doctor had loaned him, and with a sigh followed his father.

Joe Mauler tramped feldward, and Paul followed him out past the scrubby peach trees and the lone persimmon bush to the field of sod corn. Just now it looked distressingly yellow and discouraged, although it was the time of the year that it ought to have been climbing skyward with amazing rapidity had the season been propitious. As it was, the drouth had been prolonged till it seemed as if the steely blue sky would never again yield the welcome rain. This had given the chinchbugs opportunity to sap the life from the corn, undisturbed by rain which would have sent the stalks toward maturity and toughened them so that the little insects could not injure them. Joe handed the heavy corn-knife to Paul when they reached the sod.

"Now," said he, "wade in. Git ten rows cut an' shocked by night, or I'll tan ye when I git back. Understand?"

"Yes, sir," Paul answered, with a little gulp in his throat.

"Beatenist boy I ever seed or heerd tell uv," muttered Joe, as he strode toward the house. "Hit's next to plumb impossible to git work onto him. Don't seem 'zactly lazy, but he'd ruther moon over a book or a stone or a flower than to work at hones' labor an' see the hawgs an' cattle an' corn a-growin' into money. Look at him, will ye?" he went on with rising wrath, addressing an imaginary hero. "Look at him! Moonin' away his time over Longfeller's what-yer-call hit? W'y, first thing I know he'll moon hisself plumb into the crazy 'sylum. Wal, I've stood hit jest as long as I'm a-goin' to. He's got to hustle jest as well as the rest uv us, an' if that thar corn hain't did w'en I git back I'll tan him right smart. That's all!"

Joe strode on in a very angry frame of mind. The almost total failure of the crops, owing to the drought and chinchbugs, had not tended to improve his none too even tempor. Hitching up old "Dol" and "Tyler," the gaunt horses, he started toward town.

Left alone, Paul toiled slowly down the field, cutting and shocking the stunted and prematurely seared sod corn. It was a heavy task that his father had set for the slight lad to execute. Ten rows would not seem much, but they stretched away in "wabbly" lines clear across the "eighty" and represented several miles of rows.

The sun poured down its fiercest rays. The heat rose again from the earth in wavering sheets, making the distant objects seem as if perpetually in the midst of a slow, eccentric war dance. The sunlight burned upon the head of the shrinking lad until it seemed as if he would sink to the earth from sheer exhaustion. The sharp, corkscrew-like roots of the wire grass stuck through the overturned sod and pricked his bare feet unmercifully. The peculiar, disgusting stench that arose from the chinchbugs half sickened him and made his head whirl dizzily.

On a slender limb, almost at the top of the tall cottonwood tree at the side of the field, a mocking bird swung and poured forth a bewildering flood of melody.

Off across the "eighty," just where the upland fell off two hundred feet down the rough face of Hicks's Bluff, stood a distorted blackberry tree. Somewhere in its misshapen top was a dolorous rain-crow. Just now his harsh, grating cry floated to Paul, toiling on in the hot corn field.

"The rain crow says it'll rain 'fore morning," he mused wearily.

People had often wondered by what mischance in the distribution of children the gentle, dreaming, nature-loving lad had fallen to the lot of rough, surly Joe Mauler. They often speculated as to what it was that Paul, instead of delighting in toil that made the crops and live stock grow into dollars about him, loved to sit for hours dreaming and romancing over a book they did not half understand. It was more than they could see what pleasure he got from hunting beautiful plant growths or quaint petrifications or gazing in dreamy enjoyment at the evening star. To them there was no pleasure in listening to the weird, booming cry of a nighthawk, falling almost from the dancing stars to utter his cry as he whirled to begin anew his ascent.

They could account for it in but one way. He was lazy, they decided, and all these were but subterfuges used in evading honest work.

Misunderstood!

Is there a sadder word in the English language? I question the existence of its equal.

Only brusque, kindly Dr. Griggs, with his quaint Hoosier dialect and keen insight into human nature, understood and justly estimated the lad and his capabilities. He listened to Paul's little fanciful theories, lent him an occasional book and smoothed as much as possible his rough pathway.

The glowing sun seemed to stand stock still and concentrate all the power of its rays upon Paul's head. The song of the mocking bird ceased, and, with many quaint flirts of his long, slender tail, the songster, glad to escape the heat, flew away to the cool shade of the bushes that bent over the half dry water-hole in the bend of the creek.

The sun was just dropping from sight behind the distant mound when Joe Mauler, tired, angry and unreasonable, returned, and, with a final pop of the blacksnake whip upon "Dol" and "Tyler's" lean sides, drove into the stable yard.

Everything seemed to have conspired against the evenness of Joe's temper, and he was almost ready to explode with wrath. Ever since the drought began he had been on the lookout for a buyer for his place, which he intended to dispose of, and with the money thus obtained return to "Injianny." Then after Joe was sure he had the buyer "hooked" the latter backed out and left Joe with the farm still on his hands.

"Wal, hit 'pears that yer gittin' lazier every day," he said to Paul as he joined the lad in the cornfield. "'Member what I said w'en I left? Wal, I meant it. I'll learn ye to—"

But it is useless to chronicle the rest of the tirade of abuse he bestowed upon the weary boy. He grasped the lad by the collar and proceeded to get even with the disappointing buyer by cruelly whipping Paul.

After the first few cuts of the blacksnake whip the lad ceased to cry aloud; but Joe, in his unreasoning anger, did not notice this; or, if he did, attributed it to stubbornness, and continued the punishment till tired.

"Thar," he said, "I 'low some uv the laziness is thrashed out o' ye."

When he released his hold on Paul's collar the lad fell to the ground without a sound.

"Stubborn! shammin'!" muttered Joe, "Wal, he can't come no possum game over me," and he strode toward the house.

The sun set and the cool prairie breeze blew softly through the prone boy's hair. Presently Paul awoke to the pain of the stripes and wales on his slender body. He 'rose weakly to his feet and staggered wearily away from the direction of the house. He came to the place where the land fell off two hundred feet down Hicks's Bluff to the sluggish creek below. Close to the foot of a tall cotton-wood he sank down, weak with pain and sick at heart.

He lay for awhile looking up at the stars that were fast peeping into sight, and there came to him a longing to be up among those bright worlds and at rest.

Then his thoughts turned toward his father. He shrank from the idea of meeting him again, and, full of the thought that Joe would come presently searching for him, he climbed down the almost perpendicular face of the bluff to a little, cove-like indentation some ten feet below. There he reclined under the overhanging bank with naught but the pain of his stripes to disturb him.

Soon it was so dark that the trees along the creek below were but indistinct masses of blackness. A star, brighter than its fellows, hidden from his sight by the projecting roof above him, gleamed in the sluggish creek below like the light of some will-o'-the-wisp.

Then, as he looked at the roof above him, from which a great flake of small stones and earth had dropped a few days before, it seemed as if a star was shining through the dirt. As he moved slightly it was shut out from him, only to reappear when he resumed his former position. Look as he might, from only one place could he see it.

"What do you reckon that is?" he asked of an imaginary auditor. Painfully lifting stone after stone, he heaped them up directly beneath the spot where the star-like point of light gleamed.

Finally, when the pyramid had reached the proper height, he mounted it and balanced himself unsteadily on top. Slowly he raised himself erect. His extended hand above his head fell but a fraction of an inch short. He stretched himself up on tiptoe and could just touch it.

He clutched around the shining spot and dug his fingers in the earth. The gem gleamed through his fingers like a fragment of living fire.

As he strove to detach the luminous spot the stone on the apex of the heap began to sway beneath his unsteady feet. Then, as he made one last effort, Paul and the swaying stone toppled over. With the gleaming gem clutched fast in his hand he fell from the stone heap and over the edge of the cave floor. With a wild cry he went headlong down the face of the bluff, and, rolling, tumbling, falling, went over the precipice, to lie a senseless heap at the foot of a tall tree by the dark, sluggish creek.

For hours he lay there bereft of sense and almost of life. A swift Kansas thunderstorm came up and poured down its flood of water upon the white upturned face of the lad. The thunder pealed in one almost continuous roar and the lightning was like one bright lasting sheet, but Paul's wandering senses did not heed them. A great limb, torn from the parent stem by a thunderbolt, fell near him, but Paul stirred not.

Then the storm grew less in power and presently passed away altogether, and the only sounds to be heard were the distant thunder and the soft tinkle of the drops falling all about him. At last the lad opened his eyes. His whole body felt broken and torn, and he wondered vaguely if every bone in his anatomy was shattered.

He raised his hand slowly, weakly. In it gleamed the stone, like a spark of living fire. He strove to raise himself on the elbow of his other arm, and with a scream of pain, sank back. The bone was broken.

When next he opened his eyes the morning was growing red and golden with the first rays of the rising sun. Far off to the northeast the storm cloud, now looking small and impotent, could be seen. Presently the light, shining on the distant rain drops, threw a faint rainbow upon the sky.

The poem "Hiawatha" came to the boy's thoughts, and, mechanically, he repeated the words:

Saw the rainbow in the heavens,
In the eastern sky the rainbow,
Whispered "What is that, Nokomis?"
And the good Nokomis answered:
"'Tis the heaven of flowers you see there;
All the lilies of the prairie,
When on earth they fade and perish,
Blossom in that heaven above us."

When the searching party found him he was unconscious again. Dr. Griggs raised him in his strong arms.

"Jest like the boy," Joe muttered. "He hain't wuth his salt. Now yer's the doctor's bill to pay."

Dr. Griggs withdrew the gleaming stone that the hand of the unconscious lad still clutched.

"This will more than pay the bills uv forty doctors plumb from now till next 'ground hog day,'" he said. "It is a fine opal."

Joe was the picture of elation all the way to the house.

A man met them at the gate.

"Mr. Mauler," he said, I have changed my mind and will take the farm at the figure you named."

"Take nuthin'!" muttered Joe scornfully. "This yer place hain't fer sale fer no money."

The faintly breathing boy was laid on the bed.

"Why don't he come to, Doc?" Joe asked fretfully.

"He is badly injured; internally, I'm afeared," Dr. Griggs answered, his usually jolly face grave and anxious.

Oh, I reckon not," answered Joe carelessly. "He allers took things too easy to be hurt much."

Suddenly Paul opened his eyes. He spoke feebly:

"When on earth they fade an' perish."

"Longfeller, I reckon," muttered Joe.

"Blossom in that heaven above us."

Then the faint voice stopped and the fluttering breathing ceased.

"He is dead," Dr. Griggs said solemnly.

When again they thought of the fire opal it could not be found. Probably it had been lost on the way. No trace of it was ever found. Search though he did in the little shallow cave Joe Mauler could never discover another opal.

Often in the cool of the even, a mocking bird sings in a tree that shades a small grave. On the little white stone that Dr. Griggs erected is the one word: "Paul."—New York Mercury.

Indians Caught in a Trap.

This thing of sending out a body of troops to fight Indians is all bosh, says Brockway Kinney in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. They can see a company of soldiers miles away, then scatter and hide and shoot when they can't be seen. Young Captain Evans, of Fort Phil Kearney, knew how to fight the redskins. I remember when Fort Scott was besieged. That was when the Fort was the outward frontier post, 175 miles southwest of Kearney. Captain Evans volunteered to go to the relief on condition that he should be allowed absolute management of the expedition. Report had it that Fort Scott was then surrounded by at least 2,000 Indians. The captain rigged out a dozen six mule government wagons, with canvas covers arranged with ropes overhead so that the curtains could be rolled up in an instant. Then he loaded his men into the wagons, rolled down the curtains and started with a rider on each mule. These were the only men in sight of the train, and the captain gave the orders for no one under cover to show himself until he sounded the bugle as a signal for the curtains to be rolled up, when the soldiers were to fire upon the enemy. When the train got in sight of Fort Scott the the Indians came on them with a war whoop flourishing their bows and tomahawks. They were going to capture the train. Captain Evans let them come until they got within sure killing distance then his bugle sounded, and the next instant a volley of lead was poured into the redskins. They never waited for a second shot, but turned and fled as fast as their ponies would carry them, and that was the end of their siege of Fort Scott.

A Peculiar Law of Motion.

A ball or stone dropped from the ceiling of a railroad car while the train is in motion will fall in a direct line to the center of the floor, in accordance with the second law of motion, which says: "If there be two or more causes of motion taking place in two different right lines, whether inherent in the body or external to it, these effects do not interfere nor does either diminish or augment the effect of the other. In other words, when a force acts upon a body in motion, the change of motion which it produces is in the direction and proportioned to the magnitude of the force which acts." Those who move on a railroad at the rate of thirty miles an hour or forty-five feet in a second, do not find the relation in which they stand to the objects in the carriage in any degree changed by the velocity. The stone or ball, like the passengers, has a common motion onward with and derived from the train, and when let fall from the hand it retains that motion during its descent. At the commencement of its fall it would have the speed of the train in a horizontal direction and gravity would act upon it in a vertical direction and it would fall as though the car was without motion. If the ball be dropped outside of the window of the car, but onto the footboard instead of to the ground it will be found that, in accordance with the laws stated, it will fall in a direct vertical line, the same as the ball let fall inside the car. The ball dropped outside the car altogether likewise falls in a direct vertical line, but it has lost the onward motion of the train and is left behind.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Not the Answer He Expected.

I cannot see
What there's in me
To make you love me, love, said he;
Then answered she,
Quite candidly,
That's what my friends all say to me.

—Boston Courier.

BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SKETCHES FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

No Great Loss—Still the Style—A Long Jump—An Afternoon Call—The Clasp She Wanted, Etc.

Regular Customer (disposed to be facetious)—"I guess you will have to trust me for the paper until to-morrow."

Clerk—"O, that's all right, sir."

Customer—"But suppose I was to be killed between now and to-morrow?"

Clerk—"Well, the loss would not be much, sir."—Philadelphia News.

A Long Jump.

He—"That was a wonderful jump of young Spriggins's just now—cleared five feet and eight inches."

She—"Nothing to what young Wiggins did last week."

He—"What did he do?"

She—"Do! he did, pa out of fifteen hundred dollars—jumped an awfully high bail—I don't remember the height exactly—and landed without any difficulty in—er Toronto—wherever that is." —Harper's Weekly.

Still the Style.

An enterprising Yankee, who owned a large chair manufactory, had occasion one day to show a friend from over the water through his establishment.

The Englishman, amazed at the quantity of chairs that he saw in their various stages of completion, exclaimed:

"'Ow can you hever hexpect to sell so many chairs?"

"Wall," said the Yankee, "I guess settin' down ain't gone out of fashion yet."—Detroit Free Press.

An Afternoon Call.

"Do you write stories, Mrs. Hobson—love stories?" inquired Bobby, as he rested his elbows on the lady's knee and gazed peacefully into her face.

"Do I write love stories?" repeated Mrs. Hobson, in surprise. "Why, no, Bobby, what put that idea into your busy little brain?" and she turned to Bobby's mother with an amused smile.

"Pa did," was the dear little fellow's explanation. "I heard him tell ma that you could beat any woman in town romancing."—New York Sun.

Disappointed.

"I understand you are to have a big agricultural fair up your way?"

"Yes; or rather we did intend having one, but we've been disappointed."

"Disappointed? In what way?"

"Why, you see, we got the race-course all laid out, and the baseball field up nice and handy, and everything was getting on splendidly, when we found that we had no room for go-as-you-please pedestrian races."

"You don't say so?"

"Yes; and that isn't the worst of it. There's a lot of old fossils who want to exhibit cattle, vegetables and all that sort o' stuff.—Boston Transcript.

The Clasp She Wanted.

"Egbert, sweet love, dost think of me when thou art not by my side?" asked a Chicago avenue girl of her best fellow in ten-cent drama tones, as she gave her new switch a jerk to keep it from falling on his neck. "Why dost thou doubt me?" he responded tenderly and reproachfully, as he grasped his last fifty cents with the same firmness as that with which he held the waist of the maiden.

"And you long to be with me?"

"I wish I could clasp you always in my arms."

"Clasp me, dear love?"

"Ay, my soul's own."

"Then your wish shall be gratified, my darling. I saw the loveliest diamond bracelet to-day. You can clasp—"

But Egbert was no longer there.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Fatal Grape Arbor.

The sun had set and it was evening, when they stood beneath the grape arbor. It is a somewhat remarkable fact that evenings and sunsets and grape arbor meetings should occur with such unvarying simultaneousness.

"Algernon," she whispered, and a piece of chewing gum turned the whisper into a sibilant sizzle, "you are here on shedule time."

"You bet," he murmured in reply. "But hark, I heard a footstep."

She harked as requested, and suddenly grasping his wrist, she said in a terrified whisper: "It is father. Fly! Fly!"

"Gertrude, I have a bunion and I know, alas! too well, that were I to attempt to fly I would make a fizzle of it. I must stand my ground."

The old man strode into the grape arbor, straight to where Algernon stood.

"Ha," he said, "so it's you, young man, is it? Well, how are you? Glad to see you. How's your folks?"

"They're well," gasped Algernon.

"That's good. Well, I'll leave you; but if you and Gertie take my advice you'll go right up into the parlor. You're likely to catch your death of cold out here."

The young man fell to the ground motionless. He wrote funny sketches for the newspapers.—Merchant Traveler.

A Night at Maginnis's.

Deputy Coroner Johnston was sworn and deposed:

"Last night, about 11 o'clock, Your Honor, I was standing in the door of the Morgue when a man came through Dunbar alley. He was bareheaded, his nose was bleeding, and he was all covered with sawdust.

"'Hello!' I said, 'you're in pretty bad luck. What's the matter with you?'

"'Oh, nothin',' he said, 'I've just been over to Maginnis's.'

"About three minutes later another man came into the alley limping badly. One of his eyes were swollen dreadfully and his neck was bloody.

"'Well,' I asked, 'what policeman clubbed you?'

"'No policeman, young feller,' he answered, 'I've just been over to Maginnis's.'

"A third man appeared pretty soon, looking like a total wreck. Somebody had stepped on the fingers of his left hand. They were all broken and dangling like so many sausages.

"'Ah,' said I, 'what's happened to you?'

"'Not much in particular. I've just been over to Maginnis's.'

"I went inside, Your Honor, and presently I perceived a face peering through the window of the Morgue from the outside. It was the worst bunged up face I ever saw. The forehead was skinned and gory, the eyes were mere lines on mounds of discolored flesh and the lips were like two slices of cantaloupe. All his front teeth were knocked out and blood was dripping down his shirt front.

"'Well,' I said, going to the door, 'what do you want, my friend?'

"'I'm looking for the Receiving Hospital.'

"'Been over to Maginnis's?' I inquired.

"'Maginnis's be dashed,' said he; 'I'm Maginnis himself.'

"Yes," affirmed Mr. Johnston, "I recognize the prisoners in the dock as the four men. I presume the gentlemen met later and resumed the discussion."

Decision reserved.—San Francisco Examiner.

The Czar and His Adviser.

Prince Orloff was the most trusted adviser of the Czar, Nicholas I. He owed his accession to favor to a blow of his fist. While he was an aid-de-camp one of the regiments had mutinied and the Czar, feeling that a look would reduce the men to obedience, stepped in front of them, accompanied only by Orloff, and asked: "Have you any complaint, my children? Whosoever has anything to say to me, step forward." To his great surprise several soldiers did advance, and one of them leveled his weapon at the Emperor. Orloff instantly stepped forward and struck the man dead with a blow of his fist. The Emperor was gratified and Orloff rose, step by step, until he became chief of the secret police of the empire, an official before whom all classes trembled. Yet the Emperor occasionally treated him like a schoolboy. At one time, some secret information in regard to military affairs had become public property. The Emperor, vexed at this, sent for Orloff and received him in the utmost ill temper.

"What have I a police for," he exclaimed.

"Your Majesty must know that best."

"Quite right; only I don't know what good it is. And if you don't give me in twenty-four hours the name of the traitor who let out the secret, you are cashiered."

"Oh," replied Orloff, quite calmly, "my police is so excellent that I do not require twenty-four hours to give your Majesty the name of the traitor."

"You know him, then? You know who it is?"

"I know what I know, your Majesty, but I can only tell it at the Emperor's express command."

"I give you that command."

"The traitor whom your Majesty is looking for is Nicholas Paulowich, Emperor of all the Russias, who always forgets, when he talks about state business, and especially military measures, in the Empress's drawing room that all of the ladies of the court present have not only two ears each, but also brothers, cousins and relations in the army to whom they tell everything they have heard. And every word the Emperor speaks spreads like wild fire through the city."

Orloff was not cashiered: doubtless the Emperor admired his courage in speaking his mind.—Youth's Companion.

American Tools Abroad.

Our American contemporaries have every cause to be surprised at the astonishing fact that thousands of tons of scrap-iron are every year taken to the United States and there converted into the simplest of American manufactures, the sad or laundry iron, and then exported back to Europe at no small profit. There is no one corner of Europe where American small cast hardware is not on sale. The tool makers and the machinists of Europe—such as Krupp, of Germany; Whitworth & Armstrong, of London, and Hotchkiss, of France, with their vast resources—are unable to produce a monkey or a screw wrench equal to the American wrenches, and consequently they have to import these tools from the States. It is stated that there are no less than 80,000 dozen of them exported to Europe alone every year. It is interesting to note that Charles Moncky, the inventor of this screw-bar wrench, received only $2,000 for his patent, and is now living at Williamsburg, Brooklyn, in a small cottage bought from the proceeds of this sale. In the matter of the common pocket boxwood rules also, the American manufacturers so far excel all others that, if not all European nations, certainly all nations outside of Europe are supplied from America. The manufacturers there print on the rule whatever system of measurement is followed by the country for which the goods are intended. American augers and auger-bits are used the world over, no other nation being able to compete. The Americans, with such facts before them, may well be proud of their manufactures.—London Iron.

The New York Hotels.

It is some years since the hotels were so well patronized as now, and the fact is evidence of the general prosperity that is prevailing throughout the country, as there is comparatively little travel in hard times. All the leading hotels are crowded, and often guests are quartered in neighboring boarding-houses. In consequence of the high rents the rates in the hotels keep up to the top notch of war times. It must be stated, however, that the accommodations in the leading hotels are first class, and leave nothing to be desired. There has been a great increase the past two years in the number of minor hotels on the European plan, and consequently there is a choice for travelers according to their means.—New York Times.

A Shower of Ants.

A curious phenomenon in the shape of a plague of ants is reported from Nancy, France. The insects were immense in size, some having wings, but the majority wingless. They fell in such large numbers that the inhabitants thought that they were having a repetition of one of the plagues of Egypt. The thick black flakes kept pouring from the air from five until six o'clock in the evening, and every district in the city was covered with what has been described, for want of a better expression, as "living black hail."

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 24, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - -	$1.50
One copy six months - - -	75
One copy four " - - - -	50

The largest manufacturers of envelopes recently organized an association and put the price of envelopes up from 10 to 20 per cent.

Herr Most, the editor of a New York anarchist journal, has been arrested and put under bond to await trial on a charge of inciting to riot. He made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide when arrested.

The Birmingham Herald says the Montgomery Advertiser's editorials are but, "sickled o'er with the pale cast of thought" and "read like the ideas of an Egyptian mummy." The Advertiser makes no denial of such statements.

The Montgomery Advertiser has discovered that the old coon-lover, John Sherman, is an admirer of our Senator Morgan, and that the aforesaid o. c. l. has been praising our senior Senator. Praise from such a disreputable source is anything but a recommendation to Alabama Democrats.

The Alabama State Treasury has received $17,240 from the United States in payment of swamp and overflowed land claims. John H. Caldwell, of Jacksonville, was attorney for the State in prosecuting the claims, and he received for his services $4,310, under his contract with the State, which will leave $12,930 to go to the Treasury.

Captain Wise, a republican, was the conductor who had charge of the presidential train from Indianapolis to St. Louis. "It knocked me out," he said, when I saw Dan Lamont step off the train and purchase nine tickets to St. Louis. Cleveland footed the bills all the way through. I have hauled many a one of these statesmen and office-holders, but that is the first I ever saw who paid his own way."

The Montgomery Advertiser contained an editorial right recently from the text: "The coming young man is coming not on a fast horse, saith the preacher? Maybe not." And the maybe so and maybe not article closes with the kindly offer: "Come on your merits, and we'll meet you at the wire." This would indicate that the Advertiser scribe, notwithstanding his maybe so and maybe not gait, is already there, and is lonesome and will welcome any young sucker who comes along "on his merits" whether he be striding a fast horse or a Balaam mule. The Advertiser is earning a reputation for profound profundity of its own peculiar kind.

Why, a man has no personal liberty. There is no such thing. A man doesn't belong to himself; he belongs to the town he lives in; he belongs to the community; he belongs to his country. Did Joseph belong to his father's tents in Canaan? Did David belong in the sheepfolds of Bethlehem? Did Paul belong only to himself and in Tarsus? These men belonged to the world of humanity; they belonged to God; they belonged to all lands; to all times; to eternity. Had Martin Luther any right to belong to himself? Not Eisleben, but the whole world, claims the monk of Erfurt, who married his Katy "to please his father, to tease the Pope, and to vex the devil." Did John Wesley belong to himself and Ephworth? No more than John Bunyan belonged to Bedford. Rome had a right to drag Cincinnatus away from the plough, and compel him to assume distasteful official duties: America had a right to call Washington from his Mt. Vernon home; Lincoln from the Springfield law office, and Grant, who disliked a uniform, detested a drum, and hated war, from a Galena tannery, to lead her armies.—Ex.

Our Great Statesman.

The rapid development of Alabama in the last ten years is largely attributable to the earnest, indefatigable, conservative efforts of this great statesman, who is the peer of the greatest men who have influenced governmental affairs from the foundation of this government to the present day.—Shelby Chronicle.

Those who know anything about Senator Morgan's career in the United States Senate, or anything about the rapid development of Alabama in the last ten years, will be surprised to learn that Senator Morgan is the "great statesman" alluded to in the above paragraph. The writer wanted to say something nice about the Senator and could think of nothing else. But so far as his public acts are concerned, Senator Morgan has had no more to do with the rapid development of Alabama than he has had to do with encouraging navigation in the Arctic Ocean. On the contrary, at one session of Congress he voted against an appropriation for the improvement of the Tennessee river, one of the most magnificent rivers in all the country; and on another occasion, in a speech in the Senate, he astonished the whole country by saying that if the building up of Birmingham was going to increase the price of wages in Alabama he didn't know but that the development going on in this part of the State was a curse rather than a blessing.

Of course Senator Morgan wants to see Alabama grow in wealth and prosperity, but what has he done by word or act to forward the rapid development of Alabama in the last ten years? His most ardent admirer can point to nothing.

While ore mining is growing to be one of the greatest industries in the State, and we are preparing here in Birmingham to make steel out of our own native ores, Senator Morgan is going about speaking in favor of admitting Cuban ores free of duty, claiming that it will enable Alabama to make steel.

This is the kind of great statesman Senator Morgan is.—Birmingham Age.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21, 1887.

Every year, as the Congressional session approaches, Washington proceeds with the deliberate nonchalance of a belle who has known more than one season to array herself for the occasion. Her toilet is semi-social, official and commercial. The thrill of preparation is felt from the kitchen to the Capitol. The halls of Congress are re-carpeted, and the department buildings, the hotels and boarding houses, the restaurants and slums, all receive the touch of renovation in their several ways. Among other indications of the political revival is the return of the newspaper man. He may have been in Europe, Mexico, or Alaska during the summer, but, as the season approaches, you again see his unblushing face and penetrating nose about in the hotel lobbies and in the various government buildings.

A few Senators and Representatives have arrived in the city and are making preparations for winter. Some of them have houses of their own, but a majority will rent furnished rooms, or find quarters in hotels or in the private boarding houses with which Washington abounds.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland, since their return, have been living quietly at Oak View, their country residence, distant three miles from the White House. There is a strong sentiment in favor of building the President a more modern and comfortable city home, and of using the historical White House for Executive offices and for the hand shaking crushes that form so large a portion of the Chief Executive's duty.

It is expected that the coming winter will be one of unusual interest at the Capital. The question of decreasing the revenue will occupy much of the public attention of Congress, but it will give much private attention to the coming presidential campaign.

The renomination of Mr. Cleveland by the Democrats, is regarded in political circles here as a foregone conclusion. The republican nomination is a matter for conjecture. Messrs. Blaine, Sherman, Hiscock, Allison, Ingalls, and Hawley are all looked upon as possible nominees.

The advocates of Government ownership and control of telegraphs are going to be much stronger in Congress the coming session than ever before. Senator Cullom says that he is strongly in favor of the idea. Senator Edmunds has long been an earnest supporter of it. Such a measure would dispose of the surplus in a short time.

E. V. Smalley Answered.

(From the Duluth Paragrapher.)

We are informed that at the Editorial Association meeting in Anoka, E. V. Smalley, of the Northwest Magazine, responded to the toast, "The Country Press," and scored his bucolic brethren worse than the Flour City ball team is scored in the Northwestern League, visiting upon them his withering anathemas for using patents and plates.

It is this that pains us; and although it has never been our privilege to use patents and but seldom plates, we cannot refrain from raising our feeble voice to point out the error of our ponderous friend.

Patents and plates consist of scientific and literary news, condensed general news, illustrated humorous news and other features, many of which it is impossible, and all of which it is impracticable for the country press to produce unaided by the wholesale shop. These features are interesting, valuable, and in fact necessary to the reader beyond the reach of the daily press.

As a rule they make more employment for printers by keeping alive papers that would otherwise hastily climb the gilded bannister of fame.

When Bill Nye's pen loses its cunning, or the Detroit Lime Kiln Club adjourns sine die, and the race of humorists falls into innocuous desuetude, will be soon enough for the country press to pause in its illustrated career.

When the horizon of the American yeoman's world is bounded by the limits of some Sleepy Hollow, then condensed general news may be cast out bodily from the country press.

When the last scientific discovery has been made, and the planets of the solar system swing around year by year in their annual course, as one crop of chestnuts follows another, will be early enough for the country press to ostracise scientific reading.

When the field of romance is completely harvested and the last fruit of fiction has been plucked from idealistic bowers, the country editor my offer his readers a cyclopedia of the spoils of time and discontinue those features that now add a tinge of rosy beauty to many a prosy life.

Every writer for patents and plates is practically on the editorial staff of the country press, and it makes a staff on which even men of genius may lean with comfort.

And so dear brethren of the country press, spread before your readers the open page of best and brightest thought. Throw into every home the sunshine of romance, the scintillations of genius, the curling vapors of humor, the doings of the times, and let your readers feel at weekly intervals the throbbing of the great world's pulse. Maintain your local supremacy over the metropolitan blankets, and encourage that local pride which builds thriving country towns and in a measure equalizes the advantages of all.

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Notes.

Rev. L. G. Skipper held services Sunday morning. Was too unwell to preach a regular sermon. He handed in his resignation which was accepted. No services at night. Mr. Skipper worked hard and earnestly in our midst, and many were added to the church under his administration.

We are sorry to learn that our Methodist pastor, Rev. A. J. Briggs had a hard fall last Sunday, and hurt his hip. Caused by the collision.

Married, Thursday evening, the 17th inst., by Rev. L. G. Skipper, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. Luther Jackson and Miss Clara Mullins. No cards.

G. H. B. Matthews and family have moved back to their home at Matthew's Station to the great regret of their many Verbena friends. Short crops for the last few years made it too expensive to keep up two homes. Mr. M. made a most excellent Superintendent of our Sunday School. Mrs. M. gave great satisfaction as President of the children's missionary society. Both were devoted and good workers in the church. Verbena's best wishes go with them.

An old maid said, "I never was courted but once in my life, I never shall forget it, it made me feel so comfortable." Similar are the feelings of the man who suffered with Piles and was made comfortable by the use of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment, a simple and never failing cure for Piles. A hint to such sufferers is sufficient.

Kincheon Times.

The farmers of this vicinity are about through gathering for this season.

Mr. James Headly caught the first fox this season last Saturday morning. Jim has a fine lot of hounds.

We attended a dance at Mr. Headley's on Friday night, the 4th inst.

Mr. W. I. Mullins and family have gone to the capital on a pleasure trip. Bill is ordering a new stock of goods for the Fall and Winter trade.

We are glad to say that charming young lady, Miss Alice Mills, is rapidly recovering from a fall which she received while driving a wild horse several weeks ago.

Mr. W. L. Popwell is often seen with his best girl. Look out for a wedding about Christmas. That's right Fate.

Our beloved preacher, Rev. G. W. Mills, will not preach for us next year. Rev. J. H. Ray will fill the pulpit at Shiloh this year and next.

The new bridge across Swift Creek at Kincheon is nearing completion. When finished it will be a boss job. Mr. Burl Patrick is the overseer of the work.

Mr. D. A. Kemp, of Tuskaloosa, was down last Sunday shaking hands with many friends.

Two more souls made happy. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pool, a son on the 15th inst.

Good luck to the old reliable VIEW. UNOWHO.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887,

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17908 for the n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 24 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gip G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

A SPECIFIC FOR

WOMAN'S DISEASES

—SUCH AS—

Painful Profuse Suppressed Scanty and Irregular

MENSTRUATION or MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. ☞ Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle.

☞ Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

THE LIGHT-RUNNING
NEW HOME
SEWING MACHINE
PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR.
NEVER OUT OF ORDER.
NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO ILL. – 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. – DALLAS TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 6681.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 25, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on Dec. 3, 1887, viz: John S. Davis, homestead 16776 for the s w ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 28 township 24 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: French Nabors, of Montevallo, Ala., Sam Curry, William D. Carter and Shelby Lucus, of Brierfield, Ala.

oct27 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Seale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

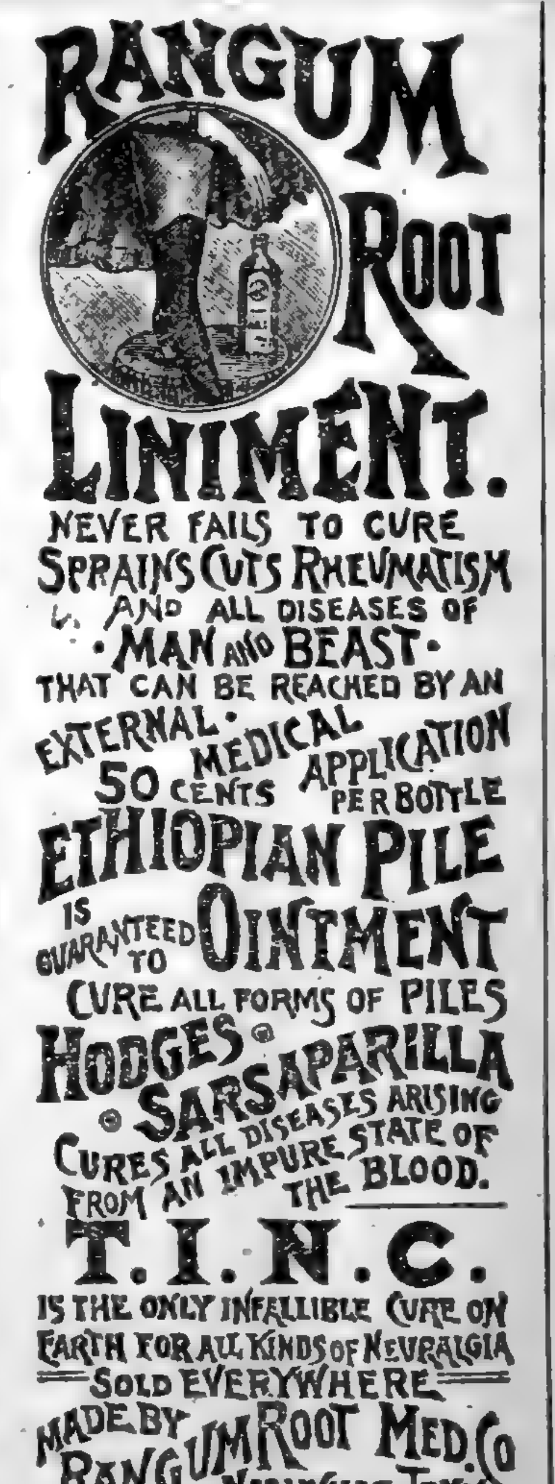
nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.



RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT.
NEVER FAILS TO CURE SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION
50 CENTS PER BOTTLE
ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT IS GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES
HODGES SARSAPARILLA CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.
T. I. N. C.
IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA
SOLD EVERYWHERE
MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE-TENN.

THE

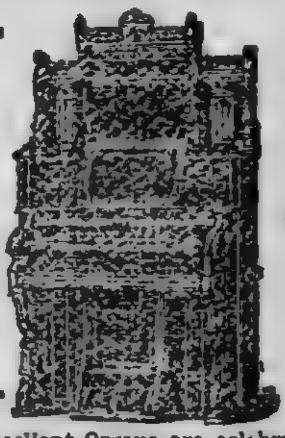
CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.



These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.

Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,

CHICAGO, ILL.

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A.
(3) Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT & BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,

MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA,

Are displaying a Complete and Varied Assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes,

Clothing and Millinery.

Special attention given to Mail Orders. Samples cheerfully furnished on application.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,
Temple Stores, - - Commerce St.
Montgomery, Ala.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

WILSON HOUSE.

A. P. SIMS, Proprietor.

Corner 21st Street and 2nd Ave.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

The above house is first-class in all its appointments, and is under the exclusive control of A. P. SIMS, an experienced hotel manager.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,

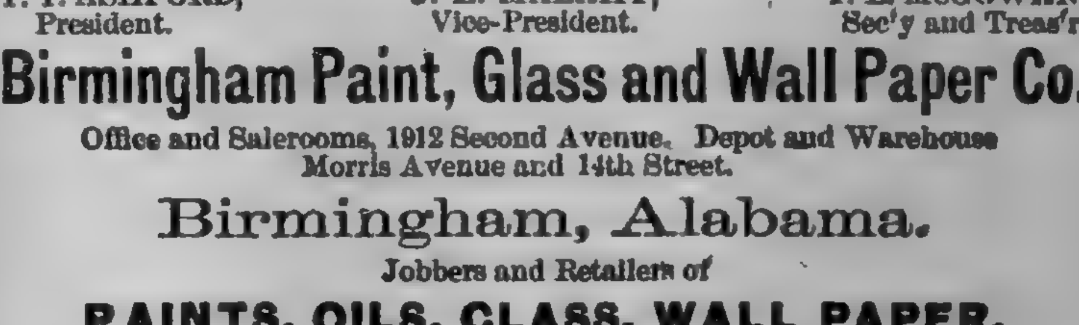
Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.



SHOW CASES
WALL CENTRE RIBBON
ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.
Cedar Chests, Cabinets and Wardrobes.
TERRY SHOW CASE CO.
118 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.
Catalogue Free
CABINET WORK

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., NOV. 24, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.
No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.
GOING NORTH.
No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors Market easy. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midling 9¼c. Midling 9⅛c. Low Middling 8⅞c.

MONTGOMERY — Market dull. Demand good. Good Middling 9⅛c. Middling 9⅛c. Low Middling 9⅛.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Dr. Mahone, of Loachapoka, is in Clanton again this week.

Christmas tree candles and sticks at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. I. B. Bowdoin is making an addition to his residence in West Clanton.

Mr. Jno. Goodgame has moved into the cottage of Mr. Wright in West Clanton.

Mr. W. M. Burton has moved into town and occupies Mr. Boykin's old residence.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

All our merchants should advertise their Christmas goods in the columns of the VIEW.

Dr. A. J. Massey, of Rockford, spent one day with his many friends in Clanton last week.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

The Station houses along this portion of the L. & N. railroad have been re-covered and re-painted.

The work of laying the two new side tracks at this place has been commenced and is progressing rapidly.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

The VIEW Stationery Stand will have a beautiful line of Christmas and New Year cards. Come and see them.

Mr. W. H. Burton has recently had his residence weather-boarded and re-shingled which adds much to its appearance.

Go to Blank Brothers, Leading Clothiers, 2112, 2nd Avenue, Birmingham, Ala., to buy anything you need in the way of clothing and gent's furnishing goods.

Rev. C. W. Hare, editor of the Alabama Baptist, spent one day of last week in Clanton having the deed to his Verbena property recorded in the probate office.

The VIEW acknowledges the receipt of a lot of very fine turnips sent by Mr. Tom Gullahorn and grown in his turnip patch down at "Wayback." They were five in number and weighed 13½ pounds. Many thanks.

Winter Shoes.

I am now selling a heavy grade of shoes for winter wear. They are the kind to keep your feet dry and warm, as well as last a long time. Come and see the shoes, examine the quality, consider the low prices, and then buy and be happy all the winter. I have a fine handsewed shoe at $5.00 per pair.

Yours Truly,
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mr. Joe Beasley, of Birmingham, was in Clanton last Thursday. He sold his property in this place to Mr. O. A. Duke.

The way our merchants are kept busy is evidence that trade is brisk and that Clanton is fast gaining a reputation as a good trading point.

R. P. Woolley has a nice lot of fruits and vegetables, such as oranges, lemons, cocoanuts, onions &c. Nice white head cabbage at 4½ cents per pound.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

The handsome new storehouse of J. H. Patton, at Jemison, is now full of nice goods and is the place to buy what you need cheap. Call on him when in Jemison. 2t

The lumber is on the ground for building two new residences in West Clanton, that of Mr. J. H. Chandler and of Mr. Watts. Work will be begun on them at once.

The new residence of Mr. Alfred Baker, near the cemetery, will soon be finished. He intends building another residence in West Clanton when this one is completed.

We notice a poster being circulated which tells of a tremendous cut in prices in all kinds of goods at the store of R. Ehrman in Clanton. Goods are selling there at a remarkably low figure.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

The Baptists of Clanton are thinking of building a new house of worship. We think the community at large would help them to do so, and it would be a move in the right direction.

Mrs. Wallis Glover, of Pratt Saw Mills, spent last Friday with friends in Clanton. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Phil. Givhan, of this place, who spent Saturday with her.

Mr. A. J. Hall and family have moved to Mobile. Mr. Hall will attend medical lectures at the State Medical College in that city, and expects to return to Clanton the coming summer.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

That Rice Mill.

Mr. Pritchett requests us to announce that his rice mill has been ordered and is now on the way, and that it will be placed at Baker's Mill three miles east of Clanton.

A hunting party, consisting of Messrs. H. J. Callen, W. J. Simpson, Wm. Wright, W. T. Callen, and W. H. Foshee, of Clanton, and Mr. Herring, of Birmingham, went out on Coosa river yesterday on a goose hunt.

Mr. J. W. Edwards, of the Kincheon neighborhood, has moved his family into Clanton to live, and occupies his new residence on Main St. We understand that he will open a store in his business house adjoining his residence. The VIEW wishes him success.

It is moving day with the worms after a dose of White's Cream Vermifuge. They promptly seek new quarters, and the child, so long a sufferer with the horrid things is able to join her playmates in their romps. The symptoms of worms in children are clearly defined, and familiar to every mother and White's Cream Vermifuge will relieve your child.

Messrs. Gus. and DeVane Middleton, visited their father's family at this place Sunday. The elder one, Mr. Gus. Middleton, will probably remain in Clanton. The other returned to Montgomery on Monday morning.

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

Premium to Subscribers.

To each and every new subscriber to the VIEW we are now giving a most excellent and useful premium. Dr. Kendall's "Treatise on the Horse and His Diseases" is a book that is invaluable to the stockman. Everyone owning a horse should have one of these books. It may prove worth a hundred dollars in a serious emergency. We propose to give this book to each new subscriber who pays for a year in advance. This offer to extend as long as 1,000 of the books hold out. We have that number in stock and we are selling them at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND at 25 cents per copy. Old subscribers can get a copy of this book by paying dues and a year's subscription in advance. Don't fail to get one of these books. They will prove interesting and instructive reading to every horse owner.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

Escaped Convicts.

Seven convicts, one white man and six negroes, escaped from their cell at Bivings, Duke & Co's Mill, near this place on last Sunday night. They made their escape by means of a monkey-wrench which they managed to obtain possession of and with which they unscrewed the bolts on the door. The white man returned to the mill Monday morning and said he did not want to go but the negroes compelled him to do so. He attempted to give an alarm but the negroes threatened to cut his throat if he did, which put a quietus on him. He managed to dodge them, however, after leaving the mill. One of the negroes was captured and brought back. A reward is offered for the other five.

Louise Michel, the French Anarchist, would do the poor a real service if she would distribute among them the far famed remedy known as White's Cream Vermifuge, the best preparation in the world for worms. It moves them speedily, and there is no other remedy which possesses its virtues of purity promptness and efficacy. Use White's Cream Vermifuge and no other.

The male and female academy at this place now has an attendannce of over an hundred pupils. We repeat what we have said before, that Clanton is a splendid location for a college of high grade. The large local patronage it would receive would be sufficient to sustain it independent of the outside patronage which its location would insure. The sooner some steps are taken in the direction of the establishing of such an institution the better for our town and its people.

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Come In.

During cold weather we are compelled to keep the front doors to the VIEW office closed, but our latch string is ever on the outside so come right in without knocking and you will find a warm and cheerful interior and can feel comfortable while you are buying your Christmas tricks, or ordering your printing or even feel comfortable while paying your subscription.

Mr. J. C. Woolley, who is well known in this place, desires to inform his many friends in Chilton county that he is now connected with the house of J. R. Swinford, at Strasburg and will be glad to wait on them at all times and can sell them anything in the dry good and grocery line as cheap as any store in the county. n10-4t

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Mr. J. E. Brown, who was recently operated upon for stone in the bladder, by Montgomery physicians, was in the VIEW office Wednesday. He had walked from his home to Clanton a distance of four miles. He is evidently on the road to speedy recovery.

1887 1887
Fall & Winter!
We have in stock the most complete line of
General Merchandise
COMPRISING
Dry Goods, Groceries, Clothing, Shoes, Notions, Hardware, Drugs, Etc.
We sell goods at reasonable prices, and guarantee correct weights and measures. Highest price paid for cotton in cash, and goods exchanged for produce.
T. E. CALLIER & SON,
aug25-3m Dixie, Ala.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.
Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.
From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

THE
Verbena High School.
VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.
Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.
FACULTY:
E. D. ACKER, A. B., LL.B., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.
MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.
MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.
MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.
CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00

Tuition is payable in advance.
Students will be prepared for any class in college.

Money to Loan!
We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with
A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MUSIC GIVEN AWAY 5 PIECES FREE! FOR THE POSTAGE.
To introduce our Sheet Music and get 10,000 names of music buyers to whom we can mail lists of latest new music, etc., we will, on receipt of 15 cents for postage, send FREE of charge Five Complete Pieces Choice Vocal and Instrumental Music, full size (11½ x 13 in.) printed on heavy music paper; same as usually sold at music stores at from 30 to 50 cents per piece. If you play or sing, send us your name and address and we will show you how to save money in buying music. Our Last Grand Offer to music buyers will interest you. Ask for it, as well as our Free Catalogues of Music and Music Books, if you haven't them already.
All Music Sold at Reduced Rates.
Cheapest Place in U. S. to buy.
LUDDEN & BATES Southern Music House,
SAVANNAH, GA.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!
JOHN B. RODEN,
Bookseller and Stationer,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,
Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.
☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

0 8 4

0 2 3 - 3 2 0

ANNOUNCEMENT!
Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade, I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and
Sell For Cash Across the Counter.
No exceptions made for anybody.
A. J. BROOKS.
Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Large Stock! Low Prices!
Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.
GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.
☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON
W. H. SARTOR,
FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.
☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,
FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.
JOBBERS IN
Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,
ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.
PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.
GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.
THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.
OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.
2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.
Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants
MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.
AND DEALERS IN
Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.
Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.
We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.
We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,
Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS, COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.
Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.
☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.
Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.
☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,
DEALER IN
Guns and Ammunition,
GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,
Wholesale Grocers,
P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,
Artistic Photographer
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Life Size Photographs a Specialty.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞Correspondence solicited.☜
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,
Wholesale Druggists,
FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
MEDICINES,
Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.
☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's
BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.
Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.
Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to
Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt
Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.
RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.
Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.
☞MONTGOMERY STABLES,☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. jan1y

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER,
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,
Leading Tailor,
1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Keeps constantly in stock a full line of
Elegant Goods,
ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,
DEALER IN
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES,
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.
☞Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'f'g Co., Baltimore, Md.

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
I. N. Langston.
NO SHODDY GOODS!
-:- LOW -:- PRICES -:-
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums.
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street.
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
25 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, - MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Coll rs & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.
Nov. 1

Orders for Fancy and Plain Job Printing receive prompt attention at this office.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

A Sicilian has invented a method by which cremation is accomplished by means of electricity. It requires a dynamo like those employed for arc lights. It is stated that the effect of the intense heat is to vaporize the entire body.

The military doctors account for the prevalence of disease of the heart in the French army as arising from the fatiguing duties imposed on recruits at an age when, generally, the development of the body is not in harmony with that of the heart, but either in advance of it or behind it. In the latter case, there is hypertrophy of growth; in the former, insufficiency.

Some curious results produced by exploding marked blocks of gun-cotton on flat plates of wrought iron have been described by Mr. C. E. Monroe. The gun-cotton blocks were placed with the lettered side down, and the letters stamped in relief appeared in relief on the iron after the explosion, while on the other hand, the letters depressed in the gun-cotton were also depressed on the iron plate.

Experiments are being made at Cap de la Heve, near the mouth of the Seine, on the production of electricity for light-house purposes by means of the force obtained by windmills. The system, if successful, will have the advantage of costing only the putting up of the machinery. The whole question to be ascertained is whether a sufficient quantity of electricity can be stored to provide for the requirements of any particular station when there is no wind to move the sails of the mill.

In a paper on "Indicative Plants," Dr. R. W. Raymond considers a connection which is reported to exist between certain plants and the metallic contents of the soil on which they grow. Among the instances cited are the zinc-violet, of the Calamine Hills of Rhenish Prussia and Belgium; the lead-plant, believed by the American miners to grow only in localities containing galena; and the silver-plant, which is regarded as a sign of silver-ore. The theories on this subject, if there be any, still lack the essential elements of verification.

Lieutenant Hovgaard, the Arctic traveler who made the northeast passage with Nordenskiold, is already preparing for his expedition to East Greenland next summer. His ambitious purpose is, if possible, to complete the exploration of the northeast coast, join his discoveries with those of Lockwood, and thus finally determine the outlines and extent of the great island. He also hopes to ascertain if there is any truth in the story told by East coast natives that far north a strait runs clear across Greenland, cutting it into two islands. If there is any truth in this report, the western end of the strait must join Melville Bay, whose shore line is very imperfectly known.

In a paper before a late meeting of the Seismological Society of Japan, Professor Milne mentioned the signs of alarm which the lower animals often show just before earthquakes. Ponies were observed to prance in their stalls half a minute before a shock last January. Proof has been found that pheasants scream, and frogs suddenly cease their croaking, while geese, swine and dogs give the clearest indications of an approaching earthquake. It was suggested that the animals are probably very sensitive to slight preliminary tremors, though in volcanic districts small animals have been not only alarmed but even killed by gases escaping just before earthquakes.

Mr. T. P. White, in a communication to the Chemical Society, gives a decidedly negative answer to the question whether the acids of canned fruits may not form poisonous salts with the tin. He reports, as the result of his experiments, that "tin is entirely devoid of danger when taken internally in any form that might arise from being in contact with fruits or vegetables." He believes that the cases of accidental poisoning attributed to tin were due to solder or other impurities—arsenic, copper, or lead. Professor W. Mattieu Williams says that there need be no lead in the solder—that it is only put in for cheapness sake, and that tin makes a superior solder to any alloy. Therefore, all danger may be obviated by prohibiting the use of any other solder than pure tin.

Japanese Novels.

The Japanese are great novel readers. Bakin, one of the most prolific writers, who reached the zenith of his fame simultaneously with Balzac, is still regarded as the model novelist of all times, although the ancient romances of graceful sentimentalists of the past still find ardent admirers. Some of the stories are as attractive and pleasant as the best inspirations of Boccacio. They are so quaint, such inimitable mosaics of prose and verse, so sweet and tender, that in reading them one almost catches the faint fragrance of the cherry blossoms or the distant, melodious throb of the lute, touched by the dainty court ladies of five centuries ago. It is a pity that the novelists of the present care more for the suffrage of the public than the applause of the artistic world.

The court is Europeanized and no longer the inspiration of poetic conceptions and elegant wit. The writers of the present cater to the prevalent taste for sensational, highly-spiced romances, in which as many of the principal actors as possible commit suicide, perform valorous deeds as bandits, run off with the wrong women, or break hearts by the wholesale. Books of this description fill the market, with illustrations in keeping with the text. Political novels, just now the fashion, are of a distinctly higher class. "The Beauty of Women" is one of the most remarkable in this connection. The seventh volume has just been handed to the expectant public, and up to the end of the sixth the wandering hero had contracted a violent attachment for five "beautiful" women in as many "beautiful" countries. To the foreign and critical reader this tale calls to mind the voyages of Sinbad, plus Sterne's "Sentimental Jouney," and a sprinkling of Ouida in her most rampant mood. Yet there is no doubt that the author intends his story to have a political significance, in the sense that Japan can flourish neither intellectually nor physically under the present administration. "The Plum Tree in the Snow" is a much better and more instructive book. It depicts the condition of Japan some centuries hence, and, under the guise of a simple narrative of events, is stingingly satirical. "The Life of a Great Statesman," founded on the life of the late Lord Beaconsfield, is somewhat drier, but far more healthful and certainly more ennobling in its tendency.—Philadelphia News.

A Disappointment.

Bobby (to young Mr. Featherly)—"I heard Clara tell ma that she was disappointed because you didn't call last Sunday night."

"Young Featherly (in a tremulous whisper)—I say, Bobby, did your sister say how disappointed she was?"

Bobby (thoughtfully)—"I'm trying to think— Yes, she said she was agreeably disappointed."—New York Sun.

MEN WHO WIN.

Five Hundred Dollars Thrown Away—His Aim Was Success.

A good healthy body is almost sure to be found associated with a good conscience.

A close student of human nature is rarely willing to place large matters of trust in the hands of another until he has seen the one whom he is to trust. He looks for the fresh health and vigor, the honest, frank countenance and manly form, and in fact all that is attractive in men. He doubts the dyspeptic with sallow skin, drawn out features, the evident weak and irritable nature. He feels as Shakespeare makes Julius Cæsar say:

> "Let me have men about me that are fat;
> Sleek headed men, and such as sleep o'nights;
> Yon Cassius hath a lean and hungry look;
> He thinks too much; such men are dangerous!"

He does not doubt the honesty of the poor unfortunate, but fears disease of the body will affect the mind, bring misfortune upon the individual, and loss to himself.

It may be injustice to the weak, but if the man has not the mental strength, or if he is wrapped up in his misery, he cannot take in the situation of the world, does not see that ideas are broadening, and that isms and teachings are advancing! How can an employer hope for success from such a man? The dyspeptic look, the wax-like complexion and sallow features show disease. The far-seeing man notes all these signs, and knows that the great light of man, the brain, is affected, or will be, at no distant day.

He discards the poor victim of disease who goes wearily out into the world. Discouraged at last he takes to his sick bed. He seeks medical aid. Lacking the broad ideas of the successful man of the world, he tries the same medical treatment that he has tried many times before. The same bigoted counsel is sought, the same drugs are administered by the same old family friend that treated him months and years before, and his parents before him, and in such a way he drags out his miserable, unsuccessful existence.

Is he to blame? Why not? When he sees daily, and hears from every side, proclamations of a remedy known as Warner's safe cure, which is becoming more popular daily, hourly, while he is becoming weaker.

J. A. Gettys, insurance agent of Chillicothe, Ohio, suffered for nearly three years with dyspepsia in its worst forms, having periodical spells of vertigo, fainting and chills. He wrote over his own signature: "I spent about $500, had the best medical attendance, tried all the remedies recommended without success, until I was induced to try Warner's safe cure. I used three bottles, have gained twenty pounds and feel like a new man."

Such a man as we have described, nine times out of ten, unconsciously to himself or to his physician, has a kidney disorder, which is fast wasting his body and life. He sees the merits of Warner's safe cure at every turn, and hears it proclaimed from the house tops, and yet he does not use it, because it is said by his illiberal physician that it is not professional, and not admitted by the code. Meanwhile the man of the world presses forward, cares not a fig for this or that school; his aim in life is success, and he looks hopefully forward to the world beyond, believing and trusting in man in this world, and to his faith for the world beyond.

CAPTURED BY JAPANESE GIRLS.

American Officers Who Have Taken Wives in the Mikado's Land.

[From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

YOKOHAMA, Japan.—Chaplain Bengless's cremation in Japanese style does not compare as a heated subject of discussion with the announcement that Lieut. Foulke is soon to be married in Japanese style. Lieut. Foulke has been rather the pride of his brother officers for the past three years out here, because of the abilities he displayed as a diplomat and landsman during his services as naval attache of the United States Legation in Corea. For a part of the time he was acting Minister, and as such outranked his Admiral, and when he visited a man-of-war was entitled to more guns in the salute. He learned to write and speak Corean, and became a personal friend of the King, and in official and social intercourse with the sovereign could dispense with an interpreter. He was not pleased with China's bullying attitude toward poor little Corea, and the Chinese Minister at Seoul never rested until he forced the Corean Foreign Office to ask the United States Government to recall him. The King protested, but he was helpless, and obedient to the request, that our Government knew came from China, and not from the Coreans at all, Mr. Foulke was summarily ordered to the nearest man-of-war for duty. To be ousted at the dictation of the Chinese, and to have his own Government fail to stand by him, made the young man feel aggrieved, and for a time he talked of resigning from the navy. When Lieut. Foulke was in Japan ten years ago he became much attached to a Japanese girl at Nagasaki, whose father kept one of the prettiest of the many charming tea houses on those green hillsides. His study of the Japanese language was aided by her, and for the years that he was away he wrote to her in Japanese characters and she answered in English script. There is more romance, too, about a dangerous illness through which she once nursed him. She is spoken of as a woman of great intelligence, beauty and fascination, and a strong and admirable character. She is unusual among Japanese women, and although now past thirty, still charms and attracts. Lieut Foulke is a quiet, shy man, of scholarly tastes, caring little for formal society. Word has been brought to Yokohama that he is at Osaka, where his Japanese fiancee now lives, and that he will soon marry and take his wife directly to America, where he has been ordered to stand his examination for promotion in the service.

Once before an officer of the American navy has been married to a Japanese woman, and he still resides here, never having gone home. It happened some fifteen years ago, when the young American Lieutenant obtained two years' leave of absence for the purpose of giving instruction in a Japanese engineering college. When his time was up the deep and strange fascination of this country was upon him, and rather than break the spell and leave these ideal surroundings and the quiet poetic life, he resigned from the navy and ceased all communication with his family. He was not happy with his wife, and he wrote her that she might get a divorce or do as she pleased. He attached himself as nominal teacher in the family of a rich Kioto noble, this giving him the right to live in a city in the interior; and taking a Japanese wife, adopting Japanese dress, and making himself entirely one with the natives, he quite ceased to be considered a foreigner at all. Some of his old shipmates returning to this station have tried their best to hunt up the exile, but failed, as he assumed a Japanese name with Japanese dress, and there is no way to trace him or get at him. There is a tradition that he is often seen riding about the streets of Kioto, and one man claims to have seen him at Yaämis Hotel there one night. The delightful mystery about the man increases with different versions of the reasons for exile. One is that he dropped out of his old world solely to escape from his wife, all other means having failed. The other side is that it was his romantic love for his Japanese wife that caused him to sacrifice home, country, family, friends, his profession and ambition, for the dreamy, monotonous, contemplative life that he leads in the abandoned capitol of old Japan. His American wife, who lives in Philadelphia, obtained a divorce a few years ago, and it is rumored that the mysterious masquerader has resumed communication with some of his relatives and will come out of his seclusion now that a part of the necessity is past.

BOYCOTTED BY THE GIRLS.

The Fate of Young Tipplers in Parts of the Pennsylvania Coal Regions.

[From the Philadelphia Times.]

The progress of temperance principles among the young Irish-Americans of the coal regions within the last ten years is simply without a parallel in the history of temperance reform. In fact the temperance feeling is now so strong that no young man can enter the charming circle of female society unless he is an avowed temperance man and wears the Father Matthew badge. It has now come to such a pass that the young Irish-American ladies will have nothing to do with the man who drinks. By raising this boycott against the drink the girls have played the part of true temperance missionaries, in that they succeeded in driving the young men into the societies. An illustration of this was seen in the town of Beaver Meadow last spring, when all the girls in the place combined and resolved to have nothing to do with any young man until he had first signed the pledge and joined the St. Aloysius Society. For awhile it was thought the young ladies were not in earnest and that the boycott would soon be lifted. But the young ladies were determined, and when the young fellows found this out they surrendered, and forthwith there was a rush for admission into the local temperance society. The latter is now in a very flourishing condition. Of those who join these temperance societies about ten out of forty "fall from grace," in other words they go back to drink. But the deserter's downfall does not last long. After his debauch he sees the folly of his ways and thinks how happy he was when he was sober.

But this is not the worst. All his friends are traveling in an opposite direction and shun the outcast altogether. The result is that a man who breaks his pledge becomes disgusted with himself and returns to the society. After taking the pledge for a second time he hardly ever goes back to drink again. The number who do break the pledge a second time is only one in seventy. A member who forfeits his membership in a society forfeits all his dues paid into the treasury by him. All the societies are beneficial, and take good care of the sick, widows and orphans. The St. Aloysius Society, of Wilkesbarre, has 480 names on its rolls and over $7,000 in its treasury. The Father Matthew Society and the Father Matthew Cadets have 200 more members. Every society has a handsome uniform.

An Important Arrest.
The arrest of a suspicious character upon his general appearance, movements or companionship, without waiting until he has robbed a traveler, fired a house, or murdered a fellow-man, is an important function of a shrewd detective. Even more important is the arrest of a disease which, if not checked, will blight and destroy a human life. The frequent cough, loss of appetite, general languor or debility, pallid skin, and bodily aches and pains, announce the approach of pulmonary consumption, which is promptly arrested and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Sold by druggists.

A process of utilizing fire damp as fuel is in operation at the Wurm coal mines.

Among the people of to-day, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries and in hundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases, Prickly Ash Bitters now takes the place of the old system, and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature.

ITCHING PILES.—Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. It is equally efficacious in curing all Skin Diseases. DR. SWAYNE & SON, Proprietors, Phila. By mail for 50 cents. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT for sale by druggists.

The National Alliance holds its annual meeting next year at Meridian, Miss.

"I Don't Want Relief, But Cure," is the exclamation of thousands suffering from catarrh. To all such we say: Catarrh can be cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It has been done in thousands of cases; why not in yours? Your danger is in delay. Enclose a stamp to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for pamphlet on this disease.

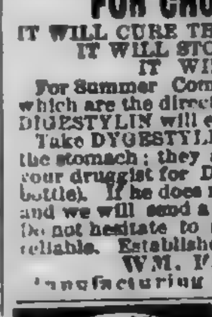
The English friends of Sir Charles Dilke are trying to reinstate him in social circles.

The Speed of Heat and Cold.
It has been asked which travels faster, heat or cold; and answered heat. Because any one can catch a cold. It therefore follows that every one should keep Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein, which will cure coughs, colds and consumption.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.
Send for Pamphlet on Female Diseases, free; securely sealed. Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N.Y.

Eyes Ears Nose
Are all more or less affected by catarrh. The eyes become inflamed, red and watery, with dull, heavy pain between them; there are roaring, buzzing noises in the ears, and sometimes the hearing is affected; the nose is a severe sufferer, with its constant uncomfortable discharge, bad breath and loss of the sense of smell. All these disagreeable symptoms disappear when the disease is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which expels from the blood the impurity from which catarrh arises, tones and restores the diseased organs to health and builds up the whole system. N. B.—Be sure to get only
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N.Y.



Ely's Cream Balm
is the best remedy for children suffering from Cold in Head, Snuffles OR
CATARRH.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N.Y.

Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children:
Chronic Coughs and Bronchitis, can be cured by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Prominent physicians use it and testify to its great value. Please read the following: "I used Scott's Emulsion for an obstinate Cough with Hemorrhage, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation, Sleeplessness, &c. All of these have now left, and I believe your Emulsion has saved a case of well-developed Consumption."—T. J. FINDLEY, M. D., Lone Star, Texas.

There are 18,000 female students in the various colleges of this country.

Weak lungs, spitting of blood, consumption and kindred affections, cured without physician. Address, for treatise, with 10 cents in stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

It takes 14,800,000 gallons of oil a year to keep the railways of Great Britain going.

Consumption Surely Cured.
To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
IT IS A PURELY VEGETABLE PREPARATION CONTAINING
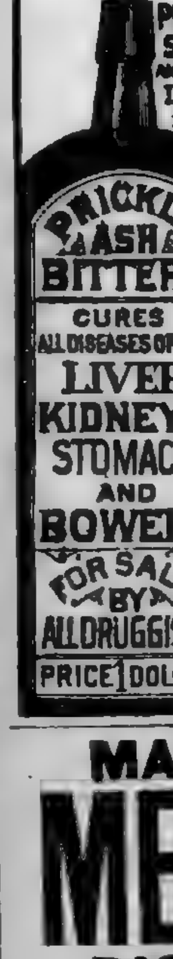
PRICKLY ASH BARK AND PRICKLY ASH BERRIES
SENNA-MANDRAKE-BUCHU
AND OTHER EQUALLY EFFICIENT REMEDIES.
It has stood the Test of Years, in Curing all Diseases of the BLOOD, LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS, BOWELS, &c. It Purifies the Blood, Invigorates and Cleanses the System.
DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, JAUNDICE, SICKHEADACHE, BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, &c disappear at once under its beneficial influence.
It is purely a Medicine as its cathartic properties forbids its use as a beverage. It is pleasant to the taste, and as easily taken by children as adults.
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CO.
Sole Proprietors,
St. Louis and Kansas City



MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, and all Diseases of the BLOOD, can be cured only by DR. HAIR'S SYSTEM of Treatment, which is now recognized by the medical world as the only one that will positively and permanently cure Asthma, its kindred affections and all blood diseases. Not only does it excel all other methods in giving quick relief, but it absolutely cures the worst cases permanently. Thousands have been cured by it. Convincing and conclusive proof will be found in my 64 page Treatise, sent free.
Dr. B. W. HAIR, 233 W. FOURTH ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

JONES
HE PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

SKUNK, RACCOON, Beaver, Muskrats, and all other furs bought for cash at HIGHEST PRICES. Send for circular, which gives full particulars. E. C. Boughton, 50 Bond St., New York.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy.
Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

LADIES at home can make money by working for us; no canvassing. We furnish material and pay well for satisfactory work. Send $1.00 for sample. C. O. BUCK & CO., 60 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

PATENTS obtained by E. H. GELSTON & CO., Washington, D. C. Send for our book of instructions.

WORK FOR ALL. $30 a week and expenses paid. Valuable outfit and particulars free. P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

FREE By return mail. Full Description Moody's New Tailor System of Dress Cutting. MOODY & CO., Cincinnati, O.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

FOR MAN
AND BEAST!
Mexican Mustang
Liniment
PENETRATES MUSCLES to the VERY BONES. TRY IT!

WELLS' HAIR BALSAM
restores Gray Hair to original color. An elegant dressing, softens and beautifies. No grease nor oil. A Tonic Restorative. Prevents hair coming out; strengthens, cleanses and heals scalp.
50c. Druggists
E. S. WELLS, JERSEY CITY, N. J.

If you are losing your grip on life Try "Wells' Health Renewer." Goes direct to weak spots. For weak men, delicate women.

BUCHU-PAIBA
Great Kidney Cure
BUCHU-PAIBA
Remarkable Cures of Catarrh of the Bladder, Inflammation, Irritation of Kidneys and Bladder, Stone or Gravel Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Dropsical Swellings, Incontinence or over Continence, Diseases of the Kidneys and allied Organs in either sex. $1. Druggists or Ex. 6 bots., $5. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

IN THE SELECTION OF A CHOICE GIFT
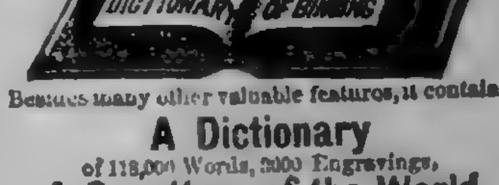
For Pastor, Parent, Teacher, Child, or Friend, both elegance and usefulness will be found combined in a copy of Webster's Unabridged.



Besides many other valuable features, it contains A Dictionary of 118,000 Words, 3000 Engravings,
A Gazetteer of the World
locating and describing 25,000 Places,
A Biographical Dictionary of nearly 10,000 Noted Persons,
All in One Book.
3000 more Words and nearly 2000 more Illustrations than any other American Dictionary.
Sold by all Booksellers. Pamphlet free.
G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Pub'rs, Springfield, Mass.

CLEVELAND.

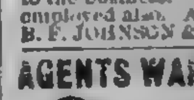
SUPERB MOSS-TYPES directly from BELL'S CELEBRATED PHOTOGRAPHS. THE ONLY CORRECT PORTRAITS of President and Mrs. Cleveland. On cards 19 x 16, sent post paid for 50 cts. per pair. H. A. JACKSON, 535 PEARL ST., N. Y.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

OPIUM and WHISKEY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. Woolley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall Street. Mention this paper.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

$100 to $300 A MONTH can be made working for us. AGENTS preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.



AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for terms and price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

SOLDIERS all get Pensions. If ½ disabled; Officers' travel pay, bounty collected; Deserters relieved; 22 years' practice. Success or no fee. Laws sent free. A. W. McCormick & Son, Washington, D. C.

PATENTS obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.

A. N. U. ... Forty-six, '87.

1888—EVERY LADY SHOULD TAKE IT—1888
PETERSON'S MAGAZINE
THE BEST AND MOST POPULAR LADY'S-MAGAZINE IN AMERICA.
Among ITS CONTRIBUTORS are Frank Lee Benedict, Rebecca Harding Davis, Miss M. G. McClelland, Edgar Fawcett, Alice Bowman, Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper, and a host of other talented writers.
ITS STORIES, NOVELETS, etc., are admitted to be the best published.
ITS STEEL-ENGRAVINGS are the finest published anywhere.
ITS FASHION AND WORK-TABLE DEPARTMENTS are the most complete of all magazines; it also gives a FULL-SIZE DRESS-PATTERN monthly, and numerous hints on household decoration, garden, nursery, kitchen, etc., making it invaluable, and worth many times its subscription-price.
TERMS, $2.00 A YEAR, with great reductions to clubs, and ELEGANT PREMIUMS FOR GETTING UP CLUBS. Sample-copies free to those wishing to get up clubs. Address,
PETERSON'S MAGAZINE,
306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Mention this paper.

The man who has invested from three to five dollars in a Rubber Coat, and at his first half hour's experience in a storm finds to his sorrow that it is hardly a better protection than a mosquito netting, not only feels chagrined at being so badly taken in, but also feels if he does not look exactly like
A WET HEN
We offer the man who wants service (not style) a garment that will keep him dry in the hardest storm. It is called TOWER'S FISH BRAND "SLICKER," a name familiar to every Cow-boy all over the land. With them the only perfect Wind and Waterproof Coat is "Tower's Fish Brand Slicker."
Ask for the "FISH BRAND" SLICKER and take no other. If your storekeeper does not have the FISH BRAND, send for descriptive catalogue. A. J. TOWER, 20 Simmons St., Boston, Mass.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION—SPECIAL OFFER.
See Large Advertisement in Previous Number of this Paper.
FREE TO JAN 1, 1888.
To any New Subscriber who will CUT OUT and send us this Slip, with name and P. O. address and $1.75 in Money Order, Express Money Order, Registered Letter or Check, for a year's subscription to the Companion, we will send the paper free each week to Jan. 1st, 1888, and for a full year from that date to Jan. 1st, 1889. If ordered at once this offer will include the
Double Holiday Numbers
For Thanksgiving and Christmas.
A $2.50 PAPER FOR $1.75.
Twenty pages each, with Colored Covers and Full-page Frontispiece Pictures. They will be unusually attractive this year.
Address PERRY MASON & CO., 45 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	30 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION.' TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1887. NUMBER 4.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

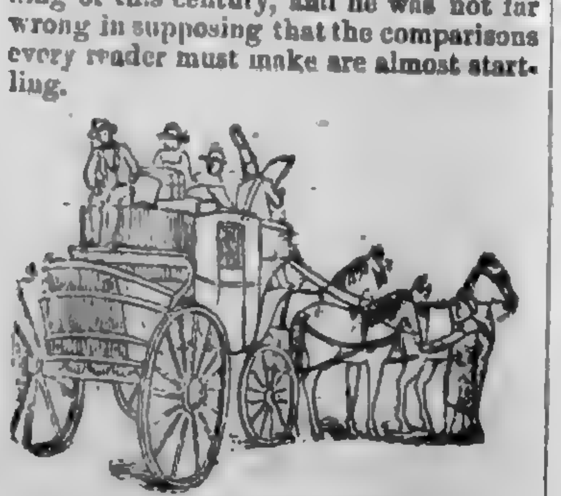
☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

A PAST ERA.

THE EARLY PART OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

The England of 1800-1810—Strange Contrasts With the Present Age in Travel, Dress, Etc., Etc.

Occasionally a book comes along which, though made of the simplest material, and not new at that, is so timed or contrasted with current affairs that it contains a surprise. Such a volume is "The Dawn of the Nineteenth Century in England. A Sketch of the Times," by John Ashton, an English author who is known for his literary studies of the days of Queen Anne and Napoleon I. The idea of his new volume is to place vividly before the public the social characteristics of England at the beginning of this century, and he was not far wrong in supposing that the comparisons every reader must make are almost startling.



A STAGE COACH, 1804.

When this century opened steam power and coal gas were novelties, and electricity was a scientific toy. Food was scarce and high in England. The income tax on $1,000 was $100. The tax on thirty windows was over sixty dollars, London was disturbed by food riots, directed especially against middlemen. The four-pound loaf of bread cost forty-three cents, to which fifty per cent. must be added for the difference in the value of money. Three per cent. consols were quoted from 54 to 60. Peace with France for a year or two somewhat improved these figures. Then "Bony" began to loom up, and France and England were soon battering each other again. In 1804 Parliament refused to pass the bill abolishing the slave trade. It became a law in 1807.

The best means of land transportation in 1801 was the stage coach, which had a wicker-work attachment behind for parcels. The coaches were inconvenient and and stuffy inside. The fare was expensive, and many travelers had to be contented with the stage-wagon, or caravan, a cumbrous affair with very broad wheels to keep out of the ruts. All the inland traffic of England was carried on by these huge machines and the few canals then in existence. Smollett has much to say of caravans. Their speed was about a mile and a half an hour. Those who traveled "post," that is by carriage with relays of horses, paid about 30 cents per horse per mile. The sedan chair still lingered in London streets, chiefly for ladies going to evening parties, the charge being 25 cents a mile. "It was essentially a horsey age. Every man could ride and all wore boots and breeches when out of doors," a dress for horsemen which has not been improved upon. The fashionable carriage of 1800 was 500 pounds heavier that that of to-day.

THAMES WATERMAN, 1803.

The watermen of London were as vociferous after passengers as are the most active of modern hackmen. The fare across the Thames was two cents below, and four cents above London bridge. The longest row was up the river to Windsor, the fare being $3.50 for the whole boat. To go as far as Margate, one-masted boats, like a cutter, called "hoys," were used. There were but three bridges over the Thames—London, Blackfriars and Westminster. Docks were few, and the shipping anchored in the stream reached all the way to Greenwich. The Thames was far more crowded in those days than now, though the volume of its commerce was far less. A shaft for a tunnel under the Thames at Gravesend was sunk in 1801, but it came to nothing.

A LONDON DANDY, 1810.

London was lit by oil lamps, many of which nightly were blown out by the wind. Gas was known, but not until 1804 was a company formed to introduce it into London. It was ridiculed and feared. Sir Humphrey Davy scoffed at it. In 1807 it first appeared on a London thoroughfare. Three years later one of the shops ventured to use it. Tinder, flint and steel were required to light the lamps. The phosphorus match began to be known in 1808.

In 1800 Englishmen wore the Jean de Bry coat, named after a French statesman. The accompanying cut of that day is somewhat exaggerated, especially as to the bells on the Hessian boots. The coat was padded at the shoulders, and was buttoned to show glimpses at the waist. It was made short-waisted in order to display several inches of the vest. Powdering the hair still survived, though fast going out. As all the members of the house, including the servants, had to be powdered, most large establishments had a "powdering room." Ladies dressed after the classic style of Madame Recamier, who appeared in Kensington Garden, in 1802, in a muslin dress, clinging like the drapery of a statue; her well oiled hair in a plait at the back falling in small ringlets round her face, and a large veil thrown over her head. The head dress in the cut is caricatured. Another engraving of that period gives the stages in a lady's toilet, one of which is the application of a thatch of false hair. By 1810 dress had became so much exaggerated that fashionables were hidden from head to foot by their garb, and were nicknamed "les invisibles."

Cock fighting was illegal, but was publicly advertised. Fighting between a bull and dogs was one of the National sports. A member of Parliament opposed its prohibition. One of them exclaimed: "What a glorious sight to see a dog attack a bull!" It animates a British heart—

"To see him growl, and snap, and snarl, and bite, Pin the bull's nose, and prove instinctive might."

Another and prominent member declared that bull-baiting was an amusement to which the lower orders were entitled. The sport was not declared illegal until 1835. Prize fighting was in its heyday. In rural places it took the form of cudgel-playing, which still survives in Berkshire.

FASHIONS, EARLY 1880.

Public positions were openly bought and sold,, even by advertising. Duels were common. The police, which hardly deserved the name, very seldom attempted to interfere with a duel. A policeman was an old man with a staff, a rattle and a lantern, and was paid by his parish. One of the newspapers ventured to suggest that the police should be composed of able-bodied men. For minor offenses the punishments were whipping, the stocks and the pillory; for graver ones imprisonment, transportation and death. The stocks were for small rogues and vagabonds. The pillory was a severe punishment for more heinous crimes. Culprits in the pillory were usually pelted with filth and rotten eggs by a cruel mob. In 1810 suicides were still buried at a cross-road, with a stake driven through their bodies. Men convicted of high treason were first hanged and then beheaded. The prisons of London, some of which were for debtors, were centers of suffering and disease.—Cincinnati Commercial.

CUDGEL PLAYING, 1800.

THE PILLORY IN LONDON, 1810.

A Maiden's Mistake.

Bride—"Did you receive the piece of wedding cake I sent you?"

Schoolmate—"Yes, dear."

"Now, tell me what kind of a husband you dreamed about."

"I don't like to think about it. He was an awful creature, with hoofs and horns and the most horrible face you could imagine. Oh, it was terrible."

"Mercy me! Did you put the cake under your pillow?"

"No, I ate it."—Omaha World.

When She Means Business.

"Clara has returned my engagement ring," sighed Charley, "and all is over between us."

"What kind of a ring is it?" asked experienced George—"diamond?"

"No; a cheap affair; only cost a couple of dollars."

"Well, don't you give up the ship, old man; she'll be all right in a day or two. It is only when a girl lets go of a diamond ring that she really means business."—Harper's Bazar.

The Unpardonable Sin.

Justice Lockemup.—"Your fine is $20."

Astonished lawbreaker.—"Twenty dollars! For getting drunk?"

Justice.—"No, for getting caught. Hundreds of people get drunk every day and I don't fine 'em a cent. Only fine those who get caught."—Burdette.

HUMILITY.

I plucked the weeds forth, left and right,
To make an open space
About a wind-sown blossom bright,
With uplift wondering face.

"Why sparest me, and them dost slay?"
The darling blossom sighed;
Nor knew itself more worth than they
That fell in rank-blown pride.

—Edith M. Thomas, in Independent.

THE SUBSTITUTE.

BY B. F. SAWYER.

It was a rough cabin home, squatting, as if to hide its squalor, in a straggling grove of scrubby oaks. Its outside appearance denoted thriftless poverty. The tumble-down cow-sheds, the dilapidated corn-crib, the broken fence, with its corners choked with briers, and the dragging gate told of a shiftless master.

Its interior, however, presented a different aspect. The rough board floor was scrubbed white; the scant floor was scrupulously clean, while the pots and pans and the little store of crockery were as bright as soap and water and busy fingers could make them.

The immaculate whiteness of the drapery, arranged with a certain unstudied grace, spoke as plainly to the credit of the mistress, as the outside did to the discredit of the master.

Sam Nix and his wife were an ill-mated pair. They had nothing in common, except the hard fortune that linked their lives together and poverty. He was hard, cold, uncouth; she, gentle, refined and sweet. Not even in regard to their children were they sympathetic, for while she loved them both devotedly, and especially her bright-eyed, manly boy, he cared hardly as much for his son as he did for his favorite hound.

It was in the spring of 1863, the third year of the war. The first wild storm of passion that swept over the land had exhausted itself, and men, furiously blind before, had begun to realize the danger, the dread, and the horrors of war.

Among those whose devotion to his State was the first to take fire and the first to evaporate was one George Cahoule, a young man, the proud, petted son of a proud, but not wealthy, father.

From the time he could cry, his every whim, that the foolish fondness of his mother and the moderate means of his father could gratify, had been indulged. Accordingly, when, catching something of the spirit of patriotism that excited the breasts of braver and better men, he offered to volunteer, as soft a place as possible was obtained for him. Not much could be done, however; only a non-commissioned officer's birth was secured. But he took that, and in high feather marched away, a Commissary-Sergeant in a regiment of Alabama Volunteers.

For a time he found life in the camp a pleasing routine of light duties. But after a white the restraint of the service began to vex him, and he longed for the abounding freedom of home.

Then came the battle of Stone River, and though he was safe in the rear with the cooking detail, an erratic shell came screeching through the tree tops dangerously near his precious head, and he wrote at once to his mother, to arrange, if possible for his discharge.

"This thing is getting to be a bore, any way," he wrote. "Tell father to send me a substitute right away."

But a substitute was not so easily found. The conscription act, enrolling every white male citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, had been passed and was being rigidly enforced, and where every man had to answer for himself, there was no one to answer for poor George Cahoule.

"But there is old Nix's boy; couldn't they take him? he is not of age yet but is large enough to pass," suggested the anxious mother. "I am sure he is better able to stand it than poor dear George."

"Yes, he will do—a fine, strapping lad. I will see old Nix and give him two hundred dollars to let him go, if only for sixty days," said the old gentleman.

Nix needed the money, and when to the two hundred dollars was added ten pounds of fine plug tobacco and a herd of goats that ran on the mountain behind his lots, the bargain was made.

Robert Nix, the boy, not yet fifteen, was not unwilling to go. With the enthusiasm of youth he had read of the battles and wished himself a man that he might share in their glories. His mother, however, and his sister, were not so enthusiastic, and with unavailing tears protested against the bargain.

The next day after, Judge Cahoule came by in his buggy for the boy. The mother, making the best of the cruel circumstances, had tricked him out in his smartest clothes, and as he stood arrayed in his best, a military jacket, gray jean trousers with a broad, black stripe down the legs, and the jaunty new hat, he looked a splendid specimen of young American manhood.

"Be a good boy, Robbie," said his mother to him, "and don't forget mother." Then she kissed him and let him go.

The army was encamped in the wintry woods around Shelbyville. The prospect was cold and dreary enough, but the novelty of the scene, together with the cheery bursts of martial music from the bands, had a charm for the boy, and when he was brought before the Colonel of the regiment for muster, he tried his best to look every inch a soldier.

When questioned as to his age, he hesitated a moment, but remembering his mother, he answered, a little timidly, as if ashamed of his youth: "I shall be fifteen next March."

"He is too young, Judge Cahoule. I am very sorry, but it would be unlawful to enlist him, and especially as a substitute for a strong, able-bodied man," said the Colonel.

"Ah, but he is well-grown, strong, active as a cat, healthy and true grit," insisted the judge.

"I will venture this much, as a personal favor to you and to George: I will muster him in for sixty days and give George a furlough for that time," compromised the Colonel.

"Very well; a half loaf is better than none," acquiesced the judge, and Robert Nix was duly enrolled and ordered to duty in Company C, while George Cahoule, shaking off the shackles of the army, hurried back home on the next train, to tell to admiring ears the wonderful stories of battle.

The sixty days were soon out, and George Cahoule was resolved not to return to the army. Nix needed money, as he always did, and an offer of one thousand dollars was sufficient to persuade him to let Robert stay in the army. He went himself with the judge to headquarters, to assure the Colonel that it was all right, and that he gave his consent. So the substitute was made permanent; Robert Nix was enlisted, and George Cahoule was discharged.

The spring and summer campaign opened. Robert Nix stood to his post like a veteran. On the toilsome march by day, or the lonely, watchful, picket post at night, he never once failed. A brave, handsome boy, he became the pride of his comrades, and a pet with his Captain.

But an evil day came, a day of battle, of death and of mourning—Chickamauga, the dark "river of death."

On Friday skirmishing began, on Saturday afternoon the battle opened, and on Sunday morning, a calm Sabbath morning, both armies were marshaled in line, face to face, ready to cast the fateful die.

Up to that time, the last critical moment, Robert Nix had stood in line, elbow to elbow with the foremost file, and then he disappeared, silently, mysteriously, no one remembered when or how.

It was not until roll-call after the battle that he was missed.

"He was in line when we started; he must have been killed," was the report of the orderly-sergeant.

It was nearly two months afterward when a guard arrived from Atlanta with a squad of prisoners, deserters arrested at home by the conscript cavalry, and brought back for trial.

Among these, with a puzzled look of innocence in his eyes, was Robert Nix.

Without explanation he was sent to the guard house, and charges of desertion in the face of the enemy were preferred against him. In the regular routine of events a court-martial was convened and he was duly arraigned.

Lieutenant Snow testified that the prisoner, Private Robert Nix, was present in line of battle on the morning of September the 20th, 1863, and that before or during the engagement that day he disappeared, witout leave or authority, and was not heard of again until he was brought back to his command under guard.

Sergeant Bliss, Acting Orderly of Company C, with a soldier's bluntness of diction, corroborated the Lieutenant's statement.

Captain Earle, of the conscript service, testified "that, having been advised by Judge Cahoule, a citizen of Alabama, of the prisoner's whereabouts, he proceeded to the house, and after a strategic investment of the premises he succeeded in arresting him, and finding him without leave of absence or written order, he securdly tied him and brought him back to the front."

This closed the testimony for the Judge-Advocate.

"Now, sir, what have you got to say?" asked the President of the Court.

"If you please, sir, here's a paper Mr. Phil Wood wrote for me, and told me to give it to you," presenting a closely written scrawl.

The President read it. It was a fatal confession of guilt, and appealed to the clemency of the court.

The President was a just man, and seeing the ignorance of the prisoner, tore the paper into shreds, without submitting it to his court.

"This paper does not effect the case in the least. You must answer me now for yourself. How old are you?" he asked.

"I shall be fifteen in March."

"How came you in the army?"

"My papa hired me to Judge Cahoule, to take the place of his son, Mr. George Cahoule."

"Did you want to come?"

"Yes, sir, for a little while; I only came for sixty days, to give Mr. George a furlough."

"And when the time was up, you went home?"

"Oh, no, sir; Mr. Cahoule give papa a thousand dollars to make me stay all the time. I begged to go home, but Colonel Mitchell said my papa had a right to do as he pleased with me, and I had to stay."

"Well, what made you run away from Chickamauga?"

"I didn't run, sir," with a proud flush and an unconscious straightening up.

"How did you get away, then?"

"I was shot, sir, and I hopped back on my gun to the hospital, and the doctor sent me off to Ringgold, on a wagon."

"You say you were shot?"

"Yes, sir, I was shot in the leg, I can show you the scar."

"Let us see it."

The prisoner rolled up his trousers, and displayed an ugly scar in the calf of his left leg.

"That will do. Now tell me how it happened that none of your command saw you."

"Well, I'll tell you all about it. You see we wanted water, all of us, and when we was standing in line, waiting for the word, I ast Captain Rich if I moughtn't run back and git a drink, and he told me yes, to make haste and get back, and so I run back as hard as ever I could; but the creek was furder than I thought, and afore I got back, the fight had begun and the regiment was gone, and the provost guard then picked me up and put me in a squad with Trigg's Virginia regiment, and we sailed in, and the first thing I knowed I felt my leg knocked out from under me, and when I tried to get up I fell and found that I was shot, and the Major of the regiment told me to get back if I could, and if I couldn't, to holler for the litter bearers. But I could hop by using of my gun, and so I just hobbled back, but I didn't run a step. I wouldn't 'a' run like a coward for to save my life, for my mamma told me never to do that. You may all shoot me if you want to, but I ain't no coward."

"You say Captain Rich told you to go after water?"

"Yes, sir, he did."

"Where is Captain Rich?"

"He's dead, sir. He was killed that day, if he was alive he would tell you so."

"Well, but how did you get home, and how was it that the conscript cavalry got you?"

"Well, I'll tell you. You see, when I got to Ringgold they put me on the cars and sent me along with the other wounded to Atlanta, and from there they sent me to Montgomery, and as we was a passing Notasulga I thought I'd just get off and get out home. It was only five miles, and so I got off; the boys helped me, and Mr. Mims sent me out home in his buggy."

"And when you got well why didn't you come back?"

"Well, I was a-coming, and I went to Montgomery, and Major Calhoun give me transportation back, and I come on back as far as Notasulga, and only stopped a day, to run out home to get a coat my mamma was a-making me, and a poke of rations she was a-cooking for me, and that very same night the cavalry come and arrested me and tried me, and brought me back, without even letting me get my vittles nor my coat."

"Well, is that all?"

"Yes, sir, all as I knows; only if Captain Rich hadn't a got killed, I wouldn't 'a' been in this fix."

"You say Major Calhoun gave you transportation from Montgomery back to the army?"

"Yes, sir, he did."

"Where is it?"

"It's at home in my 'tother britches' pocket. If you'll write to mamma, she will send it to you."

"No, never mind, that will do. Gentlemen, have you any questions to ask?"

"No."

The prisoner was marched back to the guardhouse, and the court proceedod to make a verdict.

There was no discussion, each member of the court being simply asked: "What say you, is the prisoner guilty or not guilty?"

It is the rule, in all military courts, for the junior officer in rank to vote first, and then the next, and the next, in an ascending scale. This is done that the opinions of the seniors may not affect the judgment of the juniors. The vote is viva voce, and as one by one was asked, the answers came: "Guilty."

"The verdict is unanimous as to the guilt of the prisoner. Now gentlemen, we will pass upon the sentence."

This matter involved a long discussion, a majority contending for whipping on the bare back, in the presence of his command, and branding in palm of his right hand the letter D.

To this the President dissented.

"No, gentlemen," he said, "there is but one adequate punishment for the offence of desertion in the face of the enemy, and that is death. If this boy is guilty, as you say he is, let him be shot. If he is innocent, as I feel in my soul he is, he should go free. Having found him guily, our duty is to sentence according to the findings, and the penalty for this offence is death. The rest we can leave to the commanding General."

So poor Robbie Nix was condemned to be "shot to death, at such time and place as the commanding General may designate."

The President, bluff old Colonel Zachery, added to the official report: "In consideration of the extreme youth of the prisoner, the manifest illegality of his enlistment and his uniform good conduct as a soldier, previous to this offence, I respectfully commend him to the mercy of the commanding General, and would ask that he be discharged from custody and remanded to the regiment for duty."

The finding of the court was not to be made known until the action of the General was returned, but in some way it leaked out and flew, with the instinct of bad news, to the ears of the mother at home.

For a few moments, after hearing it, she stood dazed, then, creeping in to her room, she knelt by her bed, and poured our her sorrow in tears and sobs and prayers. At last, gathering her womanly courage with her womanly wits, she arose and commenced a hurried preparation for a journey.

"But where'll you get the money, Mary?" asked her husband, as she told him of her purpose.

"I will sell the cow. That will be enough to carry me there."

"But how'll you git back?"

"If I can save my child, I can walk back; but if they murder my darling, I shall not care ever to come back; I shall pray to die too."

The cow was driven to the village and readily sold, and on the next train the heart-broken mother was on her way to offer her own life for the life of her son.

She was a timid woman, modest and reserved, but her great anxiety made her courageous. Arrived at Dalton, around which place the army was encamped, she made her way to the regimental headquarters, and received from the colonel a confimation of the story. He told her that the matter was in the hands of General Johnston, first, and as a last resort in the hands of President Davis, and offered to go with her to the General.

It was late in the day, but there were no "office hours" in the army. If they could reach head-quarters before General Johnston retired to bed, they would be in time.

They found him at supper.

"Will the lady eat something?" was the hospitable invitation.

"No, thanks. I came to tell you of my son. There is some mistake, a cruel mistake, I know. My boy is not a coward. He is not a deserter. I don't know what they proved against him, but it is false that he ran away from the field of battle and came home without leave. He was wounded, sir, badly shot, in the leg, I know, for I nursed him myself. If you will see him, sir, and let him tell you, you will know the truth, for I have taught him not to tell a lie, even to save his own life."

"Ah, but who is it? I do not know to whom you refer," said the General, puzzled at the lady's earnestness.

"My son, Robert Nix, whom they have falsely accused of desertion, and condemned to be shot."

"General Brent do you know anything of the case?" turning to his Adjutant-General and Chief-of-Staff.

"I have had it under review to-day. It is a peculiar case, and I intended calling your attention to it in the morning," answered General Brent.

"We will go through it now. My good lady, you must wait here until I examine the matter."

"Oh, sir, I beg that you will let me explain," she interrupted.

"No, be seated here. If I need you I will call you."

The poor lady sank down on a camp stool, and as the General went into his office with his Adjutant, she slipped to her knees and in silent prayer awaited the issue.

She had not long to wait, although it seemed an age to her. The General himself came back, holding in his hand an order.

"You tell me that your son was wounded?"

"As God will judge me in the day I stand before Him, I tell you the truth. He came home to me wounded in the leg."

"And this story he told the court is true."

"I know not what he told the court, only this, if he told anything at all, he told the truth."

"Madam, I believe you and I believe him. Here is an order for his release. I will send an orderly with you to the guard, or else have him conducted to you at your quarters; perhaps that would be best."

"No, no, let me go to my son where he is. And, oh, sir, I do wish I was able to thank you, but I am not, my heart is too full. God bless"—and too much overcome for further speech, she could only seize the General's hand and kiss it.

Then, almost tottering with the burden of her joy, she followed the orderly to the guardhouse, bearing that little slip of paper which saved his life and his honor.—Youth's Companion.

Author of "Star Spangled Banner."

Francis Scott Key was born in Frederick County, Md., on August 1, 1779, and died in Baltimore, January 11, 1843. His grandfather was Philip Key, an English nobleman of great wealth, who settled in St. Mary's County, the first seat of Government, in the latter part of the sixteenth century, and was made Lord High Sheriff of the Colonies. Here he built his beautiful home, "Wolf Holdes," and lived in princely style. The mantelpieces of the mansion were of china. The house was owned by the family for many years. It then passed into the hands of strangers, and was finally pulled down. The ancient village of Chuptico was also owned by him. And here he gave the ground and money for the building of a church. Wren, who built the great London Cathedral, was the architect for Chaptico Church. Philip Key had his vault built where he is buried. He married twice. His second wife was a Miss Barton, and she gave the first legacy ever given in Maryland for the education of the poor, and her will was recorded in Annapolis as the best will ever made by a woman. Philip Key had several sons and one beautiful daughter, who married in the famous Bruce family of Scotland. His sons all became distinguished men, and several married, and their descendants, both sons and daughters, were noted men and women in the history of Maryland. Hon. Philip Key, of "Hamburg," who lived on the Wicomico River, and grandson of Lord Key, was a member of Congress. He was a thorough scholar and a perfect gentleman, and at nineteen, when he went to Europe to be presented to the English Court, was considered the handsomest man there. His daughters were said to have been the most beautiful women ever raised in Maryland. The last of that family now living is Mrs. Dr. John Brisco, who resides in Baltimore, and although far advanced in years she still retains all the faculties of youth. She was the far-famed belle, the beautiful Mary Key.

Once I was in St. Mary's County on a visit to the late John Hall Key, of "Hamburg." He had built a splendid house about a mile from the Wicomico River. The buildings on that place were said to be the finest in Lower Maryland. Mr. Key was a man of splendid appearance, and one of the most courteous men in his house I ever met. His aunt was the Duchess of Argyle, Scotland. He married a Miss Reeder, a most beautiful woman. His children were perfectly beautiful. St. Mary's County has the honor of claiming the great Key family, and the descendant of one of them that gave unto the world the greatest national anthem ever penned by man, "The Star-Spangled Banner." Francis Key was like his race, not only a great one, but a good one. For generations back it has been said a Key never turned his face from any poor man. Hon. Philip Key was the largest landholder in St. Mary's County.—Baltimore American.

Superstitions of the Persians.

Amulets are worn by nearly everybody to avert the evil eye, and to attract good luck. These amulets are of all shapes and substances. The wealthier ladies, for instance, wear gold bracelets, neck chains and anklets, often of very artistic workmanship, containing in a sealed up cavity verses from the Koran, made especially powerful by the blessings of some imaum, or pious dervish. Little mother-of-pearl tablets, of octagonal or oval shape, and often set in turquoise, are worn around the neck for the same purpose. They generally contain, in delicately engraved characters, some Arabic incantations to the higher powers to protect the wearer against the lower ones.

Poor women will often content themselves with a string around their necks, to which may be tied a strong talisman in the shape of a snake's tooth, a leopard's tongue, a hyena's tuft of hair, sometimes inclosed in a small locket of brass or silver. Similar "charms" are the finger joints of new-born babes, a drop of blood from an executed criminal, or an eye from the body of an old woman who died in childbirth. Superstitions of this peculiar kind are practically innumerable. Thus shells, parts of the hyena or hare (two animals thought to be especially haclal, that is unclean), and the fruits of the anacardium are worn as amulets to secure the love of a husband, win the affection of a lover, or turn in her direction the preference hitherto shown for a rival.

At the birth of an infant the father will seize his scimeter, and brandishing it in all directions, will cut the air east, west, north and south. This, he believes, will frighten off the evil fay Aals, who is supposed to be forever on the lookout for babes to carry off to her domains. Girls, young widows and divorced women will sit astride the whiffletrees of mills and thus allow themselves to be turned twice around the pillar in the center, in the firm conviction that this procedure will soon catch a husband for them.—Cosmopolitan.

Fifty railroad ties, each 8 feet in length and 6x10 inches thick, were cut from one pine tree in Georgia.

Many men claim to be firm in their principles, when really they are only obstinate in their prejudices.

AUTUMN DAYS.

A wealth of beauty meets my eye—
Yellow and green, and brown and white,
In one vast blaze of glory fill
My happy sight.

The rich-robed trees, the ripening corn,
Bright colored with September fire—
Fulfillment of the farmer's hope,
And year's desire.

Sweet in the air are joyous sounds
Of bird and bee and running brook;
And plenteous fruits hang ripening round,
Where'er I look.

The mellow splendor softly falls
On morning mists and evening dews,
And colors trees and flowers and clouds
With thousand hues.

O dreaming clouds, with silver fringed;
I watch ye gathering side by side,
Like armies in the solemn skies,
In stately pride.

I love the woods, the charming woods,
Fast deepening down to russet glow,
When autumn, like a brunette queen,
Rules all below.

The soul of beauty haunts the heavens,
Nor leaves for long the warm-faced earth
And, like a mother, the kind air
To life gives birth.

But Death rides past upon the gale,
And blows the rustling golden leaves;
They whirl and fall, and rot and die,
And my heart grieves.

Farewell! O autumn days, farewell!
Ye go; but we shall meet again,
As old friends who are parted long
By the wild main.

—William Cowan.

PITH AND POINT.

To marry a coachman is not just au fait
But some maiden marries a groom every day
—Tid-Bits

The monarch of Greece has a fat situation, as a matter of course.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

A New York dentist thinks he has hit the popular taste for good bargains. He displays a sign: "Come in and get your tooth pulled for a quarter."—Siftings.

The epicure is light and gay,
And not without a reason,
For summer months have passed away,
And oysters are in season.
—Merchant Traveler.

Jones (smoking)—"These are something like cigars, eh, old boy?" Brown (dubiously)—"Yes-er-something like 'em. What are they?"—Charlestown Enterprise.

News comes from Paris that the bustle is to be much reduced in size. Thus does Fashion's decree cast a stumbling-block in the path of female smugglers.—New York World.

When a man conveys to you in a loud tone of voice and the language of slang, profanity and bad grammar the information that he is a gentleman, it is a waste of time to doubt him.—Picayune.

Tassels and silk has the cornstalk tall,
While the wheat a beard can claim;
The broomstalk wears no clothes at all,
But it's business just the same.
—Duluth Paragrapher.

Next to a red wagon with a spring seat there is nothing so pretty as a drum major who wears a hat made of a buffalo robe and swings a long pole with a silver knob on the end of it.—Lincoln (Neb.) Journal.

Michigan boasts of the tallest girl in America. It is Anna Mercer, who is twelve years old and six feet high. Just wait until she is twenty-four years old and twelve feet high. Won't she knock down the peaches, though!—Detroit Free Press.

A gentleman engaged in the rubber overshoe business recently remarked that two qualities of goods are now manufactured—"the bad and the very bad." The manufacturers, we suspect, retain the former grade exclusively for their own private wear.—Syracuse Herald.

"Will you be mine?" said the ardent youth;
"No, no," the maiden said,
As she looked at him with a mocking smile
And pertly tossed her head.

He slipped on her finger a sparkling ring,
And drew her to his side;
"Two noes mean yes, you saucy minx,"
Exultingly he cried.

He held her fast; he watched her frown—
Then pout—then blush and stammer,
The dear girl couldn't stand a siege
Of love and English grammar.
—Chicago Tribune.

A Savage Ordeal.

A few words, now, on the fetich doctor or medicine man, the N'ganga of the native, who is also his priest, physician, and chief justice. If any one in in the village dies, the natives, who cannot comprehend that any one should die a natural death, believe that he must have been killed by enchantment or by the evil influence of some other person; in short, that another person was the cause of his death. It is N'ganga's business to find out who this person is. He consults with the spirits by moonlight, and communicates the result of his interview to the people. The accused person is then subjected to trial by cassa. Cassa is the bark of a large tree, and contains a very strong poison. The delinquent is forced to drink a solution of this bark, which has been prepared by the N'ganga. If he vomits the draught up immediately, he is innocent, but if it remains in his stomach he must die. In this case the natives never wait for the operation of the poison, but fall upon him with sticks and stones, or drive the life out of him in some still more savage way. The issue of the trial by cassa of course lies with the N'ganga, and, if the delinquent can pay enough, that functionary will probably save his life.—Popular Science Monthly.

Lions Frightened by Electric Shocks.

A sensation in which ladies delight is furnished by a lion-tamer drawing a hypnotized girl into a den of lions, says a Paris letter in London Truth. The lions (but the spectators don't know this) are more afraid of the young lady than she would be of them if awake. They associate her with electric shocks which, when under training for spectacles of this sort, they had had in the month. The damsel was separated from the terrible felines with fine wires connected with electric batteries. When they advanced toward her they came to grief, but through what agency they could not see, and retreated howling. A lion which has had a few shocks will for the rest of his life keep at a civil distance from no matter what young lady.

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 1, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

The Montgomery Flour Mills owned by Joseph and Anderson were destroyed by fire on Monday night. Loss $100,000. Insurance $55,000.

Judge David Clopton of the Alabama Supreme Court was married on Tuesday to the brilliant and accomplished Mrs. Clement C. Clay, of Huntsville, Ala.

Mr. B. L. Dyer, of Chambers county, one of the securities on the official bond of ex-Treasurer I. H. Vincent, has paid into the State Treasury $2,500 in full settlement and compromise of his liability for the defalcation.

The Memphis Avalanche says the Montgomery Advertiser is troubled with a woman on its editorial staff. Hence the recent article on "Our Coming Young Man." Won't the talented editors of the Huntsville Democrat resent this as an unjust imputation upon editors of the feminine gender.

Senator Jones, late of Florida, but later of Detroit, Mich., is threatened with an insane asylum if he persists in living in Detroit, as he is now penniless and is thought to be a mental wreck. He had sense enough to get as mad as a decapitated hen when he first learned of the intention of his friends to have him examined for the purpose of determining what could be done for him. He prefers returning to Florida and again running for the Senate rather than be placed in an asylum. His is a sad case.

The Alabama Teachers' Journal is now published in Montgomery. It is a very handsomely printed and instructive journal and should be in the hands of every teacher in the State. The editors are J. A. B. Lovett, Huntsville and J. M. Dewberry, Montgomery. The associate editors are Dr. E. R. Dickson, Mobile; Prof. T. J. Mitchell, Florence; Prof. Otis D. Smith, Auburn; Dr. B. F. Meek, University of Alabama; Dr. A. B. Jones, Huntsville; Prof. J. W. DuBose, Gadsden; Prof. Jos. M. Dill, Troy; Miss Mary C. Callahan, Birmingham. It is withal a most excellent publication of sixteen pages, and is published monthly at $1.00 per year.

An Opinion of Its Own.

The Fort Payne Journal has an opinion of its own in regard to the recent hanging of the Chicago anarchists. It says the victims did not have a fair trial in the full meaning of that phrase, because, as it alleges, the jury were overawed into rendering the verdict they did by popular clamor and a fear of mob violence.

This is a very old song, and we do not agree with the expressed opinion of an esteemed cotemporary that it is a very novel position, except in so far as it comes from a press which has heretofore never made any great display of anarchistic "principles." We opine that our brother of the Journal has drawn a false conclusion, which the text books charitably teach us is an error in argument, not a breach of veracity.

Will the writer of the Journal's article permit us to put a few interrogatories before him? To us he has often appeared somewhat sui generis and always very much like the Irishman's flea, "when you put your finger on him he ain't there." We wish to know:

1. Do you really think the anarchists sentenced were not instrumental in nor accessory to the death of the seven policemen at the Haymarket riot?

2. Did you not, as a lawyer, furnish that opinion to the public as some proof that you could, on professional demand, rehash an argument that might be called tolerable, even upon a very hopeless side of a case?

3. Do you favor sedition and anarchy?

4. Are you an anarchist?

If the Journal editor answers these four interrogatories we will at least be better able hereafter to prognosticate upon his very independent opinions, for whatever else may be said of the Journal, an admirable spirit of independence seems always to pervade its columns.

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

Farmers have had a remarkably dry fall to gather their crops, which was highly appreciated.

Died, here on the 12th inst., Mrs. Milstead, and was buried in the church yard at Maplesville.

Two young ladies, of Maplesville, enjoyed Thanksgiving by way of a bird hunt with a party of young folks from Stanton. Several of the participants say, "Let's go again."

The many friends of Mr. L. H. DuBose will be pleased to know of his convalescence, he hopes soon to return to his country home.

Miss Lillie McGee opened a flourishing school here on the 13th. We hope she will be pleased.

Mr. J. O. Noble preached his farewell sermon here yesterday we hope he will be sent to us next year.

Mr. N. W. Foshee is now able to sit up in bed.

Rev. Mr. Starr will preach here the second Sunday in December; we appreciate his liberality toward our church. WINTER.

If you wish to arouse a woman's enthusiasm or awaken her gratitude, confer a benefit upon her children, and if you know of a little one who is the victim of worms, recommend the use of White's Cream Vermifuge, and thereby confer a favor which only a fond mother can appreciate. This remedy is the best worm medicine in the world.

Stanton Puffs.

News is scarce in our neighborhood.

Quite a number of young gentlemen and ladies spent thanksgiving day bird hunting.

The G. & C. lumber mill stopped for thanksgiving. There were no services in any of the churches.

A fatal accident occurred at Howison's mill two miles from Stanton, last Wednesday. The mill shed fell down killing a negro named John Johnson and wounded another named John Pierson. It is said the timbers were rotten.

The locomotive at the Howison mill ran off the track last Wednesday and capsized.

Business at the G. & C. L. mill continues good.

There have been very few visitors in Stanton lately.

Rev. J. M. McCord will fill the pulpit at the Baptist church the first Sunday in December.

89.

"Although some flowers of Eden we still inherit, the trail of the serpent is over them all." Sickness and sorrow mark our pathway and make of life a pilgrimage through a vale of shadows. Some evils we can successfully combat if we choose the right weapons, and when afflicted with Piles can find a certain remedy in Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment.

Jemison Locals.

An oyster supper for the benefit of the Methodist church was had last Friday night under the auspices of the Methodist Ladies' Aid Society, which netted a little over fifteen dollars.

Miss Bettie Anderson, one of our popular young ladies, has taken charge of the school at Collins' Chapel, and is giving entire satisfaction to the patrons.

Messrs. Jim and Dave Hand are each building nice residences in South Jemison.

Mr. Jim Hand's little daughter, Leila, who has been quite ill for some time is now improving, so we are informed, and we hope she will soon be convalescent.

Mrs. W. C. Weaver, of Fort Deposit, is visiting friends in Jemison.

Mr. Gordon DuBose paid our town a flying visit yesterday.

Miss Mollie Liles spent several days in Jemison last week.

Mr. Hanks, our popular young friend from Clanton, attended the oyster supper here last Friday night, much to the delight of some of the fair sex. X. Y. Z.

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

Verbena Notes.

Thanksgiving was generally observed. Had union services at the Methodist church conducted by Rev. A. A. Green assisted by Rev. Mr. Hare, and services at the Baptist church at night conducted by Mr. A. J. Brooks.

Married, Sunday last, Mr. Manly Strock and Miss Ella Thompson, both of Verbena.

Miss Mamie Green has returned from Atlanta.

Miss Belle Smith, and Mrs. Weaver, of Dixie, are visiting Mrs. Green and family.

Miss Zimmerman, of Coosada, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. L. Zimmerman.

Mr. George Whitson is here in the interest of life insurance.

Dr. B. J. Baldwin, of Montgomery, and Messrs. Joel and Frank Barnett, of Bullock county, spent a couple of days with Col. B. J. Baldwin and family.

Mrs. Dr. Williamson gave a large thanksgiving party, which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

There was a happy family reunion at the residence of Capt. John Clisby on last Sunday. An elegant dinner was served, with plenty of wine and good cheer. The table was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. Mrs. Lizzie Cobb, of South Carolina, Mr. Geo. Clisby, of Montgomery, and Mr. Alfred Clisby, of Birmingham, were present.

Miss Ida Scott, of Kentucky, is visiting her uncle, O. T. Grimes, at this place.

Rev. L. G. Skipper resigned the pastorate charge here on account of throat troubles, and is yet undecided whether he can continue preaching or not. The church here is having the usual troubles as to his successor. Mr. Skipper's future home is yet undetermined.

Rev. A. J. Briggs preached his last sermon Sunday before going to Conference. He has been a faithful and good worker in the cause. The members of his church and his whole congregation are anxious for his return to this charge.

White's Cream Vermifuge is pure white. There are also so-called remedies that are white, but there the similarity ends. There is nothing like White's Cream Vermifuge as a remedy for worms, and if your druggist seeks to give you any other preparation instead of it, beg to be excused and insist that you will have no other than White's Cream Vermifuge.

The New Code.

In another column of to-day's Advertiser will be found a proclamation issued by the Governor on yesterday relative to the new code of Alabama. All the copies of the code have been delivered to the Secretary of the State at the capitol, and he issues his proclamation to that effect. The code will go into effect and become operative on the 25th of next month, December. —Advertiser.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

"Our Coming Young Man," is the subject of an editorial in the Montgomery Advertiser. This is the trouble about putting women in journalism. They insist in airing their own little happinesses in leaded brevier.—Mempis Avalanche.

The nice Christmas presents at the VIEW Stationery Stand are too numerous to mention and too cheap to remain long. Come and see.

The election in Atlanta, Ga., last Saturday, on the prohibition question resulted in a majority for anti-prohibition of 1,112.

RICHLY Rewarded are those who read this and then act; they will find honorable employment that will not take them from their homes and families. The profits are large and sure for every industrious person, many have made and are now making several hundred dollars a month. It is easy for any one to make $5 and upwards per day, who is willing to work. Either sex, young or old; capital not needed; we start you. Everything new. No special ability required; you reader can do it as well as any one. Write to us at once for full particulars, which we mail free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine

THE

Verbena High School.

—:o:—

VERBENA, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

—:o:—

Will Open Sept. 5th and Continue in Session Ten Months.

FACULTY:

E. D. ACKER, A. B., LLB., Principal, Teacher of Nat. Sciences, Eng. Language and Literature, Commercial Course, Mathematics, Latin and Greek.

MISS FANNIE CALLIER, Teacher of Elocution, Calisthenics and French, and Assistant Teacher of Intermediate and High School Branches.

MISS FANNY PURIFOY, Teacher of Music and Art.

MRS. FANNIE H. DAVIS, Teacher of Primary and Intermediate Classes.

CLASSIFICATION AND RATES OF TUITION

Primary Class	$1 50
Intermediate Class	2 50
High School "	3 00
Music "	3 00
Collegiate "	4 00

Tuition is payable in advance.

Students will be prepared for any class in college.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17906 for the n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 24 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gip G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

MAKES CHILD-BIRTH EASY!

SHORTENS LABOR, LESSENS THE PAIN ATTENDING IT, DIMINISHES THE DANGER to LIFE of MOTHER and CHILD.

Should be used a few months before confinement. Send for book "To Mothers," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle.

Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

NEW HOME
PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR.
NEVER OUT OF ORDER.
NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO ILL. — 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. — DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13218 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 25, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on Dec. 3, 1887, viz: John S. Davis, homestead 16776 for the s w ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec. 28 township 24 n, range 12 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: French Nabors, of Montevallo, Ala., Sam Curry, William D. Carter and Shelby Lucus, of Brierfield, Ala.

oct27 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Seale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE

ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT IS GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES

HODGES SARSAPARILLA CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.

T. I. N. C. IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA

SOLD EVERYWHERE

MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

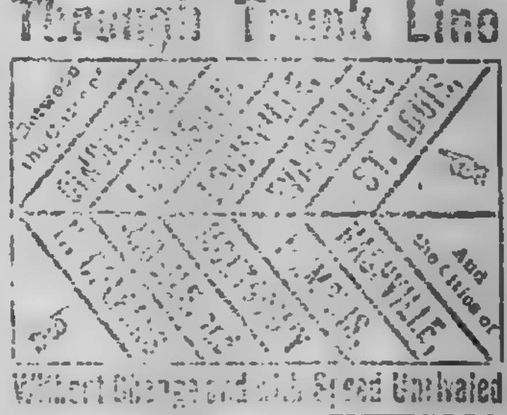
The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.

Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,

CHICAGO, ILL.

L & N

THE GREAT Through Trunk Line



Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS [illegible] Without change to [illegible] Cincinnati, Chicago, [illegible] one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A. Louisville, Ky.

(3)

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,

MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA,

Are displaying a Complete and Varied Assortment of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Millinery.

Special attention given to Mail Orders. Samples cheerfully furnished on application.

R. E. BOLLING & SON,
Temple Stores, - - Commerce St.
Montgomery, Ala.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
SELMA, ALABAMA.

mar24-y]

WILSON HOUSE.

A. P. SIMS, Proprietor.

Corner 21st Street and 2nd Ave.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

The above house is first-class in all its appointments, and is under the exclusive control of A. P. SIMS, an experienced hotel manager.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

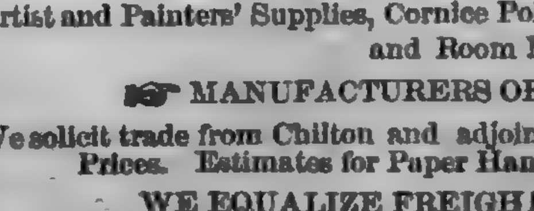
PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER, Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES.

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.



SHOW WALL CENTRE RIBBON CASES

ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES,

Cedar Chests, Cabinets and Wardrobes

CABINET WORK.

TERRY SHOW CASE CO.

[illegible] Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 1, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors Market firm. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Middling 9½c. Middling 9¼c. Low Middling 8¾c.

MONTGOMERY—Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 9⅝c. Middling 9⅜c. Low Middling 9⅛.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Mr. Chandler's new residence will be two stories.

Red ink 10 cents a bottle at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Mr. Lee Holt has a little child quite sick with pneumonia.

Christmas tree candles and sticks at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mrs. Boykin and two of her sons, of Pratt's Saw Mill, spent Sunday in Clanton.

Mr. F. J. Davis, of Birmingham, spent last Sabbath at his home in this place.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

All our merchants should advertise their Christmas goods in the columns of the VIEW.

Mr. Felix Ashley, has been spending several weeks with his family at this place, on the sick list.

Mr. S. A. Blasingame will complete the hot well hotel building by making a nice two story residence out of it.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

For Sale, Lease or Rent.

A valuable farm near Clanton, Ala. Terms reasonable. Apply to

A. J. MARLAR.

Fancy and stick candy, nuts, raisins and prunes, prize boxes, fruits of all kinds, perfume, chewing gum and in fact nearly everything you want, for sale at R. P. Woolley's.

The stock of Christmas presents, and Christmas and New Year cards, at the VIEW Stationery Stand is now complete. Come and see them and make your selections now before you are too late.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Mr. Julian Phillips and wife, of Opelika, and Mrs. Henry Mathews, of Montgomery, came up last Saturday to visit relatives in Clanton. Mrs. Phillips will remain some time, the others have returned.

The coming Christmas holidays promise to be unusually gay. The young people who are off at school will no doubt spend Christmas at home and several visiting young ladies, four of them from Montgomery, will spend the holidays in Clanton. Several entertainments are already on the tapis.

Christmas Goods.

I have just received a nice lot of toys, fire-works, candies, &c., for the holiday trade. Also a new lot of dry goods and notions. I keep the best Patent flour that can be had anywhere at $5.50 per barrel. Clothing at reduced prices to close out what I have in stock.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPEY.

The handsome new storehouse of J. H. Patton, at Jemison, is now full of nice goods and is the place to buy what you need cheap. Call on him when in Jemison. 2t

Bad Handling of Mails.

The trains are not taking the mails at the Clanton Station regularly. Some of the pouches lie over here several days before they get off. The railroad company, it seems to us, is thus making itself liable to damage suits.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Mr. J. C. Woolley, who is well known in this place, desires to inform his many friends in Chilton county that he is now connected with the house of J. R. Swinford, at Strasburg and will be glad to wait on them at all times and can sell them anything in the dry good and grocery line as cheap as any store in the county. n10-4t

Rev. A. E. Burns, our Baptist pastor, filled his regularly appointments at this place last Sabbath. Mr. Burns will begin on his new year with the church here at his next appointment and will give this church two Sundays in each month, the second and fourth, consequently he will be with us again on the second Sunday in December and then again on Christmas day.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

The Wallack & Rider Comedy Company drew a very good audience to their pleasant entertainment at the court house in this place, on Saturday night. The performance was one of the best ever witnessed in Clanton and the audience's appreciation was shown by the laughter and applause kept up throughout the entire evening. The manager says that Clanton will be on their list again next season.

Christmas Trees.

Both of our Sabbath schools have decided to have Christmas trees, and they will go to work at once to prepare for them and make the children happy. There is no occasion we can think of that is more enjoyed by all than the Christmas trees have been heretofore, and we predict that the coming Christmas trees they will be more enjoyable and grander successes than ever before.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Come In.

During cold weather we are compelled to keep the front doors to the VIEW office closed, but our latch string is ever on the outside so come right in without knocking and you will find a warm and cheerful interior and can feel comfortable while you are buying your Christmas tricks, or ordering your printing or even feel comfortable while paying your subscription.

Rev. Sam Jones gets off solid truths often. Here is one of them. "If I wanted to get good, square judgment on something I had done, I would rather go to newspaper office than to any court of justice. I know that newspapers probe into men's character, and the pure need not fear all the newspapers in America. The way to be safe from so-called newspaper attacks is to be a Christian. The reporters are the best detective force in the country. They have brought more criminals to justice, and punctured more shams, than all other agencies combined.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

Premium to Subscribers.

To each and every new subscriber to the VIEW we are now giving a most excellent and useful premium. Dr. Kendall's "Treatise on the Horse and His Diseases" is a book that is invaluable to the stockman. Everyone owning a horse should have one of these books. It may prove worth a hundred dollars in a serious emergency. We propose to give this book to each new subscriber who pays for a year in advance. This offer to extend as long as 1,000 of the books hold out. We have that number in stock and we are selling them at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND at 25 cents per copy. Old subscribers can get a copy of this book by paying dues and a year's subscription in advance. Don't fail to get one of these books. They will prove interesting and instructive reading to every horse owner.

Our Wealthy Men.

Much has been said in newspapers of men who have made large fortunes in comparatively a few years in various business industries. Many of these articles are written by correspondents of prominent newspapers, and copied into others of lesser note. Correspondents generally are seldom men of business qualifications and wrongfully picture these men and their business as a thing of accident: this is not the case with those we have met. We find that where men have made large fortunes by their own business talent and industry they chose with sagacity and forethought such business as would lead to success when handled with business judgment. No man has been brought before the public as an example of success both in wealth and magnitude of his business (outside of stock and railroad men) more prominently than Dr. G. G. Green, of Woodbury, N. J. He is at the head of many large business industries, and yet comparatively a young man. When the fact that August Flower, for dyspepsia and liver complaint and Boschee's German Syrup, for coughs and lung troubles, has grown to a wonderful sale in all parts of the world, it proves that it was not an accident or spontaneous strike at wealth. His medicines are recognized as valuable and established remedies and the business has grown gradually and permanently during the last eighteen years on account not alone of Dr. Green's abilities as a business man or his "good luck," but on the actual merits of the two preparations.—N. Y. Sun.

Doll Hill's Case.

It is learned that two petitions have been signed and presented to the Governor asking for the pardon of James Hill familiarly known as Doll Hill. We think that these petitions should have more weight with the Governor than those heretofore presented, since Hill has served two years of his sentence, but more particularly because his family are in need of his helping hand. There are other extenuating circumstances in the case which would render a pardon at this stage only justice tempered with mercy, and this is said in no spirit of unkindness to any one connected with the case. We learn that Mr. James A. Dudley with whom Hill had his difficulty has signed one of the petitions himself. This is a commendable spirit of charity on his part.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

Another Fight.

Blood is still on the moon in these parts. On Tuesday afternoon a difficulty occurred between E. W. Willis, of Jumbo, and W. H. Sartor, of this place. From the particulars we can learn it appears that Mr. Willis attempted to cut Mr. Sartor but the latter managed to get loose from his assailant and picking up a brickbat struck Mr. Willis on the head with it as he was again coming at him with his knife. Mr. Willis was badly hurt. He was carried to the residence of Dr. Johnson where his head was properly attended to. At this writing he is still at Dr. Johnson's under treatment.

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

DEEP Sea Wonders exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards, wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

G. E. WILLIAMS,
BLACKSMITH
—AND—
WHEELWRIGHT.
CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.

Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,

J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Assessor's Notice.

I will attend the following named places on the days here named for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1888:

Dixie	Beat 8	Monday,	January	2
Valley Creek	" 8	Wed'sday,	"	4
R. Latham's	" 7	Friday,	"	6
Maplesville	" 7	Saturday	"	7
Macedonia	" 3	Tuesday	"	10
D. Wooley's	" 2	Wednesday	"	11
Concord C'h	" 2	Thursday	"	12
Providence	" 2	Friday	"	13
S. E. Busby's	" 2	Saturday	"	14
Jemison	" 2	Monday	"	16
Busbee's Mill	" 3	Tuesday	"	17
Strasburg.	" 4	Wed'sday	"	18
Jno. Archer's	" 1	Thursday	"	19
D.H. Mullin's	" 1	Friday	"	20
Jas. Smith's	" 4	Saturday	"	21
Cane Cr'k C'h	" 4	Monday	"	23
Clanton	" 4	Tuesday	"	24
Clanton	" 4	Wed'sday	"	25
Pleas. Grove	" 6	Thursday	"	26
Benson	" 3	Friday	"	27
Verbena	" 5	Tuesday	"	31
Joe Alred's	" 5	Wed'sday	Feb'y	1
Cooper's	" 5	Thursday	"	2
Kincheon	" 6	Friday	"	3
Chamber's Mill,	beat 6,	Saturday	"	9

W. A. SMITH, Tax Assessor.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MUSIC GIVEN AWAY 5 PIECES FREE! FOR THE POSTAGE.

To introduce our Sheet Music and get 10,000 names of music buyers to whom we can mail lists of latest new music, etc., we will, on receipt of 10 cents for postage, send FREE of charge Five Complete Pieces Choice Vocal and Instrumental Music, full size (11¼ x 13 in.,) printed on heavy music paper; same as usually sold at music stores at from 30 to 50 cents per piece. If you play or sing, send us your name and address, and we will show you how to save money in buying music. Our Last Grand Offer to music buyers will interest you. Ask for it, as well as our Free Catalogues of Music and Music Books, if you haven't them already.

All Music Sold at Reduced Rates.
Cheapest Place in U. S. to buy.
LUDDEN & BATES Southern Music House,
SAVANNAH, GA.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!
JOHN B. RODEN,
Bookseller and Stationer,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade, I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and

Sell For Cash Across the Counter.

No exceptions made for anybody.

A. J. BROOKS.

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,
—MONTGOMERY, ALA.—
Large Stock! Low Prices!

Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.

GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.

☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON
W. H. SARTOR,
FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB, HERSHEY & CO.,
FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.
—JOBBERS IN—
Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,
ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.
PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.
GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.
THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.
OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.
2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.
Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants
MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.
—AND DEALERS IN—
Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,
Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS, COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.
Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.
☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.
Teeth extract[illegible]without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.
☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,
—DEALER IN—
Guns and Ammunition,
GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,
Wholesale Grocers,
P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,
Artistic Photographer
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Life Size Photographs a Specialty.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen.
Photographs on watch dials.
Enameled Photographs.
All Sittings made Instantaneously.
Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
☞Correspondence solicited.
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,
Wholesale Druggists,
FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
MEDICINES,
Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.
☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's
BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.
Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.
Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to
Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt
Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.
RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.
Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.
☞MONTGOMERY STABLES, Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O., Telephone 446. janly

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,
Leading Tailor.
1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Keeps constantly in stock a full line of
Elegant Goods.
ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,
—DEALER IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES,
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.
☞Call on me before purchasing elsewhere.

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, Visiting Cards, and Marking Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN MFG. Co., Baltimore, Md.

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
ANGSTON, HAN & COMPANY,
NO SHODDY GOODS!
LOW PRICES
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.

I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE,
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT. WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand.
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street.
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
23 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, - MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Coll rs & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m]

Subscribe for This Paper!
Brimful of choice reading matter for everybody.
NOW IS THE TIME.
Examine this paper and send us your subscription.
IT WILL PAY YOU!

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

How to Get Rid of Canada Thistles.

Several correspondents make the old query of how to get rid of Canada thistles. The only way that has met with general success is to prevent the tops from growing until the roots die of exhaustion, or in other words, until the plant dies from want of air and light. The reason why the Canada thistle is so hard to kill out is because the roots are not only perennial but they spread by underground root-stocks, i. e., stems that branch off under ground and produce new plants. These perennial roots and root-stocks are several inches below the depth of the ordinary furrow cut, and are not usually turned up in stirring or breaking the ground. One plowing merely puts the land in nice tilth for them to come up and make a good crop of vigorous shoots, as with an asparagus bed. To kill them the land must be continuously plowed or the thistles otherwise cut off for one, two or three summers. Enough time should not elapse between the plowing to allow the thistles to get up and get their breath, so to speak. In hoed crops they are sometimes killed out by giving constant attention. Observation leads to the belief that the seeds are very uncertain if grown far North. Many isolated patches are grown in Chicago on vacant lots and along unimproved streets. These seem to spread rather slowly by the underground root-stocks, but their absence in adjoining lots and streets as favorably situated indicates that the seeds are not perfect.—Prairie Farmer.

Cleanliness and Order in the Dairy.

Canon Bagot, an English authority in Dairying, seems to be digging into some musty practices in the British Isles. In a recent lecture on "Dairy Farming" he states that it was not the cow which produced the milk alone, but the food and water which they put into her, for the animal was only the machine which produced the milk and cream. He impressed upon his audience the necessity there was for treating their cows with gentleness, as in case a dairymaid or any one else ill-treated a cow, then she would not let down her milk, and evil results would follow. A cow must be milked with quickness, and no time ought to be lost in getting the milk strained into the settling pans. Upon the great necessity for cleanliness, that the milk might produce the greatest quantity of good cream, he said milk ought to be shallow in summer and deep in winter in the pans. But if they allowed their cream to remain too long on the milk it became sour, and this effectually stopped the farmer obtaining a good price for his butter. He believed that a great many samples of butter shown at the recent country show at York, were bad solely owing to the cream not having been taken from the milk until it had begun to decompose. Replying to the question, how long should they keep their cream before they churn it, he was astonished to hear that the Yorkshire custom was only to churn once a week, but he urged them to churn every third day. They should keep each skimming of the milk separate until about two hours before they put it into the churn. He advocated every farmer being possessed of a thermometer, which could be purchased for one shilling, which he called a labor-saving machine, because it told them exactly the temperature at which to churn. Sixty degrees temperature was about the heat at which the cream should be churned. He said that five-sixths of the bad butter made at the present day was due to farmers not knowing when to stop churning.

Seasonable Bee Hints.

It is necessary that bees receive as careful attention as any other of the farm routine. The person who expects to get profit from bees, be there few or many hives, by letting them take care of themselves, soon gets disgusted and declares bees do not pay. Yet many farmers get fully as much profit from half a dozen hives of bees, carefully looked to, as for any other investment of a similiar amount.

There is no season of the year when bees require more careful attention than during the latter part of September and through October. Never allow a swarm to go into winter quarters weak. Unite two swarms destroying one of the queens. During the day remove as many frames from two hives as may suffice to leave only enough for the bees to cluster on. The queen that is to remain with the doubled swarm should be caged. Late in the evening place the frames of bees from one of the two hives in the other and release the queen. Then feed daily until the swarm has about thirty pounds of honey. The food should be the best granulated sugar reduced into a rather thin syrup, or about the consistency of new honey. Melt the sugar and water together, so when it comes to a full scalding heat it will be of the right consistency. Do not boil it down too thin, but add a little more sugar. Feed about sundown and from this until dark, half a pint to a pint a day, and increase gradually. The queen should go to laying immediately, and by the time cold weather sets in the hive should be full of young bees for wintering.

In a small way, at least, it is preferable to winter out of doors in a good bee-house. Provide suitable boxes to place over the hives, so there may be six inches of space on the side and top, leaving an entrance to correspond to that of the hive. Remove the supers, spread a sleazy cloth over the frames and pack the chaff all around the sides and over the top. This will allow ventilation and absorb all rising moisture. Place a covering over the chaff to exclude damp, and the bees should winter nicely.

Strong colonies that are weak in stores should also be fed. There will this season be found many hives weak in stores. The sooner they are looked after and fed to increase the stores to a full wintering capacity, the more profitable will the bees become another season.—Farm, Field and Stockman.

The Pacific Coast Boundary.

The Pacific Ocean boundary of the United States has a greater extent of coast line than the Atlantic shore. The aggregate of our shore line on the Pacific is 12,734 miles, while on the Atlantic it is 11,860 miles, and on the Gulf of Mexico 6,848. California contains 1,136 miles of the coast line on the Pacific, while she has also 272 miles of inland shore and 240 miles of tide-water river shore, making altogether 1,648 miles of shore line. Texas has an actual coast line on the gulf of 1,209 miles, while Florida has 1,144 on the gulf and 363 miles on the Atlantic, so that both exceed California in this particular. It was the annexation of Alaska that promoted the Pacific coast to a higher figure than the Atlantic, Alaska having 9,880 miles of coast line. These figures are taken from the Coast Survey reports.—Boston Post.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.

Why Boys Become Bad Men and Go to Prison.

The Rev. Charles Thwing, writing to Harper's Magazine, says:

Some light is thrown upon the methods by which the reform school helps to fix the habit of criminality by the following conversation between a convict at Sing Sing and an examiner:

"Please, sir, may I ask you a question?" asks the convict.

"Certainly," is the examiner's reply.

"Why do they send boys to the House of Refuge?"

"I suppose it is to teach them to be better boys."

"That's a great mistake, for they go worse."

"How should that be?"

"I wouldn't be here only I was sent to the Refuge."

"What did you learn there that should have caused you to be sent here?"

"I didn't know how to pick pockets before I went, and I didn't know no fences; that's where you sell what you steal, you know."

"What else did you learn in the way of thieving?"

"I learned how to put up a job in burglary."

Another inmate—who at the age of seven stole fruit and was sent to a reform school at Albany for nine months; at eight was found guilty of petit larceny and sent to the House of Refuge; at 12 was committed to a juvenile asylum and escaped three times in four days; and three times before reaching his majority was sentenced to reformatories, and who, between the ages of 21 and 41, had been committed to prison no less than ten times—remarked to the examiner:

"I never learned a thing in my life [illegible] in prison to benefit me outside. The House of Refuge is the worst place a boy could be sent to."

"Why so?"

"Boys are worse than men; I believe boys know more mischief than men. In the House of Refuge I learned to sneak-thief, shop-lift, pick pockets and open a lock."

"How did you get an opportunity to learn all this?"

"There's plenty of chance. They learn it from each other at play."

In respect to the evil influence of the Reform School upon certain boys, it is, moreover, worth while to refer to the experience of one of the most learned and humane judges of the Supreme Bench of Maine. Before his court was brought a boy who had evidently in a fit of extreme rage shot his father. He had, so far as known, borne a good reputation and was a church member. He pleaded that he believed the gun was not loaded and only intended to frighten his parent. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. Never before, confesses the judge, did he spend so many sleepless nights in determining upon a sentence. It lay in his power to commit the lad either to the Reform School of the State during the remainder of his majority, or to the State prison for a term of years. He chose the latter alternative, and on the ground that in the Reform School he would learn certain vicious and criminal habits which would probably render his whole life criminal and vicious. In the prison, separated from other convicts, he would be in less peril of contamination. Having solely in view the interests of the boy, the judge decided that the disgrace of being a State Prison convict was less pernicious than the danger of education in which the baser members of the Reform School give their purer associates.

Reclaiming Nevada Lands.

An engineer who has been studying the question of irrigating unreclaimed land in Nevada, says that there is enough water in Lake Tahoe to irrigate 1,000,000 acres, and he believes that the water can be taken out of the lake by means of a gigantic iron siphon a mile and a half long. The lake is 400 feet above Carson valley, and the power generated by the consequent enormous water pressure could be utilized by all sorts of manufacturing establishments; and by a system of check valves the water could be taken out anywhere between the highest point of the lake and the lowest part of the valley. This engineer thinks that it is only a question of time when, by some plan like this, all the lands of Nevada will be reclaimed.

OVER $1,000,000 are invested in the tools for manufacturing type-writers. It is estimated that between 60,000 and 70,000 of the machines are in use.

Ringing Noises
In the ears sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, or snapping like the report of a pistol, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also results from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood. If you suffer from catarrh, try Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine.
"I have been troubled with that annoying disease, nasal catarrh, and have taken all kinds of blood purifiers, but never found relief till I used Hood's Sarsaparilla."—J. L. ROUTT, Marksburg, Ky.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

The best and surest Remedy for Cure of all diseases caused by any derangement of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels.
Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilious Complaints and Malaria of all kinds yield readily to the beneficent influence of
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
It is pleasant to the taste, tones up the system, restores and preserves health.
It is purely Vegetable, and cannot fail to prove beneficial, both to old and young.
As a Blood Purifier it is superior to all others. Sold everywhere at $1.00 a bottle.

PENSIONS An increase may be due. Address Milo B. Stevens & Co., Grover Bld'g, Washingt'n, D.C.
OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.
PENSIONS to Soldiers and Heirs. Send for circulars. No fee unless successful. E. H. GELSTON & CO., Washington, D. C.
NEGBRAND FIFTH WHEEL. Latest Buggy and Carriage improvement. [illegible] CO., Fremont, O.
PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

GEORGE OGLESBY, of Waco, Texas, has gone into the bloodhound business, and has the finest kennel in the United States. He is encouraged in his business by the increased frequency of deeds of violence, and thinks that if the revolver law is repealed, his dogs will come into great demand to hunt bad men with.

"Consumption Cure" would be a truthful name to give to Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the most efficacious medicine yet discovered for arresting the early development of pulmonary disease. But "consumption cure" would not sufficiently indicate the scope of its influence and usefulness. In all the many diseases which spring from a derangement of the liver and blood the "Discovery" is a safe and sure specific. Of all druggists.

Mrs. Holmes of Cincinnati has completed a 3,000-mile yacht cruise, managing her own yacht.

Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children.
Chronic Coughs and Bronchitis, can be cured by the use of SCOTT'S EMULSION of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Prominent physicians use it and testify to its great value. Please read the following: "I used Scott's Emulsion for an obstinate Cough with Hemorrhage, Loss of Appetite, Emaciation, Sleeplessness, &c. All of these have now left, and I believe your Emulsion has saved a case of well-developed Consumption."—T. J. FINDLEY, M. D., Lone Star, Texas.

The German government requires railways to keep coffee on sale in waiting rooms.

Woman and Her Diseases is the title of a large illustrated treatise by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., sent to any address for ten cents in stamps. It teaches successful self-treatment.

Ask God to help an unfortunate man after you have done all you can to help him.

How often is the light of the household clouded by signs of melancholy or irritability on the part of the ladies. Yet they are not to be blamed, for they are the result of ailments peculiar to that sex, which men know not of. But the cause may be removed and joy restored by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which, as a tonic and nervine for debilitated women, is certain, safe and pleasant. It is beyond all compare the great healer of women.

An American millionaire bought an Italian villa and painted out some historical frescoes.

Consumption Surely Cured.
To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

Among the people of to-day, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries and in hundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases, Prickly Ash Bitters now takes the place of the old system, and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature.

The Youth's Companion
has recently been increased in size, making it by far the cheapest Illustrated Family Weekly published. That it is highly appreciated is shown by the fact that it has won its way into 400,000 families. The publishers issue a new Announcement and Calendar, showing increased attractions for the new year. If $1.75 is sent now, it will pay for THE COMPANION to Jan., 1889, and you will receive the admirable Double Thanksgiving and Christmas Numbers, and other weekly issues to Jan. 1st, free.

Heated Houses
Has been the cause of much bronchial troubles. Coming out into the open air a slight cold, followed by a severe cough is contracted. Take in time Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

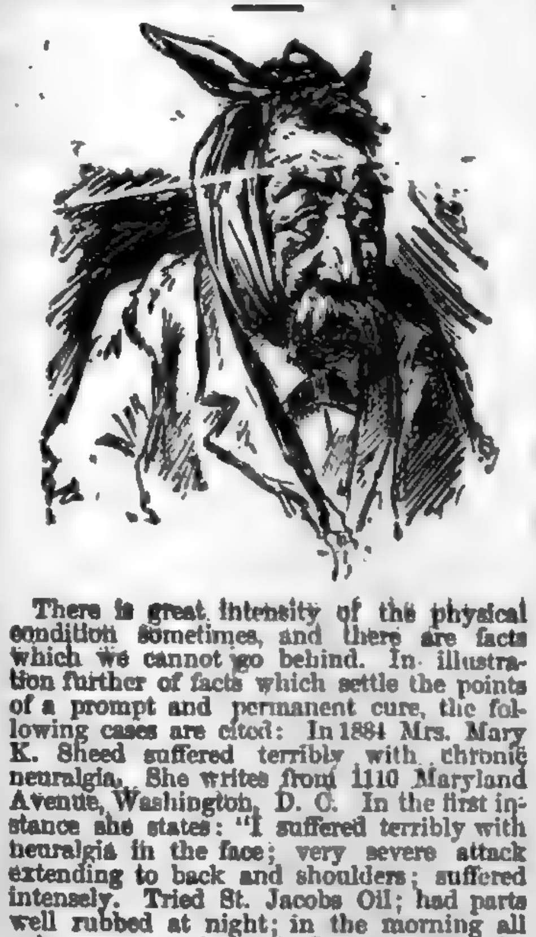
Taylor's Catarrh Remedy will certainly cure you, or no charge. Treatise on Catarrhal Troubles mailed free. Address, City Hall Pharmacy, 264 Broadway, N.Y.

MARVELOUS MEMORY DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

CAN'T GO BEHIND THEM.



There is great intensity of the physical condition sometimes, and there are facts which we cannot go behind. In illustration further of facts which settle the points of a prompt and permanent cure, the following cases are cited: In 1884 Mrs. Mary K. Sheed suffered terribly with chronic neuralgia. She writes from 1110 Maryland Avenue, Washington, D. C. In the first instance she states: "I suffered terribly with neuralgia in the face; very severe attack extending to back and shoulders; suffered intensely. Tried St. Jacobs Oil; had parts well rubbed at night; in the morning all pain gone, magically." June 10, 1887, she writes from 224 Eleventh Street, S. W., as follows: "Four years ago I sent you a voluntary certificate setting forth the fact that I had been a great sufferer with neuralgia in my face, neck and shoulders. I obtained a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, and after three applications I was entirely relieved from all pain, and from that time to the present I have never had a return. The effect was miraculous." Again, Feb. 6, 1887, Mr. R. G. Troll, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "[illegible] In March, 1881, I suffered terribly with neuralgia; had suffered nearly three years. Applied St. Jacobs Oil at 8.15 A. M.; at 8.40 took the rag off; at 9 A. M. went to work. In less than five minutes after that the pain was gone. The one application cured me. Have not had return of it since." Mr. E. W. Spangler, York, Pa., June 17, 1887, writes: "Years ago had neuralgia; am not subject to it now. The cure by the use of St. Jacobs Oil was permanent. There has been no recurrence of the painful affliction." Chas. W. Law, Jr., Pottstown, Pa., April 19, 1887, writes: "Was troubled for years with neuralgia in neck and head. Tried St. Jacobs Oil; had tried different kinds of remedies without effect. One bottle of the former did the business. No return of pain and aches." In almost every instance the reports are the same.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty-five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy.
Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.
PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.
$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

ROUGH ON RATS
TRADE MARK
DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE
Gone Where the Woodbine Twineth.
Rats are smart, but "Rough on Rats" beats them. Clears out Rats, Mice, Roaches, Water Bugs, Flies, Beetles, Moths, Ants, Mosquitoes, Bed-bugs, Hen Lice, Insects, Potato Bugs, Sparrows, Skunks, Weasel, Gophers, Chipmunks, Moles, Musk Rats, Jack Rabbits, Squirrels. 15c. and 25c. Druggists.
"ROUGH ON PAIN" Plaster, Porosed. 15c.
"ROUGH ON COUGHS." Coughs, colds, 25c.

ALL SKIN HUMORS CURED BY
ROUGH ON ITCH
"Rough on Itch" Ointment cures Skin Humors, Pimples, Flesh Worms, Ring Worm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Itch, Ivy Poison, Barber's Itch, Scald Head, Eczema. 50c. Drug. or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City.

ROUGH ON PILES
Cures Piles or Hemorrhoids, Itching, Protruding, Bleeding. Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c. Druggists or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

One Agent (Merchant only) wanted in every town for TANSILL'S PUNCH 5¢
Offer No. 170.
FREE:—TO MERCHANTS ONLY: A three-foot French glass, oval-front Show Case. Address at once, R. W. TANSILL & CO., 55 State St., Chicago.

SUPERIOR QUALITY
ESTAB. 1824
MUSIC BOXES
1876 PHILA.
Gautschi & Sons
1030 Chestnut St.
PHILADELPHIA + SEND STAMP FOR CATALOGUE.

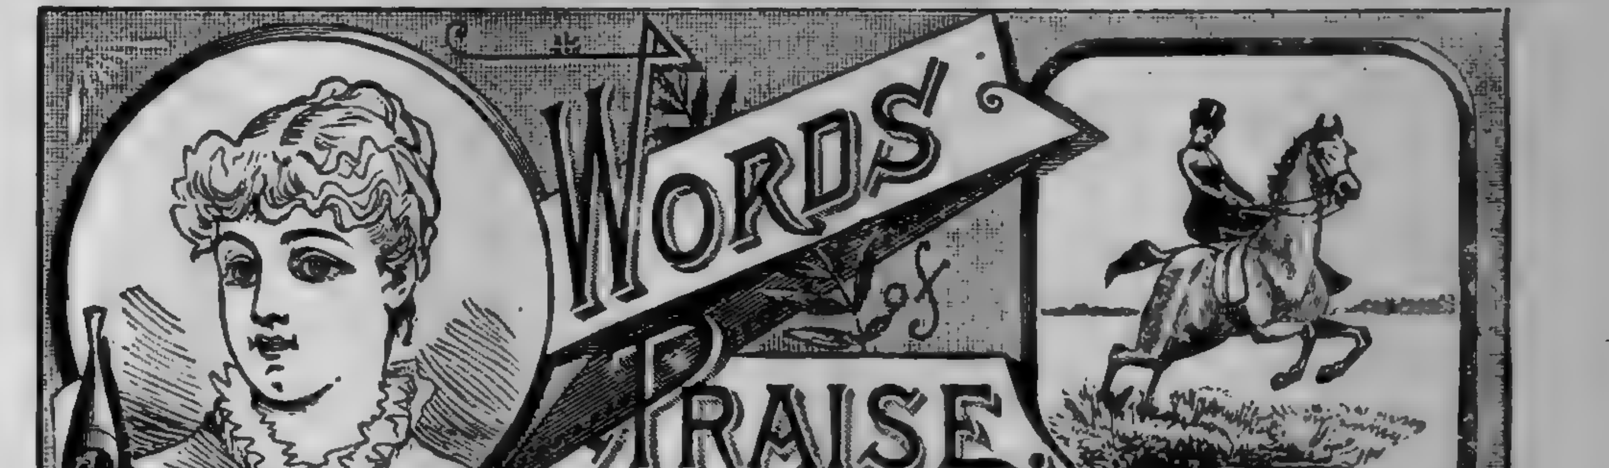
J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

GOLDSMITH & SULLIVAN'S
Business College!
Fitten Building, ATLANTA, GA. Most practical College South. Best course at least cost. Send for catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.
Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.
$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50 FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.
GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND TRADE MARK
None genuine unless stamped with the above TRADE MARK.
SLICKER Is The Best Waterproof Coat Ever Made.
Don't waste your money on a gum or rubber coat. The FISH BRAND SLICKER is absolutely water and wind proof, and will keep you dry in the hardest storm. Ask for the "FISH BRAND" slicker and take no other. If your storekeeper does not have the "FISH BRAND", send for descriptive catalogue to A. J. TOWER, 20 Simmons St., Boston, Mass.



WORDS of PRAISE.

The following words, in praise of DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. They are fair samples of the spontaneous expressions with which thousands give utterance to their sense of gratitude for the inestimable boon of health which has been restored to them by the use of this world-famed medicine.

$100 THROWN AWAY.
JOHN E. SEGAR, of Millenbeck, Va., writes: "My wife had been suffering for two or three years with female weakness, and had paid out one hundred dollars to physicians without relief. She took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did her more good than all the medicine given to her by the physicians during the three years they had been practicing upon her."

THE GREATEST EARTHLY BOON.
MRS. GEORGE HERGER, of Westfield, N. Y., writes: "I was a great sufferer from leucorrhea, bearing-down pains, and pain continually across my back. Three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' restored me to perfect health. I treated with Dr. ——, for nine months, without receiving any benefit. The 'Favorite Prescription' is the greatest earthly boon to us poor suffering women."

THREW AWAY HER SUPPORTER.
MRS. SOPHIA F. BOSWELL, White Cottage, O., writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of your 'Pellets.' I am doing my work, and have been for some time. I have had to employ help for about sixteen years before I commenced taking your medicine. I have had to wear a supporter most of the time; this I have laid aside, and feel as well as I ever did."

IT WORKS WONDERS.
MRS. MAY GLEASON, of Nunica, Ottawa Co., Mich., writes: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has worked wonders in my case." Again she writes: "Having taken several bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I have regained my health wonderfully, to the astonishment of myself and friends. I can now be on my feet all day, attending to the duties of my household."

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.
Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

3 PHYSICIANS FAILED.
MRS. E. F. MORGAN, of No. 71 Lexington St., East Boston, Mass., says: "Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room alone. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and using the local treatment recommended in his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I commenced to improve at once. In three months I was perfectly cured, and have had no trouble since. I wrote a letter to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them, and enclosing a stamped-envelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I have described my case and the treatment used, and have earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a great many I have received second letters of thanks, stating that they had commenced the use of 'Favorite Prescription,' had sent the $1.50 required for the 'Medical Adviser,' and had applied the local treatment so fully and plainly laid down therein, and were much better already."

JEALOUS DOCTORS.
A Marvelous Cure.—MRS. G. F. SPRAGUE, of Crystal, Mich., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhea and falling of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a good part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no lasting benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that if he would get me some of your medicines, I would try them against the advice of my physician. He got me six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took three bottles of 'Discovery' and four of 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a sound woman for four years. I then gave the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years."

THE OUTGROWTH OF A VAST EXPERIENCE.
The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments. As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. [illegible]

[illegible] cures nausea, weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating and eructations of gas. As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing at monthly periods, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

In pregnancy, "Favorite Prescription" is a "mother's cordial," relieving nausea, weakness of stomach and other distressing symptoms common to that condition. If its use is kept up in the latter months of gestation, it so prepares the system for delivery as to greatly lessen, and many times almost entirely do away with the sufferings of that trying ordeal. "Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women sold, by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. [illegible]

Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 [illegible]
2 Inches	7 00	11 50	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	28 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION.' TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1887. NUMBER 5.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

GOTHAM'S "JOSS."

A MIGHTY CHINESE IDOL IN NEW YORK.

How Kwan Goon is Quartered in Mott Street—The God's Appearance, Surroundings and Worshipers.

It doesn't matter how cold the weather is, or how generally disagreeable it is, the sidewalks of Mott street and the roadway itself are always filled with Chinamen. You have to make your way through great numbers of these indiscriminately scattered figures, who always seem as though a slight jar would jostle them over, and when you get to the steps of No. 18 you find generally a group of them staying patiently just where they seem to have been put. When the weather is anything like fine, there is generally a Chinaman sitting on the top of the steps in a chair which seems to have got there by accident. He is a fat and shiny-faced Chinaman, and his oblique little eyes are staring off into a dreamy vacancy. Not the slightest intimation that he is aware of your existence does he give you as you stumble up the crooked steps to him. He sees you enter the hallway with the same indifference with which he saw you mount the steps.

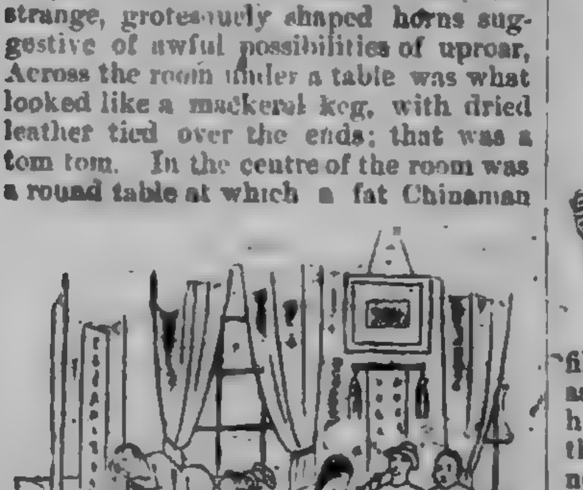
If Joss is holding a reception of any kind you have only to follow your nose to find him. The pungent odor of Joss sticks and burning paper and incense creeps down a grimy staircase up which you are to go. At the top of it you find yourself at a door gorgeously decorated with red and yellow and green paint, like the front of a Thompson street Italian barber shop. Knock on this door and it will open about four inches and let you see a curious weazened little face, with skin like tanned leather, two fierce little black eyes, and a sharp, narrow little head, with a mass of coarse long hair flaring out from it in all directions and as black as ink. If you pass the scrutiny of this face you are led into a dark little anteroom. Out of this room a door opens into another, which is well lighted and comparatively cheerful. This is the church, the Joss room, and the club room of the Lun Gee Tong Society.

KWAN GOON, THE MIGHTY.

"The Lun Gee Tong is a very ancient society in China," said a Chinaman who was there yesterday, and it is something like the Free Masons. The sign are different, and the ritual varies from that of the Free Masons as known here, but it has many points in common. We have about 5,000 members here in New York, and all who get in have to pay an initiation fee. It was the society that set up the Joss here. It is a private Joss—that is, it belongs to the society. There is a public Joss up at 202 Chatham square."

High up on the front room of the wall was a framed picture of Masonic emblems, the two pillars surmounted by globes and resting on a tessellated pavement, the square and compass, the eternal vigilant eye, and, in large red letters, the words: "IN GOD WE TRUST."

Just under this picture, built up about three feet from the floor, was a platform spread over with mats, and stretched out on these mats, with a little glass peanut oil lamp between them, were two able-bodied Celestials invigorating their constitutions by smoking opium. On the west side of the wall was a cheap mirror, with a switch of red cloth hung around its top, and on the same wall, and on the other side of the door leading into the anteroom, there was grouped upon the wall, like a collection of armor, a tastefully arranged array of the weapons with which the Celestials produce these appalling combinations of noise which they refer to as music—long, spidery-looking banjos, bamboo wind instruments, and strange, grotesquely shaped horns suggestive of awful possibilities of uproar. Across the room under a table was what looked like a mackerel keg, with dried leather tied over the ends; that was a tom tom. In the centre of the room was a round table at which a fat Chinaman sat gazing intently on a counting machine before him. A dead silence reigned over everything, broken only by the gurgling of the opium pipes and the soft whistling of the wind through the little stove to the chimney. The floor was covered with bright linoleum, and the walls were newly papered. There was a very tidy air about everything, even to the opium divan.



THE CHAPEL AND OPIUM ROOM.

But this was only the common room, devoted to opium sociability and Christian religious services. The splendid apartment was the back parlor opening into the front room through broad sliding doors, which were thrown wide apart. Over this doorway there is an inscription in large gilt tea-box characters on a background of green, and this inscription, being interpreted, reads: "GREETING OF THE WHOLE ORDER TO HIS HOLINESS."

To the right of the doorway, on a strip of red a foot wide, and reaching from the ceiling to the floor, is the inscription, also in Chinese characters, of course: "The holy writings as they appeared before myriads of people."

On the left side of the doorway on a similar strip of bright red is this: "And he shall continue forevermore through thousands and thousands of years."

The effect of this little pagan temple of worship as seen from the front room is dramatic and picturesque. The room is jealously darkened, the rear window being not only painted, but covered with thick curtains. On the floor is a thick Brussels carpet of a large, sombre, red and black figure. Ranged along each side of the wall are rows of large square-backed chairs of a black polished wood as hard as iron, and richly carved in grotesque designs. The walls are handsomely papered, and from the ceiling close to the doorway hang two great pagoda-like lanterns.

THE SHRINE.

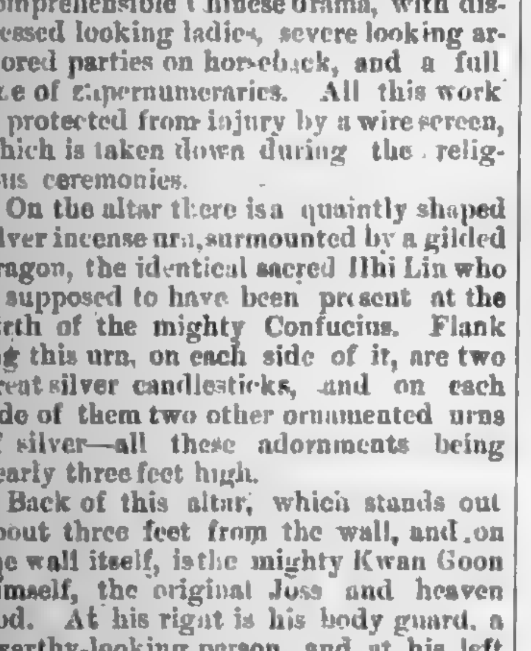
But the central glory of all is of course the massive gilded shrine of the mighty Kwan Goon, before whom all good Chinamen, even those who are Christianized, stand with reverence. The altar table is of the same black iron-like wood of the chairs—that is, so much of it as is of wood. Its general effect is a glittering mass of gold and silver. The front is a solid piece of figures in relief, all of gold, and forming a series of allegories.

The first group in the upper left hand corner represents industry. A laborer is leading a donkey into the fields, and astride the donkey is a pudgy clump of gold which is supposed to represent a boy. Near by is another laborer, and he is leading still another clumpy boy by the hand, much against the young gentleman's wishes. A Dr. monopolist is sitting in the doorway of his house, looking with grim indifference upon this touching scene of reluctance to work for a living.

Then after this allegory is the allegory of Wisdom. A sage is seated by a stream engaged in the peaceful occupation of fishing, and as he fishes he pulls his long, flowing beard and lectures to a number of awe-stricken persons, who seem to be taking in all his stories about the fish he has caught as solid truths. Below all this, and reaching clear across the altar front, is a scene from some weird and incomprehensible Chinese drama, with distressed looking ladies, severe looking armored parties on horseback, and a full line of supernumeraries. All this work is protected from injury by a wire screen, which is taken down during the religious ceremonies.

On the altar there is a quaintly shaped silver incense urn, surmounted by a gilded dragon, the identical sacred Hhi Lin who is supposed to have been present at the birth of the mighty Confucius. Flanking this urn, on each side of it, are two great silver candlesticks, and on each side of them two other ornamented urns of silver—all these adornments being nearly three feet high.

Back of this altar, which stands out about three feet from the wall, and on the wall itself, is the mighty Kwan Goon himself, the original Joss and heaven god. At his right is his body guard, a swarthy-looking person, and at his left is a bland and sleek-faced young man, who is his secretary. John Hay is the name of the body guard. There is nothing low down about the appearance of Kwan Goon himself, and if it were not for his expression of absolutely idiotic self-conceit he might pass for a decent enough sort of Joss. Before him there burns an eternal gas jet, and a bowl full of sand on the opposite side of him is filled with stubs of Joss sticks and the ashes of counterfeit money offered up in his honor. Standing close to his feet are three teacups filled with noi moi due, and noi-moi due is a kind of Chinese wine whereof a barrel might be drank with impunity, so far as any fear of intoxication is concerned. Kwan Goon never takes any himself, but the article is constantly kept there in case he might want it, as is also a quantity of orange peel, sweetened dough and other delicacies. Kwan Goon and his body guard and secretary, it should be borne in mind, are all painted in very bright colors on the same rice paper.

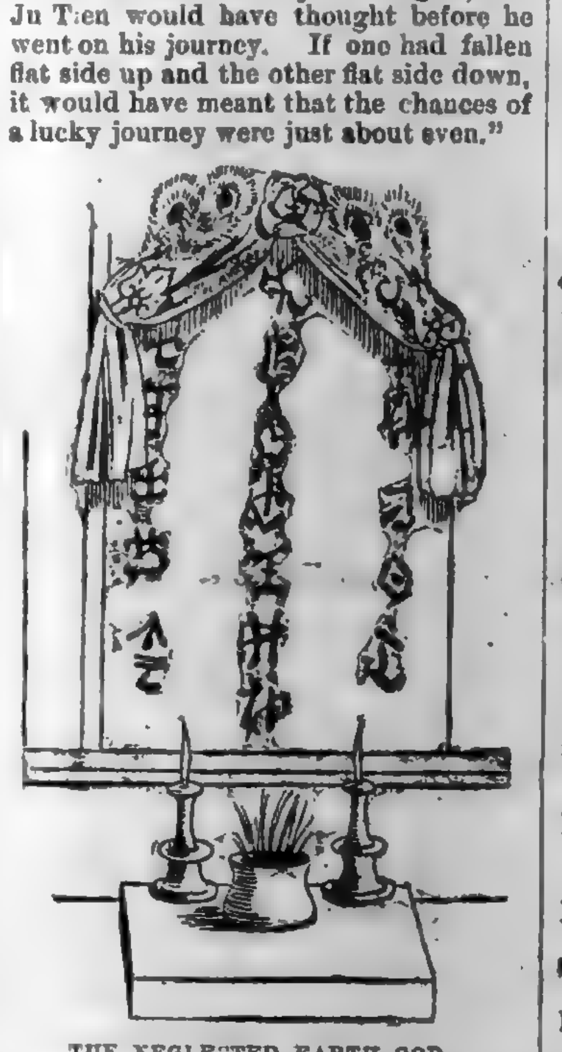


HHI LIN, THE DRAGON.

'Way down on the floor in one corner, to the left of the mighty Kwan Goon, is a shield of yellow paper with Chinese characters all over it, and on a shabby little bit of board in front of it a bowl of sand, with the remains of a few burned joss sticks in front. This is the shrine of a sort of a cad of a Joss, who looks after the earth and has nothing to do with heavenly affairs. The inscriptions tell about his influence on the crops and the mining industries, but he has little weight, and is only half recognized, for fear Kwan Goon, who is of a jealous disposition, might get offended and play hob with the fan tan and other little games wherein powers unseen work revenges on irreligious Chinamen.

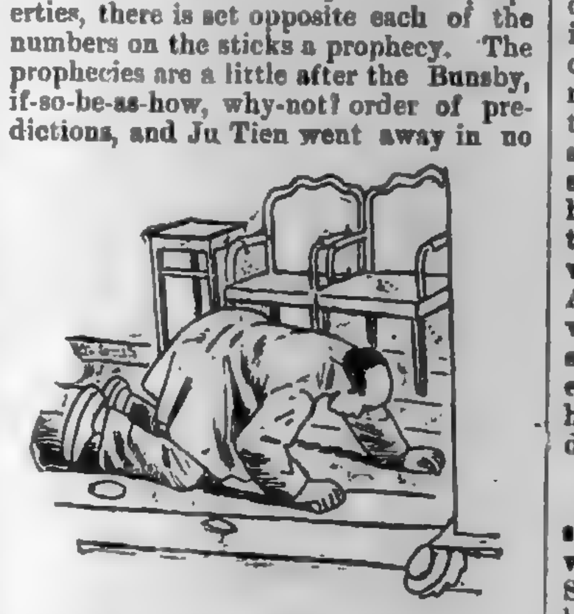
Not only are regular Pagan ceremonies held at the altar of Kwan Goon, but individual Chinamen are continually going to it to offer up their prayers, and particularly to invoke the Joss to tell them as to the prospects of any enterprises they have on foot coming to a successful issue. For this latter purpose there rest upon the altar two little blocks of wood somewhat crescent shaped and flat on one side and rounded on the other. While the opium pipes were softly gurgling yesterday, and the sleek Chinaman at the centre table was somnolently fumbling with the grimy counters before him, the door from the outer world quietly opened and two dainty little Celestials sidled in in a modest, deprecating sort of way. Ju Tien was the name of one and Wye Jap was the other. Both of them gave the sleek man at the table a sing-song greeting, which he sleepily returned. Neither of them liked reporters, and they distinctly turned up their noses at one who was present, after which they went into the joss room, for they had come on business. It was Ju Tien who had the business, and Wye Jap had come along for company, and he made himself useful by serving as a screen to keep off the eyes of the foreign devil, while Ju Tien gathered Joss's views about going to Middletown to embark in the laundry business. To do this he knelt on both knees before the altar, taking in each hand one of the cresent-shaped pieces of wood. These he knocked softly together while he prayed in a whisper, and at the end of his prayer he let both the bits of wood fall to the floor. They fell with the flat side up. This meant, as the interpreter explained, that good luck would attend the Middletown trip, and that the sooner Ju Tien set out for there the better.

"If the pieces of wood had fallen flat side down," said the interpreter, "it would have been a very bad omen, and Ju Tien would have thought before he went on his journey. If one had fallen flat side up and the other flat side down, it would have meant that the chances of a lucky journey were just about even."



THE NEGLECTED EARTH GOD.

But Ju Tien wasn't satisfied with one assurance of good luck, and wanted another. On the altar in a jar were a hundred or more thin sticks about eight inches long and a quarter of an inch wide. Ju Tien went to this jar and, muttering some more prayers, closed his eyes and took one of the sticks from the jar at random. On each of the sticks is inscribed a number, and in a book of fate, which is one of the joss house properties, there is set opposite each of the numbers on the sticks a prophecy. The prophecies are a little after the Bunsby, if-so-be-as-how, why-not? order of predictions, and Ju Tien went away in no manner discouraged as to his proposed journey. Both he and Wye Jap toddled out of the room quite radiant, wheezing and whining in the most social way, and even forgetting to bestow any more scorn on the stray reporter.



JU TIEN ASKS ADVICE.

"It is only members of the Lun Gee Tong Society," explained the interpreter, "who have the privilege of invoking Joss in this way here or, in fact, of visiting these rooms. But a Chinaman rarely makes any move of importance without going through that ceremony to see how it is going to come out. As Ju Tien did there, they burn a few joss sticks to pay Kwan for his trouble, and go away quite satisfied with the result."—New York Sun.

A Narrow Escape.

There were three of them on the back platform of a car, and two of them seemed to be well acquainted. They were talking about the weather when one of them addressed the third man with:

"Don't you think that all indications point to a very se——"

"Hush!" interrupted his friend, as he touched his arm.

"Why, what's up?"

"That man is a lawyer, and if he gives you his opinion on next winter it'll cost you $5."—New York Sun.

A Doubtful Accommodation.

Browne's employer was calling attention to the sales of another traveling man, and intimating that he ought to try and do as well.

"I tell you what it is," said Brown, "it's all in the territory a man has to travel. Now any fool could sell goods in that territory."

"Well," replied the merchant thoughtfully, "I think I will start you out on that route next month."—Merchant Traveler.

ANTICIPATION.

Our lives are mostly passed in dim to-morrows
Whose only light shines on them from to days
Reflected by ourselves, and much or little
According as our brightness throws the rays.

If we remain to-day within the shadow
The morrow looms up darkly in our sight,
But if the sunlight shine out full upon us,
The coming day conceals all but the bright.
—C. M. Hammond.

A DAY IN NEW YORK.

A NOVEL EXPERIENCE.

The stranger from Chicago, in very truth, had just parted with his last five cents—no, not to relieve a beggar in the street, as heroes of romance sometimes do, but for a rank ham sandwich, which, though soled and uppered with day before yesterday's roll, and veneered with mustard of singular ferocity, had been to him as modern manna in the great wilderness of New York. Just from Chicago, he had, on the train, been robbed of his satchel and purse, and was now penniless in a strange city, knowing absolutely no one. A member of his family, who had intended traveling with him, was detained, and would not arrive until the following evening. He had no jewelry, but he was well dressed, well read, and a student of human nature.

"Too proud to beg, too honest to steal,
He must have a bed, he must have a meal."

"This is certainly an experience," he murmured, as, in the pleasant summer night, he sauntered under the electric lights that gemmed Madison Square; "and one that would have made Mark Tapley howl with hilarity. I'll see for the next twenty-four hours what audacity, dress and address can do in the big metropolis." Down Broadway, past the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the mammoth transparency and the electric clock which never went; down past the hotel where Bartholdi should have stopped and didn't; down opposite the photographer's window, where stage kings and queens elbowed the real article, whose chances for continuous royalty seem almost as ephemeral, and so to the Union Square. The park looked calm and beautiful.

The Lochinvar from Chicago selected an empty bench, and sat down. Little squads of people in twos and threes moved past him rapidly, mostly upward bound. A couple paused opposite him, irresolute.

"Let's sit down a moment, Jack. I'm tired. Why didn't we ride?"

"Can't afford it."

"Humph! If we hadn't walked you wouldn't have lent that man that quarter." The lady was petite, stylish in appearance, with diamond earrings, a tailor-made suit, and a French bonnet perched upon suspiciously blonde hair. Her companion was tall, black-haired, smooth-faced, gloomy, and wore a check suit and a tall white hat. Theatrical people who had been to see a new play, undoubtedly.

"Jack, what do you think of the play?"

"No Good."

"That climax of the second act was pretty good."

"Stolen bodily from seven different sources!"

"We ought to have played those two leading parts, Jack."

"Oh, they'll have to send for us yet. If they don't, I'll give the play just two weeks." He rummaged in his pockets and pulled out a purse and some memorandum books, from one of which a bit of paper fluttered, unnoticed, to the ground. "By Jove, Jennie, I've forgotten my key. We'll have to ride, after all." And, hailing one of the bad bargains of Jacob Sharp, they were whirled away.

The piece of paper attracted the Chicago wanderer's attention. He picked it up and read: "——Opera House, account of Mr.——. Admit two. Matinee, Saturday, June——." "Perhaps they may return for it," he thought, and slipped it in his pocket. "This is really sylvan," murmured his impecuniosity, as he inserted his legs beneath the bars of the bench and reclined at full length, with the added merit of costing nothing. A man might spend a summer night to worse advantage than under the cool shadows of the trees, and with the softened sound of the car bells to remind him of Gray's dreamy Arcadia, "where drowsy tinklings lull the distant folds."

But he was mistaken.

Gradually he nodded, and at length he slept, and dreamed—dreamed that he was a prisoner in the court of the Turkish Sultan, who was just ordering him to be bastinadoed for daring to introduce base ball into the royal harem. Heavens! He was seized by four monstrous eunuchs, and thrown upon his back, while his bare feet were held soles upward. Whack, whack, whack!

There was something strangely realistic about this dream!

Whack, whack, whack! He writhed in torture, turned to the eunuchs to protest, and awoke. Whack, whack, whack! "Givan out o' this!" The accent was more suggestive of Cork than Constantinople. Heavens! he was wide awake, and a gray-coated park policeman was banging away at the soles of his feet, endeavoring to telescope him with a club. "Here, here! What are you doing?" It required some serpentine turnings and twistings to release himself from his iron casing, but at last he stood upright, boiling with indignation. "What do you mean, you scoundrel, by assaulting one in that way?"

The "copper" swung his club in the maddeningly suggestive manner of his kind, as he replied, but in a tone less harsh: "It was a bit dark, sir, an' I didn't recognize ye for a gintleman."

"No, and nobody would ever recognize you for one."

"Aisy, now, aisy, or I'll run ye in."

A night in the station house! That would indeed solve the difficulty regarding free lodgings, but not satisfactorily.

"I'll report you in the morning."

"Now, don't ye give me no back-talk. You've got no influence. You're no [illegible] Yorker."

"How do you know that?"

"D'ye think a New Yorker 'd dare call a policeman a scoundrel? Go on, now, before I hurt ye." A push facilitated the Chicago man's departure. He felt a terrible sense of humiliation as he walked slowly with aching feet down Fourth avenue to [illegible]—"The Land of the Midnight Sun."

That land is surely the Bowery. Music, bar-room, noisy and beery revelers, fruit stands lit by smoking torches, electric and incandescent lights by thousands, punctuated here and there with gaudy glass lamps, brilliantly illuminated and displaying announcements of hotels with high-sounding names and low sounding prices: "Beds, 25 cents; single rooms, 35 cents; gents only.

No, none of these, even if he had the means. Better the open air. But he cannot, footsore as he is, walk about all night. Down through Chatham square and into Park Row he passed. The whirr of the morning paper presses was just beginning, while lights in every window, and a busy flitting to and fro, proclaimed that the events of the day throughout the world were there being photographed for history. He walked wearily about until two o'clock, having tried, in vain, to sleep upon the benches in City Hall Park. Then a thought struck him. He was passing the Brooklyn bridge entrance as a dozen or so of people came thence and hailed a Third avenue car marked "Harlem." He entered with them, ensconsed himself in a corner, closed his eyes, leaned back, and awaited the worst. The party had been to a wedding in Brooklyn, and were proportionately merry. One man persisted in paying for all, amid the usual effusive objections. The recording bell pealed forth merrily, and our friend felt the conductor's hand upon his arm.

"Fare, please?"

"Well, how many times do you want my fare?"

"Beg pardon, sir; I thought—," and the conductor retired. The western waif rode to Harlem, and slept all the way, though with a troubled conscience.

But then? He stood on Harlem bridge and gazed moodily into the water. A steady tramp of feet caused him to look around. They were the passengers from the east who reached New York at that weird hour by way of Harlem bridge. There were only half a dozen of them, and they were making frantic efforts to gain the elevated railroad station at One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street. A woman was among them, and she turned, when on the middle of the bridge, and addressed a man who walked closely behind her.

"How dare you speak to me, sir!"

"That's all right, my dear miss. No harm intended. I only offered to escort you."

"You insolent puppy, you've done nothing but insult me since I left Bridgeport. I only wish my husband was here."

The stranger from Chicago crossed over to where she stood, as her pursuer slunk away. "Can I be of any service, madam?" The lady gazed at him, with a pathetic look in her pretty gray eyes. "I wish to go to the Windsor Hotel to await my husband, but I am a stranger in the city and have been so insulted—"

"You can trust me to escort you, madame, if you will.

She places her hand on his arm with a child-like confidence. He relieves her of her satchel, and they are on the stairs of the elevated road. Good heavens! he is penniless! But she has taken a dime from her well-filled purse. "No, no, madam, I cannot allow you to. I protest—" But, much to his gratification, his little "bluff" was unsuccessful, and they were soon in the cars. They left the train, at Forty-seventh street. He saw her safely registered at the Windsor, accepted meekly her protestations of gratitude and her husband's card, and caught a last glimpse of her in the elevator, flying upward—as an angel should.

The night clerk was airily polite. "Want a room yourself, I suppose?" said that functionary, as he whirled the register like a pivot gun.

"Thank you, no. Had too much sleep lately. Reckon I'll sit down in the reading room and think." He did so, and slept undisturbed until 7 o'clock, in a velvet cushioned chair. When he awoke he descended to the palatial wash room, freshened himself up with hot and cold water and scented soap from a marble basin, dried his face and hands on a spick span clean towel, ignored the porter with his whisk broom and desire for a dime, dodged the bootblack with rare science, and stood in the street, feeling like a four-time winner.

Now for breakfast and the morning paper?

He strolled down a side street filled with fashionable houses. In the doorway of these he saw an assortment of papers that had been left by the carrier. The household was not yet astir. He coolly ascended the steps, sat down with deliberation and read for half an hour. Then, refolding the journals, he left them as he had found them and sauntered on. Soon he had formulated a plan for breakfast, not more daring than the exigencies of the occasion demanded.

He selected the handsomest hotel in the vicinity, walked boldly in, examined the register critically, uttered an exclamation of pleasure, took a handful of toothpicks, strolled into the bar and out again, passed up a flight of marble steps, placed his hat upon an extension hat-rack, fished out some letters and telegrams from his pocket, to look business-like, nodded loftily to the head waiter, who stood at the entrance of the cosey breakfast room, was obsequiously shown to a choice seat, and, to a bending servitor he gave his breakfast order. And such an order! Quality and quantity were both represented, and he ate with an appetite in no way lessened by the thought that the meal would, probably, be digested in jail. The waiter! He expected a "tip." So well served a breakfast deserved one. The head waiter? He stood on guard at the door. What if he had the hotel detective lurking in the shadow!

To push back his chair, rise with dignity, brush a few crumbs from his coat and walk out, coolly ignoring the expectant waiter was no easy task. How long that dining room seemed. Ah! He knew now the feelings of the condemned criminal in his walk to the gallows, only here there was no friendly arm to lean upon. The threshold was crossed at last, and he seized his hat, only to be chilled to the marrow by feeling the head waiter's breath upon the back of his neck.

"What room, sir, please?"

"Ninety-nine," he replied, at random, his nerves bracing to the situation. He strolled down the steps, went out at the front door, turned the first corner, and ran like a thief.

He felt like one, too.

The balance of the morning he passed in the reading room of the Cooper Union, perusing many interesting and instructive books, but none which taught him how to still his conscience. "Pshaw!" he exclaimed, as he once more trod the streets; "when I'm in funds, I'll pay for the breakfast and everything else." At 1:30 o'clock he stood on the corner of Broadway, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street.

It was Saturday, and the junction of the three great thoroughfare—the busiest in the United States—was alive with carriages, cars, pedestrians on business and pedestrians on pleasure bent. Stylish women and girls, bound matineeward, added pictorial beauty to the scene, with their exquisite toilets, rosebuds under their dainty chins, daisies topping their summer hats, and their fleecy garments rivaling the sunset clouds in color and texture. An omnibus, chartered by an enterprising business firm to convey their patrons far over to the west side free of charge, stood at the corner. With a chuckle of delight at his own audacity he took a seat within it. Alighting after a long ride at the door of the establishment, he walked quietly down the avenue and entered the Grand Opera House. With much inward trepidation, but presenting an outward show of virtuous confidence, combined with a certain air of lofty scorn, which he rightly surmised to be a concomitant of the theatrical character, he was about offering to the doorkeeper the pass which he had picked up in the park, when his eye fell upon its original owner, who, with his fashionably dressed lady, stood disconsolately without the gate. There was but one thing to be done.

"Beg pardon, but this pass is yours, I think, sir?" The Thespian smiled joyously.

"Certainly, sir, it is; but how—?"

"I sat near you in the park last evening, found this where you had been sitting, and fancied that I should find you here."

"You are very kind, I'm sure. Are you an actor?"

The stranger from Chicago thought of Shakespeare: "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players." And he unblushingly replied: "I am."

"Then I'll see if Business Manager Matthews would give you a seat." That official did so, and, though separated from his new found friends, the penniless pilgrim from the Lake City saw an excellent play, in which it was demonstrated that all the poor people were saints and all the rich ones sinners. It was evident that the author of that play had never been in an impecunious condition.

Six o'clock! Our friend was getting hungry again. Breakfast will not last a man forever. His brother would not arrive in Jersey City before 9 o'clock. It was a long, long walk down to City Hall, but he arrived there at last, noting on his way how cheap everything seemed—when a person was penniless. Strolling toward Cortland street ferry, he saw a brilliantly lighted saloon. He entered. It was richly decorated, and a throng of gentlemen were busily engaged imbibing, arguing, and examining the really valuable art treasures upon the walls. A large table near the door was covered with a tempting lunch, free, of course, to those who purchased wet goods in the establishment. How appetizing it looked, with the snowy cloth and neatly folded napkins! Hot soup, radishes, sliced tomatoes, cold ham and tongue, pickled mussels, delicate pats of butter, a bewildering array of bread and crackers, three or four kinds of cheese, and a noble joint of cold roast beef. The nervy waif from the West sauntered slowly in among the throng. He examined the pictures critically, took a clove, wiped his mouth ostentatiously as he approached the lunch counter, and then pitched in. He sampled nearly everything. Once, when he felt that the basilisk eye of a barkeeper was on him, he only cut up an extra slice of beef, and gayly hummed "Rock-a-Bye, Baby," with his mouth full and his knees trembling in fear. Another trying ordeal of passing nonchalantly through an ordinary, everyday door, and he was safely in the street once more.

Washington market on a Saturday night is a sight not to be forgotten. The stranger had hours in which to view its peculiarities before train time. He must cross the ferry and meet his brother at nine as he alighted from the train, for he did not know at what hotel his relative meant to stop at or what ferry he intended to cross. But—

The ferry pass!

Only three cents! He wouldn't beg. He was too near the goal for that.

"Hey, Rahway Jake, are you agoin' over de ferry soon?"

"Yass, goin' now; right away."

"Den I'll drive over wid yer." It was a large farmer's wagon covered with canvas. As the Jerseyman and the butcher's boy were climbing on to the front, their unseen Chicago friend crawled softly into the back of the vehicle and crouched down into the straw. When the fares had been paid, and the boat reached, he slipped out as quietly, dusted himself off with his handkerchief, and entered the cabin. The train was on time. The brothers returned to New York in a carriage, and drove to the very hotel which the impecunious one had left with fear and trembling. His first act was to liquidate every financial obligation he had incurred, even to the ferryboat, horse car and theatre.—Boston Herald.

A Mouse Nest in a Window Curtain.

A family party was sitting at a dinner when one of the children noticed that a mouse was slowly and carefully toiling up the damask window curtain with something in its mouth. The little creature was not disturbed, says a writer in Chatterbox, but was carefully watched till she disappeared in a fold of the curtain. After awhile she emerged and ran down to the floor, and so disappeared. On examining the curtain, four very little mice were found in one of the folds, which formed a kind of pouch, and would have been comfortable enough without any lining; but Mrs. Mouse had not thought so, for she had placed in the fold some soft wool stolen out of a rent in a sofa cushion. The following day all the little mice had disappeared; the mother mouse evidently knew that her nest had been discovered, and was no longer a safe dwelling place for her family.

The koyeo tree, from which the Japanese paper is made, is rapidly becoming extinct.

TO-MORROW.

Bind up a wreath and give it me
Before this dull day closes,
And in the garland let there be
The thorns as well as roses;
Weave violets in and greenest bays,
Weave willow for my sorrow,
Sad flowers for the yesterdays,
White lilies for to-morrow.

White lilies, for they tell of peace
Beyond the gates of even,
Where whispers of the soul's release
Seem mystic hints of heaven,
And yesterday—but that has gone,
And so I needs must borrow
A hope of that swift-coming dawn,
The promise of to-morrow.

For evermore to-morrow lends
Bright visions of completeness;
True lovers, and the steadfast friends
With faces full of sweetness:
But backward all seems dim and gray
And vaguely touched with sorrow;
I care not for your yesterday
If I may have to-morrow.

The past is past—ah! dead indeed,
I weep not for its going.
Its phantoms weird no more I heed
Than west winds wildly blowing;
Press onward, aye! and upward, heart,
While I my gladness borrow,
For Hope and I shall never part
While I can have to-morrow.
—Ernest M'Gaffey, in the Inter-Ocean.

PITH AND POINT.

During a storm it is all up with an umbrella.

The hornet always manages to keep his end up.

Odd, isn't it, that fast colors never run!—Tid Bits.

"Does he go by machinery?" inquired a little girl who saw a dude on a bicycle passing.—New Haven News.

It is not every bicycle rider who can lower the record, but it is a poor bicycle that cannot lower the rider.—Philadelphia Call.

"I think I'll give this country the shake," remarked the malaria, as if preparing for business.—Washington Critic.

"I cannot be content with less than heaven,"
Said Mr. Bailey, a poet of much worth.
Not so modest be as many later,
Who would be satisfied with the earth.
—Life.

"In literature there seems to be a man constantly catching our ideas," said a writer. "Yes," some one rejoined, "and the trouble is that he catches them before you do."

"What do you sell that ribbon for?" asked a young lady in a dry goods store. "Eight dollars a week—oh, beg pardon—50 cents a yard, miss."—Washington Critic.

"Lay off your overcoat or your won't feel it when you go out," said a landlord of a Western inn to a guest who was sitting by the fire. "The last time I was here I left off my overcoat. I didn't feel it when I went out, and I haven't felt it since."—Industrial World.

LET HIM QUIT.

"As this changeful world you go traveling through,
With its mixture of wrong and of right,
Be sure that you give all sympathies to
The under dog in the fight."

This all is very well as it goes to be sure,
But it seems for this comment to call;
The dog that is under is foolish, by thunder,
To be in the fight at all!—Boston Courier.

Reuben Radway's Refined Romance Respecting Rhoda Remington.

Reuben Radway reared roses, red radishes, rutabagas, raspberries, rue, rosemary, rhododendrons; raised rustic racks round rural retreats.

Rhoda Remington raveled rugs, ripped roundabouts, rolled rags, read romances, runic rhymes; rambled round rugged ruins.

Rhoda's respectable relatives rented Reuben's rear rooms, rare, retired, restful, refined retreat! Radiant red roses, ravishing radishes ran riot, royal ranunculas rustled ragged robbins reared rebelliously, reed rattans, running rare-ripes reveled.

Recent rains rendered Reuben restless, rutabagas rotted, red radishes rusted, Reuben's ruler reduced Reuben's rates. Reuben rebelled, resisted roughly, resented rudely, resigned.

Remembering Rhoda's ragged rugs, Reuben reckoned raveling rugs repaid.

Relentless rains roared, railroads rumbled, ruin rioted ravenously, reductions resulted.

Rhoda, rarely raveling rugs, rashly ransacked rank roofless ruins; read rural romances; reclined; rested.

Reuben rapidly reaping ripe rye, reaches Rhoda's retreat.

Rare, radiant, rosy Rhoda retires, rambles round, rallies, returns.

Rascally Reuben, raking rank rye, regards Rhoda; raves, recapitulates, recounts.

Reluctant Rhoda refuses, reflects, regards Reuben reproachfully, remorsefully. Reuben remonstrates, Rhoda retorts resentfully, Reuben retreats, repleads.

Rhoda reconsiders, replies, retaining Reuben's ring, ribbons, roses, raven ringlets, renders Reuben reparation.

Reuben's ruler relents, ruin retires, relatives, Rhoda, Reuben rejoice.

Rash reader's run—reunion results.—The Colonel.

Nebraska Corn Cobs.

It is claimed that a coal famine is imminent, and that Western families will have to burn corn cobs this winter. This is not overly encouraging to drouth-stricken Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin, where there is nothing but cobs three inches long, but for Nebraska, where the cobs are used for baseball bats, we contemplate the famine with a remarkable degree of composure. As long as the festive cob maintains its present mammoth proportions, coal diggers may strike and coal dealers may pool, the Nebraska hearth will still be warm and cosy.—North Bend (Neb.) Flail.

The World's Death Rate.

The death rate of the world is computed about 67 a minute, 97,700 a day, and 35,[illegible] a year; while the birth rate is 70 a minute, 100,800 a [illegible] and 36,7[illegible] a year.—[illegible]

As a [illegible] words and good [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 8, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

The Shelby Sentinel of last week contained a very sensible article proving the folly of calling the hanging of the Haymarket assassins "judicial murder."

The Age announces the arrival in Birmingham of Aaron Fischer, a brother of the noted anarchist, Adolph Fischer. The Age didn't say what Aaron was going to do in Birmingham.

The President's message to the two houses of congress appeared in the daily papers of yesterday. The message talks out for a reduction of the surplus in the treasury by lowering tariff duties.

The Montgomery Dispatch is publishing some very interesting sketches of the young public men in Alabama. It started out well by giving Col. Clem. Shorter, Barbour's favorite son, the lead.

A fire in Montgomery on Tuesday destroyed nearly $300,000 worth of property. Greil Bros. & Co., Hobbie & Teague, J. R. Warren & Co., M. Sabel & Sons, Tatum Soda Water Factory and the Merchant's Hotel were burned out.

Most's record as developed by the examination, proved him to have been punished for treason in every country where he sojourned. The maximum sentence under the law for his offense of inciting to riot is one year of imprisonment and $500 fine.

The New Orleans States reminds the blarsted Britisher that "England makes a mistake if she imagines that in the persons of Buffalo Bill and John L. Sullivan she has robbed this country of all its celebrities. We still have Luce Fairchild, the champion palsy thrower of the world."

"Duties should be levied to raise the highest revenue," is the novel position of the Montgomery Dispatch on the tariff question. It is better Democracy to levy duties for the protection of home industries. We agree with the Dispatch in regard to the abolition of the internal revenue tax on whisky and tobacco, as we would prefer to see the State collect that tax.

It is thought that Mr. Chappell Cory, of the Montgomery Advertiser, will become editor of the Anniston Hot Blast. We have heard that Mr. Cory is even now a protectionist, notwithstanding the tariff position of the Advertiser. If this be true, Mr. Cory would be a welcome acquisition to the press of North Alabama. Even though he may oppose protection, we suppose he might become a proselyte after living awhile in a greater and better part of the world.

The Fiftieth Congress met Monday. In political complexion it resembles its immediate predecessors. A working Democratic majority in the House, and with Riddleberger left out, the Senate will tie between the Democrats and Republicans. Riddleberger it is thought will generally vote with the Republicans. The most important legislation marked out for this session will be revenue reduction and disposing of the surplus in the Treasury.

You have often heard men possessed of a great deal of jackassity and conceit talk about their common sense as all the sense they had or wanted. If you will trouble yourself to notice such persons you will find that the sense they have is of a very common kind indeed. Almost any old hoosier has common sense and nothing more, while the men who move the world do so with something more than common sense, and the herd stand by with loads and loads of nothing but common sense, and wonder what it is that moves it. The man or woman who attains any marked degree of success must have something more than common sense. If the word common in this connection means anything at all it means that common sense is very common. Every man or woman can improve upon this native common sense by cultivation and observation. So don't be afraid that you may crowd out your common sense with too much education. Educated men and women rule the world.

The following is a list of newspapers in Alabama that favor, in one form or another, protection to American industries: Dailies—Mobile Register, Montgomery Dispatch, Montgomery Star, Anniston Watchman, Anniston Hot Blast, Decatur Journal, Decatur Free Lance, Huntsville Mercury, Birmingham Chronicle, Birmingham Herald, Birmingham Age. Weeklies: Huntsville Independent, Tuscumbia North Alabamian, Sheffield Enterprise, Blount County News, Talladega Reporter, Bibb Blade, Tuskegee News, Tuscaloosa Gazette, Eutaw Mirror, Russelville Idea, Shelby Sentinel, The Bessemer, Syllacauga Argus, Birmingham United Labor Union, and Chilton View.

We notice the tariff-for-revenue-only papers are getting a little sore over Senator Morgan's expression "Mahonizing Alabama." The Opelika Times and the Eutaw Whig are each disposed to think that the phrase is being brought before the public quite too often. We beg to disagree with them. We also wish to dissent in the matter of their orthography of the term "Mahonizing." Both the Times and the Whig have it "Mahoneizing." If they will permit us to turn pedagogue for a moment, we will refer them to any standard work on English grammar for authority to omit a final "e" in adding a termination beginning with a vowel. We notice that our brothers on the "protection" side know how to spell.

"Mahonizing Alabama" is a very absurd idea. If it was not, and there were any grounds for apprehension of such a catastrophe, it is not probable that Senator Morgan could prevent it any more than he will be able to accomplish the Morganizing of Alabama, which seems to be the prime object of his "present visit." We have been a charmed listener to the eloquence of Senator Morgan but that did not convert us into a belief that his economic theories were at all practicable. His record in the Senate has added some glory to his oratorical fame, without being, as far as we can perceive, of any practical benefit to the State he was sent to represent. This is the opinion of a large number of his constituents in this part of Alabama, men who admire him for his learning and glory in his powers of eloquence, yet who are unable to see wherein he has been of service to Alabama in the Senate.

The State Penitentiary.

In an interview published in the Montgomery Advertiser, Dr. B. J. Baldwin gives some good reasons for keeping up the State penitentiary at Wetumpka. Dr. Baldwin, on the request of Gov. Seay, has been attending some of the convicts who are suffering with their eyes. As the interview contains matter of general interest and is from a very prominent source, we give a portion of it herewith:

"Doctor, did you operate on any of the cases?"

"Yes, I operated on two cases and in both of these I made artificial pupils through which I hope to give them very fair sight. Two of the cases I expected to operate on were sick with fever. So I postponed operating to some future day."

"What do you think of the propriety of keeping up the penitentiary in its present shape?"

"I think it is absolutely indispensable as a recruiting station for the miserable and unfortunate creatures who break down physically in the mines and elsewhere, why the fatality among the convicts would increase twenty per cent. if it were not for the humanity of Col. Dawson in bringing these physical wrecks to the penitentiary and there restoring them to full health. I saw at least a half dozen strong, robust fellows who assured me that they could scarcely stand on their feet when they were brought by Col. Dawson from the mines. I say it is not only humanity, but it is economy for the State to maintain just such an institution and just such men as are at the head of affairs in Wetumpka.

The penitentiary building is old and far behind in modern conveniences, but it is kept with scrupulous cleanliness and in admirable order. I want to say one thing more, and that is in commendation of Gov. Seay for the interest he has shown and the active part he has taken in behalf of the friendless and unfortunate men and women behind the bars and in the coal mines.

The people whom society looks down upon with scorn and disgrace, are human after all and it is a question of wise political economy to know just what to do with them. If we treat them as human, there may be some hope. Gov. Seay looks upon the convicts, in some instances, as capable of being reformed. He is the only Governor Alabama has lately had, who looked into the abuses and vices of our convict system. He may be truly called the friend of the friendless."

OVER THE COUNTY.

News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Verbena Notes.

Mr. Willie Wells, of Verbena, and Miss Cadie Crosby, of Bozeman, were married last Thursday.

Mr. James Beall, of Sewanee, Tenn., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Thompson.

Capt. G. W. Paine has returned from Baltimore.

Mr. J. H. Bostwick and family have moved to Verbena. Mr. B. bought the John Cook farm. He will build a handsome dwelling and make other improvements.

Mr. Alfred Clisby's family of Birmingham, are spending a week here with their parents. They are on the way to Florida to Mr. C.'s orange grove to spend the winter.

The young ladies of the Methodist church are going to have a big oyster supper Friday night next, at the residence of Rev. A. A. Green, the proceeds of which will be invested in new hymn books. All are cordially invited.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Stanton Puffs.

Rev. J. M. McCord filled his appointment at the Baptist Church last Sabbath. He says he is well pleased with his new field.

It is understood that the Presbyterian pastor will protract his meeting at the next appointment.

Prof. Harwood's family has moved to our village. We extend them a hearty welcome.

Mr. Percy Gardner is spending a few days with his mother and brothers.

The Presbyterian and Baptist Sunday schools have decided to have Christmas trees. An effort will be made to consolidate, so as to have a pleasant time, once for all.

As Mr. Tom Deramus was coming to his work one morning last week he found a large o'possum that had been run over and killed by the express train.

We may not have another opportunity to say anything for the View between now and Christmas so we extend to the View and its readers a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. 89.

T. I. N. C. is not a cure all, but a quarter of a century of constant use has demonstrated beyond question that Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure is the only known infallible cure for all kinds of Neuralgia and for nervous headache. 50 cents per box. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

Mortgage Sale.

Under and by virtue of a mortgage executed by Osmon R. Bell and his wife Lena Bell to Mary A. Baker, on the 17th day of January, 1884, and duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton county, Alabama, in Vol. 10 of deeds, on page 237, the undersigned will proceed to sell at the courthouse door in Clanton, Alabama, between the legal hours of sale, at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, on Thursday, December 29th, 1887,

the following described property to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southeast quarter (s w ¼ of s e ¼) sec 36, township 22, range 14, and that tract of land described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of sec 36 t 22 r 14, running thence west to the northeast corner of block eighteen in the town of Clanton, thence south one hundred and sixty feet; thence west two hundred feet; thence south one hundred and fifty feet; thence west three hundred and fity feet, thence north three hundred and ten feet; thence west to the south east corner of block number ten, in said town of Clanton; thence south to the south line of the Northwest quarter of the North west quarter of section 1, township 21, range 14; thence east and along said line to the south east corner of the North east quarter of the North west quarter of section 1, township 21, range 14; thence North to the place of beginning, and all that part of the Northwest quarter of the south east quarter of section 36, township 22, range 14, lying and being on the south west side of the main run of Goose Pond Creek, and all lying and being in Chilton County, Alabama.

MARY A. BAKER,
WM. A. COLLIER, Att'y.
Clanton, Ala., Dec. 7th 1887. 2t

RICHLY Rewarded are those who read this and then act; they will find honorable employment that will not take them from their homes and families. The profits are large and sure for every industrious person, many have made and are now making several hundred dollars a month. It is easy for any one to make $5 and upwards per day, who is willing to work. Either sex, young or old; capital not needed; we start you. Everything new. No special ability required; you reader can do it as well as any one. Write to us at once for full particulars, which we mail free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17903 for the n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 24 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gip G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

A SPECIFIC FOR

WOMAN'S DISEASES

—SUCH AS—

Painful Profuse Suppressed Scanty and Irregular

MENSTRUATION OR MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle. Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

THE LIGHT RUNNING

NEW HOME

SEWING MACHINE

PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR.

NEVER OUT OF ORDER.

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.

CHICAGO ILL. - 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. - DALLAS, TEX.

ST. LOUIS, MO. - ATLANTA, GA. - SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

FOR SALE BY

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,
CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala., November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6679.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 2, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on December 10, 1887, viz: Joseph P. Vanderveer, homestead 14249 for the e ½ of n e ¼ sec 34 township 24 n, range 13 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jasper N. Green, Lee Busby, Felix J. Scale and Ira C. Miller, all of Clear Creek, Ala.

nov 3 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE SPRAINS CUTS RHEUMATISM AND ALL DISEASES OF MAN AND BEAST THAT CAN BE REACHED BY AN EXTERNAL MEDICAL APPLICATION

50 CENTS PER BOTTLE

ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT IS GUARANTEED TO CURE ALL FORMS OF PILES

HODGES SARSAPARILLA CURES ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM AN IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD.

T. I. N. C.

IS THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE ON EARTH FOR ALL KINDS OF NEURALGIA

SOLD EVERYWHERE

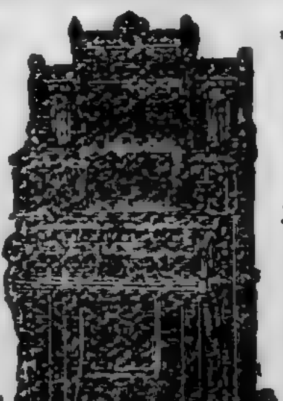
MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE-TENN.

THE

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.



OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.
Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L & N

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

THE GREAT

Through Trunk Line

Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS,

And the Cities of N. ORLEANS, MOBILE, and MONTGOM'Y, MEMPHIS, NASHVILLE,

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A. Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.
Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices.

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,
Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,
Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES.

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are without exception the cheapest books ever published in any land or language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself:

Wonders of the World, Natural and Other. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive.

Wonders of the Sea. A description of the many wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with profuse illustrations.

"A Pleasure Exertion," and Other Sketches. By "Josiah Allen's Wife." A collection of irresistibly funny sketches by the most popular humorous writer of the day.

The Aunt Keziah Papers, by Clara Augusta, author of "The Rugg Documents." A most ridiculously funny book—in every way equal to "Widow Bedott."

Christmas Stories, by Charles Dickens. Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Each one is complete.

Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, puzzles and games, for the little folks at home.

Popular Recitations and Dialogues, humorous, dramatic and pathetic, including all the latest, best and most popular.

The Self-made Men of Modern Times. Contains portraits and biographies of famous self-made Americans, from the time of Franklin to the present.

Familiar Quotations. Containing the origin and authorship of many phrases frequently met in reading and conversation. A valuable work of reference.

Low Life in New York. A series of vivid pen pictures showing the dark side of life in the great city. Illustrated.

The Road to Wealth. Not an advertising circular, but a thoroughly practical work, pointing out a way by which all may make money, easily, rapidly and honestly.

One Hundred Popular Songs, sentimental, pathetic and comic, including most of the favorites, new and old.

Sir Noel's Heir. A Novel. By Mrs. May Agnes Fleming.

A Bartered Life. A Novel. By Marion Harland.

An Old Man's Sacrifice. A Novel. By Mrs. Ann S. Stephens.

The [illegible] Hables. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

The Old Oaken Chest. A Novel. By Sylvanus Cobb, Jr.

The Pearl of the Ocean. A Novel. By Clara Augusta.

Hollow Ash Hall. A Novel. By [illegible]. Illustrated.

Cliff [illegible]. A Novel. By [illegible].

Under the [illegible]. A Novel. By the author of "[illegible] Thorne."

The Diamond Bracelet. A Novel. By [illegible] Wood. Illustrated.

The Lawyer's Secret. A Novel. By Miss M. E. Braddon.

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. A Novel. By R. L. Stevenson.

A Wicked Girl. A Novel. By Mary Cecil Hay.

Lady Valworth's Diamonds. A Novel. By "The Duchess."

Between Two Sins. A Novel. By the author of "[illegible] Thorne." Illustrated.

The Ring of [illegible]. A Novel. By B. L. Farjeon.

Doris's Fortune. A Novel. By Florence Warden.

A Low Marriage. A Novel. By Miss Mulock.

The Guilty River. A Novel. By Wilkie Collins.

The Poison of Asps. A Novel. By Florence Marryat.

Moat Grange. A Novel. By Mrs. Henry Wood.

Forging the Fetters. A Novel. By Mrs. Alexander.

A Playwright's Daughter. A Novel. By Mrs. Annie Edwards. Illustrated.

Fair but False. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

Lancaster's Cabin. A Novel. By Mrs. M. V. Victor. Illustrated.

Florence [illegible]. A Novel. By Mrs. [illegible] A. Denison. Illustrated.

The Woman Hater. A Novel. By Dr. J. H. Robinson. Illustrated.

The California Cabin. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

We will send any four of the above books by mail post-paid upon receipt of only 12 Cents; any ten for 25 Cents; any twenty-five for 50 Cents; the entire list (40 books) for 75 Cents; the entire list bound in boards with cloth back, for $1.10. This is the greatest bargain in books ever offered. Do not fail to take advantage of it. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Postage stamps taken for fractions of a dollar. As to our reliability, we refer to any newspaper published in New York, likewise to the Commercial Agencies. All orders filled by return mail. Address all letters: F. M. LUPTON, Publisher, No. [illegible] Murray Street, New York.

SHOW WALL CENTRE RIBBON CASES

ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.

Cedar Chests, Cabinets and Wardrobes.

TERRY SHOW CASE CO.

[illegible] N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

Catalogue Free

CABINET WORK.

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 8, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD.—Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

Cotton Market.

BIRMINGHAM—Corrected weekly by Sol. D. Bloch & Co., cotton factors. Market lower. Demand good. Prices prevailing: Good Midling 9¾c. Middling 9½c. Low Middling 8 11-16c.

MONTGOMERY—Market steady. Demand good. Good Middling 9¾c. Middling 9½c. Low Middling 9¼.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

A Withered Rosebud.

For the Chilton View.]

'Tis but a tiny rose-bud,
'Tis withered, faded, dead,
But worth more to me than treasures
From ocean's coral bed.

It once grew fair and lovely
Upon its parent stem,
Till broken for its beauty
And given me by a friend.

I took the little rose-bud,
The gift of first-love's ties:
And placed it 'mong the keepsakes
Of other friends I prized.

It withered, ah, it faded;
Its beauty could not last.
And now I keep the rosebud;
In memory of the past.

GEORGIA A. JONES.

Clanton, Ala., Dec., 1887.

Fresh mince-meat at Woolley's.

Advertise your Christmas goods.

Mr. Lee Holt's little child is still dangerously ill.

Sheet music, three pieces for 25 cents at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mrs. O. A. Duke, of this place, visited relatives in Deatsville this week.

Mrs. Phil Givhan, has returned from a week's visit to relatives at Mitchell's Station.

The new organ for the Methodist church has arrived and is a very handsome instrument.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Mrs. Dr. Patton, of Montgomery, is making an extended visit to relatives in this place.

The exhibitions given by the Evantine family at the Courthouse drew crowds every night.

Mr. O. A. Duke has been absent this week attending the Grand Lodge meeting in Montgomery.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

For Sale, Lease or Rent.

A valuable farm near Clanton, Ala. Terms reasonable. Apply to
A. J. MARLAR.

Fancy and stick candy, nuts, raisins and prunes, prize boxes, fruits of all kinds, perfume, chewing gum and in fact nearly everything you want, for sale at R. P. Woolley's.

The stock of Christmas presents, and Christmas and New Year cards, at the VIEW Stationery Stand is now complete. Come and see them and make your selections now before you are too late.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Christmas Goods.

I have just received a nice lot of toys, fire-works, candles, &c., for the holiday trade. Also a new lot of dry goods and notions. I keep the best Patent flour that can be had anywhere at $5.50 per barrel. Clothing at reduced prices to close out what I have in stock.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPEY.

Mr. C. L. Phillips has moved his stock of goods into the storehouse lately vacated by Mr. Bowdoin. Mr. Bowdoin has moved down near the depot.

Don't fail to attend the Oyster Supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Chuch on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27th, at the Courthouse.

Dust thou art, unto dust thou must return. We accept this idea with philosophic resignation, knowing that when the grave closes over us the worms will banquet there, but when we see symptoms of worms in our little darlings, how gladly we accept such a remedy for them as White's Cream Vermifuge the best preparation known for the expulsion of worms.

We thank Editor Jim Nunnelee, for his profuse compliments to the VIEW and its proprietors in his excellent and generous "write up" of his trip to Chilton last week.

Married, at Lonesome Valley, Ala., Nov. 30, 1887, by Rev. J. M. Stanfield, Mr. J. Williams to Miss Alice Pritchard, recently of Texas. The happy couple have our best wishes.

It is hard to uproot an idea in the minds of some people. They will hug a delusion; fondle and caress it all their lives. But if a sufferer with piles thinks he cannot be relieved, just let him try a bottle of Tabler's Buckeye Ointment, and be convinced that this preparation is a permanent cure for Piles.

Mr. J. W. Edwards has re-opened his store in Clanton and announces in another column his intention to sell goods at low prices. He invites his farmer friends to drop in to see him and price his goods when they are in town.

Mr. McLine and family, of Birmingham, have moved to this place, having purchased the Gilchrist place in East Clanton. Mr. Gilchrist will move into his new residence out at Ternanville as soon as it is completed.

"The cry is still they come," after administering White's Cream Vermifuge to a child suffering with worms. Therefore, do not neglect to use it when you see unmistakable evidence of their presence. A capricious appetite, a cough, feverishness, picking the nose, and other signs familiar to every experienced mother call for prompt action. Administer White's Cream Vermifuge at once and save funeral expenses.

On account of rain there was no Sabbath school held at the Baptist church Sunday. To-night at prayer meeting the committees for attending to the Christmas tree will be appointed. A full attendance is very much desired.

Positively the best remedy ever discovered for all diseases of man and beast that can be reached by an external medical application, is Rangum Root Liniment. One trial will convince. Manufactured only by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Mr. James H. Nunnelee, the handsome, sagacious and enterprising editor of the Tuskaloosa Gazette, paid Clanton a brief visit last week. Jim is one of the few "bloated bondholders" among the newspaper fraternity, and he never moves around without an eye to business.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Mr. Baker's new residence near the cemetery is an ornament to that locality. The painters are about through with it and Mr. B. will move in at once. He is having another dwelling erected in the rear of the Baptist church and on the lot adjoining Mr. Gartman's place, We presume it will be for rent.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

The Livingston Gun Club on their annual hunt killed 691 partridges. This kind of business will soon exterminate game birds.—Gainesville Messenger.

The Messenger is all right on that, but when it says in another item that Mr. W. C. Travis, of the Livingston Club, is the best shot in the State, we believe it is all wrong. We have a good shot over this way, a member of the Clanton Gun Club, whom we venture can show Mr. Travis and Editor Harwood a trick that will make them both call for more brandy if they haven't already had too much.

Large steel engravings for sale at the VIEW Stationery Stand. They would be splendid presents to give anyone.

There is no better cure for dyspepsia than the knowledge that there is nothing to eat in the house.—Boston Courier.

Yes, nearly every country editor has tried that remedy and can vouch for it.

Home testimonials are most reliable, and if you will send your name and address we will send statements of numbers of the best citizens of Nashville regarding the wonderful cures effected by Ethiopian Pile Ointment. It never fails. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

The Hot Well.

The rich editor of the Tuskaloosa Gazette after returning home, and feeling at a safe distance from volcanic eruptions, natural or unnatural, proceeds to give his candid views on our quondam hot well in this style:

"It would be treating the town of Clanton wrong should we fail to allude to that first-class fraud and at the same time success, the hot well. This supposed hot well created a furor of excitement some time since. In view of the fact that the water did effect several marvelous cures of rheumatic and scrofulous diseases, the owner of the well would be very foolish not to finish his hotel and use an engine to pump the water from the well thus enriching himself and benefiting suffering humanity.

Clanton only needs a good hotel, without which no city can be attractive to strangers."

When you feel depressed don't dose yourself with mean bitters. Hodges' Sarsaparilla renovates and invigorates the system, and cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Manufactured by Rangum Root Medicine Co. Nashville, Tenn. Sold by all druggists.

How To Build Up a Town.

The Augusta Chronicle offers the following suggestions in regard to building up a town:

The proper way to build up a town is to talk it up, not talk it down. How can you expect outsiders to "take stock" in a place if its own people are dubious, or damn it with faint praise?

An army that goes into battle without cohesion in all its parts is lost. So with a community. Unless its citizens march shoulder to shoulder and work with a united will for its prosperity, it will be outstripped in the race by its more harmonious neighbors.

Help on by good words, if nothing else, every enterprise whether you are specially interested in it or not, and the effect will soon become apparent. In other words, if you expect others to believe in you, you must believe in yourself.

What merchant would be so foolish as to decry his own wares? And yet that is just the policy of the citizen who speaks disparagly of his own town.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

HERE I AM!

—:o:—

I have opened at my old stand in Clanton

A New Stock of Goods!

And I propose to sell them at the lowest cash prices. Call on me and secure bargains in groceries and family supplies.
Respectfully,
J. W. EDWARDS.

☞ Machine fixtures always on hand.

DEEP Sea Wonders exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards, wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

NOTICE NO. 7145.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 14, viz: Louisiana Webb, Homestead 19850 for the nw ¼ sec 12 township 21 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Jones, William Thomas, William Huckaby and Gilbert Driver, all of Cooper's, Ala.

dec8 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

G. E. WILLIAMS, BLACKSMITH

—AND—

WHEELWRIGHT.

CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Assessor's Notice.

I will attend the following named places on the days here named for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1888:

Dixie	Beat 8	Monday,	January	2
Valley Creek	" 8	Wed'sday,	"	4
R. Latham's	" 7	Friday,	"	6
Maplesville	" 7	Saturday	"	7
Macedonia	" 3	Tuesday	"	10
D. Wooley's	" 2	Wednesday	"	11
Concord C'h	" 2	Thursday	"	12
Providence	" 2	Friday	"	13
S. E. Busby's	" 2	Saturday	"	14
Jemison	" 2	Monday	"	16
Busbee's Mill	" 3	Tuesday	"	17
Strasburg	" 4	Wed'sday	"	18
Jno. Archer's	" 1	Thursday	"	19
D.H. Mullin's	" 1	Friday	"	20
Jas. Smith's	" 4	Saturday	"	21
Cane Cr'k C'h	" 4	Monday	"	23
Clanton	" 4	Tuesday	"	24
Clanton	" 4	Wed'sday	"	25
Pleas. Grove	" 6	Thursday	"	26
Benson	" 3	Friday	"	27
Verbena	" 5	Tuesday	"	31
Joe Alred's	" 5	Wed'sday	Feb'y	1
Cooper's	" 5	Thursday	"	2
Kincheon	" 6	Friday	"	3
Chamber's Mill,	beat 6,	Saturday	"	9

W. A. SMITH, Tax Assessor.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his contintinuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MUSIC GIVEN AWAY 5 PIECES FREE! FOR THE POSTAGE.

To introduce our Sheet Music and get 10,000 [illegible]

All Music Sold at Reduced Rates. Cheapest Place in U. S. to buy. LUDDEN & BATES Southern Music House, SAVANNAH, GA.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!!

JOHN B. RODEN,

Bookseller and Stationer,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Having determined to anticipate the wants of the trade, I shall from October first, mark down my entire stock lower than any merchant in Chilton county and

Sell For Cash Across the Counter.

No exceptions made for anybody.

A. J. BROOKS.

Verbena, Ala., Sept. 23, 1887.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,

—MONTGOMERY, ALA.—

Large Stock! Low Prices!

Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.

GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.

☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,

FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB & HERSHEY CO.,

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

—JOBBERS IN—

Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.

PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.

GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.

THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.

OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA. [aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established: We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,

Machinery & Mill Supplies,

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS,

COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.

☞Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,

—DEALER IN—

Guns and Ammunition,

GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,

—o—

Wholesale Grocers,

—o—

P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,

Artistic Photographer

10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty.

Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.

All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞Correspondence solicited.☜
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,

Wholesale Druggists,

FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

MEDICINES,

Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's

BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to Always ready to take Contracts for Hauling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞MONTGOMERY STABLES, Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O., Telephone 446. jan1y

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER,

—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,

Leading Tailor.

1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods.

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,

—DEALER IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES,
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.

☞Call on him before purchasing elsewhere. [illegible]

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. Thalman M'f'g Co., Baltimore, Md. [illegible]

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
LANGSTON, HAND & COMPANY,
NO SHODDY GOODS!
LOW PRICES
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand.
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Catchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [may 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
25 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Collars & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS, SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m]

JOB PRINTING
Neatly and Expeditiously —EXECUTED—
AT THIS OFFICE!

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Cleverness is a sort of genius for instrumentality. It is the brain of the hand.

Humility leads to the highest distinction, because it leads to self-improvement.

Enthusiasm is the genius of sincerity, and truth accomplishes no victories without it.

The manner of saying or doing anything goes a great way toward the value of the thing itself.

It is better to have thorns in the flesh, with grace to endure them, than to have no thorns and no grace.

In the loss of an object we do not proportion our grief to its real value, but to the value our fancies set upon it.

The man who doesn't know much, and his name is legion, is the one most anxious to display his knowledge.

The love of singularity proceeds from a restless mind, possessing some portion of genius and a large portion of vanity.

Oppression makes wise men bad; but the distemper is still the madness of the wise, which is better than the sobriety of fools.

A happiness that is quite undisturbed becomes tiresome. We must have ups and downs. The difficulties which are mingled with love awaken passion and increase pleasure.

There is this difference between those two temporal blessings, health and money: Money is the most envied, but the least enjoyed; health is the most enjoyed, but the least envied.

Every increase of knowledge may possibly render depravity more depraved, as well as it may increase the strength of virtue. It is in itself only power, and its value depends on its application.

Yesterday is yours no longer; tomorrow may never be yours; but to-day is yours, the living present is yours, and in the living present you may stretch forward to the things that are before.

Live Mastodons in Alaska.

For several years scientists have been greatly interested in stories that have come from Alaska tending to shake their faith in the belief that the mastodon is an extinct animal. The latest contribution on this subject—the importance of which, from a zoological point of view cannot be overestimated—is furnished by the Free Press, published at Juneau, Alaska. The editor of that paper says:

In conversation with D. H. Summers, formerly of Denver, Col., who came out this fall with a party of miners from Forty Mile Creek, we learned that the existence of living mastodons were not the mere fabrications of northern furriers, but that the Stick Indians had positively told him that such animals had been seen by them. One of the Indians said that while hunting one day in that unknown section he came across an immense track sunk to a depth of several inches in moss. It much resembled an elephant's track, but was larger round than a barrel. The Indian followed up this curious track, which, to all appearance, was very fresh, tracking from one immense stride to another, a distance of some miles, when he came in full view of his game. The hunter gave one look, then turned and fled. These Indians, as a rule, are the bravest hunters. With no other weapon than their spear they will attack and kill a grizzly, but the immense proportions of this new style of game both startled and filled the hunter, brave as he was, with great fear.

He described it as being larger than Post Trader Harper's store, with great shining yellowish tusks and mouth large enough to swallow him at a single gulp. He said the animal was doubtless similar to those which furnished the immense bones scattered over that section. If such animals are now in existence, and Mr. Summers has no reason to doubt the veracity of the Indian, as other Indians, and also Mr. Harper, confirmed it, they inhabit a section very high in altitude, but very rarely visited by human beings. We also have no reason to doubt the Indian tale, for at no very distant period Yukeon country was inhabited by these animals, as hundreds of their massive skeletons, strewn along the creeks, are silent but truthful witnesses. On Forty Mile Creek bones can be found projecting partly from the sand, and among the driftwood of the stream on the creek below this these skeletons are also quite numerous.

Wyoming's Golden Hermit.

The Wind Mountains conceal a strange character known as "Wind River Clark," or the "Golden Hermit." This man is a true solitary, shunning his kind and consorting alone with nature in her most savage aspect, with the wild animals in the mountains as his only companions. For forty years has this Golden Hermit made his solitary home in the deepest recesses of the mighty Wind Mountains. Cold and heat seem to impress him not. Two or three times a year he appears at the frontier post of Fort Washakin, loaded down with valuable furs, and carrying an ancient buckskin sack filled with gold dust and nuggets, for "Wind River Clark" is a mighty hunter and trapper, and the "Golden Hermit" is the silent repository of the mountains' gold secrets.

The advent of hunter, trapper, hermit and gold finder is always an event at the fort, for he is sure to bring money with him, and is a never-failing object of curiosity to civilized man. Clad in the skins of wild animals slain by himself, the mountain solitary comes and goes like the mountain mist. Three months ago he appeared and disappeared at the fort. A day or two ago a wandering hunter stopped at the post and reported that the "Golden Hermit" was busy in his golden quest deep in the mountains, and that the old buckskin sack had once more nearly completed its mission, being almost full of dust and nuggets. So the fort people are looking daily for the periodical visit of the man of gold.—Wyoming Press.

A Great Amsterdam Industry.

One of the great industries of Amsterdam (Holland) is the cutting and polishing of diamonds; and nearly all the finest diamonds in the world are taken there to be cut into shape. We will make a visit to one of the principal diamond establishments, and when we get there I think we shall be surprised to find a great factory, four or five stories high, a steam engine in the basement, and fly-wheels and leathern bands and all sorts of whirring machinery in the different stories. On the very top floor the diamonds are finished and polished, and here we see skillful workmen sitting before rapidly revolving disks of steel, against which the diamonds are pressed and polished. It requires great skill, time and patience before one of these valuable gems is got into that shape in which it will best shine, sparkle and show its purity. Nearly half the diamonds produced in the world, the best of which come from Brazil, are sent to this factory to be cut and polished. Here the great Koh-i-noor was cut, and we are shown models of that and of other famous diamonds that were cut in these rooms.—St. Nicholas.

BEFORE IT IS BORN.

Some Startling Statements of General Interest!

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, on being asked when the training of a child should begin, replied: "A hundred years before it is born."

Are we to infer from this that this generation is responsible for the condition of the race a hundred years from now?

Is this wonderful generation the natural result of the proper diet and medicines of a hundred years ago?

It is conceded in other lands that most of the wonderful discoveries of the world in this century have come from this country. Our ancestors were reared in log cabins, and suffered hardships and trials.

But they lived and enjoyed health to a ripe old age. The women of those days would endure hardship without apparent fatigue that would startle those of the present age.

Why was it?

One of the proprietors of the popular remedy known as Warner's safe cure, has been faithfully investigating the cause, and has called to his aid scientists as well as medical men, impressing upon them the fact that there cannot be an effect without a cause. This investigation disclosed the fact that in the olden times simple remedies were administered, compounded of herbs and roots, which were gathered and stored in the lofts of the log cabins, and when sickness came on, these remedies from nature's laboratory were used with the best effects.

What were these remedies? What were they used for? After untiring and diligent search they have obtained the formulas so generally used for various disorders.

Now the question is, how will the olden time preparations affect the people of this age, who have been treated, under modern medical schools and codes, with poisonous and injurious drugs. This test has been carefully pursued, until they are convinced that the preparations they now call Warner's Log Cabin Remedies are what our much abused systems require.

Among them is what is known as Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, and they frankly announce that they do not consider the Sarsaparilla of so much value in itself as it is in the combination of the various ingredients which together work marvelously upon the system. They also have preparations for other diseases, such as "Warner's Log Cabin Cough and Consumption Remedy," "Log Cabin Hops and Buchu Remedy" Warner's Log Cabin Scalpine" for the hair. They have great confidence that they have a cure for the common disease of catarrh, which they give the name of "Log Cabin Rose Cream." Also a "Log Cabin Plaster," which they are confident will supplant all others, and a Liver Pill, to be used separately or in connection with the other remedies.

We hope that the public will not be disappointed in these remedies but will reap a benefit from the investigations, and that the proprietors will not be embarrassed in their introduction by dealers trying to substitute remedies that have been so familiar to the shelves of our druggists. This line of remedies will be used instead of others. Insist upon your druggist getting them for you if he hasn't them yet in stock, and we feel confident that these new remedies will receive approbation at our readers' hands, as the founders have used every care in their preparation.

Marriage by Proxy.

Marriage by proxy, or, as it is called, "marriage by the glove," is common in Holland, and is caused by the fact that many of the eligible young men, after having finished their education in the schools of the fatherland, depart for Dutch India to engage in some lucrative commercial enterprise or to accept a position in the colonial service. The scarcity of marriageable white women in that country induces the would-be husband to write to a friend in Holland, enclosing his wish for a wife. The friend selects a willing young lady, generally with a substantial dot, and otherwise conforming closely to the specifications of the letter. A photograph of the favored one is enclosed in the return epistle. After the lapse of a few months, a soiled left-hand glove, with the power of attorney, is received from the far-away bachelor. The friend in Holland marries the selected bride in precisely the same manner as if he were the actual groom, and the young wife departs in the next India mail steamer to bring happiness to a lonely one in the far east. A marriage of this description is as binding as if the bridegroom were present, and is never repudiated. If either party to the glove marriage should die before meeting in India, the survivor would share the property of the deceased in accordance with the laws.

A Slow Way.

Aerolites are interesting to the average mind as well as to the student, but so far they have not been very instructive. They are so scorched we can hardly learn anything of them. If they slabbed off of some passing planet or are fragments of some exploded world, it is strange that they are all so much alike in character and composition. Why do we not have other samples of the unknown worlds, as, for instance, a human body, or something fashioned by the hands of the inhabitants of such realms? We are anxious to learn something of the other globes, but tossing two-ton rocks at us is a slow way to become acquainted or sociable.—Baltimore News.

A TENNESSEE farmer, whose land was under motgage and about to be taken away from him, fell on his knees in the field in prayer. When he got up he seized the plow handles with a new grip, gave the old mule a vigorous lick, and before he had gone twenty feet he turned up a jug with over $600 in gold and silver in it.

Delicate Diseases of either sex, however induced, promptly, thoroughly and permanently cured. Send 10 cents in stamps for large illustrated treatise. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A $1 bill in a Chicago bank had written on it "10 drinks. Last of an even $100,000. R. Leslie.

A Total Eclipse

of all other medicines by Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is approaching. Unrivaled in bilious disorders, impure blood, and consumption, which is scrofulous disease of the lungs.

Death is as good a thing as life, and both are the gifts of a Divine love.—Rev. J. F. Clarke.

Among the people of to-day, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries and in hundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases, Prickly Ash Bitters now takes the place of the old system, and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature.

A Baby Like a Gale of Wind.

Why is a newly-born baby like a gale of wind? Because it begins with a squall. Cold gales induce coughs, and croup. Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein will cure it.

Prudent people promptly procure positively permanent relief from Catarrh by using Taylor's Hospital Cure. Free pamphlets sent. Address, City Hall Pharmacy, 264 Broadway, New York.

Catarrh in the Head
Originates in scrofulous taint in the blood. Hence the proper method by which to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Its many disagreeable symptoms and the danger of developing into bronchitis or that terribly fatal disease, consumption, are entirely removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures catarrh by purifying the blood; it also tones up the system and greatly improves the general health. Try the "peculiar medicine."
"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I received more permanent benefit from it than any other remedy."—E. E. Read, Wauseon, O.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

Not So Bad.

A story is going around in the French papers about the czar of Russia. While he was stopping recently in the Castle of Fredensborg he was fond of taking little walks in the neighborhood. One day he was accosted by a beggar woman with a child in her arms. In pure Danish and in the roughest manner possible he told her to go away and be pretty quick about it. The poor woman, terrified, started off, but was followed by an officer. "Here, my good woman," said the officer, as he put some pieces of gold into her hand, "it is the czar who sends you this, and he hopes that you will forgive his apparent rudeness of a moment ago. The fact is, he has just returned from a visit to his children, who have the scarlatina, and he was afraid that he might bring the contagion to your child if he allowed you to approach his person."

IT is claimed that cigarette smoking tends to softening of the brain. We don't believe it. In order to soften anything there must be something to soften.

Years Teach More Than Books.

Among other valuable lessons imparted by this teacher is the fact that for a very long time Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has been the prince of liver correctives and blood purifiers, being the household physician of the poor man, and the able consulting physician to the rich patient, and praised by all for its magnificent service and efficacy in all diseases of a chronic nature, as malarial poisoning, ailments of the respiratory and digestive systems, liver disease and in all cases where the use of an alterative remedy is indicated.

Mrs. Salter, recently chosen mayor of Argonia, Kan., insists that the city's debt be paid.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine,

Known and used by physicians all over the world. SCOTT'S EMULSION not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh by the use of it. I use it in all cases of wasting diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. PIERCE, M. D., Knoxville, Ala.

An old maid is always a young married woman—when she gets married.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,

T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

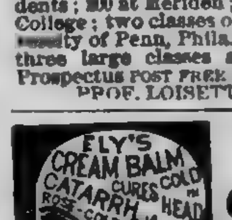
Every family in which books, magazines or newspapers are read, and letters are written, should have an English dictionary. How often is a whole sentence made obscure because the reader does not know or has forgotten the meaning of some word or proper name. How often does a letter-writer hesitate over the correct spelling of some word whose orthographical construction has, for the moment, escaped his memory. And how often do disputes arise over the proper pronunciation of this or that word. All these difficulties could be settled in a moment by the possession of a standard dictionary. Now, the one great work which answers all requirements, and which is the standard authority in America, is Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, published by G. & C. Merriam & Co., Springfield, Mass. This dictionary contains over 118,000 words, being 3,000 more than are found in any other American work of a similar character. Its 3,000 illustrations cover an immense number of subjects. A space in itself equal to the dimensions of a large volume is devoted to biographical, geographical, and Scripture proper names, noted names and places in fiction, frequently-quoted sayings, found in the Latin, the Greek and modern foreign languages, Christian proper names with their equivalents in other languages, all the abbreviations and contractions used in writing, a classified selection of many hundred pictures, covering a wide range of topics, etc. As an educator in itself, for young and old, Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is certainly without a rival in all the wide domain of English literature.

ITCHING PILES.—Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. It is equally efficacious in curing all Skin Diseases. DR. SWAYNE & SON, Proprietors, Phila. By mail for 50 cents. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT for sale by druggists.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle.

The best and surest Remedy for Cure of all diseases caused by any derangement of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels. Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilious Complaints and Malaria of all kinds yield readily to the beneficent influence of
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
It is pleasant to the taste, tones up the system, restores and preserves health.
It is purely Vegetable, and cannot fail to prove beneficial, both to old and young. As a Blood Purifier it is superior to all others. Sold everywhere at $1.00 a bottle.

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.



ELY'S CREAM BALM
Gives relief at once for COLD in HEAD
—CURES—
CATARRH.
Not a Liquid or Snuff.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N.Y.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D.C.

FREE By return mail. Full Description Moody's New Tailor System of Dress Cutting. MOODY & CO., Cincinnati, O.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Mexican Mustang Liniment
CURES
Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Burns, Scalds, Stings, Bites, Bruises, Bunions, Corns, Scratches, Sprains, Strains, Stitches, Stiff Joints, Backache, Galls, Sores, Spavin Cracks.
Contracted Muscles, Eruptions, Hoof Ail, Screw Worms, Swinney, Saddle Galls, Piles. Caked Breasts
For MAN or BEAST, Rub it in VIGOROUSLY!!

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty-five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N.Y.

WELLS' HAIR BALSAM
restores Gray Hair to original color. An elegant dressing, softens and beautifies. No grease nor oil. A Tonic Restorative. Prevents hair coming out; strengthens, cleanses and heals scalp.
50c. Druggists
E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

ROUGH ON CATARRH Only absolute, complete cure worst chronic cases. Unequaled for Catarrhal throat affections, foul breath, offensive odors, sore throat, diphtheria, cold in the head. Ask for "ROUGH ON CATARRH." 50c. Drug. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N.J.

LOOK YOUNG as long as you can, prevent tendency to wrinkles or ageing of the skin by using LEAURELLE OIL
Removes and prevents Wrinkles, and roughness of Flesh or skin; preserves a youthful, plump, fresh condition of the features; removes pimples, clears the complexion, the only substance known that will arrest and prevent tendency to wrinkles. $1. Druggists or Exp.
E. S. WELLS, Chemist, Jersey City, N. J.

ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, and all Diseases of the BLOOD, can be cured only by DR. HAIR'S SYSTEM of Treatment, which is now recognized by the medical world as the only one that will positively and permanently cure Asthma, its kindred affections and all blood diseases. Not only does it excel all other methods in giving quick relief, but it absolutely cures the worst cases permanently. Thousands have been cured by it. Convincing and conclusive proof will be found in my 64 page Treatise, sent free.
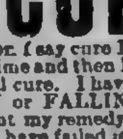
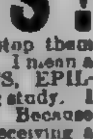
Dr. B. W. HAIR, 233 W. FOURTH ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO.





PRESIDENT & MRS. CLEVELAND
SUPERB MONOTYPES
Directly from the Celebrated Photographs by BELL, of Washington
The only Correct and Artistic Portraits on the market
On Cards 12 x 16 inches.
Sent in Roller for 50 cts. per pair.
H. A. JACKSON, 535 Pearl St., N.Y.
Reference: Moss Engraving Co., N. Y. Agents wanted.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

$100 to $300 A MONTH can be made working for us. AGENTS preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

SOLDIERS all get Pensions, if ¼ disabled; Officers' travel pay, bounty collected; Deserters relieved; 22 years' practice. Success or no fee. Laws sent free. A. W. McCormick & Sons, Washington, D.C.

Blair's Pills, Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

MEXICAN WAR SOLDIERS and their Widows. Pensions now for you all. Address E. H. Gelston & Co., Washington, D.C.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers

WHAT AILS YOU?
Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?
If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery
CURES ALL HUMORS,
from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.
"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.
CONSUMPTION,
which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.
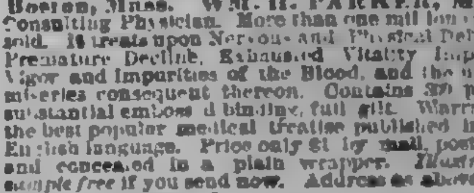
For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.
Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.
Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Address,
World's Dispensary Medical Association,
663 Main St., BUFFALO, N. Y.

EXHAUSTED VITALITY
A Great Medical Work for Young and Middle-Aged Men.



KNOW THYSELF.
PUBLISHED by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass. WM. H. PARKER, M. D., Consulting Physician. More than one million copies sold. It treats upon Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline, Exhausted Vitality, Impaired Vigor and Impurities of the Blood, and the untold miseries consequent thereon. Contains 300 pages, substantial embossed binding, full gilt. Warranted the best popular medical treatise published in the English language. Price only $1 by mail, postpaid, and concealed in a plain wrapper. Illustrative sample free if you send now. Address as above.
Name this paper.

JONES
HE
PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales, Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON, BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

OPIUM and WHISKEY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. Woolley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga. Office 65½ Whitehall Street. Mention this paper.

BUSINESS Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the country. Send for Circulars.

PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A. N. U.........Forty-eight, '87.

This represents a healthy life. Throughout its various stages.
Just such a life as they enjoy Who use the Smith's Bile Beans.
Smith's BILE BEANS purify the blood, by acting directly and promptly on the Liver, Skin and Kidneys. They consist of a vegetable combination that has no equal in medical science. They cure Constipation, Malaria, and Dyspepsia, and are a safeguard against all forms of fevers, chills and fever, gall stones, and Bright's disease. Send 4 cents postage for a sample package and test the TRUTH of what we say. Price, 25 cents per bottle, mailed to any address, postpaid. DOSE ONE BEAN. Sold by druggists.
The original Photograph, panel size, of this picture sent on receipt of 10c. in stamps. Address, BILE BEANS, St. Louis, Mo.
J. F. SMITH & CO., PROPRIETORS, ST. LOUIS, MO.

The man who has invested from three to five dollars in a Rubber Coat, and at his first half hour's experience in a storm finds to his sorrow that it is hardly a better protection than a mosquito netting, not only feels chagrined at being so badly taken in, but also feels if he does not look exactly like
A WET HEN
We offer the man who wants service (not style) a garment that will keep him dry in the hardest storm. It is called TOWER'S FISH BRAND "SLICKER," a name familiar to every Cow-boy all over the land. With them the only perfect Wind and Waterproof Coat is "Tower's Fish Brand Slicker."
Ask for the "FISH BRAND" SLICKER and take no other. If your storekeeper does not have the FISH BRAND, send for descriptive catalogue. A. J. TOWER, 20 Simmons St., Boston, Mass.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION—SPECIAL OFFER.
FREE TO JAN 1, 1888.
See Large Advertisement in Previous Number of this Paper.
To any New Subscriber who will CUT OUT and send us this Slip, with name and P. O. address and $1.75 in Money Order, Express Money Order, Registered Letter or Check, for a year's subscription to the Companion, we will send the paper free each week to Jan. 1st, 1888, and for a full year from that date to Jan. 1st, 1889. If ordered at once this offer will include the
Double Holiday Numbers
For Thanksgiving and Christmas.
Twenty pages each, with Colored Covers and Full-page Frontispiece Pictures. They will be unusually attractive this year.
Address PERRY MASON & CO., 45 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.
A $2.50 PAPER FOR $1.75.

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	30 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors.

"WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION."

TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1887. NUMBER 6

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞ The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

QUEENS OF SONG.

THE CAREERS OF FOUR NOTED AMERICAN SINGERS.

Sketches of Mme. Fursch-Madi, Miss Emma Juch, Mme. Bertha Pierson and Miss Amanda Fabris—A Tuneful Quartette.

Mme. Fursch-Madi, the famous dramatic soprano, began her operatic career in America, appearing in New Orleans and singing with complete success in the operatic season of 1874. Mme. Fursch-

MME. FURSCH-MADI.

Madi studied under the principal masters of the Paris Conservatory, and made her first public success in Europe in the Pasdeloups concerts, which was followed by a brilliant engagement at the Grand Opera, Paris. At the end of this engagement she had the distinction of being chosen by Verdi to create the title role of "Aida" on its first production in the Theatre Royal, Brussels. In 1879 she appeared in the Italian Opera at Covent Garden, and it was then generally admitted that no such dramatic soprano had appeared since Tietjens. In 1882 she revisited America with Messrs. Gye and MISS EMMA JUCH.

Mapleson, and her success was so great that Mr. Abbey induced her to make an engagement for the Metropolitan Opera House, where she made new triumphs, and later appeared at the leading concerts and musical festivals of America. Last season Mme. Fursch-Madi made a brilliant success in the leading dramatic roles of the National Opera Company, and Mr. Lock has secured this great artist for his "National Opera" tour this season.

MME. BERTHA PIERSON.

No American singer is better known or more admired as an artist in this country than Emma Juch, who, from a modest debut in Chickering Hall a few years ago, rose quickly to be a leading feature of all important musical festivals in the United States and Canada, and to make a high reputation as an operatic artist. Miss Juch made her operatic debut as Felicia in "Mignon," with Her Majesty's Opera Company, at Her Majesty's Theatre, London, in which she made a fine impression, and subsequently appeared with great success as Violetta in "La Traviata," Marguerite in "Faust,"

MISS AMANDA FABRIS.

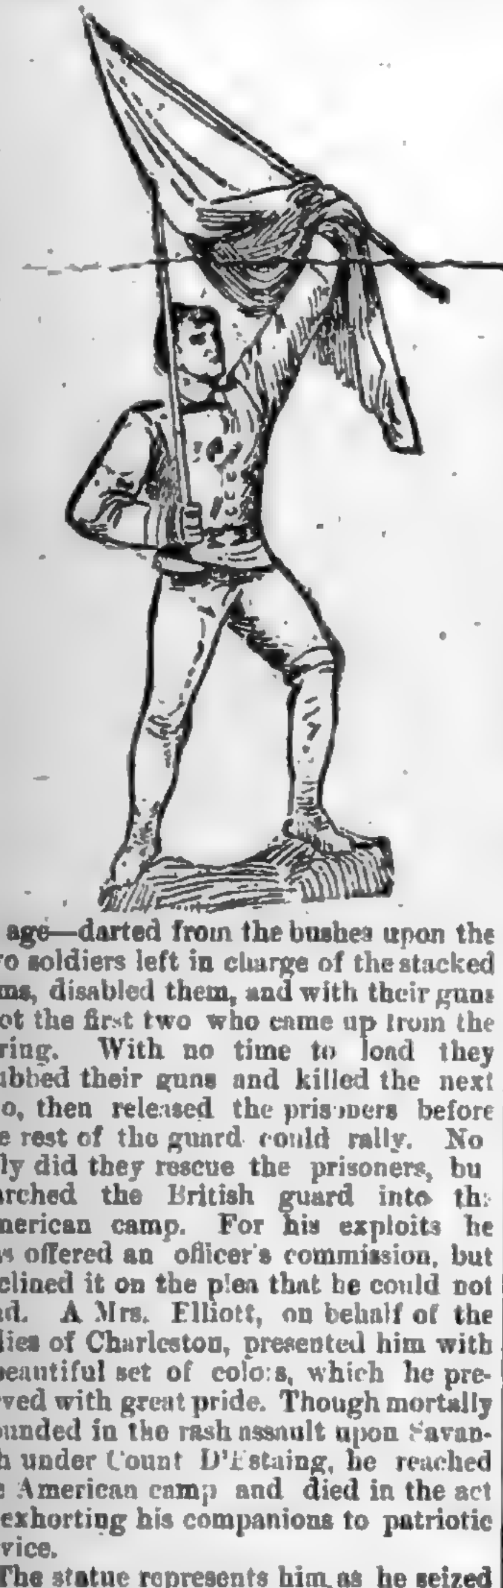
etc. In the Wagner Concert tour, under the direction of Theodore Thomas, Miss Juch alternated with Mme Nilsson in singing the role of Elsa to Mme. Materna's Orlund. As Elsa in "Lohengrin," Miss Juch made her greatest success in the first season of American opera. Miss Juch is the leading lyric soprano of the National Opera, and will be heard in new roles, including Chryse in "Nero," in which she won new honors in the limited number of performances of Rubinstein's great opera at the Metropolitan Opera House last spring.

Mme. Bertha Pierson, the dramatic soprano, who made such a success with the National Opera Company last season, made her operatic debut in Dresden, as Valentine in "The Huguenots," and after singing "Donne Anna" in "Don Giovanni" and "Aida," was engaged for one year at the Dresden Court Theatre. Mme. Pierson made a brilliant success as "Elizabeth," in the first Italian performance of Wagner's "Tannhauser," at the Apollo Theatre, Rome; a part in which she will be heard during the present season.

Amanda Fabris, the clever young American soprano, who made a most successful operatic debut last season with the National Opera Company, is a native of New York, and obtained her musical education in that city. After several appearances in concerts in New York and [illegible], Miss Fabris has decided to [illegible] the opportunity to appear in [illegible].

Monument to a Hero of '76.

Savannah, rich in monuments, is just now adding another—to the most chivalrous of all the Southern heroes of the Revolution, the lamented Sergeant Jasper, the story of whose exploits, as told by his companion-in-arms, Major Peter Henry, stirs the dullest blood to patriotic fervor. In the very bloom and flush of young manhood he received his mortal wound at the siege of Savannah while rescuing the flag that had been planted on the ramparts. Though he died in the middle period of the revolution no hero who lived it through had a career more fascinating. When the British fleet attacked Fort Moultrie and the American flagstaff was shot down he leaped out into the ditch and raised it again in the midst of a storm of shot and shell. His next exploit was to attack with a single companion a British guard of ten soldiers who were conveying some Americans to prison. When the guard halted at a spring, the two lads—they were but just of age—darted from the bushes upon the two soldiers left in charge of the stacked arms, disabled them, and with their guns shot the first two who came up from the spring. With no time to load they clubbed their guns and killed the next two, then released the prisoners before the rest of the guard could rally. No only did they rescue the prisoners, but marched the British guard into the American camp. For his exploits he was offered an officer's commission, but declined it on the plea that he could not read. A Mrs. Elliott, on behalf of the ladies of Charleston, presented him with a beautiful set of colors, which he preserved with great pride. Though mortally wounded in the rash assault upon Savannah under Count D'Estaing, he reached the American camp and died in the act of exhorting his companions to patriotic service.



The statue represents him as he seized the flag from the British ramparts, where it had been planted. It is the production of Mr. Alexander Doyle, of New York. The figure is of bronze, ten feet high, and rests upon a pedestal twenty feet high.

All Ready For the Children.

A Crisis in Turkey.

Too Much for Him.

"Mamie," said Augustus, as he carefully spread his hemstitched handkerchief on the floor and knelt on it at his idol's feet—"Mamie, I would die for you; yes, I would even be cremated for your sake."

"Ah, Augustus, dear, I know you would," answered Mamie, tremulously, "but I will not ask so much. I will only ask you, Augustus, to go down town and buy me a yard and an eighth of brocaded satin cut on the bias, just the color of this sample," and she handed him a sliver of sky blue gros-grain ribbon.

But Augustus wilted, and declared he would rather die any day than undertake such a task, and now Augustus kneels no more on his hemstitched handkerchief at Mamie's feet.—Buffalo Courier.

WITHIN.

There's a soundless speech, that stirs the soul,
  Deeper than the spoken word,
Whilst mighty anthems roll,
  Through silent spaces, all unheard.

And floods of living light
  Put out the day's broad beam,
Revealing to the inner sight
  New glories now unseen.

Turning from this world of care,
  Turning from its strife and sin,
Truth and strength await us where
  We find the central life within.
    —Ella Darr, in Inter-Ocean.

TUCKER'S DISCONTENT.

PRIZE STORY, BY WM. A. DROMGOOLE.

It was always the same at Tom Tucker's cabin on the mountain. The warm, glowing summers laden with beauty and health and the fragrance of wild flowers, came and went without special notice. The white snows and hoar frosts of winter held the mountain in a crystal clasp; the mists grew pallid or purple, and sometimes were lifted entirely, leaving the valley below fair and warm and beautiful; but it was all the same at Tom Tucker's cabin on the mountain overlooking the Valley of the Sequachie.

The inmates of the cabin paid little heed to the change of season, save that in winter they housed the sheep a little more carefully, and in summer they took note that the grass was greener about the mound in the furthest corner of the burying-ground, the little grave under the hemlock-trees.

The cabin was clean and neat and lonesome. It was intolerable to the boy sitting upon a log, watching the sun creeping across the yard.

"Ten o'clock when she gits ter the hopper," he said. He had said the same thing more times than he could count in the last two years.

"Ten o'clock, an' ever'thing done already; an' thar useter be so much ter do, an' so little time fur ter do it. Now it's all time an' no work. I'd a sight ruther 'twould be t'other way as this."

He heaved a deep sigh, sat thinking a moment, and then continued talking to himself.

"Hit 'pears like the work an' the need o' time all died along o' her, Dolory. Hit war all bustle an' wear an' tear an' hurry an' life while she war livin'; now hits all still an' dead like. It 'pears like life might a-died along o' her, too—poor little gal!"

A tear rolled down the boy's cheek and dropped upon the brown hand that was holding a long, rusted saw; a strip of fat bacon lay on the log at his side, with which he was intending to grease the blade.

"As if," he said, "as if thar war anything ter saw."

The sun crept on, and the boy told off another hour by the golden rim around the mouth of the ash hopper.

"Nothin' ter do, but ter set here an' watch that sunshine a-creepin' an' a-creepin', an' time jest a-creepin' along o' hit—it's awful. I wish somethin' 'd happ'n ter start a fuss." Then, as though afraid of the bold wish, he added, quickly: "Naw, I don't; I takes it back."

"What's that ye're a-wishin' would an' a-wishin' wouldn't turn up, C'lumbus?" asked a voice behind him, and the boy turned to meet the gaze of the neighborhood preacher, an old man who lived just beyond the white paling of the burying-ground; "allus in sight o' the dead, ter keep in mind the un-certainty o' the livin'," he said.

Columbus was not in the least disturbed by the old man's question.

"Aw, I war jest a-wishin' fur less time an more work," he replied. "Time air the plentifullest artic-cle on the mount'n, an' thrivin'est; hits a-growin' longer ever' day."

"Land alive!" cried the preacher; "the idee o' a likely boy as you be, ter be a-settin' here growlin' case o' the flow o' time, an' hit a-gittin' an' a-goin' faster'n a fan blower ter a saw mill. Jest a-fannin' us on ter eternity, as 'twar. What's got inter yer, boy, ter talk sech! Yer useter be pow'ful scrimped fur time."

"That air a true word," said Columbus, "but it's all diff'r'nt sence she died. Thar ain't nothin' ter do, now. The sheep air turned out fur grazin' on the mount'n, the mill ain't a-runnin' and thar ain't nothin' ter work fur nohow, an' it's—it's—awful."

"C'lumbus"—the preacher took a seat on the other end of the log—"C'lumbus, thar be a passage o' Scriptur' that 'lows work war sent ter be a curse. That war the old dispensation, an' the old way o' lookin' at it. The way I reads that passage air 'Work war sent fur to be a blessin',' an' accordin' ter my doctrin', the worl' air boun' ter work et it spects ter be happy. Now, C'lumbus, take yer bacon,—hit's most a-brilin' thar in the sun,—grease yer saw, an' light inter this log o' yourn. Git ter work an' furgit yer ailmints."

"'Taint no use," replied Columbus, "thar aint nothin' ter work fur; it all died along o' her."

Columbus Tucker broke down completely, and burying his face in his hands, strong youth as he was, sobbed bitterly.

The preacher drew closer and laid a hand in sympathy upon the mourner's knee.

"C'lumbus," he said, "'taint right. You uns couldn't holp the little gal a-dyin'; ef 'twer ter be, 'twer gwineter be, an' you uns couldn't a-stayed the han' o' the Almighty. 'Taint right ter be a-frettin' an' a-frustratin' agin the Lord's doin's, an' ye couldn't holp it nohow."

"I could a-holped ter make it easy fur her whilst she war here," said Columbus. "Winter days when the snow war knee-deep on the mount'n an' Death war a-bidin' in the destrict, I could a-holped her to keep out'n his rech. Stid a-doin' it I 'lowed as she orter do half the feedin' an' half the tendin' o' the sheep an' sech. An' she went 'bout it 'thout'n a word agin it, an' she a poor little gal.

"An' nights whin a lamb would git out'n the fold an' cry ontil ye'd a' 'lowed 'twar a young baby, I'd lay low an' 'tend like I war 'sleep; an' she'd git up—Dolory would—an' lif' the latch easy-like so's not ter wake nobody, an' steal out ter the pen an' put the critter ter bed agin. I can hear her yit, nights whin the win' blows, a-feelin' fur the latch-string. 'Twar jist that way Death got a grip on her."

"Tut! tut!" said the preacher; "Ye talks as ef Death war a-bidin' in yer barn like a sneakin' thief, 'stead o' the Lord's messinger. I tell ye 'twar the Almighty as done it; ef 'twar gwine ter be, 'twar gwine, an' that's the whole on't."

"Naw, 'taint ha'f on't" insisted Columbus. "I useter 'low es mam an' dad war parshul ter Dolory; whin thar war extry work they'd 'low as I orter shoulder it case I war the boy; an' I allus growled 'bout'n it, an' they'd laugh an' 'low I orter be'n the gal an' Dolory the boy. An' I'd git so mad I could a-most killed her, only she war a puny little gal."

Columbus stopped a moment to think upon the horror of the confession he was making, then continued, as if, should there be any relief in honest confession, to find it.

"An', pars'n," Columbus continued, as he turned a tearful face toward the comforter, "I reck'n 'taint no use ter be a-tellin' me as how the Lord done it; mebbe He did, but ef 'twar so, 'twa because He knowed a big bear like me wa'n't fitt'n ter have a sister nohow. An' I reck'n He knows, too, how lonesome it air sence He tuk Dolory. An' all the trouble has come along o' that wish I made."

"What wor you a-wishin' fur, C'lumbus?" asked the sympathetic parson, and Columbus continued.

"'Twar this way. Thar war lots to be done that day, an' I hed to haul half a dozen loads o' poplar, fust thing, an' go ter the mill arterward, and a pow'ful sight o' things. An' 'twar comin' winter, an' I war cross anyhow. An' I mind how I stood in the door over thar, an' wished it, deep down, like it war a pra'r, wished as somethin'd turn up, quick an' sharp, ter stop the racket. An' it turned up quicher an' sharper'n I wished it. Dolory died the next week, an' thar ain't been no work a doin' sence, an' I ain't done no big wishing sence. An' that's what I stopped fur whin ye come up, an' I tuk back what I said.

"I reck'n 'taint no use to tell me as the Lord done it, case I ain't got no word ag'in that, 'ceptin' ter low as the Lord hed a mighty good reas'n fur His actions."

The boy's words silenced all further argument, and for a time the two sat upon the log, silent, each busy with his own thoughts.

At length the preacher rose to go home.

"C'lumbus," he said, as indifferently as though he had not been planning and scheming for half an hour, "C'lumbus, ef thar haint nothin' to hender, I'll take partic'ler kind ef ye'll come over ter my place an' holp me along o' that tater-patch, this evenin'. I'd hate pow'ful fur a rain ter ketch them weeds thar, an' I'm a leetle pinched fur time."

"I don't know nothin' ter hender," replied Columbus without so much as looking up.

"Waal," said the preacher, "ef yer says ye'll be thar, I'll expect ye. Will ye come?"

"Don't keer ef I do," was the answer, and the visitor crossed the yard, and disappeared in the wood beyond.

It had not always been so listless and so desolate at Tom Tucker's. There had been a time, when all was bustle and confusion in and about the cabin on the mountain. There had been a time when there was singing in the mornings, and merry chatter all the day through, as restless feet pattered over the clean, bare floor, as a restless form flitted in and out, here and there, chasing brown butterflies, gathering wild flowers, or hunting a young lamb that had strayed from Tom Tucker's full fold.

Dolores, the girl baby, had been, as Columbus said, "the life of the cabin"; active, but gentle, she had ruled right royally in the small family circle. For ten years her sway was undisturbed Tom Tucker's only idea was "Dolory"; she was his life, his hope, his heart. His wife shared his anxiety, his love and his interest for the frail child.

If the sheep proved unusually successful, or the wool sold uncommonly well, they were glad, because of the revenue that would "help ter raise Dolory." They were ambitious, too, for the child, and had vague ideas of educating her and "bringin' her up like folks." The little girl would shake her head whenever the education subject was introduced.

"She didn't want nothin' as would set her above C'lumbus an' the mount'n; an' C'lumbus said that war what it all 'mounted ter."

Columbus was her idol; nobody was so good, so grand, so brave as the overgrown brother of thirteen years. She would sit for hours watching him at work with hammer and saw, and if he stopped to say, as he sometimes did, "Hey, sissy, sleep yit?" her happiness was complete.

Columbus loved his sister; but, rough, hard-worked boy as he was, he could not understand how the frail little girl should so entirely absorb the affection of his parents. The boy longed for some of the love lavished upon her; his nature cried for recognition in the hearts of his parents; he was famishing for a share of the affection he felt was his by right.

When he had worked all day, it was hard to come home at night, to feel that his labor was received as a matter of course; while, as for Dolores, if she but gathered a basket of chips, it was recorded as a wonderful achievement. There was a difference of only three years in their ages, and the boy felt that the labor should be more justly divided.

But Dolores shared none of her brother's discontent; she was honestly anxious to help him, because she loved him; and he accepted all the service she could render, not so much as a relief to himself, but through an ignorant idea that it was justice.

One autumn, Tom Tucker had fallen behind in his work. The mill had taken all the man's time and attention, and there was still the winter's wood to be gathered, and the orchard to be stripped, and only Tom and Columbus to do it. All was bustle and hurry.

"An' hit's all done fur ter help Dolory to a high seat in the sinnygog," growled Columbus, as he started in the woods with his team.

"Hit's a push an' a scuffle an' a rush—Lord! I do wish somethin'd turn up fur ter stop the racket; I declare I wishes it!"

It had come, the "something;" but like most reckless demands hurled at Providence, it had not come as wished for.

Columbus had not expected nor desired the answer that came, an effectual, emphatic answer, that had indeed "stopped the racket" about the house.

When the boy had made his rash wish, he went out to the oxen, waiting with such provoking patience at the gate.

"Jest alike," he muttered, "yourn and mine; both lives jest alike. You pulls ter your yoke, an' I pulls ter mine, an' it's a toss up ter tell which pulls the hardest. Me, I reck'n, seein' as I might be said ter have a soul, an' you uns aint got none; but I kalkerlate yer aint much wusted fur that."

He gathered the rope, called to his team, and was soon out of sight. The little girl, sitting upon the step, had heard the boy's grumbling, and long after he had gone, she sat there wondering how she could help to lighten the burden for him.

She had dropped corn for him in the spring, had carried in all the chips he had made, had faithfully feed his hounds, and had learned pretty well how to help with the sheep.

She could think of nothing more to do. She was too small to assist in the hauling, even had she not been afraid of the great ugly, red oxen that twisted and wriggled their heads, as if the yoke were choking them.

Columbus continued his hauling, Tom Tucker was busy at the mill, and Mrs. Tucker, with some spinning and weaving to do before the cold weather set in, forgot all about the little girl, until one day she complained of a sore throat and a headache. And then, before they fairly realized she was sick, Dolores was dead. And before they fully comprehended that she was dead, she was laid away in the farthest corner of the neighborhood burying-ground, and the little grave under the hemlock-trees was all wrapped in a soft, white winding-sheet of snow.

Then the clatter ceased at the Tucker cabin—the bustle, the noise, the hurry, and the life. Death dropped a silence upon heart and household.

The loom and wheel were set aside in the corner of the kitchen, to gather dust and cobwebs; the yellow yarn would not be needed, for the feet it was to have warmed were treading meadows that are always clothed in summer.

Tom Tucker went spiritless to his work, his head bowed upon his breast, his heart empty, his life desolate, until at length he failed to go to his work at all, but sat about the cabin in a listless, useless way that was more touching than tears.

Columbus was right: "Life died along o' her, Dolory." Two winters had come and gone, and a second summer was flooding the mountain with beauty.

Down in the valley all was green and warm and sunny. From the summit of the overlooking mountain Columbus had watched, day after day, the windings of the Sequachie River, like a bent silver cord, gleaming in the sunlight. The boy had wondered, in a vague, uncertain way, why it was the summer never seemed fully to burst upon the mountain; it was always cool, generally misty, always hinting of winter on the mountain.

When the preacher left him, Columbus sat watching the sun creeping slowly across the yard; the hopper was crowned, flooded, with the light, long before his mother called him in to dinner.

When the silent, lonely meal was finished, he went to the rear of the cabin and took a hoe from a peachtree, among whose branches it had hung for two years, almost entirely undisturbed.

"Whar ye gwine ter, C'lumbus?" asked Tom Tucker, noticing the unusual proceeding.

"Gwine ter holp Parson Peck along o' his 'tater patch," replied Columbus.

The idea of work seemed somehow to strike the listless, heart-broken man.

"Ef I had a hoe, I'd g'long with ye," he said.

"Thar's the grub," said Columbus. "I'd as lief take hit."

Together they passed out beyond the gate, across the sedge field, and on to the parson's; but first Columbus had stopped in the kitchen to exchange his shoes for a heavier pair, a pair that would hide the holes in his socks.

His mother, seeing the worn out stocking the boy was attempting to conceal, awoke to the fact that her son needed socks; and so, while Tom and Columbus were weeding in Parson Peck's potato patch, she drew out the wheel, gave it a thorough cleaning, and drawing it into a shaded corner of the porch, was soon spinning away. After a while she forgot, and began to hum a tune in time to the buzz of the wheel.

"Work, work, work," sang the wheel, and "work, work, work," the awakened heart was keeping time.

"For it's work, work, work, that measures off the day, and it's work, work, work, that drives grim care away; and it's work, work, work, places pinions to the hours, and it's work, work, work that covers thorns with flowers, and it's work that cheers the spirit that with weary woe is spent, the very best of blessings that the good Lord ever sent."

What a tune the old neglected spinning wheel was singing, and how happily the heart was catching the measure!

Tom and Columbus, toiling away with Parson Peck in the potato patch, were surprised to find the sun so near setting, before they had half finished chopping the weeds from the long rows of hills.

"Better go home now," Tom said, when the sun began to lodge great crimson arrows in the hemlocks in the burying ground near by.

"Nothin' to do thar," said Columbus. "Let's finish the 'taters."

"C'lumbus," said Tom, resting his right arm on the handle of the hoe; "C'lumbus, hit's occurred ter me as we uns orter have a 'tater patch."

"Yaas," replied Columbus, who was ready for anything that promised a break in the year's monotony.

"An' C'lumbus," continued Tom, shifting the hoe to the left side; "C'lumbus, hit's occurred ter me as thar air lots o' work ter be done ter home."

"Yaas," said Columbus, "thar air lots ter be done ter our place."

"An', C'lumbus," said Tom, "hit's occurred ter me as 'twar time we uns war a doin' it."

Again the son agreed, and the two set out for home in the rich red glow of evening, ignorant as to the cause of the unusual content in each heart. Something had stirred, they could not have told what, but the crimson glory on the western sky seemed to reach down into the sleeping hearts, and suddenly they were awake, and full of the red, warm glow.

As they drew near the house, the sound of the wheel came to them, still humming away. They heard it before they saw the woman at work, and the cheerful, home-like sound had a pleasing effect.

Tom Tucker came round and took a seat on the step near the spinner's feet.

"Most time ter shet up shop, ain't it, Nancy?" he asked.

"Most time" was the reply: and then Columbus joined the group, and all were silent while the old wheel kept singing and humming its inspiring tune.

"Land, how the wheel do sing!" exclaimed Columbus. "She air fairly wordin' it. Listen: 'Work, work, work; the shadders still air growin', an' the darkness sure will fall, but it's work, work, work that will chase the shadders all.'"

"That's it," said Tom Tucker, catching the refrain. "Hit's work as holps us ter furgit it; I larnt it in the 'tater-patch."

"An' I larnt it from the wheel," said Nancy, "while I war a-spinning the thread fur C'lumbus's socks."

"Be it fur me, mammy?" asked Columbus, picking a brooch from the basketful at his mother's feet; "be it fur me?"

"Yaas, sonny, hit's fur ye. Ye be all we's got ter work fur, but we's got you."

"That's a true word, Nancy," said Tom. "An' we'll begin ter-morrer."

Poor Columbus! He had gained all he had longed for, but there was a deal of sadness in the realization. He thought of the little mound in the farthest corner of the graveyard, and sighed for the sister who had reigned so supremely in the hearts of his parents; and somehow he felt as if he were appropriating something that belonged to her. He had gained justice, affection, all, but he had lost his sister. Nothing, no amount of self-sacrifice, regret or sorrow could alter that, or restore to him the life that had once seemed a trespass upon his rights.

Things changed for the better at Tom Tucker's cabin; the place assumed its former air of bustle; work went on, and content followed in its track. Thrift and plenty crowned the laborers' efforts, and Columbus was master of the house, and sole recipient of his parents' affection. He was happy, but it was a subdued, purified content; it was a long time before he became thoroughly reconciled to the idea that it was right to be happy in Dolores's place; but as time passed on, the feeling wore away to some extent, though he often said: "I'd give it all ter have her back, poor Dolory, poor little sister!"—Youth's Companion.

Bill Nye's Useful Suggestions.

I take the liberty once more of replying to a few queries through your valuable [illegible] columns, says Bill Nye, in the New York Evening World.

Litterateur, Vt.—No; skimmygillions is not a proper word to use at the table. I do not know what it means, but it will be better to use some other word in the place of it. Many other words are equally resonant and opaque without giving offense.

Veritas.—Rub the gummy side of postage stamps on your hair a few times and it will prevent their sticking together in your pocket or purse. There is just oil enough in the hair to coat over the adhesive properties of the stamps and prevent their adhesion. A friend of mine who has hair tells me that this is the case.

Simmons, Philadelphia.—Yes, if you are the stenographer of a prominent man, and act as his private secretary, you are perfectly correct in signing your employer's name, "per Simmons." It is not only etiquette, but it is euphonious.

Lalla Rookh, Tampa, Fla., writes to know what he "should do to become a fluent writer and correspondent?"

To become a fluent writer there is no better method, perhaps, than to hold the pen lightly between the thumb and forefinger, allowing it to rest on the first joint of the middle or large finger. Let the arm rest easily on the fleshy portion of the forearm, with the penholder pointing about due west. Sit erect, think a few thoughts, then clothe them in such language as you feel that in your circumstances you can afford. In clothing a thought, do not put so much expense upon one particular garment that the idea will have to go before the public in its shirt sleeves. In other words, make your clothing business harmonious and consistent.

Two Cent Shoes.

In Japan children's shoes are made of blocks of wood secured with cords. The stocking resembles a mitten, having a separate place for the great toe. As these shoes are lifted only by the toes, the heels make a rattling sound as their owners walk, which is quite stunning in a crowd. They are not worn in the house, as they would injure the soft straw mats on the floor. You leave your shoes at the door. Every house is built with reference to the number of mats required for the floor, each room having from eight to sixteen, and in taking lodgings you pay so much for a mat. They think it extravagant in us to require a whole room to ourselves. The Japanese shoe gives perfect freedom to the foot. The beauty of the human foot is only seen in the Japanese. They have no corns, no ingrowing nails, no distorted joints. Our toes are cramped until they are deformed and are in danger of extinction. They have the full use of the toes, and to them they are almost like fingers. Nearly every mechanic makes use of his toes in holding his work. Every toe is fully developed. Their shoes cost two cents, and last six months.—Merchant-Traveler.

Watch Chains.

"There will not be so many watch chains worn this winter as last," said a Chestnut street jeweler to a Philadelphia Call man. "Why? Because they are going out of fashion with carefully dressed men. Do you remember when the fobs were worn some years ago? Pretty, were they not? In my opinion they will come in popular favor again this winter. We are slowly coming back to the habits and customs of our daddies, and right good habits and customs they were. Neither you nor I will live to see it, but there will come a time when Philadelphians will wear knickerbockers and silver buckles, and affect powdered wigs and the dress of one hundred years ago.

The Russian Minister of railways has appointed a committee to select a method of lighting railway cars with electricity, and all the principal companies will hereafter be compelled to use the light on passenger trains.

"I SAY WHAT I THINK."

"I say what I think," says the valiant man,
  With a voice and a look of daring,
Determined to act on a selfish plan,
  And nobody's comfort caring—
"I say what I think;" and at every chance
  This impulse of his obeying,
'Tis plain to be seen at a single glance
  He dosen't think what he's saying.

Oh, many an arrow will reach the heart
  For which it was never intended,
If a careless marksman wings the dart,
  And the hurt can never be mended;
And many a friendship may be lost,
  And many a love-link broken,
Because of neglect to count the cost
  Of words that are lightly spoken.

"I say what I think." Ah! the truly great,
  Who gave their wisdom expression
In choosen phrases, would hesitate
  To make such a rash confession,
For think what injuries might be wrought,
  What evils we could not smother,
If everybody said what they thought
  With regard to each other!

To say what you think is a noble thing
  When your voice for the right is needed,
To speak out your mind with a loyal ring
  When order and law are impeded;
But the evil thoughts that flow through the brain
  And the heart should be retarded,
For we lessen the tide of grief and pain
  When our speech is carefully guarded.

You may think what you choose, nor give offence,
  Be a traitor and not display it;
And if you're deficient in common sense,
  By silence you'll not betray it.
And let it be written in blackest ink,
  For the good of each son and daughter,
That those who always say what they think
  Are most of the time in hot water.
    —Josephine Pollard, in Young People.

PITH AND POINT.

What kind of a color is blind man's buff.—Tid-Bits.

Probably of all sensational developments, boils are the worst.

The name of a prominent Japanese is Iwindi. It suggests a blow between the i's.—Binghamton Republican.

All great men are attentive listeners. Many of them acquire the habit after marriage.—Somerville Journal.

The wife who carries on her husband's pawn shop after his decease is truly a "loan widder."—Washington Critic.

"Tight money," murmured the unfortunate in the police court as he paid the usual fine and costs.—Boston Bulletin.

Customer—What do you sell these cigars for? Clerk (absently)—Havanas—but they ain't by a long chalk!—Tid-Bits.

The boy who is obliged to go through the "Shorter Catechism" wonders how it happended to come by its name.—Boston Courier.

Physiologists say that the older a man grows the smaller his brain becomes. This explains why young men know everything and old men nothing.—Boston Courier.

Before you call attention to the fact that a pig has no use for his tail please remember that you have two buttons on the lower back of your coat that don't button anything.—Puck.

"You were a prize-fighter once, I believe?" Yes, and I was remarkably successful. I whipped every man I met, and at one time intended to challenge the champion." "Why didn't you challenge him?" "Well, just about that time I got married and the conceit was taken out of me in two days."—Nebraska State Journal.

"Suppose, Tommy," said a Kansas city teacher, "that your father owned forty lots, and a man from Chicago should buy sixteen of them, and a man from St. Louis should buy twenty, what would be left?" "Where are the men from?" asked Tommy, "Chicago and St. Louis?" "Yes." "Pa would be left; he wouldn't get any money."—Epoch.

Proximity of Some Birds to Water.

Mr. William Lloyd, who has been exploring the arid plains of Western Texas, says: "During the past summer I have been trying, or rather verifying, an important fact which I stumbled on about four years ago, namely, what birds indicate the presence of water in their neighborhood? Of course any statement on the subject should be proved by a number of facts, based on experiments in different localities. Three times this summer I have camped from simply seeing certain birds, and on hunting for water have found it in each case. As certainties I can give the following species, with the greatest distance at which each occurs from water: Cardinal, one mile; warblers (including chat), one mile; vireos, two miles; mocking birds, two and one-half to three and one-half miles; blue grosbeak, the same; orchard oriole, Bullock's oriole, and nonpareil, each three miles; Carolina dove, three to five miles; black-capped titmouse, four miles; Texas Cardinal, six miles. This only applies to summer, and will not hold in winter or during migrations.

Killing Four Squirrels at One Shot.

Probably never before in any part of the country where game so little abounds has there been a shot fired with the same effect, under similar circumstances, as the one which Andy Dixon, of Glascock County, made a few days ago. Dixon killed four squirrels at one shot and wounded a fifth. The squirrels were out on the limbs of a tree, and not in a nest or hollow. A negro named Warren Davis a day or two ago killed four squirrels at one shot. Three of them were young ones, and they were trying to take a hickory nut from the mouth of an old "frisky tail." In these days when a hunter kills even one squirrel at a shot it is counted a good many.—Savannah News.

A Show of Hands.

We wish it were as near spring as it is winter. All in favor of the motion manifest it by the uplifted hand, and many others.—Danville Breeze.

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 15, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - - $1.50
One copy six months - - - - 75
One copy four " - - - - 50

The Fort Payne Journal hereafter it seems will remain as dumb as a dead duck on the subject of anarchy and anarchists. Something has nipped its little boom for anarchy in the bud.

An article in the Age is headed, "Cultivate your Cats," as their fur is becoming valuable for manufacturing purposes. The Age need not be apprehensive that the cats will neglect to attend to this matter themselves.

Mr. George Williams, of Bullock county, is announced as a candidate for State Auditor. Unless Auditor Burke dies or does something terrible before the convention meets, Mr. Williams will probably come tearing out behind in the race. We don't think the people or the Democratic party want any change in the Auditor's office.

Judge J. S. Bentley, of Coosa, tells the public of his county through the Enterprise of Rockford, that prohibition has done much good in that community. Judge Bentley favors the repeal of the internal revenue tax, because it has built up a monopoly and furnishes the drinking man with poisons instead of pure liquors. Judge B. is an outspoken prohibitionist.

Tuskegee News and Mail: Manufacturing enterprises are built up and encouraged by a protective tariff, which enables them to compete with foreign trade. The laborer is benefitted by the increased wages which the manufacturer can pay out of his profits; and the farmer is greatly benefitted by the market for his products which manufacturing enterprises create and by the increased value of farm lands, enhanced by the demand created for all kinds of farm products at remunerative prices.

The Age finds that it will have to revise its list of Alabama papers that favor protection in some form or another to American industries. The CHILTON VIEW was unintentionally left out. Of course the Age was well acquainted with the opinions of the VIEW on this question. The VIEW began its work early in the good cause.—Birmingham Age.

Now if the Age will read this issue of the VIEW carefully, it will find that the Tuskegee News is also in favor of protection to home products and labor.

The Tariff.

Tuskegee News and Mail.]

We have refrained from a discussion of this subject, because we believe it would not be an issue in the Democratic party, but it appears now that the issue will be thrust on the party. We see no necessity for an issue of this kind, the main issue should be the repeal of the internal revenue tax on whiskey and tobacco. If this is removed the different views on the tariff will lead to the same practical result. In other words, if the internal revenue tax is repealed a tariff sufficient for the necessary revenue of the Government will furnish all the protection needed, and the tariff sufficient for all the protection needed will furnish the revenue necessary for the Government economically administered. This is a simple solution of the tariff question, and we believe an all sufficient one. We are in favor of a protective tariff for protection's sake, but we want it to furnish the necessary revenue for the Government. There was a time, under the old regime, when Alabama had no need for a protective tariff. She had no need for anything except a market for her cotton, and a mart in which to purchase slaves. But all this has been changed, there has been a new revolution of the wheel of time, and we have a new Alabama. We have need for other products besides cotton. We must have diversified industries. To have these we must have manufacturing enterprises, we must encourage commerce, and to do this we must have a protective tariff. The tariff needs revision—we believe Democrats all agree as to this—but it should be carefully handled. Alabama is on the upward bound, and we cannot afford to make any mistakes.

There should be no difference of opinion among Democrats as to the repeal of the internal revenue tax on whiskey and tobacco. This is undemocratic, and the manner of its collection obnoxious to the citizens of a free republic. Some are misled by the idea that these are luxuries, or evils, and should be taxed. We agree to this. We would not care if they were taxed out of existence, especially whiskey. But we do object to the United States Government levying this tax, and using its machinery to collect it, making "moonshiners" and sneaks out of our citizens. Let the State tax whiskey or prohibit its sale, but let us have a free Republican government administered on sound Democratic principles. The internal revenue tax should be repealed and the tariff revised and equalized so as to furnish ample protection to encourage diversified industries. If there is then any surplus revenue it can be constitutionally and beneficially used for internal improvements.

The President's Message.

In reading President Cleveland's message we find that he is conservative and not extreme in advising tariff reduction. He does not desire to see our home industries endangered for lack of protection against foreign competition, and he advises deliberation and caution in more than one paragraph upon this important point.

The surplus in the treasury is the bete noir which he attacks candidly, boldly, and, in our opinion, admirably. This surplus can be considerably reduced he thinks, but in any effort to accomplish this object, the President advises a conservative course, without giving any particular plan, in doctoring the tariff laws; having the wisest reasons for fearing that the surplus might, by a sweeping reduction of the tariff, be increased instead of diminished, and the industrial interests of the country at the same time jeopardized.

The President says that our manufacturing activities which have been built upon the good faith of our tariff laws should not be injured, and the American laborer who draws contentment and good wages from these enterprises comes in for a share of consideration likewise.

The tariff question is one that requires a giant intellect to wrestle with it successfully. We have an abiding faith that President Cleveland handles it wisely and well. Like Mr. Randall he favors tariff reduction, and like Mr. Randall he asks that due consideration be given home industries and home labor.

The Democratic party is pledged to this course and should now proceed to fulfil its promises.

Success in Journalism.

Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, editor of New York World, was cornered the other day and interviewed on the subject of "Success in Journalism." Among other sensible things, he said:

"I think, considering the number of newspapers, the great prizes are very few. Still, I should consider a newspaper property much preferable and safer than an ordinary commercial house. When I speak of 'prizes' I mean that when a great newspaper is very successful it seems almost as rare as a Patti among the opera singers. There is only one Patti in the world, and very few prima donnas. So there are a few of the many newspapers that pay extraordinarily well. The majority of the newspapers pay fairly well, but many have a hard struggle, and quite a number go out of existence every year. For every newspaper that succeeds ten new papers are started and fail after a melancholy existence and the loss of a great deal of money. The law of compensation, however, seems to make it almost impossible to destroy a newspaper after it is once fully established upon a paying basis."

Cooper's Jottings.

In order that it may be known that we are still in motion, allow us to say that our saw mills are in full blast, and everything lively.

Mr. Singleton Posey has been quite sick but he is fast recovering.

Mrs. Myers, an aged Christian lady, died last Thursday.

Mr. P. C. Dennis, was hurried away to Texas on last Sunday morning, Dec. 4th, by a sad telegram that his brother-in-law (John Estes) was dangerously ill.

Our clever merchants are doing a good business buying cotton, and selling goods.

Our school is flush and increasing under the management of our competent preceptor, Mr. A. J. L. Dennis.

Our Church (Baptist) is in a prosperous condition, with an excellent Sabbath School, and a proposition has been submitted to treat our little ones with the enjoyment of a Christmas tree about which the young people are very much elated.

BEST AND CHEAPEST.

No More Need of Sending Out of Alabama for what You Want.

Do you take a weekly newspaper printed outside of Alabama? There is no use in your doing so, unless you are able to take a number of journals. Not one of them is so good for a citizen of Alabama as the MONTGOMERY WEEKLY ADVERTISER. It is the best for you, because

1. Printed at the capital, and with correspondents all over the State, it gives you several pages of Alabama news—everything fresh and full. No other paper in the world offers such attractions to an Alabamian.

2. It has an agricultural department edited by Col. J. S. Newman, President of the State Agricultural Society, and Director of the Experiment Stations at Auburn and Uniontown. This is about Alabama soils and crops, and for Alabama farmers. No other paper in the country affords this.

Its general news of the country and world is as complete as any weekly's north or south. It prints Talmage's sermons and a nice story every week. It is a clean family paper unsurpassed anywhere.

It is the best plainly, and it is cheaper too, because it prints 12 pages every week of such costly, newsy, instructive matter, the best obtainable for an Alabamian's tastes, for one dollar a year.

You need a paper full of Alabama news next year, because every office in the State from Governor down to constable is to be elected, with the exception of Probate Judge and Circuit Clerk. The Presidential election also takes place, and a successor to Senator Morgan is to be chosen. A great fight is to be made on the tariff, and the Advertiser is the leading paper in the State against the high protective tariff, which is so hard on the people. Subscribe now and keep posted.

Agents are wanted in every neighborhood on cash commissions. Sample copies free. Inducements to get up clubs. Address THE ADVERTISER, Montgomery, Ala.

Attention R. R. L.

For sprains, bruises, rheumatism, cramps, inflammation, swellings, cuts, burns, etc., in man, and splint, ring bone, windgall, epizootic, scratches, etc. in horses, Rangum Root Liniment is a sure cure. The "King of Liniments" is a universal verdict. Never fails to cure any ailment that can be reached by an external medical application. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

DEEP Sea Wonders exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards, wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

Mortgage Sale.

Under and by virtue of a mortgage executed by Osmon R. Bell and his wife Lena Bell to Mary A. Baker, on the 17th day of January, 1884, and duly recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton county, Alabama, in Vol. 10 of deeds, on page 237, the undersigned will proceed to sell at the courthouse door in Clanton, Alabama, between the legal hours of sale, at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, on Thursday, December 29th, 1887,

the following described property to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southeast quarter (s w ¼ of s e ¼) sec 36, township 22, range 14, and that tract of land described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of sec 36 t 22 r 14, running thence west to the northeast corner of block eighteen in the town of Clanton; thence south one hundred and sixty feet; thence west two hundred feet; thence south one hundred and fifty feet; thence west three hundred and fity feet, thence north three hundred and ten feet; thence west to the south east corner of block number ten, in said town of Clanton; thence south to the south line of the Northwest quarter of the North west quarter of section 1, township 21, range 14; thence east and along said line to the south east corner of the North east quarter of the North west quarter of section 1, township 21, range 14; thence North to the place of beginning, and all that part of the Northwest quarter of the south east quarter of section 36, township 22, range 14, lying and being on the south west side of the main run of Goose Pond Creek, and all lying and being in Chilton County, Alabama.

MARY A. BAKER,
WM. A. COLLIER, Att'y.
Clanton, Ala., Dec. 7th 1887. 2t

RICHLY Rewarded are those who read this and then act; they will find honorable employment that will not take them from their homes and families. The profits are large and sure for every industrious person, many have made and are now making several hundred dollars a month. It is easy for any one to make $5 and upwards per day, who is willing to work. Either sex, young or old; capital not needed; we start you. Everything new. No special ability required; you reader can do it as well as any one. Write to us at once for full particulars, which we mail free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

NOTICE NO. 7171.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 10, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on Jan. 21, 1888, viz: William R. Burnett, Homestead 13927, for the w ½ of ne ¼ and ne ¼ of ne ¼, sec. 28, t 21 n, r 14 e. He names the following witness to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz: Jesse Aldridge, James Mims and Silas Culp, of Clanton, and John R. Kemp, of Kincheon.

dec15 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7145.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 14, viz: Louisiana Webb, Homestead 19850 for the nw ¼ sec 12 township 21 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Jones, William Thomas, William Huckaby and Gilbert Driver, all of Cooper's, Ala.

dec8 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

MAKES CHILD-BIRTH EASY!

SHORTENS LABOR. LESSENS THE PAIN ATTENDING IT! DIMINISHES THE DANGER to LIFE of MOTHER and CHILD.

Should be used a few months before confinement. Send for book "To Mothers," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

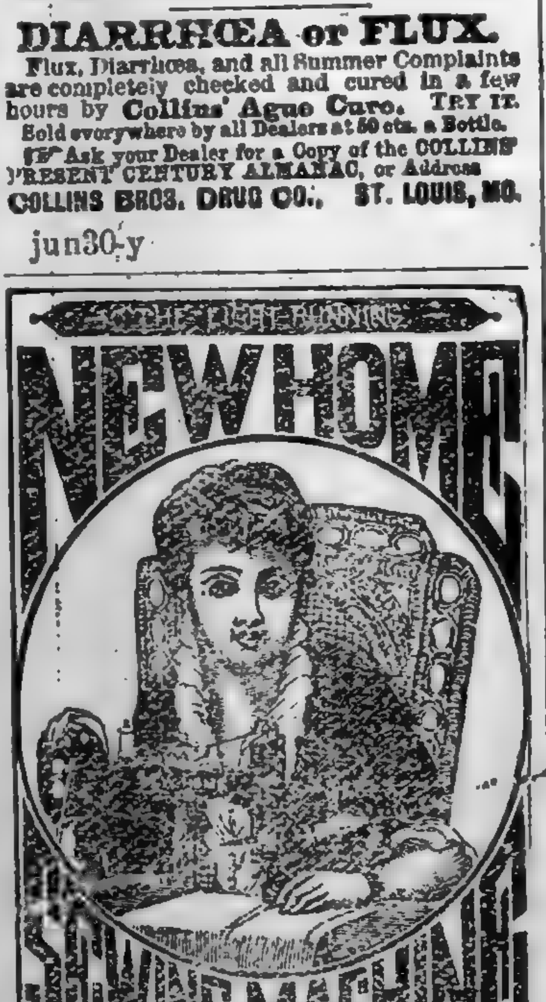
BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle. ☞ Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y



THE LIGHT RUNNING NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR. NEVER OUT OF ORDER.

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO, ILL. — 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. — DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887,

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17903 for the n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 24 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gip G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE BLIND BLEEDING
ITCHING INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PILES
50 CTS & $1 PER BOTTLE

ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT

CURES SPRAINS, BRUISES, RHEUMATISM SORE THROAT, SPAVIN SPLINT, RINGBONE EPIZOOTIC, Etc. 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

HODGES SARSAPARILLA

CURES RHEUMATISM, SCROFULA & ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD. $1 PER BOTTLE. 6 FOR $5.

TANNERS INFALLIBLE NEURALGIA CURE

CURES ALL FORMS OF NEURALGIA & NERVIOUS HEADACHE. 50 CTS PER BOX.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.

EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS
THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.
Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L & N
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

THE GREAT

Through Trunk Line

Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS, And the Cities of NASHVILLE, MEMPHIS, MONTGOM'Y, MOBILE and N. ORLEANS

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A.
(2) Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
SELMA, ALABAMA.

mar24-y}

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. B. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,

Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

☞ The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are without exception the cheapest books ever published in any land or language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself:

Wonders of the World, NATURAL AND OTHER. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive.

Wonders of the Sea. A description of the many wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with profuse illustrations.

"A Pleasure Exertion," and Other Sketches. By "JOSIAH ALLEN'S WIFE." A collection of irresistibly funny sketches by the most popular humorous writer of the day.

The Aunt Keziah Papers, by CLARA AUGUSTA, author of "The Rugg Documents." A most ridiculously funny book—in every way equal to "Widow Bedott."

Christmas Stories, by CHARLES DICKENS. Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Each one is complete.

Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, puzzles and games, for the little folks at home.

Popular Recitations and Dialogues, humorous, dramatic and pathetic, including all the latest, best and most popular.

The Self-made Men of Modern Times. Contains portraits and biographies of famous self-made Americans, from the time of Franklin to the present.

Familiar Quotations. Containing the origin and authorship of many phrases frequently met in reading and conversation. A valuable work of reference.

Low Life in New York. A series of vivid pen pictures showing the dark side of life in the great city. Illustrated.

The Road to Wealth. Not an advertising circular, but a thoroughly practical work, pointing out a way by which all may make money, easily, rapidly and honestly.

One Hundred Popular Songs, sentimental, pathetic and comic, including most of the favorites, new and old.

Sir Noel's Heir. A Novel. By MRS. MAY AGNES FLEMING.

A Bartered Life. A Novel. By MARION HARLAND.

An Old Man's Sacrifice. A Novel. By MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS.

The [illegible] Rubies. A Novel. By M. T. CALDOR.

The Old Oaken Chest. A Novel. By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

The Pearl of the Ocean. A Novel. By CLARA AUGUSTA.

Hollow Ash Hall. A Novel. By MARGARET BLOUNT. Illustrated.

Cliffe House. A Novel. By ETTA W. PIERCE.

Under the Lilacs. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne."

The Diamond Bracelet. A Novel. By MRS. HENRY WOOD. Illustrated.

The Lawyer's Secret. A Novel. By MISS M. E. BRADDON.

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. A Novel. By R. L. STEVENSON.

A Wicked Girl. A Novel. By MARY CECIL HAY.

Lady Valworth's Diamonds. A Novel. By "THE DUCHESS."

Between Two Sins. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

The Nine of Hearts. A Novel. By B. L. FARJEON.

Doris's Fortune. A Novel. By FLORENCE WARDEN.

A Low Marriage. A Novel. By MISS MULOCK. Illustrated.

The Guilty River. A Novel. By WILKIE COLLINS.

The Poison of Asps. A Novel. By FLORENCE MARRYAT.

Moat Grange. A Novel. By MRS. HENRY WOOD.

Forging the Fetters. A Novel. By MRS. ALEXANDER.

A Playwright's Daughter. A Novel. By MRS. ANNIE EDWARDS. Illustrated.

Fair but False. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

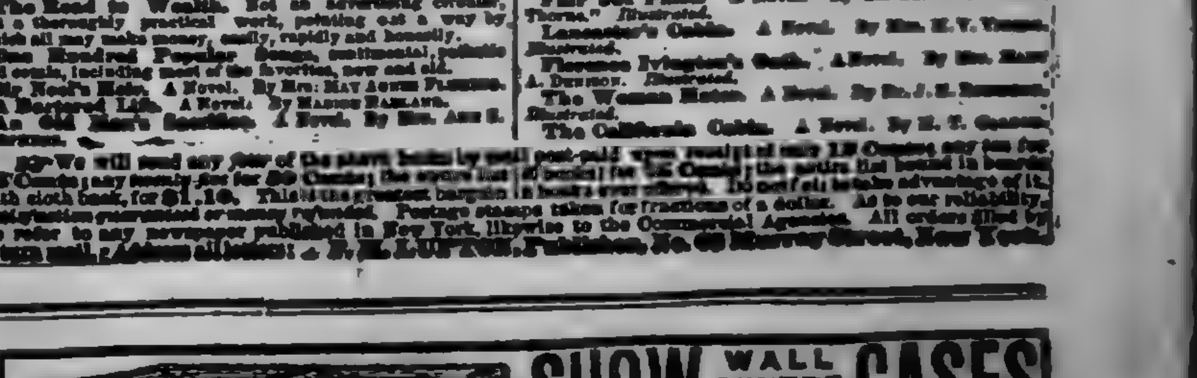
Lancaster's Cabin. A Novel. By MRS. M. V. VICTOR. Illustrated.

Florence Irvington's Oath. A Novel. By MRS. MARY A. DENISON. Illustrated.

The Woman Hater. A Novel. By DR. J. H. ROBINSON. Illustrated.

The California Cabin. A Novel. By M. T. CALDOR.

☞ We will send any four of the above books by mail post-paid upon receipt of only 12 Cents; any ten for 25 Cents; any twenty-five for 50 Cents; the entire list ([illegible] books) for [illegible] Cents; the entire list bound in boards, with cloth back, for $1.10. This is the greatest bargain in books ever offered. Do not fail to take advantage of it. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Postage stamps taken for fractions of a dollar. As to our reliability, we refer to any newspaper published in New York, likewise to the Commercial Agencies. All orders filled by return mail. Address all orders: F. M. LUPTON, Publisher, No. 63 Murray Street, New York.



SHOW CASES
WALL CENTRE RIBBON
ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.
CABINET WORK.
TERRY SHOW CASE CO.
Catalogue Free

sep 8-y

GO TO BLANK BROS., LEADING CLOTHIERS, 2112 SECOND AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 15, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

These answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Miss Dalee Thornton visited relatives in Birmingham last week.

Sheet music, three pieces for 25 cents at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Subscribe for the VIEW. Don't borrow it every week to read at some one else's expense.

Mr. Pritchett expects his rice mill next week and proposes to place it at work at once at Baker's mill.

Mr. Wm. Headley, one of the oldest settlers of this section, died at his home several miles southwest of this place on Sunday night last.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Send a Christmas card to your friends at a distance. You can find a nice collection of them at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

The proceeds of the Oyster Supper at the Courthouse, on Tuesday night after Christmas, will go towards buying a bell for the M. E. Church.

The mails have been so irregular the past week that we have not received our usual number of interesting communications from our correspondents.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

A mad dog at Bivings & Duke's mill caused some excitement in the neighborhood. He was killed after having bitten several valuable dogs, which were also killed.

Christmas! Christmas!!

Don't lose your opportunity to select from the largest, best and cheapest stock of first class toys in town. Come and see.

C. L. PHILLIPS.

The young men of Clanton had a meeting on Monday night and organized the Young Men's Fantastic Club. This club will have a parade on Monday after Christmas, the 26th inst., in the afternoon, and will have a masked party that night.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Read the advertisement of the Montgomery Advertiser which appears in the VIEW. We will take subscriptions to the VIEW and the Advertiser for $2.25 for the two papers. Now is the time to subscribe. You will get a premium by subscribing for the two together.

If you want first class confectioneries or groceries, Christmas toys &c., call on Mrs. M. A. Butler & Bro., where you can buy them as cheap as anywhere in town. Call and see them before you buy elsewhere. They also give the best market price for chickens and eggs.

Christmas Goods.

I have just received a nice lot of toys, fire-works, candies, &c., for the holiday trade. Also a new lot of dry goods and notions. I keep the best Patent flour that can be had anywhere at $5.50 per barrel. Clothing at reduced prices to close out what I have in stock.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPEY.

The Christmas tree of the Baptist Sunday School will be had at the church on Friday night before Christmas and the Methodist tree will be on Saturday night, Christmas eve. Elsewhere will be found a list of the committees appointed by each school and the duties they are to perform.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Rev. H. R. Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, will deliver a lecture to the public at the Baptist church to night on Palestine and the Holy Land. Mr. Coleman is the author of that splendid book on Free Masonry, "Light From the East." He is a man of large information and extensive travels and will have much of interest to say to our peopeople. Let every body turn out to hear him. He will also deliver a lecture to the Masonic Lodge at this place to-morrow (Friday) night.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

The rains of last week were very damaging to the L. & N. R. R. A draw bridge over Bayou Sara near Bay Minnette was turned to let a tug pass. No signals being out, a freight train which came thundering along ran into the draw. The engine and four cars were buried in the waters, and the engineer and fireman barely escaped a watery grave by jumping from the engine. No lives lost. A span of the Alabama river bridge which was undergoing repairs succumbed to the pressure of drift, and was washed away. One of the workmen was drowned by the accident, and another very seriously injured.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Committees Appointed for the Christmas Trees.

Below we publish the committees appointed by each of the Sunday schools for attending to their respective Christmas trees.

FOR THE BAPTIST TREE.

Committee to get the tree.—L. C. Day, Chairman, R. C. Duke, Eugene Sartor and George Watts.

Committee to arrange tree, select music and buy the presents.—Mrs. E. C. Lawrence, Ch'rm, Mrs. McRee, Mrs. Lee Stewart, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, Mrs. W. H. Burton, Mrs. W. A. Collier, Miss Mamie Brushwood and Miss Georgia Jones.

This committee has the right to call on any of the young men of the Sunday School to assist them if they are needed.

Committee to take presents off the tree.—W. H. Sartor, Chr'm, N. A. Kicker, W. L. Sampey and W. H. Phillips.

Committee to distribute the presents.—Robt. Aldridge, Chr'm, Otis Chandler, Claude McRee, and Eddie Gartman.

Committee to arrange Sunday school programme.—R. E. R. Hicks, Chr'm, A. D. Bentley, J. C. Lawrence, Miss Mollie Hannon, Miss Nannie Duke and Mrs. Gartman.

This committee had a meeting on Tuesday night and decided that they did not have sufficient time to get up an appropriate program and carry it out successfully and will request the pastor to have church service instead.

FOR THE METHODIST TREE.

Committee to get the tree.—Curtis Edwards, Tom Gullahorn, John Standfield and John Hester.

Committee to distribute the presents.—Alfred Lewis, John Gullahorn, Jack Gullahorn, Glaucus Evans and Eugene Evans.

Committee of arrangement.—Misses Annie Mahone, Dalee Thornton, Mattie Wright, Minnie Phillips, Glennie Phillips, Clara McDonald, Augusta Evans, Gamma Middleton, Anna Standfield, Rena Rembert, Phena Wood, Willie Cast and Mary Hester.

Christmas Exercise Committee.—Mrs. O. A. Duke, Miss Anna Mahone and Miss Augusta Evans.

Train robbers have been getting in some heavy work in Arkansas.

There are remedies and remedies, but no preparation has ever been compounded to equal White's Cream Vermifuge as a worm medicine. It is absolutely pure, safe, simple and efficacious and no mother who has ever tried it but pronounces it not only a success, but the only worm medicine that positively accomplishes all that is claimed for it.

A case of small pox is reported at Morgansville, on the Mobile and Montgomery railroad.

TINC

Don't suffer any longer, but use Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure, the only infallible cure on earth for all forms of neuralgia, and nervous headache. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn 50 cents per box. Sold by all druggists. sep 1

The new Code of Alabama cost the State the snug little fortune of $25,388.05. This includes everything in connection with it.

The claims to merit of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment will not fade away in the light of candid experiment, for it is the only remedy that will afford permanent relief for piles. Many who have applied vainly to physicians for relief, have found it only in Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment. Now you have the name of the greatest pile remedy.

Notice.

Let everybody remember that we are in Clanton to keep the public supplied with fresh meats of all kinds, and will be found at our stand, next door to M. C. McRee's every day.

2t CARGILL & JONES.

Now is the Time to use Hodges' Sarsaparilla with Iodide of Potash, the great purifier for the blood. A certain cure for rheumatism, scrofulous affections, and all diseases peculiar to females. Renovates and invigorates the system. Physicians recommend it. Take no other. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Ex-Treasurer Ike Vincent has been carried to Pratt Mines to serve his sentence of fifteen years. Examining physicians having reported him consumptive it is not thought that he will be able to do much hard work.

EPO

Don't waste time and money and undergo needless torture with the knife when when Ethiopian Pile Ointment will afford instant relief and certain cure in every case of blind, bleeding, itching, internal and external piles. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Thomas C. Hance, of Madison, N. Y., aged 106 years, is thought to be the oldest voter in the United States. If he lived to vote in the recent election in that State, that would be his 78th State or national vote. In pleasant weather he works among flowers with great care and taste. His father lived to be 99 years old, and with his wife celebrated their 75th marriage anniversary a few weeks ago, in Hagerstown, Md. Two uncles were over 82, an aunt 94, two brothers 93 and 97, a sister was killed by a fall at 88, several cousins over 83 and 95. Thomas Hance was always strictly temperate and we would suppose a keg of "Old Rye" would have lasted the whole generation their life time.—Moulton Advertiser.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

Grand Raffle!

A $1500 DWELLING.

Only $3 a Chance.

The residence of James Bell in Clanton is to be raffled at THREE DOLLARS A CHANCE, with 500 chances. This residence is most conveniently situated about 300 yards from the Courthouse. It contains five rooms, and a well of excellent free stone water is on the premises, together with all necessary outhouses. The building is a new and substantial structure having been erected only two years. The lot is one acre in extent. Titles good. Drawing will take place as soon as the tickets are all sold. Tickets for sale at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND.

HERE I AM!

I have opened at my old stand in Clanton

A New Stock of Goods!

And I propose to sell them at the lowest cash prices. Call on me and secure bargains in groceries and family supplies. Respectfully,

J. W. EDWARDS.

Machine fixtures always on hand.

G. E. WILLIAMS, BLACKSMITH

—AND—

WHEELWRIGHT.

CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.

Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,

J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Assessor's Notice.

I will attend the following named places on the days here named for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1888:

Dixie	Beat 8	Monday,	January	2
Valley Creek	" 8	Wed'sday,	"	4
R. Latham's	" 7	Friday,	"	6
Maplesville	" 7	Saturday	"	7
Macedonia	" 3	Tuesday	"	10
D. Wooley's	" 2	Wednesday	"	11
Concord C'h	" 2	Thursday	"	12
Providence	" 2	Friday	"	13
S. E. Busby's	" 2	Saturday	"	14
Jemison	" 2	Monday	"	16
Busbee's Mill	" 3	Tuesday	"	17
Strasburg	" 4	Wed'sday	"	18
Jno. Archer's	" 1	Thursday	"	19
D.H. Mullin's	" 1	Friday	"	20
Jas. Smith's	" 4	Saturday	"	21
Cane Cr'k C'h	" 4	Monday	"	23
Clanton	" 4	Tuesday	"	24
Clanton	" 4	Wed'sday	"	25
Pleas. Grove	" 6	Thursday	"	26
Benson	" 3	Friday	"	27
Verbena	" 5	Tuesday	"	31
Joe Alred's	" 5	Wed'sday	Feb'y	1
Cooper's	" 5	Thursday	"	2
Kincheon	" 6	Friday	"	3
Chamber's Mill,	beat 6,	Saturday	"	9

W. A. SMITH, Tax Assessor.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

MUSIC GIVEN AWAY 5 PIECES FREE! FOR THE POSTAGE.

To introduce our Sheet Music and get 10,000 names of music buyers to whom we can mail lists of latest new music, etc., we will, on receipt of 10 cents for postage, send FREE of charge Five Complete Pieces Choice Vocal and Instrumental Music, full size (11½ x 13 in.,) printed on heavy music paper; same as usually sold at music stores at from 30 to 50 cents per piece. If you play or sing, send us your name and address, and we will show you how to save money in buying music. Our Last Grand Offer to music buyers will interest you. Ask for it, as well as our Free Catalogues of Music and Music Books, if you haven't them already. All Music Sold at Reduced Rates. Cheapest Place in U. S. to buy. LUDDEN & BATES Southern Music House, SAVANNAH, GA.

LOOK! LOOK!! LOOK!!! JOHN B. RODEN,

Bookseller and Stationer,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to surprise everybody with the lowest prices and the most beautiful stock ever seen in Ala. Big drives in books, fancy writing paper, gold pens, albums, and also music and jewelry.

☞ Mr. Roden has a music house and also a jewelry store, seperate from his book store, where you can find anything you want. Give him a call. o20y

This Space Belongs to

A. J. BROOKS,

VERBENA, ALA.

Who can give you bargains in anything you may want to buy.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,

—MONTGOMERY, ALA.—

Large Stock! Low Prices!

Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.

GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.

☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,

FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB & HERSHEY CO.,

FOUNDERS and MACHINISTS.

—JOBBERS IN—

Tools, Machinery and Railroad Supplies,

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, &c.

PLANTATION AND BRICK-MAKERS' SUPPLIES, HAND AND POWER ELEVATORS, ETC.

GRAY IRON A SPECIALTY.

THE ONLY FIRM IN THE SOUTH WHO SELL UNIFORMLY AT MANUFACTURERS' NET PRICES.

OFFICE COR. 1ST AVE. AND 21ST STREET, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
[aug 18-y]

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

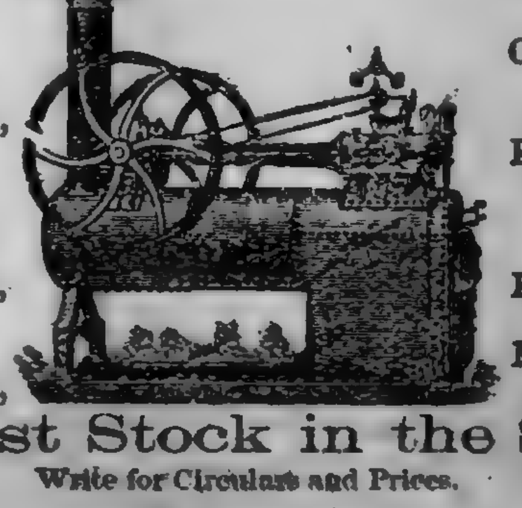
We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,

Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS,



COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES. PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.

☞ Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,

OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,

—DEALER IN—

Guns and Ammunition,

GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,

Wholesale Grocers,

P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,

Artistic Photographer

10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty.

Photograhs, on Silk, Satin and Linen. Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.

All Sittings made Instantaneously, Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,

Wholesale Druggists,

FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

MEDICINES,

Fine Wines, Liquors, Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's

BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to

Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞ MONTGOMERY STABLES, ☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. janly

J. H. SHEPHERD

THE LEADING

PHOTOGRAPHER.

—OF—

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds Work Done in the BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,

Leading Tailor.

1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods,

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,

—DEALER IN—

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.

☞ Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'F'G Co., Baltimore, Md. oct6-6m

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
LANGSTON, HAND & COMPANY,
NO SHODDY GOODS!
-:- LOW -:- PRICES -:-
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.

I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
☞ Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
☞ For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters. Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala
☞ When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
23 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Coll rs & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
☞ Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones. ☜
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m]

ADVERTISE NOW.

We will insert you a nice, well-displayed advertisement at as low rates as any first-class paper can afford to do. Advertising rates made known on application.

SUPPORT YOUR HOME PAPER.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Dr. Buisson, of Paris, claims to cure hydrophobia by hot baths often repeated. He makes the patient remain continually in a hot room, and the baths are made as hot as 142 degrees.

Mr. T. P. White asserts that the salts formed by fruit acids and tin are harmless, and that poisoning by canned fruits must be due to solder or other impurities—arsenic, copper or lead.

A third crystalline form of carbon has been discovered in meteoric iron from Western Australia. The mineral, which is to be called Cliftonite, resembles the diamond in the shape of its crystals, but in color and other respects it is more like graphite.

Tomatoes raised in light, rather poor soil, in a sheltered or warm situation, are always sweet in favorable seasons, while those raised in rich soil or in partial shade are always sour. A rank growth of foliage shades the fruit densely, and interferes with the development of the saccharine principle. Again, tomatoes raised in poorish, light soil ripen earlier than those raised in rich soil.

A patented weather prognosticator sold in Prague is a landscape covered with the salts of cobalt. These colors are very sensitive to moisture, and are made still more so by mixture with gelatine. With increasing moisture in the atmosphere, the blue heavens of the picture assumed a dirty red hue, and the green grass and foliage, the yellow background, etc., are also strikingly changed in color.

According to one of the French chemical journals, a plant belonging to the lettuce tribe, technically known as soachus oleraceus, and common on the wayside and among dry rubbish heaps in France, has been found to yield, in fair proportion, a very good quality of caoutchouc. To this end the plants are steeped in carbon bisulphide, and afterward boiled in alcohol and caustic potash. About 4.3 per cent. of the weight is thus obtained as caoutchouc.

Dr. Brown-Sequard has just read a remarkable paper before the French Academy of Sciences on the movements of the muscles after death. Many physiologists believe that these post-mortem movements are due to atmospheric causes. Dr. Sequard controverts this, although he does not deny that they may be partially brought on by variations of the temperature. He argues that the real cause of such movements is to be sought in the vitality of the muscles, which remains in a dead body sometimes forty-five hours after death.

The extensive subsidences at Northwich, England, according to Mr. Thomas Ward, have no other cause than the pumping of brine for the manufacture of white salt. The upper bed of salt lies beneath about fifty yards of marl; the lower bed, separated from the first by ten yards of marl, is over thirty yards thick. The sinking was first noticed about 1770, a century after the first discovery of salt, and has progressed rapidly since. Much property has been destroyed, and large lakes have been formed—one having an area of 100 acres and all depths up to forty-five feet.

A white squall is one which produces no diminution of light. This furious and dangerous gust appears in clear weather without any other warning than the white foam it occasions on the surface of the sea and a very thin haze. It usually breaks upon a vessel when she is totally unprepared for such a strain upon her canvas, and consequently proves one of the most dangerous foes of the sailor's existence. A black squall is far less dangerous, as it is usually preceded by an accumulation of dark clouds and accompanied by heavy rain. Time is thus given to trim sails and to avert peril.

Many Miles of Silk Ribbon.

An enormous length of silk ribbon is manufactured in Passaic County, N. J., yearly. In the city of Paterson alone, during the past month, the silk manufacturers have used up 805,625 ribbon labels, and as it is only an average month that would make 3,667,500 labels in a year. Each label is wound around a block containing ten yards of ribbon, which would make 36,675,000 yards a year made in Paterson alone. This is 110,025,000 feet; and in 110,025,000 feet there are but a little less than 22,781 miles. This would reach from Washington to Java and back. It is two and a half times the distance to Canton, China, three times the distance to the Cape of Good Hope, and seven times across the ocean from New York to England.

Paterson manufactures three-quarters of all the ribbons made in this country. About one-tenth as much more is imported. As a considerable quantity is exported, it would be impossible to estimate how much is consumed in America, but a careful calculation would, perhaps, make it about 30,000 miles a year, or considerably more than enough to put a silken belt around the earth.

The output of broad silk in yards is about one-tenth that of the ribbons in this country, and the product in silk handkerchiefs about one-tenth more. The value runs up into the millions annually. Directly or indirectly the silk manufacture in America gives employment to about 65,000 people.—New York Sun.

How Tar and Turpentine are Made.

Turpentine is an oily, resinous substance flowing from the pine and other coniferous trees. An excavation which has a capacity of about three pints is made in the trunk of a tree, and in this the exuded juice accumulates. It becomes stiff very soon on exposure to the air, and is taken from the tree, washed with warm water, then heated and purified by straining through straw filters. When this crude product is distilled with water the oil of turpentine is removed, and the residue left is the resin of commerce. The different cone-bearing trees furnish different grades and kinds of turpentine.

Tar is obtained from pinewood by the process of charring. The wood is packed in kilns or pits, or may be laid in mounds and covered closely with ashes. Fire is then applied and the wood slowly carbonized. The tar as formed trickles down into a gutter beneath the wood and is conveyed thence by pipes into proper tanks.

Pitch is the residuum obtained by boiling tar in an open iron pot, or in a still, until the volatile and liquid portion is driven off. It is soft and sticky when warm, but becomes solid and brittle when cold. For use it is mixed with a small portion of oil to render it less brittle.—Inter-Ocean.

An Enterprising City.

"That's a fine building going up over there," remarked a stranger in a Western town. "Your's must be an enterprising city!"

"It is," replied a citizen with conscious pride; "we are full of it."

"What is that building, a hotel?"

"No, that's the new jail."—Epoch.

IS MAN A BAROMETER?

Why is it That Certain Winds Always Make Rheumatics Cringe With Pain?

Eighty-six per cent. of the signal service weather predictions are accurate!

The only indications our fathers had for foretelling weather were aching limbs, twinging joints and painful corns!

These, though crude, were usually correct. The body is unquestionably an excellent barometer, and physicians often prescribe a change of air, so that the system may find an agreeable atmospheric condition.

Weather changes indicate themselves by pains called rheumatism. Why bad weather should cause such pains is a mystery!

Does the pain really lie dormant in the blood, to be made active only when the wind blows from some unfavorable quarter?

Last week a prominent man left town on a business trip. Two days later he, who had always been apparently strong and well, was sent home a corpse—"Rheumatism of the heart!"

Rheumatism is like the Indian in ambush, sure to kill you if not killed by you. It is to patient and physician one of the most vexatious of diseases.

At first many thought it to be a trouble of the joints, but all outward applications left the cause unbenefited.

Then, making like pains in the muscles, it was thought to be a muscular disease; but the same unsatisfactory results followed external treatment.

Now, however, it is universally acknowledged that rheumatism is "a fiery condition of the blood caused by the presence of uric acid in the system!"

Everybody dreads rheumatism.

It is very prevalent at this changing time of the year. It was formerly seldom known except among those who worked much out of doors. Now it invades the hut, the palace, the executive mansion, the senate chamber, and the throne room; all sorts and conditions and races of men and women it attacks at all times, and all fear it!

Mrs. Swift (wife of Dr. Lewis Swift, the famous comet finder of Rochester, N. Y., was one of its recent victims; and how very common it is among ladies!

She suffered great anguish and fear!

Why does this acid remain in the system!

The kidneys being diseased cannot remove the acid as in health, hence the system is poisoned by its presence, and rheumatic pains, stiff joints, tendons and muscles are the result. There is but one scientific treatment, to regulate the kidneys by Warner's safe cure, and to "put out the fire in the blood" by Warner's safe rheumatic cure. These world renowned remedies, taken by bottles in alternation, as they should be, neutralize the uric acid already in the blood, and prevent further accumulation.

Mrs. Dr. Swift used these remedies with great success, in alternation, and was completely restored to health.

We understand that the proprietors guarantee them with the strongest assurances, but this was scarcely necessary, for is not their praise in everybody's mouth?

We cannot prevent the ill wind blowing, but we can get the better of it by so fortifying the system that we can ignore it when it is doing the worst to "give us a pain."

The Practical Joker.

The following story has its headquarters at Clinton: On one of the fine days of last week a lady came down town to do some shopping. She brought her "yearling" in a baby carriage, which she left in a certain dry goods store while she went in to make her purchases. One of the clerks in the store, who knew the mother well, thought to play a joke. So while she was busy he went out and wheeled the carriage and baby into an adjoining store. Though he was not aware of it the lady had been watching his manoeuvers, and when she was ready to go home she did so without carriage or babe. Shortly after "bubby" kicked up high jinks, and the joker clerk was sent for to take him away. And as the mother was gone he was compelled to wheel baby home, the youngster howling at the top of his voice nearly the whole of the way, and advertising the situation, much to the annoyance of the clerk. When he reached the gate the mother came out, and her exclamation was: "Dear me, I forgot a parcel, did I?" and as she saw the youngster, "Oh, I thought it was a spool of twist I had forgotten." It was worse than a spool of twist on the clerk.—Toronto Globe.

Punting on the Thames.

Parties of ladies and gentlemen were pushing and pulling to and fro, and landing and embarking at the floats, which were covered with "boats for hire." Sometimes a lady was pulling and her "feller" would lie back at his ease in the stern sheets, and sometimes it was reversed. A curious sort of flat-bottomed boat, like an Ohio river skiff, was very popular among the ladies. These boats were polled along, the water being clear and shallow and the bottom firm. The young lady would walk forward, put down the pole to the bottom and walk clear back to the stern, pushing with all her strength, then walking forward again, repeat the process. This is punting, and is very nice where some pretty girl does the work and you are lying under a parasol with another pretty girl in the stern cushions. Many of these girls appeared to be clever oarswomen. All made up a pretty picture. The young men mostly wore white flannel pantaloons, white canvass boating shoes, and blue coats or none at all, and some affected the gay sash of the Venetian gondolier. The ladies wore all sorts of fancy boating costumes, mostly combinations of blue and white.

Queen Victoria has decreed that the jubilee medal, of which about 1,000 have been given away, is to rank above all war medals, and is to be always worn on full-dress occasions. If Victoria had been a theatrical star she would have shown great ability in advertising herself.

The Poor Little Ones.

We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores on the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing period, children have need of pure blood by which to build up strong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given, the blood is purged of its bad elements, and the child's development will be healthy and as it should be. Scrofulous affections, rickets, fever sores, hip-joint disease or other grave maladies and suffering are sure to result from neglect and lack of proper attention to such cases.

The Turkish police authorities have closed all the liquor shops in Constantinople.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine,

Known and used by physicians all over the world. Scott's Emulsion not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh by the use of it. I use it in all cases of wasting diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. Pierce, M. D., Knoxville, Ala.

The South of Ireland was shaken by an earthquake. Cape Reikness light was wrecked.

We Submit Facts

In regard to Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for rheumatism, and ask you if you are afflicted with this disease to try the medicine which has so greatly benefited others. Hundreds of people who suffered the tortures of rheumatism even in its severest forms, have been perfectly cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier. It corrects the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and gives strength and vigor to every part of the body. Send for book containing statements of cures.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

Revolution in Steamships.

It is said that most of the foreign steamship lines are losing money, and that the English have lost more money than they have made in shipping during the last few years. There are too many steamships of the old type. A revolution is going forward in steamships. The new triple expansion engines by which the steam is worked over three times, instead of once as formerly, makes all the difference between a dividend paying concern and a losing one.

The Napoleons' Tomb.

It looks as though the ex-Empress Eugenie would soon join her husband and son in that magnificent memorial tomb, at Farnborough, England, which she has built for their remains, and which is to be dedicated with imposing ceremonies. The church has been building these five years, and will now become one of the sights for tourists, as well as a shrine for the yet faithful French Imperialists. Queen Victoria is to assist at the dedicatory ceremonies.

A North Carolinian, recently returned from Japan, says that in a few years the Japanese will be the greatest railroad builders in the world. He bases his judgment on the fact that the Japanese are great patrons of railroads. Even when they have no business to transact they ride back and forth on the cars until their money is gone; even the beggars in the large towns spending their money in this curious way.

Col. Williams, in his History of the Negro Troops in the War, says there were 178,975 of the black soldiers enrolled in the volunteer army of the United States, and of this number 36,847 died in the service.

The Leading Features of the Youth's Companion Announcement for 1888 just published are its six illustrated Serial Stories, by Trowbridge, Stephens, and others, its two hundred Short Stories and Tales of Adventure, its articles by eminent writers, including the Right Hon. Wm. H. Gladstone, Prof. Tyndall, Gen. Lord Wolseley, Louisa M. Alcott, Gen. George Crook, and one hundred other popular authors. The Companion has two Million Readers a week. Every family should take it. By sending your subscription now, with $1.75, you will receive it free to Jan. 1, 1888, and a full year's subscription from that date.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

Among the people of to-day, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries and in hundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases, Prickly Ash Bitters now takes the place of the old system, and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature.

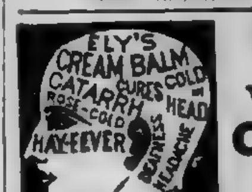
A Positive Gentleman.

Which is the most positive gentleman? Certain. Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein is certain to cure coughs, colds and croup. It is pleasant and effective.

"Taylor's Hospital Cure for Catarrh" can be obtained on application by letter to the City Hall Pharmacy, 264 B'way, New York. Free pamphlet.

The best and surest Remedy for Cure of all diseases caused by any derangement of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels.
Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilious Complaints and Malaria of all kinds yield readily to the beneficent influence of
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
It is pleasant to the taste, tones up the system, restores and preserves health.
It is purely Vegetable, and cannot fail to prove beneficial, both to old and young.
As a Blood Purifier it is superior to all others. Sold everywhere at $1.00 a bottle.

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by Mark Twain, Richard Proctor, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. Astor, Judah P. Benjamin, Dr. Minor, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus post free from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

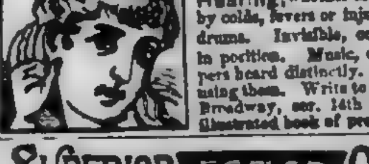


ELY'S CREAM BALM
Price 50 cents.
Will do more in Curing
CATARRH
Than $500 in any other way.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N. Y.

CURE FOR THE DEAF

Peck's Patent Improved Cushioned Ear Drums Perfectly Restore the Hearing, whether the deafness is caused by colds, fevers or injuries to the natural drums. Invisible, comfortable, always in position. Music, conversation, whispers heard distinctly. We refer to those using them. Write to F. HISCOX, 853 Broadway, cor. 14th St., New York, for illustrated book of proofs, FREE.

SUPERIOR ESTAB. 1824 QUALITY
MUSIC BOXES
1876
Gautschi & Sons PHILA. 1030 Chestnut St
PHILADELPHIA ✦ SEND STAMP FOR CATALOGUE.



$35.
Osgood & Thompson,
Binghamton, N.Y.
Illustrated Book Free.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. Bingham, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.

PATENTS obtained by E. H. GELSTON & CO., Washington, D. C. Send for our book of instructions.

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Shorthand, &c., thoroughly taught by mail. Circulars free. BRYANT'S COLLEGE, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in 10 to 20 days. No pay till cured. Dr. J. Stephens, Lebanon, Ohio.

A NOTED BENEFACTOR'S

Deed of Kindness, and the Marvelous Benefits to the Sufferers in Warren County Hospital.

WASHINGTON, N. J., June 28, 1887.

S. Andral Kilmer, M. D., Binghamton, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Like the rest of the profession, I have a prejudice against proprietary medicines; but, like the rest, I can give no good reason for it. A medical friend of mine in the west called my attention to your Swamp Root and bade me try it. I wrote you for a sample, and you sent me a generous one indeed I have tried it very carefully, and find it to be a wonderfully invigorating tonic in cases of broken down constitutions. Thus far, I find it gives great relief in kidney and bladder troubles; in incipient stages of Bright's disease diabetes and Urinary troubles in general. In a hospital, you know, I have ample opportunity to test a medicine. All the patients treated successfully are so many advertisers of its merits.

Yours truly. Dr. S. A. Defor.
In charge of Warren County Hospital,
Washington, N. J.

The above is a true copy of the original letter—Editor Binghamton Republican.

This specific is meeting with marvelous success in the treatment of diseases for which it is so highly recommended. If you value good health and hope for long life, use Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure. At Druggists, $1.00—6 bottles for $5.00, or by express, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

About $36,000,000 a year is spent for railroad crossties which last only six years.

A Lovely Complexion.

"What a lovely complexion," we often hear persons say. "I wonder what she does for it?" In every case the purity and real loveliness of the complexion depends upon the blood. Those who have sallow, blotchy faces may make their skin smooth and healthy by taking enough of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" to drive out the humors lurking in the system.

Chicago, Ill., burns all the street garbage. There is no offensive smell from the crematory.

Mild, soothing and healing is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Rev. Dr. McGlynn's old parishoners, of New York, recently gave him a purse of $1,000.

B. B. B.
(Botanic Blood Balm.)
The great Blood Purifier and Tonic. It cures Scrofula, Kidney Troubles, Catarrh, Skin Humors, Rheumatism, Eruptions, Boils, etc., and is a wonderful tonic.
For sale.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhoea, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP ROOT KIDNEY, LIVER & BLADDER CURE $1.00 THE GREAT SPECIFIC.
READ SYMPTOMS and CONDITIONS This Remedy will Relieve and Cure.
If You are threatened with, or already have, Bright's disease, or Urinary trouble,
If You have sediment in urine like brick dust, frequent calls or Retention, with distress or pressure in the parts,
If You have Lame Back, Rheumatism, Stinging, Aching Pains in side or hips,
If You have Diabetes or Dropsy, or scanty or high colored urine,
If You have Malaria, Torpid Liver, Dyspepsia, Gall Stone, Fever and Ague, or Gout,
If You have Irritation, Spasmodic Stricture, or Catarrh of the Bladder,
If You have BLOOD humors, Pimples, Ulcers, Seminal Weakness, or Syphilis,
If You have Stone in Kidney, or Gravel in Bladder, Stoppage of urine or Dribbling,
If You have poor Appetite, Bad Taste, Foul breath, or INTERNAL Slime fever,
Builds up quickly a run-down constitution. Don't neglect early symptoms.
EVERY DOSE GOES RIGHT TO THE SPOT!
Prepared at Dispensary—Recommended by renowned physicians—"Invalids' Guide to Health" free. Advice free
All Genuine have Dr. Kilmer's likeness on outside and inside wrappers.
Sold by all DRUGGISTS, and DR. KILMER & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
$1.00—Six Bottles $5.00

ROUGH ON CORNS HARD OR SOFT CORNS 15c
ROUGH ON TOOTHACHE Instant Relief. 15c

WELLS' HEALTH RENEWER
WELLS MALARIA
GRANDEST TONIC OF MODERN DAYS.
FOR CONSUMPTION & WASTING DISEASES.
SOLD ALL AROUND THE WORLD

GOES DIRECT TO WEAK SPOTS.
Don't allow yourself to break. Keep up Youth, Health, Vigor. As good at 50 years as at 25, as good at 75 as at 40. At the first signs of going back begin the use of Wells' Health Renewer. Rejuvenates lagging vital forces, causes the blood to course through the veins as in youth. For weak men, delicate women. Cures Dyspepsia, Brain or Nervous Weakness, Exhausted Vitality, Restores Vigor. $1.00. Drug. or Ex. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

Buchu-Paiba. Quick, complete cure, all annoying Kidney, Bladder and Urinary diseases, Catarrh of Bladder, &c. $1. Druggists E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., New York.

One Agent (Merchant only) wanted in every town for TANSILL'S PUNCH 5¢
Offer No. 171.
FREE:—To Merchants Only: A genuine Meerschaum Smoker's Set (five pieces) in satin-lined plush case. Address at once, R. W. TANSILL & CO., 55 State St., Chicago.

WANTED—LADIES.
In City or Country, for our Holiday Trade, to take light, pleasant work at their own homes. $1 to $3, per day can be quietly made. Work sent by mail any distance. Particulars free. No canvassing. Address at once CRESCENT ART CO., 147a Milk St., Boston, Mass. P. O. Box 5170.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

HERBRAND FIFTH WHEEL. Latest Buggy and Carriage improvement. HERBRAND CO., Fremont, O.

GOLD is worth $500 per lb. Pettit's Eye Salve is worth $1,000, but is sold at 25c. a box by dealers.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK
First Stroke of Pain
EVERY YEAR TO THOUSANDS.

The Class.—Fifty million population. Pain for the first time to one in every ten. Five million need relief. How? Promptly, permanently. Certainty of cure at reasonable cost. How to find out? On reputation, through experiment, by proof.

The Merits.—Example.—Take up St. Jacobs Oil, the Great Remedy for Pain. Its superior merits known to all the world. Experience shows its merits through its efficacy.

The Efficacy.—1. Its effects are prompt. 2. Its relief is sure. 3. Its cures are permanent. 4. It cures chronic cases of as long standing as 40 years. 5. Its cures are without relapse, without return of pain. 6. It cures in all cases used according to directions. 7. In every bottle there's a cure, in every application a relief.

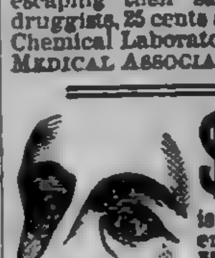
The Proof.—1. The testimony cannot be disputed. 2. It has been renewed after lapse of years. 3. No return of pain in years. 4. It has cured in all ages and conditions. 5. It has cured all forms of suffering. 6. It has cured all stages of painful ailments. 7. It has cured cases considered hopeless. 8. It has caused crutches and canes to be thrown away. 9. Its best cures are chronic cases.

The Price.—1. The best always first and cheapest. 2. The best is the promptest, safest, surest, most permanent. 3. The benefits derived are beyond price. 4. Examples show that no competition can show like results. 5. It is the best.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers Everywhere.
The Charles A. Vogeler Co., Balto., Md.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.
Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.
SICK HEADACHE,

Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.



$500 REWARD
is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. Hausner, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

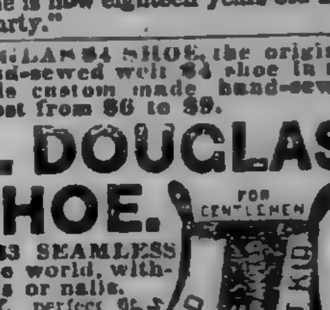
"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

Thomas J. Rushing, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

Eli Robbins, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

W. L. DOUGLAS $4 SHOE, the original and only hand-sewed welt $4 shoe in the world, equals custom made hand-sewed shoes that cost from $6 to $9.
W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE. FOR GENTLEMEN
The only $3 SEAMLESS Shoe in the world, without tacks or nails. Finest Calf, perfect fit, and warranted. Congress, Button and Lace, all styles toe. As stylish and durable as those costing $5 or $6. Boys all wear the W. L. DOUGLAS $2 Shoe.



W. L. DOUGLAS $2.50 SHOE is unexcelled for heavy wear. If not sold by your dealer write W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

GOLDSMITH & SULLIVAN'S
Business College
Fitten Building, ATLANTA, GA. Most practical College South. Best course at least cost. Send for catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

PENSIONS [illegible] Washington, D. C.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

PALMS Business College, Phila., Pa. [illegible]

A. N. U. [illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3 m.	6 m.	12 m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 50	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	32 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1887. NUMBER 7

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

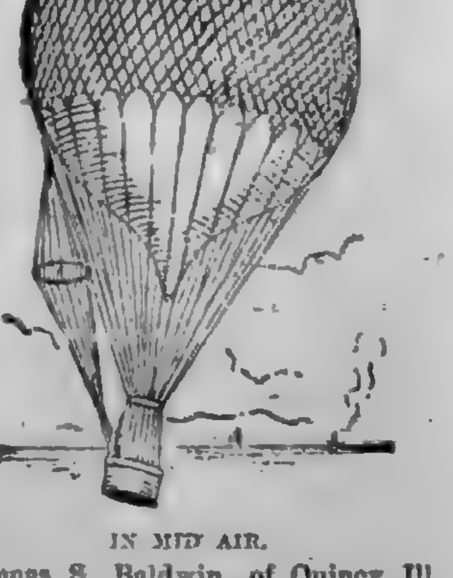
A MIGHTY LEAP.

FALLING FROM A HEIGHT OF FIVE THOUSAND FEET.

Exciting Experiences of Baldwin, the Parachute Performer—The Strange Sensation of a Thrilling Feat.

A novelty has been supplied to the lovers of excitement. Whether it falls under the head of aeronautics, gymnastics, or simple daring, does not seem easy to determine. It certainly involves all three, although the man who supplies it is as cool as if folding a napkin.

Perhaps an explanation of the feat may enable the reader to appreciate better how it should be determined. A young fellow, 27 years of age, ascends, by means of a balloon, sometimes as high as 5,000 feet, throws himself over from the basket, and drops to the ground. He is assisted by a parachute, or else he would drop but once, and that once would be too often.



IN MID AIR.

Thomas S. Baldwin, of Quincy, Ill., is the name of the young man. He traveled for several years with a circus as a professional gymnast, then took to tight-rope walking, and finally to ballooning. His first jump from a balloon was made in January of this year at San Francisco. He jumped from a height of 1,000 feet. This was enough to thrill 25,000 people, but it was only the modest beginning. At Syracuse, in September last, he had attained an elevation of 5,000 feet before he switched off on the parachute route.

Mr. Baldwin remained in New York a few days after this before going West. What he has to say about this feat, which he so successfully practices, may prove of interest to the very large number who will never know from experience what such a journey means.

"What led you into this hazardous kind of feat?" was a natural question to begin with.

"Well, I am fond of things that are daring. I have been a gymnast performer for some time and also a tight-rope walker. I was very much interested in ballooning, and accounts which I read of several descents from them by means of a parachute took my fancy. A Frenchman did it all right, but an Englishman tried it and came to grief. He was killed. The parachute collapsed. I gave the matter a good deal of thought, trying to work out the thing. Then I practiced before attempting the very high jump. There is scientific principle enough in the feat to see what the effect ought to be of such an experiment. But there is enough uncertainty about it to make it a little dangerous. There is always the possibility or the parachute collapsing, and if it does that at any height, why, it would be a miracle if a fellow escaped death. He would get crushed to pieces when he struck the ground."

PREPARING TO JUMP.

"What sort of a parachute do you use?"

"I have used several kinds. I have them made of Wamsutta muslin and without any ribs. Sometimes they have

ON THE WAY DOWN.

seven or eight ribs. The parachute is about sixteen or eighteen feet in diameter. The cords which are attached to it come down and fasten to an iron ring. The ring is what I hold on to when I drop."

"How is the parachute arranged?"

"It is fastened by the top to the side of the balloon so that the ring hangs somewhat below the top of the car. It is tied so that the weight of my body when it bears on the [illegible] breaks these [illegible] and the parachute is free of the balloon. I get a good hold of the [illegible]. This is pretty important, for [illegible] to make any change on the way down, and if you let go, why, then you won't make any more jumps, that is all. But I am not afraid of loosing my hold because I have not a good enough grip. My hands are pretty strong. The dangerous part of this holding on is that my arms get strained so through the wrenching they get from the swaying motion and the oscillations that sometimes they become completely exhausted. After I have gripped on to the ring, I get carefully over the rim of the basket, and then drop. There is no need to spring out. It is not so good, because the straighter down one goes the easier it is for the parachute to fill out and be sustained by the air."

"What are your sensations going down?"

"The first hundred feet are the worst. The parachute does not fill at once, and so it is like falling sheer through that much space. And that is another reason why the drop has to be made a little carefully; otherwise I might get turned over, and though, of course, if I hold on 'twill come out all right, yet the wrench on my arms would be violent, and the thing would shake more. It shakes quite enough, I assure you, although I have improved a little on it in that respect. You can fancy what a fall of a hundred feet might be, though it is pretty hard to imagine it if you have never been through the thing. The sensation is not altogether pleasant. It is a giddy sinking through the air. The condensation of the atmosphere under the parachute, which is shaped like an umbrella so as to catch the air more readily, brings me up suddenly. It is almost like a jerk, and to people looking at me I seem to stop for a moment. After that the descent is more gradual, though it is quite fast enough for ordinary purposes. The rate of descent is about 1,200 feet a minute. I have given the point of resistance which the parachute offers with a certain weight and when it is of a certain diameter a good deal of study. The sensation is pleasant enough in summer. Floating down through the air in that way is cool It is something like coming down a rapidly running elevator. But your legs are free, and you feel your body with nothing around it. The oscillations begin, however, and you are swayed from side to side like a pendulum."

"Do you land lightly, or is it hard to escape getting bruised?"

"Generally I have landed without doing myself any harm. When I see I am within six or seven feet of the ground I drop. I can land pretty well on my toes, and if I feel a momentum which would be likely to throw me violently down, I try to fall on my right side, and sometimes I turn three or four somersaults. This breaks the force. Of course, I can exercise no control over myself while I am in the air. I have to land wherever chance brings me. If it is a good height from which I drop, and there is a strong wind, I can easily come down at a place a mile or more from the place on the earth underneath the spot I jumped from. I am carried by the wind, so that I do not feel it blowing on me very much. When I make an ascension near the water, like that at Rockaway Beach last summer, I take up a life preserver with me."

THE PARACHUTE ACTING BADLY.

"Do you feel any nervousness or fear in undertaking the feat?"

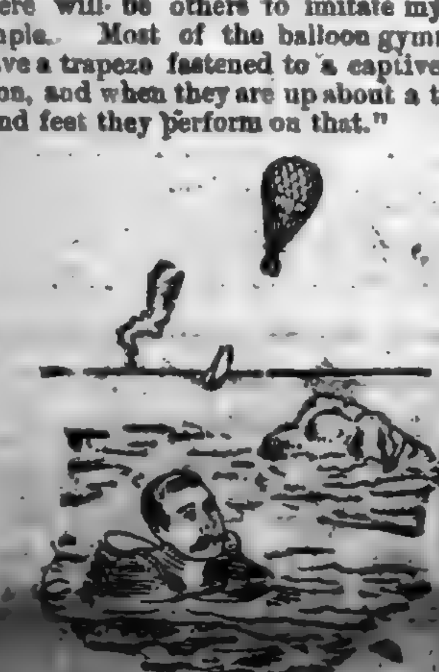
"I always know that there is danger in it. I couldn't know as much about the subject as I do and be ignorant of that. But I do not feel much trepidation in undertaking it. The chances are that everything will come out all right, as they have done in all my descents. I do not loose my head, and do everything as coolly as if I were on the ground. The strain on the arms is usually the only thing that bothers me. I must get that stopped if I can, or else I may have to drop the business. Once I went up in a balloon without any car attached. There was only a ring where I held myself."

"What is the greatest height from which you have jumped?"

"I have jumped from 5,000 feet. I think, however, that a parachute could be made so that a descent from a much higher altitude would be possible. Whether a man can be invented to stand the strain on his arms for the length of time which would be required to descend in, I do not know. You must remember that you can't stop to rest yourself any on the way down. You're there on the end of the parachute, and you feel that you've got to stay there till your feet strike the earth. I came down into a tree once, but I didn't hurt myself. I have been carried along on the ground with my parachute for twenty feet."

"Are there any other balloonists who perform this feat?"

"I do not know of any living aeronaut who has attempted it, but I dare say there will be others to imitate my example. Most of the balloon gymnasts have a trapeze fastened to a captive balloon, and when they are up about a thousand feet they perform on that."



A WET LANDING.

"Do you think there is any practical value in a feat of this kind?"

"Well, it is always a valuable thing to do something new, and show what a man can do. Of course, ballooning can be of use. They found that out in Paris when they used to send them out during the Commune. And they are useful in time of war to reconnoitre the enemy's position. I like the feat well enough, and people like to see it, too. There is always more interest in anything that looks dangerous."

Professor Baldwin has received two handsome gold medals for his feats. One is from his fellow townsmen of Quincy and the other was the offering of the Knights of Pythias.—New York Sun.

SAVED BY AN ALIBI.

Jim Brown's Wild Ride to Prove Absence from a Scene of Crime.

[From the Cleveland Press.]

No man loved an alibi better than Jim Brown, known in Ohio's past history as "Chief of the Counterfeiters of the Cuyahoga." This band of outlaws dealt principally in bogus money, and their favorite way of escaping justice was by proving an alibi. The band was so numerous, so scattered and withal so loyal that any sort of evidence required to show that a defendant was somewhere else than at the place of the alleged crime at the time of its commission, was always forthcoming from the mouths of witnesses who often stood high in their community for veracity. To prove an alibi Jim Brown once rode horseback from Pittsburg, Pa., to Boston, Summit county, Ohio, a distance of about 100 miles, in one night. The officers arrived at Boston, Brown's home, a few hours after his own arrival. They arrested him. On his trial several witnesses swore that they saw him at sundown of the day previous to his arrest in Pittsburg. These witnesses also identified his horse. On the defense, Brown proved by a score of good witnesses that he was at home at sunrise of the morning of his arrest, and that his horse was sleek and fresh that day as though it had not been ridden for a month. The court held that Brown could not have ridden the distance in the time and discharged him. But he did ride it and afterwards told how it was done. Finding himself certain to be arrested if he stayed in Pittsburg on a certain night, he saddled his horse—a splendid animal—and as soon as it was night started out on his wild ride of 100 miles. For the first thirty miles his horse kept bravely and steadily to his work. Then Brown noticed by the irregular reach and labored breath that the terrible strain was telling upon his faithful brute. At the next tavern Brown procured a pint of whisky, and, putting half of it into a small quantity of water, gave it to his horse. Then on to the road again, his willing animal working more steadily. At every hill he would dismount and run beside his horse till it was passed, then on and away, to stop at the next tavern to give his horse more whisky and water. In this way—galloping furiously along levels, running on foot up and down hills, and stimulating his steed with all the caution a skilful physician would bestow upon a patient critically sick—he reached his home before daybreak, where a confederate was found to devote his entire attention to the jaded horse, while Brown purposely showed himself to as many neighbors as possible, who testified as before stated.

Fifteen years ago a street daylight robbery was committed in Hinckley, Medina county, Ohio. A farmer named Gay was the victim. He was at home alone, the rest of the family having gone to a picnic. About noon, while going to the barn, he was met by two men coming from the direction of the woods. The men were well-dressed. One of them called Gay by name and shook hands with him, and told him he had a warrant for his arrest for counterfeiting, displaying a badge on his coat. Before Gay had time to comprehend what was being done he was handcuffed, blindfolded and being led to the house, into which he was taken, placed upon a bed and tied down. A pillar was placed over his mouth and one of the robbers sat upon it while the other commenced operations upon a small safe which stood in the next room. Failing to force the lock of the safe, the robber turned it upon its back and blew it open with gunpowder. The explosion tore a large hole in the ceiling and broke two windows. Securing $7,000 in U. S. bonds and $1,300 in cash, the robbers fled, as the picnic party, alarmed by the explosion, was hurrying to the house. Gay was positive that he could identify the robbers, not only by their faces but by their voices. He had seen them in broad daylight, face to face, and they had kept up a running fire of bantering talk while the safe was undergoing manipulation. Guy Foster, of Parma, and Charles Foster, of Brighton, a nephew of Guy, were arrested. Guy was the father of George Foster, shot a year or so ago by Patrolman Corner, in Cleveland. Guy and Charles were tried in Medina county for robbing Gay. Their defence was an alibi. Gay swore positively that they were the robbers. Charles had a large number of unimpeachable witnesses who swore that he was hunting seven or eight miles from Gay's house at the time of the robbery. The jury thought that if Gay could be mistaken about Charles he might be mistaken about Guy Foster, and both Fosters were discharged, and to this day the law has not untangled the knot.

His Lavatory.

"Have you a bawth-room in the house?" asked a Boston guest of a Western landlord.

"A what?"

"A bawth-room, a—a—lavatory."

"Blamed if I know what you're driving at."

"He wants to clean up," said a bystander, better versed in polite language.

"Aw, that's it!" said the landlord. You'd ort to of said so at first; come along with me.

And he led the man from Boston out into the back yard, where there was a rusty tin pan and a pail of "roily" water on the stump of a butternut tree.

"There ye air," he said, proudly; "splash away all yer a mind to. I'll send the towel out as soon as them folks up stairs is done with it. Pitch in; there ain't no [illegible] [illegible] as you call it; and [illegible] soft soap on the bench. Use all yer a mind to of it."—Detroit Free Press.

AARON BURR'S WOOING.

From the commandant's quarters on Westchester Height
The blue hills of Ramapo lie in full sight;
On their slope gleam the gables that shield his heart's queen,
But the redcoats are wary—the Hudson's between.
Through the camp runs a jest: "There's no moon, 'twill be dark—
'Tis odds little Aaron will go on a spark"—
And the toast of the troopers is: "Pickets, lie low,
And good luck to the Colonel and Widow Prevost!"

Eight miles to the river he gallops his steed,
Lays him bound in the barge, bids his escort make speed,
Loose their swords, sit athwart, through the fleet reach yon shore;
Not a word! not a plash of the thick-muffled oar!
Once across, once again in the seat, and away—
Five leagues are soon over when love has the say;
And "Old Put" and his rider a bridle-path know
To the Hermitage Manor of Madame Prevost.

Lightly done! but he halts in the grove's deepest glade,
Ties his horse to a birch, trims his cue, slings his blade,
Wipes the dust and the dew from his smooth handsome face
With the kerchief she broidered and bordered in lace;
Then slips through the box-rows and taps at the hall,
Sees the glint of a wax-light, a hand white and small,
And the door is unbarred by herself all aglow—
Half in smiles, half in tears—Theodosia Prevost.

Alack, for the soldier that's buried and gone!
What's a volley above him, a wreath on his stone,
Compared with sweet life and a wife for one's view
Like this dame ripe and warm in her India fichu?
She chides her bold lover, yet holds him more dear,
For the daring that brings him a night-rider here;
British gallants by day through her doors come and go,
But a Yankee's the winner of Theo Prevost.

Where's the widow or maid with a mouth to be kist,
When Burr comes a wooing, that long would resist?
Lights and wine on the beaufet, the shutters all fast,
And "Old Put" stamps in vain till an hour has flown past—
But an hour, for eight leagues must be covered ere day;
Laughs Aaron: "Let Washington frown as he may,
When he hears of me next in a raid on the foe
He'll forgive this night's tryst with the Widow Prevost!"

—E. C. Stedman, in Harper's

THE GRACE OF LOVE.

BY GRACE DENIO LITCHFIELD.

A great while ago, there once lived a very beautiful and very rich little Princess. So beautiful and so rich she was that suitors from all parts of the world came flocking in shoals to her palace, wearing out pantaloons by the million in protracted and agonizing kneeling at her tiny feet.

Notwithstanding the glory of it, however, the little Princess did not much enjoy this sort of thing; for whereas other young ladies could spend their time in making delightful slippers and comfortables for their friends, this poor little thing had to employ all hers in knitting everlasting mittens (which are very awkward, disagreeable things to make, besides being never pleasantly accepted), so that many a time did she wish she might only have been born married, and thus have been spared this continual worry and vexation of soul. For she was a proud, fastidious little Princess, and had declared that she never would marry until she had found one who was in every way her superior, as was, of course, all extremely right and proper; only, though all kinds of paragons came to woo, somehow or other none of them ever proved superior enough to succeed in winning the little Princess for his bride. It really was pitiable to see so many fine fellows turned off daily; but the Princess was become so accustomed to it that she grew quite callous-hearted on the subject; and when she heard that of the thousands rejected, seven or eight shot themselves, and five or six felt bad, and three or four cut their wisdom teeth, and one or two stayed single, all for her sweet sake, she never shed a tear.

But one day, as a hundred or so stood in the outer court of the palace, squeezing on their gloves, and practicing tender glances and sighs peparatory to entering the fair one's presence, a young man, of very different appearance from the rest, came quietly up and joined them.

"Well, fellow," said the others, "what errand brings you here?"

"The same as that on which you come," answered he, tranquilly. "Save that I shall succeed where you will fail. I come to wed the Princess."

"You!" they exclaimed in chorus, looking at him with scorn, for he was plainly dressed and of unimposing aspect. "You! You pretend to be her superior! You indeed!"

"I am," he replied, unmoved. "For I love her, and love ennobles."

Whereat the other laughed contemptuously.

"Just hear the fool!" cried one. "This graceless beggar dares to love!"

"Put him out!" screamed another. "The cut of his mantle is antique, and he has no buckles on his shoes, nor powder to his hair. Bah! It is scandalous to have him about!"

"Let him stay," said a third with a shrug. "It is as well to have a valet at one's back."

The man of whom these sneers were cast smiled composedly. "Fortunes change," he said. "You who call me valet shall yet see me carry off the Princess [illegible] your very eyes."

A [illegible] [illegible] through the crowd. But at that moment the doors were thrown open, and the court herald announced in a loud voice that her royal highness would now deign to receive offers; and that going in suitors would please take the right hand door, and coming out the left-hand door, that thus collisions of a painful and disturbing nature might be avoided, and that, furthermore, no suicides were allowed in the royal presence. An immediate rush ensued toward the entrance, which opened directly into the great hall where the Princess sat upon her throne, with thousands of cushions lying before her over the floor, that suitors might not catch cold from kneeling too long upon the marble pavement, while huge hogsheads, filled with highly-colored and various-sized mittens, were piled up artistically in the background.

"Beautiful" is no fit word wherewith to describe this Princess. Had Webster or Worcester or any other dictionarian seen her, he would certainly have invented some word on the spot more capable of expressing the charm and grace and perfect proportion of feature, form and soul which went to make up this rare and wonderful maiden.

And now, one after another, with different degrees of assurance, ecstasy, sentiment and pride, the crowd of suitors made their efforts, extolling their several excellencies and advantages over each other and everybody else, and modestly bringing into view those points wherein they bid defiance to the human race at large and aspired to be divinities. But to-day, as yesterday, none was found superior to the Princess. One after another was duly admitted and dismissed with a consolatory cigar, and the promise that his name should not be handed in to Mrs. Grundy, who, pen in hand, sat in the reporter's chair; and still the little Princess waited smiling and peerless, upon her throne, in royal but wearying single-blessedness. Yet all this while the strange young man, who had come in with the rest, said never a word to press his suit, and while the others were praying and groaning and making no end of a to-do, he alone stood upright and silent, and held his head straight and high as if in proud disdain.

The little Princess was only a woman after all, so, of course, she grew piqued at last.

"Pray, why do you come here, you," she said, pointing her tiny ivory finger at him, with an inimitable mixture of grace and scorn, "if not to woo me with the rest!"

"I come to wed, lady, not to woo," he answered gravely, and moved forward with unbending head.

"To wed!" echoed the Princess, with a laugh that rang forth so deliciously sweet, that to hear it was to think only of the ripple of silver waves against shores of the purest crystal. "And pray, friend, is that your wedding garb?"

"She whom I love will look to the heart rather than to the raiment," answered he, as unabashed and gravely as before; and the Princess felt rebuked, and bit her sweet lips.

"Yet you bring no gift in your hands," she said. "How dare you ask aught of me?"

He looked at her and smiled, and she saw that his smile was sweet.

"Lady, I claim but gift for gift. I bring you my heart. Give me therefore yours."

"Yet you do not kneel in the asking," she said. "How may I listen to such a prayer?"

"Lady," he answered—and he looked tall and noble standing upright alone, amid the sea of bowed heads around—"I do not kneel, because I come neither to beg nor to pray, but to demand my right."

"How dare you!" cried the Princess, frightened at language so strangely unsoftened to meet her delicate royal ears. "How dare you!"

"Love dares all, or is no love," answered he, and smiled still.

"I have sworn that I will wed none save him who is in all my superior," said the Princess, and looked at him curiously. "Do you call yourself my superior? Are you so vain?" And she drew up her exquisite head, and laughed a low, gurgling laugh.

"No," he answered! "For love is humble; yet as humility is superior to vanity, you are inferior to me in so far as you claim superiority."

"Am I vain, then?" asked the Princess, in a grieved surprise.

"No!" thundered the crowd of suitors behind. "No! No! No! To the death with him who affirms it! No! No! A thousand times no!"

"Yes," said the young man who stood before her; and though he spoke so low, she heard him above all the rest, and hung her lovely head.

"At least," she said, "how can you vie with me in birth? I am a princess and sit upon a throne; and you—"

"Your throne is senseless marble and cold, dead stone," said he, "and mine is a woman's heart."

"You are poor," said she, "and I am rich."

"Nay, it is you who are poor," he replied, "since earth's sorest poverty is the having only self to love; and I am rich, for loving is wealth, and I have loved long and well."

"But I am wise and learned," said she. "I have studied much and profoundly. Can you know more than I?"

"Yes," answered he; "for I have learned that I am ignorant, and earth's highest wisdom can teach no more."

"But I am beautiful," she said, with a blush that spread over her face like the sunset glow over a lily. "And you"—

"A beauty that sees but self is blind," he answered, "and blindness is a deformity. It is I therefore who am beautiful, for you so fill my heart that wherever I am, you are present."

"They say I am good, stammered the little Princess as a final plea. And tears stood in her wonderful eyes.

The young man came nearer and smiled again, and in his smile were only pity, and tenderness, and love. "Yet by your own showing, you are selfish, and vain, and weak," he said softly.

"And you!" asked the Princess, tremulously, yet smiling up at him as he spoke; "are you so much better than I?"

"Yes," he said, "for I am Love himself, and what is there upon earth that is truer and stronger and purer and better than Love!"

And the little Princess, looking at him, suddenly saw a great glory flash out in his face, and his quaint mantle fell off, and he stood before her clad in robes of purple and gold, and a mighty [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] we dream angels have, and his name, "Love," stood like a jeweled crown above his forehead. And the Princess hid her face in her hands and sobbed for very shame.

"I have found Love at last," she said. "It is he for whom I have waited so long, and searched so far and wide. Only Love dared claim me. Only Love knew how to win me. Only Love could teach me to love again."

And then Love bent over her, and folded her in his close, strong arms, and flew away with her right into the far-off, wonderful Seventh Heaven, where none but those who Love have ever been. And the suitors stayed behind with their mittens and their cigars, and their promises that none should ever know their names, and were sulky, and pretended to outsiders that "they never could tell what it was so immensely superior that the Princess saw in that fellow!" Only luckily the world's echoes cannot reach so far as up to the Seventh Heaven, and the little Princess never heard what they said.—Independent.

Human Remains as Medicine.

In truth, to this day we find among ourselves some survivals of the old superstitions still lingering in out-of-the-way corners. Thus it is only a few years since the skull of a suicide was used in Caithness as a drinking-cup for the cure of epilepsy. Dr. Arthur Mitchell knows of a case in which the body of such a one was disinterred in order to obtain her skull for the purpose.

It was, however, accounted a more sure specific for epilepsy to reduce part of the skull to powder and swallow it. Even the moss which grew on such skulls was deemed a certain cure for various diseases. Nor was this simply a popular superstition. In the official Pharmacopœia of the College of Physicians of London, A. D. 1678, the skull of a man who has died a violent death, and the horn of a unicorn, appear as highly approved medicines. Again, in 1724, the same pharmacopœia mentions unicorn's horn, human fat, and human skulls, toads, vipers, and worms, among the really valuable medical stores. The pharmacopœia was revised in 1742, and various ingredients were rejected, but centipedes, vipers, and lizzards were retained.

Nor were these strange compounds prepared for human subjects only. In the "Angler's Vade Mecum," published in 1681, anglers are recommended to use an ointment for the luring of fish, consisting among other horrible ingredients, of man's fat, cat's fat, heron's fat, asafœtida, finely powdered mummy, camphor, oil of lavender, etc.; and it was added that man's fat could be obtained from the London chirurgeons concerned in anatomy.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Sailor's Wonderful Escape.

Captain Walter Thompson, of the pilot boat Mary Odell, brought to Savannah recently the news of a remarkable escape of a sailor from a horrible death. The Norwegian bark Telemach was lying at Venus Point waiting the arrival of Captain Thompson to pilot her to sea. A sailor named Tobias Turklecen, a Norwegian, was sent aloft, and while he was on the maintopgallant yard he lost his hold and fell. During his rapid flight to the deck he struck the rigging several times, but at last fell a distance of 80 feet clear, touching nothing until he struck the deck. The Captain and sailors rushed to him, expecting to find nothing but his mangled remains, but instead they were surprised to see him arise and stand up. He was as pale as a dead man, but no bones were broken. Turklecen was too badly scared to speak for a while, but after a moment he said he did not feel hurt anywhere. He had not lost a drop of blood, and he did not seem to be suffering from any internal injuries. He was stripped and carefully examined, and the only marks upon him were a few red spots that had been made by the ropes where he struck the rigging. The Captain wanted to send the man back to Savannah, but he protested against being left there, and finally he was permitted to continue on the voyage to Buenos Ayres as an able bodied seaman. Turklecen is a very large man, weighing in the neighborhood of 175 pounds. He fell 90 feet.

Land of Darkness.

New Guinea, probably the second island in size in the world, is less known to civilized man than any other region of equal size. Until recently even the principal features of the coast had not been actually determined, and the interior still offers an extensive field for exploration. During the present year an expedition under Mr. Theodore Bevan has successfully sought a water route to the inland mountains, discovering two magnificent rivers, with numerous tributaries. The main streams were named the Douglas and the Jubilee, and were navigated for 130 and 110 miles. The course led into a country of superb mountain scenery, through fertile lands in which saco, bananas, tobacco, bread fruit and sugar cane were found to be indigenous. The island proved to be practically uninhabited except within a few miles of the coast. Seven tribes of natives were encountered near the Gulf of Papua, the largest numbering 400 to 500 men. The crimate was not unhealthy, the temperature varying from seventy-two to eighty-six degrees during the day.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Habits of the Gull.

Mr. William Brewster notes some interesting features in the habits of a young Kittiwake gull of the St. Lawrence. He brought home a young one, its mate having died of thirst, the other one surviving through the accidental discovery that the bird drank only salt-water! Both the birds obstinately refused to drink fresh water. Observations on this bird by Professor A. Hyatt showed how slowly and timidly it acquired the art of swimming and flying. The bird when first forced to fly was thrown into the air, and, to the surprise of Professor Hyatt, flew with great rapidity and precision, circling about the house and through the apple-trees, and, finally, flew near him several times in the greatest agitation till he caught the bird, which was completely exhausted. For a long time the bird went through this manœuvre, showing that while it knew how to fly it could not alight, though it finally acquired this faculty.—Popular Science Monthly.

MARJORIE.

"Oh, dear," said Father Brown, one day,
"I never saw such weather!
The rain will spoil my meadow hay
And all my crops together."
His little daughter climbed his knee;
"I guess the sun will shine," said she.

"But if the sun," said Farmer Brown,
"Should bring a dry September,
With vines and stalks all wilted down,
And fields scorched to an ember"—
"Why, then, 'twill rain," said Marjorie,
The little girl upon his knee.

"Ah, me!" sighed Father Brown, that fall,
"Now, what's the use of living?
No plan of mine succeeds at all"—
"Why, next month comes Thanksgiving,
And then, of course," said Marjorie,
"We're all as happy as can be."

"Well, what should I be thankful for?"
Asked Farmer Brown. "My trouble
This summer has grown more and more,
My losses have been double;
I've nothing left"—"Why you've got me!"
Said Marjorie, upon his knee.

—Wide Awake.

PITH AND POINT.

A piller of the church—A pious apothecary.

The thing that a woman always knows best is how some other woman ought to dress.—Somerville Journal.

A married man can always pack a trunk more easily than a bachelor. He gets his wife to do it for him.

One doesn't care much for the flattery of a cannibal when he says: "You're good enough to eat."—New York Dispatch.

An oatmeal trust has been organized in Canada. Where will this gruel tyranny of manufacture end?"—Norwich Bulletin.

"A New Jersey man has invented a stove to carry in the hat." Wanted to utilize a stovepipe probably.—New Haven News.

We do not see what it is that a clock is ashamed of, that it should be constantly striving to cover its face with its hand.—Lowell Citizen.

"Why can a man walk farther on a cold day than on a hot one?" asked inquisitive Jack. "Because," said the Major, "warm weather makes him limp."

It always bothers a Frenchman who is learning English to read one day that a murder has been committed and the next day that the murderer has been committed.—New York Tribune.

Paint is a monster of such frightful build,
That to be hated needs but to be smelled.
But, smelled too oft, familiar to the face,
We first [illegible], then pity, then catch the painting [illegible] and go around all over the premises, and daub it on every available place.

—Dansville Breeze.

A Boonville school teacher had a great deal of trouble making a boy understand his lesson. Finally, however, he succeeded, and, drawing a long breath, remarked: "If it wasn't for me you would be the biggest donkey in Boonville."—Louisville Times.

He sang it with vigor,
He sang it each day,
"I would not live always,
I ask not to stay."
But when with a fever
And chills taken down,
He quickly had in all
The doctors in town.

—Boston Courier.

Keen Animal Senses.

A writer in Nature, commenting on the experiments made upon the sense of smell in dogs, suggests that some explanation of the remarkable results may be found in the exclusive direction which is given to the sense. He adds that in the case of the dog, while there is little brain-work going on to cause distraction, the attention may be applied more closely than in our own case; and thus the dog may enjoy an apparent advantage in respect of keenness of scent. In connection with this topic the writer makes these observations upon the conduct of birds:

The sense of hearing in some birds seems as wonderful and discriminating as that of smell in dogs. I have watched with astonishment a thrush listening for worms, as their manner is, and very evidently hearing them, too, within two yards of a noisy lawn-mower on the other side of a small hedge of roses. Probably the worms came nearer to the surface in consequence of the vibration caused by the machine—they are said to do so—but that the thrush heard and did not see was evident.

Robins appear to be able to distinguish the voices of their own offspring and parents from a number of others, and at a great distance. I say appear, for in such a case one cannot be quite sure, still less can one give all the small details of long-continued observation that make up the evidence in favor of it.

All these cases have a common and mysterious element. It is as if a window were opened in one direction and all others closed; or as if all the available energy were directed along one narrow path. At any rate there is something more than mere keenness of sense.

Heiress Prospective of $30,000,000

A bright-eyed little girl, with a pretty face, pranced through one of the halls of the Windsor this morning, with a nurse following closely on her trail. A number of other bright-looking little children who saw her pass, regarded her with considerably more than casual interest. Still there was nothing remarkable in the little tot's appearance. When a handsome 8-year-old boy said to his little sister, "There goes the Heiress," as he pointed to the girl, he explained the reason of her unusual interest. The child had only been at the hotel two days, but all the children in the hostelry had been told that she was one of the richest children in the world. The little girl is the only child of Senor Jose Hidalgo, one of the wealthiest citizens of Cuba. Aside from the father's wealth, the child is heir to over $10,000,000. This will go to her at the death of her grandmother, Senor Hidalgo's mother. The grandfather was one of the wealthiest planters and cigar manufacturers in Cuba, and left an estate worth nearly $40,000,000, which was divided between his wife and only son. [illegible]

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 22, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year - - - -	$1.50
One copy six months - - - -	75
One copy four " - - - -	50

John Johnson killed his brother, Charles Johnson, in a fight in Henry county last week.

Blaine, of Maine, can be counted on as a candidate for President against Cleveland next year.

Vincent has been put to work in the tailor shop at Pratt Mines and will cut and make convict suits to order.

Gen. Kilby Smith, the distinguished Federal soldier, died in New York on the 14th inst., aged 67 years.

An attempt was made last week at St. Petersburg to assassinate the Czar. He was only wounded. Nothing else known.

Joseph Knight, book-keeper of the Manufacturer's National Bank, of Philadelphia, is charged with stealing $60,000 of the bank's funds.

Tom Woolfolk, the greatest criminal in the world's history, will hang on February 10th, for the murder of nine members of his family near Macon, Ga., last summer.

A Selma faith doctor killed a negro woman Monday by cutting off her head with a cavalry sword. He says he did it as a deed of love, as his victim wanted to go. He is in jail.

The protectionists are in the majority in both houses of congress and there is no possibility of a bill passing that would damage the manufacturing interests of the country.

The Republicans are fighting the confirmation of Secretary Lamar as Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. The objections are that he is too old and too indolent.

Two young men who were assisting revenue officers in hunting for moonshiners in the wilds of Marion county, Ala., were shot from ambush last week. One was instantly killed and the other dangerously wounded. Three desperate moonshiners arrested charged with the murder.

The Sub-Tropical Exposition at Jacksonville, Fla., from January to May promises to be an enterprise of no small importance to Florida. The managers have displayed a large amount of unadulterated American "check" in requesting us to make a note of the fact, and then inviting us to attend the exposition at our own expense.

Troy Messenger: We learn though a friend that Mr. H. R. Powell, of Dale county, made this year on three quarters of an acre of common land 420 gallons of syrup. At fifty cents per gallon the syrup would be worth $210. If the expense was half that amount then that piece of land paid a big profit. Why plant so much cotton when a diversified crop pays better?

The Montgomery Dispatch thinks that Alabama needs a historian. Editor Horace Hood, the brilliant and versatile "Echoes Man" is daily proving himself worthy and well qualified for the important work of writing a history of the rising young men of Alabama. If Mr. Hood would undertake the work he could give Alabamians a history of the State both interesting and valuable. "Hood's History of the Hustlers" would be alliterative, and in addition its contents would no doubt have a genuine "git up and git" ring.

The Anniston Watchman and the Hot Blast, the Tuskaloosa Gazette, the Tuskegee News and the VIEW are the protection papers in Alabama that admire and appreciate the conservatism, the wisdom and sound policy displayed by President Cleveland in his recent message discussing the tariff. While the high protection journals, being extremists, saw an extreme free trade bugbear in the message, the papers mentioned seem to agree that the document was characterized by wisdom, justice and moderation. Perhaps the President may be wrong in the matter of the internal revenue taxes. The first step in the matter of tariff reduction should be the abolition of all internal taxes, and it is believed that congress will take this view of the question notwithstanding Mr. Cleveland's position.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

The weather is the same all over the county.

Miss Lula DuBose has returned from Selma. She has faithfully attended her brother L. H. DuBose, who has weathered through a spell of five weeks fever. He is now at home, we hope he will soon fit his clothes as neatly as ever.

Mr. Frank Hayes was taken very ill while visiting his mother at this place.

The Mulberry Alliance received a car load of goods at this place. They were purchased in Selma.

The surveying party is about twelve miles from this place, the party will spend Christmas holidays with us. O.

Jemison Locals.

Rev. D. Y. Wyatt, of Shelby county, has accepted the call of the Presbyterian church here. While we regret to give up Dr. Armstrong who has so ably filled this pulpit during the past year, we welcome Mr. Wyatt in our midst.

Rev. Mr. Lindsey's friends are pleased to learn that he has been returned to the Jemison mission by Conference.

Prof. G. L. Speer expects to give a concert in connection with some charades &c., at the closing exercises of his school before the Xmas holidays. Wednesday night is the time and all friends and patrons of the school are cordially invited to be present.

Rev. Henry R. Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., lectured to the Masons here last Saturday night; on Sunday morning he filled the Presbyterian pulpit for Mr. Wyatt and preached a most excellent sermon. Sunday night he delivered a lecture of three hours length on the Holy Land. The verdict of Mr. Coleman's audience was that he knew something to tell and knew how to tell it. He is a Methodist Episcopal minister, stands high in Masonic circles, is a fluent speaker, and has a mind richly stored with information. He has traveled extensively in the East and especially in Palestine in the interests of Masonry, and with a view of studying the Bible in the land where its scenes are laid. His lecture here was filled with valuable information, and though lengthy, delighted and entertained the audience to the end. X. Y. Z.

Verbena Personals.

This whole community was very much shocked, last Sunday afternoon. W. F. Claughton's son Wilbur, aged 13 years, fell from the upper barn floor, some twelve feet to the ground, striking on his head, from the effects of which he died in a few hours. Wilbur was a boy of fine character, and beloved by all who knew him, and the sympathy of every one goes out to the bereaved parents in this sad affliction.

Sunday was doubly sad to us for it brought the sad intelligence of the death of our beloved pastor, Rev. A. J. Briggs. We had just been made happy with the hope of having him another year, and the news of his death was sincerely a grief to us, and we feel his death truly our loss. The good of his excellent sermons will long be felt in the community.

Mrs. Mary Lanier, of Birmingham, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Gibson.

The examinations of the classes of our high school is progressing finely and attests the capability of our professor and his assistants. There will be a concert, Thursday night at the school, and charades, recitations, &c., by the pupils Friday night, which will close the exercises of the school until after the Christmas holidays.

We are glad to see our townsman, Col. Baldwin, out again, and in his usual good spirits after having suffered severely for several weeks from muscular rheumatism or neuralgia.

As Jeanie Deans once said in her memorable address to the Queen; "It is not what we have done for ourselves, but what we have done for others that we think on most pleasantly. Realize this pure pleasure by recommending White's Cream Vermifuge, the best worm medicine ever prepared. It means death to worms, health to children.

Phares Coleman, Esq., of Greensboro, has received the appointment of private secretary to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Supreme Court of Alabama vice Sterling Wood, resigned.

Do not put off until to-morrow that which should be done to-day. Especially in matters pertaining to health procrastination is dangerous. If your children show symptoms of worms, rid them of these intolerable pests by using White's Cream Vermifuge, the best worm medicine ever prepared. The worms will follow and your child experience a speedy relief. Your verdict will be there is no other remedy like this.

"I'm going to leave, mum!"

"What for? I am sure I have done all the work myself, in order to keep a girl."

"Well, mum, ther work's not done to suit me!"

In mansions, in wretched tenement houses, in frontier shanties, in the mines, we hear commendatory words of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment because it is a never failing remedy for piles. You have no one to blame but yourself if afflicted with piles, you sit sighing in the chimney corner when a bottle of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment would give relief.

A Sad Occurrence.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—During the performance of "Article 47," by Clara Morris at the Grand Opera House to-night, the play was interrupted by a scene which recalled the famous shooting case in this city some six or seven years ago. Seated in the midst of the large audience was Miss Annie Horton, great-granddaughter of John C. Calhoun, who is now an employe in the Postoffice Department. Several years ago this young woman went to the Treasury Department, where George Morgan, a son of Senator Morgan, of Alabama, was at his desk, and calling the young man out in the street, fired at him repeatedly with a revolver. The shots, however, inflicted only a slight wound, and the young clerk refused to prosecute.

At the end of the first act of "Article 47" to-night, where Miss Morris, as the Creole girl, Cora, is shot by her lover, Miss Horton became violently insane, and had to be taken from the theatre by the police.

It Should Be Supported.

Birmingham Herald: The newspaper is now recognized as the most important factor in the building up of any town or county, and when the paper has met the obligations devolving upon it, by doing all it can to build up the country morally, socially and financially, it then becomes the duty of the town and community for which it labors to give it their hearty support. No community should permit a newspaper to labor for its good without a liberal patronage from the people directly benefitted by its efforts.

Attention R. R. L.

For sprains, bruises, rheumatism, cramps, inflammation, swellings, cuts, burns, etc., in man, and splint, ring bone, windgall, epizootic, scratches, etc. in horses, Rangum Root Liniment is a sure cure. The "King of Liniments" is a universal verdict. Never fails to cure any ailment that can be reached by an external medical application. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

DEEP Sea Wonders exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards, wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

RICHLY Rewarded are those who read this and then act; they will find honorable employment that will not take them from their homes and families. The profits are large and sure for every industrious person, many have made and are now making several hundred dollars a month. It is easy for any one to make $5 and upwards per day, who is willing to work. Either sex, young or old; capital not needed; we start you. Everything new. No special ability required; you reader can do it as well as any one. Write to us at once for full particulars, which we mail free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

NOTICE NO. 7182.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 27, 1888, viz: Aaron Malachi, Homestead 12966 for the n ½ of s w ¼ sec 36, t 21 n, r 14 e He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Limus Cole, of Kincheon, Ala., Mike Gordan, Ned Houston, William Smitherman, of Energy, Ala.

dec22 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7181.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
December 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 27th, 1888, viz: Limus Cole Homestead 13639 for the n ½ of n w ¼ sec 2, township 20 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joacham Rockholdt and Gil Eiland, of Kincheon, Ala., Aaron Malachi and Mike Gordan, of Energy, Ala.

dec22* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7171.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 10, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on Jan. 21, 1888, viz: William R. Burnett, Homestead 13927, for the w ½ of ne ¼ and ne ¼ of ne ¼, sec. 26, t 21 n, r 14 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Jesse Aldridge, James Mims and Silas Culp, of Clanton, and John R. Kemp, of Kincheon.

dec15 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7145.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 14, viz: Louisiana Webb, Homestead 10850 for the n w ¼ sec 12 township 21 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Jones, William Thomas, William Huckaby and Gilbert Driver, all of Cooper's, Ala.

dec8 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

A SPECIFIC FOR

WOMAN'S DISEASES

—SUCH AS—

Painful Profuse Suppressed Scanty and Irregular

MENSTRUATION or MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. ☞ Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle. ☞ Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address

COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y

THE LIGHT-RUNNING

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE

PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR. NEVER OUT OF ORDER.

NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO ILL. — 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. — DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887,

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17993 for the n e ¼ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 21 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gin G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NEVER FAILS TO CURE BLIND BLEEDING ITCHING INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PILES 50 CTS & $1 PER BOTTLE

ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT

CURES SPRAINS, BRUISES, RHEUMATISM SORE THROAT, SPAVIN SPLINT, RINGBONE EPIZOOTIC, ETC. 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

HODGES SARSAPARILLA

CURES RHEUMATISM, SCROFULA & ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD. $1 PER BOTTLE. 6 FOR $5.

TANNERS INFALLIBLE NEURALGIA CURE

CURES ALL FORMS OF NEURALGIA & NERVIOUS HEADACHE. 50 CTS PER BOX.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

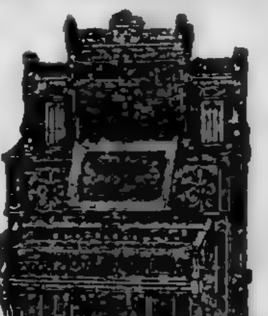
MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.



OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL. EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

Those excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.
Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L & N
LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

THE GREAT

Through Trunk Line

Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS, And the Cities of N. ORLEANS, MOBILE, and MONTGOM'Y, MEMPHIS, NASHVILLE.

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A. (3) Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 19 y

CORBETT BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,
mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,

Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

☞ The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are without exception the cheapest books ever published in any land or language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself:

Wonders of the World, Natural and Other. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive.

Wonders of the Sea. A description of the many wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with profuse illustrations.

"A Pleasure Exertion," and Other Sketches. By "Josiah Allen's Wife." A collection of irresistibly funny sketches by the most popular humorous writer of the day.

The Aunt Keziah Papers, by Clara Augusta, author of "The Bugg Documents." A most ridiculously funny book—in every way equal to "Widow Bedott."

Christmas Stories, by Charles Dickens. Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Each one is complete.

Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, puzzles and games, for the little folks at home.

Popular Recitations and Dialogues, humorous, dramatic and pathetic, including all the latest, best and most popular.

The Self-made Men of Modern Times. Contains portraits and biographies of famous self-made Americans, from the time of Franklin to the present.

[illegible]

The Forcellini Rubies. A Novel. By M. T. Caldor.

The Old Oaken Chest. A Novel. By Sylvanus Cobb, Jr.

The Pearl of the Ocean. A Novel. By Clara Augusta.

Hollow Ash Hall. A Novel. By Margaret Blount. Illustrated.

Cliffe House. A Novel. By Etta W. Pierce.

Under the Lilacs. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne."

The Diamond Bracelet. A Novel. By Mrs. Henry Wood. Illustrated.

The Lawyer's Secret. A Novel. By Miss M. E. Braddon.

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. A Novel. By R. L. Stevenson.

A Wicked Girl. A Novel. By Mary Cecil Hay.

Lady Valworth's Diamonds. A Novel. By "The Duchess."

Between Two Sins. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

The Nine of Hearts. A Novel. By B. L. Farjeon.

Doris's Fortune. A Novel. By Florence Warden.

A Low Marriage. A Novel. By Miss Mulock.

[illegible]

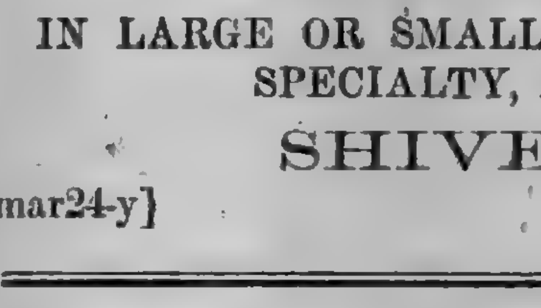
A Bartered Life. A Novel. By Marion Harland.

[illegible]

The Woman Hater. A Novel. By Dr. J. H. Robinson.

[illegible]

We will send any four of the above books by mail post-paid upon receipt of only 12 Cents; [illegible] F. M. LUPTON, Publisher, [illegible] Street, New York.



SHOW WALL CENTRE RIBBON CASES

ARTISTIC STORE FIXTURES.

CABINET WORK

TERRY SHOW CASE CO.
[illegible] N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.
Catalogue Free

sep 8-y

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 22, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the third Monday in March and September and continue three days.

Circuit—Third Monday after the first Monday in February and on the fifth Monday after the fourth Monday in July, and continue two weeks each time.

Commissioners'—Regular term second Monday in February and August, and first Monday in April and November. Special term second Monday in July.

County—First Monday in each month.

SCHEDULE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. —Trains pass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

No. 1 at	5:45 a. m.
No. 3	5:47 p. m.
No. 7	6:47 a. m.
No. 5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

We predict pleasant weather for the holidays.

Subscribe for your county paper with the New Year.

R. P. Woolley has a supply of nice ribbon cane syrup. Try it.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. W. L. Sampey will leave for Tuskegee Sunday, to visit his wife's relatives.

Miss Burwell is spending Christmas in Clanton with her sister, Mrs. Lee Holt.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Several of our young people who are off at school are expected home the last of the week.

Mrs. W. L. Sampey, of this place, is spending Christmas with relatives in Tuskegee.

Mr. W. H. Foshee and family, of this place, are spending the holidays with relatives in Arkansas.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

The contractor is giving the county a good job in the new bridge just below the McLin residence.

CHILTON VIEW and Montgomery Advertiser one year for $2.25 in advance. A premium with every subscription.

Send a Christmas card to your friends at a distance. You can find a nice collection of them at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

The parade of the Young Men's Fantastic Club on Monday afternoon next promises to be the biggest event of the holidays.

Don't fail to attend the Oyster Supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Chuch on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27th, at the Courthouse.

Christmas! Christmas!!

Don't lose your opportunity to select from the largest, best and cheapest stock of first class toys in town. Come and see.

C. L. PHILLIPS.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Mr. B. T. Rasberry and Mrs. M. A. Wilson, of Strasburg, were united in marriage, by Judge Callen, at that place on Tuesday. The VIEW extends congratulations.

If you want first class confectioneries or groceries, Christmas toys &c., call on Mrs. M. A. Butler & Bro., where you can buy them as cheap as anywhere in town. Call and see them before you buy elsewhere. They also give the best market price for chickens and eggs.

Christmas Goods.

I have just received a nice lot of toys, fire-works, candies, &c., for the holiday trade. Also a new lot of dry goods and notions. I keep the best Patent flour that can be had anywhere at $5.50 per barrel. Clothing at reduced prices to close out what I have in stock.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPEY.

John B. Roden, of 1908 2d Avenue, Birmingham, the old reliable bookseller and stationer, has a new advertisement in the VIEW to which attention is directed.

A difficulty occurred between two brothers, sons of Mr. Sam Caton, at Strasburg on Monday evening, which resulted in one being seriously cut by the other. He was stabbed just below the heart and also disemboweled.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Rev. Henry R. Coleman was delayed by the high waters and did not reach Clanton in time for the promised lecture Thursday. He reached here Friday morning and delivered a lecture to the Masonic Fraternity Friday night at the Lodge Hall.

Our Holiday Supplement.

We present a supplement to our readers with this issue which they will find filled with choice and interesting reading suitable for the Xmas tide. No paper will be issued from the office next week except to legal advertisers.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Unsuspected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

A movement is on foot to have the entertainment of the Young Men's Fantastic Club at the courthouse Monday night. Several married ladies' will be requested to act as chaperons and their names will be printed on the invitations so that no question can be raised as to the propriety of young ladies attending.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd, of Clanton, are the parents of a child, two months old, that weighs only two pounds; at its birth it weighed only six ounces. The child is said to be enjoying perfect health. —Advertiser's State News.

This is a base canard. No such family and no such happening at Clanton. The Advertiser did not obtain the item from the VIEW.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

A Sacred Present.

We were shown the other day a beautiful mother-of-pearl cross manufactured in Bethlehem, suitable as a necklace charm, which was a present from Rev. H. R. Coleman, Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky A. F. & A. M., to little Mary Duke, youngest daughter of Mr. O. A. Duke, of Clanton. The gift was accompanied by the following lines explaining its sacredness and value:

This cross to you I here present,
From Bethlehem to you is sent.
I brought it from the very place
Where Jesus came to see our race:
May cross to you in time be light,
While Christ by faith appears in sight,
And when on earth you lay it down
May you in heaven receive the crown.
H. R. C.

Death of Rev. A. J. Briggs.

Rev. A. J. Briggs, pastor of the Methodist churches at Clanton and Verbena, died at his home at Robinson Springs on last Saturday. We can scarcely write of this sad event. Mr. Briggs had a warm place in the hearts of the people of this community. A man of sterling merit and great force of character with an enlightened christian conscience, he made a deep and lasting impression for good wherever he was known. He was reappointed to this charge by the conference in session in Greensboro last week. He was taken ill while attending the conference, and was carried to his home at Robinson Springs where he died as stated. His death has left an aching void in the hearts of those friends who loved him for his noble qualities of heart and mind.

We are not informed as to what steps will be taken by the Verbena and Clanton churches to fill his place.

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.
2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.
Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants
MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.
—AND DEALERS IN—
Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

Now is the Time

to use Hodges' Sarsaparilla with Iodide of Potash, the great purifier for the blood. A certain cure for rheumatism, scrofulous affections, and all diseases peculiar to females. Renovates and invigorates the system. Physicians recommend it. Take no other. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Let everybody remember that we are in Clanton to keep the public supplied with fresh meats of all kinds, and will be found at our stand, next door to M. C. McRee's every day.

2t CARGILL & JONES.

EPO

Don't waste time and money and undergo needless torture with the knife when when Ethiopian Pile Ointment will afford instant relief and certain cure in every case of blind, bleeding, itching, internal and external piles. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Strayed

From my house, in this county, on the 15th inst., a bay mare, right hind foot white, drooped hips, a few white saddle marks on back and about 14 to 15 hands high. Nine years old. In good condition. A suitable reward for finding.

B. S. WILLIAMS,
Verbena, Ala.

The opening chapters of a splendid story for the young, by the famous showman, P. T. Barnum, appears this week in the columns of the New York Family Story Paper. The story describes the adventures of an American boy, whom Mr. Barnum calls "My Plucky Boy Tom," and whom he sent to India in search of wild, fierce, and rare animals to replace those destroyed by the disastrous fire at Bridgeport last month. The reader is thrilled by the hair-breadth escapes of this dauntless American boy when capturing the fiercest and wildest animals ever seen in any traveling show. The New York Family Story Paper is for sale at all news stands.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

Assignee's Sale.

Under the power contained in the deed of assignment executed to me by W. M. Wilson, successor of the late firm of W. M. Wilson and Brother, on the 6th day of December, 1887, for the benefit of his creditors, I will proceed to sell at the late place of business of the said W. M. Wilson in the town of Clanton, Ala., at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, January 2d, 1888, one lot of Merchandise and store fixtures, including scales, show cases and one large fire proof safe.

W. E. STEWART,
Assignee of W. M. Wilson.
W. A. COLLIER, Att'y.

Grand Raffle!

A $1500 DWELLING.

Only $3 a Chance.

The residence of James Bell in Clanton is to be raffled at THREE DOLLARS A CHANCE, with 500 chances. This residence is most conveniently situated about 300 yards from the Courthouse. It contains five rooms, and a well of excellent free stone water is on the premises, together with all necessary outhouses. The building is a new and substantial structure having been erected only two years. The lot is one acre in extent. Titles good. Drawing will take place as soon as the tickets are all sold. Tickets for sale at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND.

HERE I AM!

I have opened at my old stand in Clanton

A New Stock of Goods!

And I propose to sell them at the lowest cash prices. Call on me and secure bargains in groceries and family supplies.
Respectfully,
J. W. EDWARDS.

Machine fixtures always on hand

G. E. WILLIAMS,
BLACKSMITH
—AND—
WHEELWRIGHT.
CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

TINC

Don't suffer any longer, but use Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure, the only infallible cure on earth for all forms of neuralgia and nervous headache. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn 50 cents per box. Sold by all druggists. sep 1

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.
Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,
J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Assessor's Notice.

I will attend the following named places on the days here named for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1888:

Dixie	Beat	8 Monday,	January	2
Valley Creek	"	8 Wed'sday,	"	4
R. Latham's	"	7 Friday,	"	6
Maplesville	"	7 Saturday	"	7
Macedonia	"	3 Tuesday	"	10
D. Wooley's	"	2 Wednesday	"	11
Concord C'h	"	2 Thursday	"	12
Providence	"	2 Friday	"	13
S. E. Busby's	"	2 Saturday	"	14
Jemison	"	2 Monday	"	16
Busbee's Mill	"	8 Tuesday	"	17
Strasburg	"	4 Wed'sday	"	18
Jno. Archer's	"	1 Thursday	"	19
D.H. Mullin's	"	1 Friday	"	20
Jas. Smith's	"	4 Saturday	"	21
Cane Cr'k C'h	"	4 Monday	"	23
Clanton	"	4 Tuesday	"	24
Clanton	"	4 Wed'sday	"	25
Pleas. Grove	"	6 Thursday	"	26
Benson	"	3 Friday	"	27
Verbena	"	5 Tuesday	"	31
Joe Alred's	"	5 Wed'sday	Feb'y	1
Cooper's	"	5 Thursday	"	2
Kincheon	"	6 Friday	"	3
Chamber's Mill,	beat 6,	Saturday	"	9

W. A. SMITH, Tax Assessor.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Good News for Everybody!
JOHN B. RODEN,
THE OLD RELIABLE
BOOKSELLER & STATIONER
1908 2d Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to sell at actual cost for cash only, his entire stock of Books, Writing Papers, Albums, Plush Goods, Bronze and Leather Goods, and in fact everything in his mammoth store for cash to make a change in his business. Same price to everybody. Do not wait, but call at once. Remember 1908 2d Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

This Space Belongs to
A. J. BROOKS,
VERBENA, ALA.
Who can give you bargains in anything you may want to buy.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Large Stock! Low Prices!

Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.

GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.
No trouble to answer inquiries.

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON
W. H. SARTOR,
FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.

In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB & HERSHEY CO.,

We offer you the benefit of more than 20 years' experience and claim to be the only firm in the South who sell uniformly at Manufacturers' net prices. Don't pay more for old goods than we ask for new.

We shall continue to deal in Railroad Supplies, every style and size of Engines, Boilers, Saw Mills, Tools and Equipments for Foundries and Machine Shops; Wood-working Machinery; Brick Machinery, and all kinds of Plantation Machinery and Implements. The best Cylinder and Lubricating Oils at reasonable prices our specialty.

Office Corner First Avenue and 21st Street, Birmingham, Ala.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,
Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS.
COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.
Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.
Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.
Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.
Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,
—DEALER IN—
Guns and Ammunition,
GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,
Wholesale Grocers,
P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,
Artistic Photographer
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.
Life Size Photographs a Specialty.
Photographs on Silk, Satin and Linen; Photographs on watch dials. Enameled Photographs.
All Sittings made Instantaneously. Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.
Correspondence solicited.
[jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,
Wholesale Druggists,
FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
MEDICINES,
Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.
Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [June 10]

J. M. Hutchason's
BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.
Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.
Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to
Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt
Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.
RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.
Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.
MONTGOMERY STABLES,
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. jan1y

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)
Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.
Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,
Leading Tailor.
1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Keeps constantly in stock a full line of
Elegant Goods.
ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,
—DEALER IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.
Call on me before purchasing elsewhere. feb24

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 cts. Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25 cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN M'FG Co., Baltimore, Md. oct6-6m

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
LANGSTON, HAND & COMPANY,
NO SHODDY GOODS!
-:- LOW -:- PRICES -:-
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
☞ Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street.
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
☞ For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
☞ When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
23 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Coll rs & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
☞ Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m]

Subscribe for This Paper!
Brimful of choice reading matter for everybody.
NOW IS THE TIME.
Examine this paper and send us your subscription.
IT WILL PAY YOU!

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Hats and bonnets are very picturesque this season.

All Paris frocks are more looped than London gowns.

Ostrich feather bows and band trimmings are coming in vogue.

The variety in bodices, corsages and sleeves is seemingly endless.

The polonaise is revived, but is not so popular here as on the other side.

A diamond sun, instead of star or crescent, is the newest corsage brooch for a bride.

Next to yellow, cardinal red is the best color for the ribbon of a lady's driving whip.

There are about eighteen thousand female students in the different colleges in the United States.

Miss Ada Lee, an attorney at Port Huron, Mich., has held the office of Circuit Court Commissioner for three years.

Nets of gold, silver and steel, jet beads and other beads are not infrequently drawn over the crowns of dressy bonnets and hats.

The crowns of velvet and plush hats and bonnets are frequently studded thickly with sharks' teeth, pointed pieces of black jet.

Siren, pale sea green, shot with gold and with crimson, appears in many of the new ribbons and millinery fabrics, plushes, velvets and moires.

Sensible fashions for children are now the only good form and freedom of movement and comfort are of first consideration in all the details of the wardrobe.

Gobelin blue with very dark rich mahogany shades are used in children's costumes with good effect. This is also a popular combination in ladies' costumes.

The most elegant of all black gowns is of velvet, trimmed with Chantilly laces and rows of that long-stranded, fine-cut jet bead fringe called "rain fringe" by dressmakers.

Following the pretty English fashion, even young matrons wear the breakfast cap, and it is nowadays a most coquettish and attractive affair of dainty lace and velvet bows.

The Dutch patterns in children's costumes still are the most attractive and picturesque models, and the Gretchen dress is still among the most becoming and popular of all.

Shot woollen fabrics, with the warp of red, the woof of blue, green, brown, yellow or gray, in various shades of those colors, are the latest novelty seen on dry goods counters.

A woman was awarded the first premium for sheep raising at the last state fair of Iowa. Many excellent inventions by Iowa women are coming into marketable demand.

Feathers, not stuffed birds, are seen on the attractive bonnets this season, but they are cocks' plumes and ostrich tips which do not shock the sensibilities of the Audubon Society.

Colored borders to handkerchiefs of the most gaudy coloring are stylish. Yellow and black are the colors seen most generally, but brilliant red and bright blue are also seen.

Queen Emma of Holland is a brunette whose eyes would be very pretty did she not continually wink when speaking, thus giving you the impression of preparing for a good burst of tears.

There are a great many beautiful new woolens in cross bars and plaids which are not in any sense true tartans but which are beautiful in effect and which will be generally worn the coming season.

The half girdle of velvet is the prettiest finish for a fan or a shirred waist. Sometimes the half girdle joins a sash, which is tied behind in a bow. The sash is still an attractive part of the costume.

The English felt turbans and toques intended for wear with tailor gowns have close rolling brims, bound, or rather bordered, with wide silk hatters' galloon or braid, and frequently the trimming is loops of the same galloon and a few quills.

The dressiest short wraps of bengaline and velvet or plush are elaborately trimmed with lace, bead fringes, and embroideries, sometimes with metal thread embroideries and soutache, and to these for cold weather bands of fur are added.

The "tournure war" goes on with unabated vigor. Fashion writers say the bustle is out of date; artists declaim against it on aesthetic grounds, physicians on hygienic; but the fashionable dressmakers still insist upon it and it will probably have at least another year of existence.

The girls in the department of manual training at the St. Paul High School have demonstrated that they can saw a board as well as a man can. Thirty-six of them gave an exhibition of their skill to an admiring audience, and they also drove countless nails without once hammering their thumbs.

High collars on dresses are going out of vogue, except for those intended for street, out-of-door, and traveling wear. Indoor dresses are made to be worn with large falling collars of lace, while a dog collar or ribbon or velvet, lace and bead trimmed, is fastened round the neck with a jewelled pin or fancy buckle.

The Russian coat is the favorite long garment in sealskin or seal plush. It has bell-shaped sleeves, is double breasted, and has a deep collar, rolling up to the ears and chin of silver fox, sable or some other long pile fur. It is open in he back, like a man's overcoat, and defines the figure with a curve over the bustle in the back.

A new woolen fabric, velvet cloth, with a thick, strong frill, takes the name of cardinal cloth because it is used for cardinals' robes when in bright red shades. It comes in other colors as well as red, and is used for short or long evening cloaks, for the underskirts and panels of light cloth and serge dresses and other parts of wool costumes.

In purchasing furs a sure test of what dealers call a "prime" fur is the length and density of the down next the skin. This can be readily determined by blowing a brisk current of air from the mouth "against the set of fur." If the fiber opens readily, exposing the skin to view, reject the article; but if the down is so dense that the breath cannot penetrate it, or, at most, shows but a small portion of the skin, the article may be accepted.

Testing Her Love.

"George, dear," she said reproachfully, as she clung fondly around his neck, "why will you eat raw onions when you know you are coming to see me?"

"Merely to t[illegible] [illegible] love, [illegible]

"A THREE-TIME WINNER."

Ned Hanlan Lost His Grip—Philosophical Training Demanded.

The defeat of "Ned" Hanlan by Teemer at Toronto in August indicates the "end of the glory" of the doughty champion.

He has sustained his record with admirable pluck and success, but the tremendous strain of years of training must certainly some day find its limit.

Apropos of this we recall the following interesting reminiscence of aquatic annals:

On a fine, bright day in August, 1871, an excited multitude of 15,000 to 20,000 persons lined the shores of the beautiful Kenebecasis, near St. John, N. B., attracted by a four-oared race between the famous Paris crew of that city and a picked English crew for $5,000 and the championship of the world. Wallace Ross, the present renowned oarsman, pulled stroke for the Blue Nose crew, and "Jim" Renforth, champion sculler and swimmer of England and of the world, was stroke in the English shell.

Excitement was at fever heat.

But three hundred yards of the course had been covered when the Englishmen noticed that the rivals were creeping away.

"Give us a dozen, Jim," said the veteran Harry Kelly, ex-champion of England, who was pulling No. 3 oar.

"I can't boys, I'm done," said Renforth, and with these words he fell forward, an inanimate heap in the boat.

"He has been poisoned by book-makers," was the cry, and belief.

Everything that science and skill could suggest for his restoration was tried; but after terrible struggles of agony, the strong man, the flower of the athletes and pride of his countrymen, passed away.

The stomach was analyzed but no sign or trace of poison could be found therein, though general examination showed a very strange condition of the blood and the life giving and health-preserving organs caused by years of unwise training. While the muscular development was perfect the heart and kidneys were badly congested.

The whole system was, therefore, in just that state when the most simple departure from ordinary living and exertion was of momentous consequence. His wonderful strength only made his dying paroxysms more dreadful and the fatality more certain.

Hanlan is now in Australia. Beach, champion of that country, is a powerful fellow, who probably understands the liability of athletes to death from over-training, the effect thereof being very serious on the heart, blood and kidneys, as shown by poor Renforth's sudden death.

Within the past three years he has taken particular care of himself, and when training, always reinforces the kidneys and prevents blood congestion in them and the consequent ill-effect on the heart by using Warner's safe cure, the sportsman's universal favorite, and says he "is astonished at the great benefit."

Harry Wyatt, the celebrated English trainer of athletes, who continues himself to be one of the finest of specimens of manhood and one of the most successful of trainers, writes over his own signature to the English Sporting Life, September 5th, saying: "I consider Warner's safe cure invaluable for all training purposes and outdoor exercise. I have been in the habit of using it for a long time. I am satisfied that it pulled me through when nothing else would, and it is always a three-time winner!"

Beach's and Wyatt's method of training is sound and should be followed by all.

Boisterous Little King.

The baby king of Spain, having reached the mature age of 17 months was on hand at the opening of the Cortes. His royal legs being yet two weak to support him with the dignity becoming a monarch, he sat on his mother's knee during the drive from the palace, and on entering the Cortes was handed over to a buxom and gorgeously attired Astrurian nurse. His majesty resented the change by grabbing at his nurse's hair and her gold and silver bangles. They managed to pacify him, however, and he allowed himself to be taken into the senate house without a protest. Here there was a mighty gathering of princes, grandees, ambassadors and legislators, many superbly apparelled and blazing with decorations and jewels. His majesty did not seem to like the look of things, and commenced to whimper. The queen, looking regal indeed in black velvet robes and diamond coronet, had him placed in the nurse's arms alongside of her on the throne dais. He stopped whimpering for a while, and kept his big eyes fixed on his royal mother's coronet, but when the queen commenced to read her speech in a dignified and measured tone to the grand assembly, King Alfonso XIII, possibly thinking he was being scolded, protested audibly. The gorgeous nurse strove to pacify him and succeeded for a moment. When, however, reference was made to Spain's cordial relations with other powers, his majesty sobbed loudly, and the sobbing developed into a howl as his mother spoke of her friendly feelings to the sultan of Morocco. Happily at this critical moment King Alfonzo's eye was caught by the glittering decorations on the breast of old Marshal Concha, upon which he gazed in silent ecstasy until the ceremony had concluded. Then when the queen got into her carriage and clear of all the grand people, she hugged the baby and said he had been a good boy, just as any other mother would have done.

Woman's Inhumanity.

The state of Indiana has a separate prison for females, which is under woman's management. It has been suspected that great indignities and cruelties were heaped upon the inmates and a recent investigation shows that the stories have not been at all exaggerated. A witness before the investigating committee of the Legislature said: "I could tell you things which would make the very hair stand on your head—how the poor girls are knocked down, handcuffed, bucked and gagged and thrown into a little dark, damp cell and kept there for a week, two weeks, three weeks on four slices of old bread and two cups of water a day and three or four old comforters to lie on."

Atrocious.

The most inhuman punishment of a child by its parents ever brought to light in this country, was in the case of a small colored boy of Boston, Mass., who was examined by the municipal court of that city. The boy was punished for going skating without permission, by being placed with his bare feet upon a hot stove until his soles were blistered. The father confessed the atrocious deed, but said that he was compelled to do something to keep the child at home.

A CANADIAN challenge for the America's cup is talked of, but does not alarm our yachtsmen. Unlike the Yankees, Canadians seem ready to take to the sea for the love of it, and their entire yacht fleet would make but a poor showing beside that of any one of a dozen American clubs.

"The Proper Study of Mankind is Man," says the illustrious Pope. If he had included woman in the list he would have been nearer the truth if not so poetical. Dr. R. V. Pierce has made them both a life study, especially woman, and the peculiar derangements to which her delicate system is liable. Many women in the land who are acquainted with Dr. Pierce only through his "Favorite Prescription," bless him with all their hearts, for he has brought them the panacea for all those chronic ailments peculiar to their sex; such as leucorrhea, prolapsus and other displacements, ulceration, "internal fever," bloating, tendency to internal cancer, and other ailments. Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

A foggy day in London caused the consumption of 4,000,000 feet of gas more than usual[illegible]

If afflicted [illegible] Dr. Isaac Thompson's [illegible] Druggists sell at 25c. per bottle.

The Crime of Lella Burgess.

The Savannah News says:—There is a girl named Lella Burgess serving a life term in the Dade County coal mine, the story of whose crime is somewhat strange. Her father, James Burgess, lived near Martin, in the western part of the State. He had two daughters, the youngest of whom was Lella. About three years ago he joined the church, and became a regular church attendant. He was pained to see that his two daughters, now grown to young womanhood, did not care to attend the religious service with the regularity that he did, and where all should have been concord the bitterest kind of discord grew up. After a while Burgess told the girls that a revival was about to open, and that he expected them to attend every service, and if they did not there would be somebody to whip. For three mornings the girls failed to appear at the "sunrise" meetings. On the fourth morning Burgess pulled the girls out of bed and began to chastise one of them severely. When he had beaten her into submission he began on the other. Lella, who was the first one chastised, slipped out of the room, procured an axe, and with one stroke buried the edge of it in her father's skull. The gash was five inches long and penetrated the brain half an inch. Afterwards the girl sat looking sullenly at the dead body of her father, oblivious of the crowds which pressed in to behold the scene of blood. She was convicted of the highest grade of manslaughter, and took her place among the convicts uncomplainingly, merely saying that she would commit the crime over again before she would be compelled to go church so early in the morning.

THE MOUTH.—A New York photographer poses the mouths of his female patrons before the camera by making them say some word over several times while the picture is being taken. He has different words for different styles of mouths. When a pleasant, bland and serene mouth is wanted he makes the woman say "bosom." If, however, a haughty and distinguished attitude of mouth is wanted, she says "brush." "Flip" makes a large mouth look small, and "cabbage" enlarges the mouth. An air of interesting melancholy is caused by the pronunciation of "kerchunk," and for an expression of sweetness and resignation "s'cat" is the most proper word.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine,

Known and used by physicians all over the world. SCOTT'S EMULSION not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh by the use of it. I use it in all cases of wasting diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. PIERCE, M. D., Knoxville, Ala.

The importation of silver ore from Mexico to El Paso, Tex., was 6,762 tons in one month.

Blowing Up Hell Gate

has been a laborious and costly work, but the end justifies the effort. Obstructions in any important channel means disaster. Obstructions in the organs of the human body bring inevitable disease. They must be cleared away, or physical wreck will follow. Keep the liver in order, and the pure blood courses through the body conveying health, strength and life; let it become disordered and the channels are clogged with impurities, which result in disease and death. No other medicine equals Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" for acting upon the liver and purifying the blood.

A released convict in Nebraska has sued his lawyer for $30,000 for malpractice.

No Trouble to Swallow

Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" (the original "little liver pills") and no pain or griping. Cure sick or bilious headache, sour stomach, and cleanse the system and bowels. 25 cts. a vial.

De Lesseps says that the Panama Canal will be open by 1890.

We would be pleased to know of a man or woman who has never had headache or been subject to constipation. As these seem to be universal troubles a little advice may be in order. Why should persons cram their stomachs with nauseating purgative pills, etc., which sicken and debilitate, when such a pleasant and sterling remedy as Prickly Ash Bitters will act mildly and effectively on the liver, kidney, stomach and bowels, and at the same time tone up and strengthen the whole system, causing headache, constipation, and all such distressing evils to quickly disappear.

ITCHING PILES.—Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. It is equally efficacious in curing all Skin Diseases. DR. SWAYNE & SON, Proprietors, Phila. By mail for 50 cents. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT for sale by druggists.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

Like Fainting Ladies.

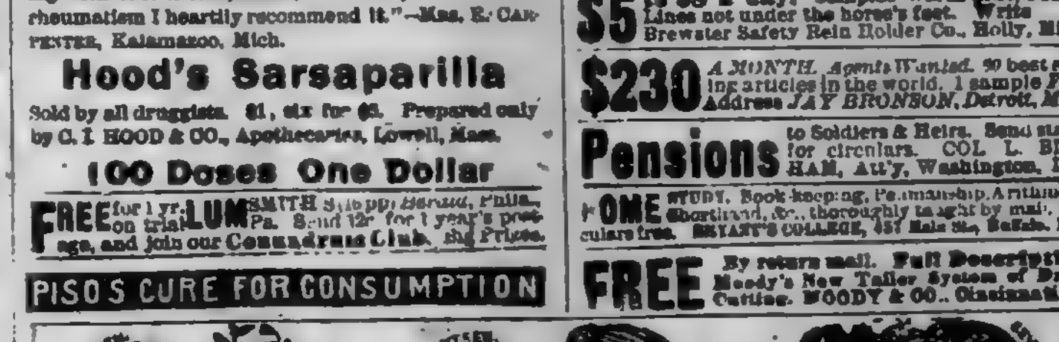
Why are good resolutions like fainting ladies? They should be carried out, and parents should not forget the resolutions that would never suffer them to be without that cough and croup cure, Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

Taylor's Hospital Cure," is a positive, pleasant and painless remedy for Catarrh. Sent on ten days' trial. If it does not meet the requirements, the money will be returned. Address, City Hall Pharmacy, 284 Broadway, New York. Free pamphlet.

Pains and Aches
In various parts of the body, more particularly in the back, shoulders and joints, are the unwelcome indications that rheumatism has gained a foothold, and you are "in for it" for a longer or shorter period. Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood, and is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eradicates every impurity from the blood and fills it with richness and health.
"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla last spring, and can truly say it helped me very much. To those suffering with bilious complaints, nervous prostration or rheumatism I heartily recommend it."—MRS. E. CARPENTER, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1, six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

FREE for 1 yr. on trial LUM SMITH [illegible], Phila., Pa. Send 12c for 1 year's postage, and join our Conundrum Club. Big Prizes.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION



This represents a healthy life. Throughout its various scenes,
Just such a life as they enjoy Who use the Smith's Bile Beans.
Smith's BILE BEANS purify the blood, by acting directly and promptly on the Liver, Skin and Kidneys. They consist of a vegetable combination that has no equal in medical science. They cure Constipation, Malaria, and Dyspepsia, and are a safeguard against all forms of fevers, chills and fever, gall stones, and Bright's disease. Send 4 cents postage for a sample package and test the TRUTH of what we say. Price, 25 cents per bottle, mailed to any address, postpaid. DOSE ONE BEAN. Sold by druggists.
The original Photograph, panel size, of this picture sent on receipt of 10c. in stamps. Address, BILE BEANS, St. Louis, Mo.
J. F. SMITH & CO., PROPRIETORS, ST. LOUIS, MO.

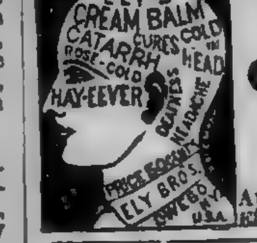
ASTHMA CURE FREE!
BRODIE'S ENGLISH SPECIFIC is a certain and infallible cure for Asthma, in every stage. It not only gives immediate relief, but is a sure and permanent cure. [illegible] [illegible] that we will mail it to you by mail. [illegible] [illegible] suffering, send your name and address at once.
GEO. L. PFLUME & CO.,
P. O. Box [illegible] [illegible] Richmond St., Cincinnati, O.

A PROMINENT MERCHANT WRITES.
I Was Bound to Keep Trying as Long as Life Lasted.
WORTHVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1887.
Dr. Kilmer, Dear Sir—I wrote you some time ago about my case, without the least faith that you could do anything for me, as I had six different physicians and got no relief, and was repeatedly told that I could not be cured, but I was bound to keep trying as long as life lasted. I was urged by my wife to write you about my case, as I did in the spring. You wrote me to try your Swamp-Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder cure. I used it as directed and the result was, before I had taken the third bottle I was entirely cured, and have been gaining ever since. My case was a Hemorrhage of the Bladder, which had been draining my life for two years, and I can say to-day that I can eat, sleep and work better than I have before in twenty years. I say God bless you, and may the afflicted do as I have done. Use Swamp-Root and be healed.
Yours truly,
GEO. D. MACOMBER.
Don't neglect early symptoms. At druggists $1.00 per bottle, 6 bottles $5.00, or by express. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The best and surest Remedy for Cure of all diseases caused by any derangement of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels. Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilious Complaints and Malaria of all kinds yield readily to the beneficent influence of
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
It is pleasant to the taste, tones up the system, restores and preserves health.
It is purely Vegetable, and cannot fail to prove beneficial, both to old and young.
As a Blood Purifier it is superior to all others. Sold everywhere at $1.00 a bottle.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES. IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY. IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhoea, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DIGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO., Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.



YOU WILL SAVE MONEY, Time, Pain, Trouble and will CURE
CATARRH
BY USING
ELY'S CREAM BALM.
Apply Balm into each nostril. Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N.Y.

JONES
HE PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

4 MAGAZINES FOR THE YOUNG
from baby to grown ups; best for the several ages; Babyland, The Pansy, Our Little Men and Women, Wide Awake. What do they cost? Send 15 cents for samples of all or 5 for any one. You can get them all, if you like, for a little work.
D. LOTHROP COMPANY, BOSTON.

AGENTS Send for CAT-A-LOG of E. B. TREAT'S new books, including MOTHER, HOME, and HEAVEN, prose and poetry; by 400 best authors 146,000 sold. Elegantly ill., $2.75. Send 25 for outfit. Also 5000 Curiosities of the Bible, $2.00. [illegible] E. B. TREAT, 771 Broadway, N. Y.

WANTED—LADIES.
In City or Country, for our Holiday Trade, to take light, pleasant work at their own homes. $1. to $3. per day can be quietly made. work sent by mail any distance. Particulars free. No canvassing. Address at once CRESCENT ART CO., 147A Milk St., Boston, Mass. P. O. Box 5170.

SOLDIERS all get Pensions, if ¼ disabled; Officers' travel pay, bounty collected; Deserters relieved; 22 years' practice. Success or no fee. Laws sent free. A. W. McCormick & Son, Washington, D.C.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Shorthand, &c., thoroughly taught by mail. Circulars free. BRYANT'S COLLEGE, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE By return mail. Full Description Moody's New Tailor System of Dress Cutting. MOODY & CO., Cincinnati, O.

FOR MAN AND BEAST!
Mexican Mustang Liniment
PENETRATES MUSCLES to the VERY BONES. TRY IT!

'88.
FOR the year 1888 Frank Leslie's POPULAR MONTHLY, which has been aptly styled "The Monarch of the Monthlies," will be better than ever. Articles upon topics of current public interest; sketches of eminent persons; strong and brilliant stories; poetry of a high order; all profusely illustrated, and by writers of recognized merit, will fill its pages. To the old and favorite corps of contributors will be added writers of promise, and no effort will be spared to keep the magazine in the foremost rank.
In the November number was begun an earnest and powerful tale,
PRINCE LUCIFER,
By ETTA W. PIERCE,
which has already attracted widespread attention, and charmed multitudes of readers. Subscriptions may begin, if desired, with the November number.
Each issue contains a
Full-Page Picture in Colors,
the series of twelve forming for the year a beautiful collection of gems of modern art.
The POPULAR MONTHLY contains 128 large octavo pages, nearly twice the matter of similar publications, and is not only the best but by far the cheapest of any of the magazines for the people.
$3.00 per Year; 25c. a Copy.
SPECIMEN COPIES, 15 CTS.
MRS. FRANK LESLIE,
53, 55 and 57 PARK PLACE, NEW YORK.

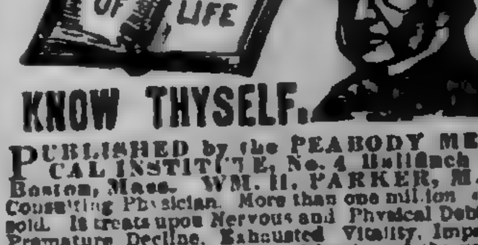
ROUGH ON RATS
TRADE MARK

Gone Where the Woodbine Twineth.
Rats are smart, but "Rough on Rats" beats them. Clears out Rats, Mice, Roaches, Water Bugs, Flies, Beetles, Moths, Ants, Mosquitoes, Bed-bugs, Hen Lice, Insects, Potato Bugs, Sparrows, Skunks, Weasel, Gophers, Chipmunks, Moles, Musk Rats, Jack Rabbits, Squirrels. 15c. and 25c. Druggists.
"ROUGH ON PAIN" Plaster, Porosed. 15c.
"ROUGH ON COUGHS." Coughs, colds, 25c.

ALL SKIN HUMORS CURED BY
ROUGH ON ITCH
"Rough on Itch" Ointment cures Skin Humors, Pimples, Flesh Worms, Ring Worm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Itch, Ivy Poison, Barber's Itch, Scald Head, Eczema. 50c. Drug. or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City.

ROUGH ON PILES
Cures Piles or Hemorrhoids, Itching, Protruding, Bleeding, Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c. Druggists or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

EXHAUSTED VITALITY
A Great Medical Work for Young and Middle-Aged Men.



KNOW THYSELF.
PUBLISHED by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass. WM. H. PARKER, M.D., Consulting Physician. More than one million copies sold. It treats upon Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline, Exhausted Vitality, Impaired Vigor and Impurities of the Blood, and the untold miseries consequent thereon. Contains 300 pages, substantial emboss'd binding, full gilt. Warranted the best popular medical treatise published in the English language. Price only $1 by mail, postpaid, and concealed in a plain wrapper. Illustrative sample free if you send now. Address as above.

ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, and all Diseases of the BLOOD, can be cured only by DR. HAIR'S SYSTEM of Treatment, which is now recognized by the medical world as the only one that will positively and permanently cure Asthma, its kindred affections and all blood diseases. Not only does it excel all other methods in giving quick relief, but it absolutely cures the worst cases permanently. Thousands have been cured by it. Convincing and conclusive proof will be found in my 64 page Treatise, sent free.
Dr. B. W. HAIR, 233 W. FOURTH ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

$100 to $300 A MONTH can be made working for us. AGENTS preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. [illegible] B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1009 Main St., Richmond, Va.

PATENTS [illegible] Washington, D. C.
OPIUM [illegible]
[illegible]
GOLD [illegible]

Rates of Advertising.

One Dollar per Square, of one inch space or less, for the first, and Fifty Cents for each subsequent insertion.

Inches.	3m.	6m.	12m.
1 Inch	$ 5 00	$ 7 00	$ 11 25
2 Inches	7 00	11 25	16 00
3 Inches	10 00	15 00	22 50
4 Inches	12 50	20 00	27 00
5 Inches	15 00	22 50	32 00
¼ Column	18 00	27 00	40 00
½ Column	27 00	40 00	60 00
1 Column	40 00	60 00	100 00

The Chilton View.

W. H. & J. C. LAWRENCE, Editors and Proprietors. "WISDOM, JUSTICE, MODERATION." TERMS: $1.50 Per Annum.

VOLUME VII. CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1887. NUMBER 8.

Special Advertising.

Business Notices Ten Cents per line each insertion.

Obituaries and Tributes of Respect, half rates.

Announcing candidates for office, Five Dollars, strictly in advance.

Communications recommending candidates for office will be headed as advertisements and charged for accordingly.

Liberal contracts made with those advertising by the year.

☞The money is due on all advertising after the first publication.

Transition.

'Tis said, in death, upon the
Of Age, a momentary trace
Of Infancy's returning grace,
Forestalls decay;

And here, in Autumn's dusky reign,
A birth of blossom seems again
To flush the woodland's fading train
With dreams of May.

—[John B. Tabb in Independent.

A PROMPT SOLUTION.

BY EMMA A. OPPER.

It was the typical country store. There were soap and pins, and needles and letter-paper, and back-combs and paper collars, and suspenders, in glass cases in the front, and crockery and calico, and tinware and overhauls, and cowhide boots, disposed on the shelves and butter and dried beef, and buckwheat and kerosene, and molasses and codfish, in friendly confusion in the rear. Its motly variety was, indeed, a necessity. Lamphier's was the one store of Unionville.

If Lamphier's was the typical country store, Lottie Lamphier was not the typical country storekeeper's daughter. So John Stockham, Mr. Lamphier's clerk from the next town, had thought, when he first saw her tripping into the store one morning, after a spool of thread and a pound of coffee—she was her father's housekeeper.

She had seemed to John, in her crisp, pink calico, and her natty straw hat, the most jauntily-stylish girl he had ever seen, as well as the prettiest.

That was four months ago. Lottie came down to the store frequently. Of course it was a necessity that she should; something was always needed at the house. Certainly John was far too modest to dream that his presence could have the remotest influence on her comings and goings.

But he had not neglected his opportunities. He had talked to her as he tied up her sugar or rolled up her lining cambric and smiled at her from over the kerosene can and the molasses barrel, and Lottie had not been prudishly backward in responding. The first snow found them very good friends indeed.

The one blot on this extremely pleasant companionship was Mr. Lamphier. Whether Mr. Lamphier was guilty of the notion that his clerk was an undesirable party, and therefore a dangerous companion for his daughter; or, whether he was possessed of an ignoble fear of the loss of a good housekeeper; or whether he had merely developed a streak of the unreason and contrariness not entirely unknown to elderly gentlemen who are undergoing their first touches of rheumatism, and feeling the need of an older pair of glasses—what Mr. Lamphier's motive was was doubtful.

But he was plainly opposed to John Stockham's growing admiration for his pretty daughter.

The scene which took place one snowy December morning had come to be a common one.

Lottie came down to the store at a quarter to nine. It was earlier than she generally came, and the fact accounted for the blackness of Mr. Lamphier's frown.

Her new brown dress was extraordinarily stylish and becoming, and John Stockham fairly blushed with delighted admiration at the sight of her.

Lottie had nothing to get but a pound of rice, and it was impossible to be very long about getting that. But Lottie was a young person of ways and means.

"Good-morning, Mr. Stockham," she called out, cheerfully.

John was replenishing the fire at the back of the store.

"Good-morning, Miss Lamphier," he rejoined, with subdued enthusiasm.

Mr. Lamphier's sharp eyes were upon him, and he did not venture to join her.

"What are these, pa?" cried Lottie, immediately. "Do come and show me how they work, Mr. Stockham."

They were patent mouse-traps. It was improbable that Lottie was ignorant of their function, or that John Stockham believed that she was; but he got himself to the front of the store with alacrity.

"It's lovely weather, Mr. Stockham," Lottie observed, forgetting the mouse-trap. "Elegant!"

"Is it?" said John, not brilliantly, but devotedly, looking his admiration of Lottie's bright eyes and red cheeks.

"Oh, yes; the snow's a foot deep, and I had to wade; but I like it."

"Do you like walking alone—by yourself?" John ventured.

"Oh, well, I suppose it would be pleasanter with somebody along," Lottie responded, with her eyes on a row of stove-polish boxes.

"I should say so, decidedly," said John, growing bolder.

"Stockham!" Mr. Lamphier called, snappishly, "please attend to customers."

The "customers" consisted of old Billy Murdock, who came in regularly to sit over the stove, but never bought anything; but John went back obediently.

There was a period of silence, and then a clatter from the front.

"Oh, goodness!" cried Lottie, in a tone of horror. "I've knocked down a box of curtain-fixtures. Mercy! do help me to pick them up!"

John rushed to her side. He did not know whether she had knocked them off purposely, though he hoped she had. Lottie knew; but she looked quite innocently regretful.

They groped about together for the missing curtain-fixtures, among the empty boxes under the counter. Occasionally their hands touched each other.

"We'll never find them all," said Lottie.

"I hope we won't. I'm willing to keep on hunting," John rejoined, with a sly, shy glance at the pretty face near him.

"I've got a lot of things to do at home," said Lottie smiling back at him. "I'm trimming a new hat—"

"You couldn't improve on that one," John put in, with another admiring glance.

"And if I'm going to have rice-pudding for dinner it ought to be going on," said Lottie, musingly.

But she kept on feeling aimlessly about for curtain fixtures.

"I'd be glad to walk home with you if my time were my own," said John, wistfully.

"You've never been to the house, have you?" Lottie queried.

"You've never invited me," John responded, with gentle reproach. "Not that I'd dare to come if you did," he added, with a faint motion of his head toward Mr. Lamphier.

Lottie sighed.

"If you could get an evening off," she suggested, timidly. "Pa isn't home till half-past ten or so, and—"

John turned a radiantly-grateful face upon her.

"You know I'd be delighted, Miss Lamphier," he almost gasped. "I'd—"

"Stockham!" Mr. Lamphier's voice was alarmingly near. "I want that box of spices opened immediately."

Mr. Lamphier's head projected itself over the counter; he glared down at the startled pair beneath it.

John looked at Lottie. There was a daring light in his eyes.

"I'll come this evening."

He formed the words inaudibly with his lips, and hurried away.

Mr. Lamphier slapped the package of rice on the counter, frowningly.

Lottie brushed off her dress, readjusted her veil, extracted a piece of citron from a jar and nibbled at it, and went out, with a parting smile for John Stockham.

If Lottie put on her best dress, and her prettiest ruchings, and her silver hair-pin and bracelets, that evening, after her father had eaten his supper and gone back to the store; and if somebody knocked at the kitchen-door about eight; and if the kitchen resounded for two hours thereafter with pleasant chat, and harmless badinage, and light-hearted laughter—if these things occurred, surely it was nobody's business.

"I don't need to tell you how I've enjoyed the evening, Miss Lamphier," said John Stockham, earnestly, as he rose at last, lingeringly. "I know I shouldn't have come; but—I couldn't help it and I can't be sorry I did."

"Certainly not," said Lottie, with pretty warmth.

"I should like to come again," John pursued; "but of course this isn't the way—"

"I don't care—so now!" said Lottie stoutly. "If pa will be so unreasonable, I don't know what else we can— Goodness! what is that, Mr. Stockham?"

She sniffed the air apprehensively.

John sniffed, too.

"It's smoke!" he declared.

"Mercy! where?" cried Lottie.

"We'll have to investigate," said John, taking up the lamp.

They went into the back entry. It was blue with smoke. Lottie gave a little scream.

"Something's afire," said John Stockham. "Don't be alarmed, Miss Lamphier," he added, solicitously.

He opened the wood-house door. They were choked by the rush of smoke and hot air. Their startled gaze revealed one side of the wood house alive with licking, darting flames.

John Stockham's practical mind worked quickly.

"Where's the sink Miss Lamphier?" he demanded, "and a water pail. Two, if possible. We'll have to work to stop it. Is's got a good start."

They did work. They rushed to and fro with heavy pails of water, half-blinded by the smoke, hot from the flames, dripping with spilled water.

At the end of a confused fifteen minutes, they sat down, exhausted and dizzy, in the doorway, and surveyed the scene.

One wall of the wood-house was burned black. At one point the flames had burst through, and the moonlight came streaming in.

It shone on the recumbent form of a red-faced, blowsy, and obviously inebriated tramp, sleeping peacefully on a pile of kindling wood. It shone on a dirty clay pipe thrust into a little mound of shavings, which still smouldered. It shone, furthermore, on Mr. Lamphier, standing in the wood-house door and staring in Lottie was more than equal to the occasion. She was not a person to let a golden opportunity escape her.

She rushed over to her father and clasped both hands around his arm, with a tragic little shriek.

"Oh, pa," she cried, "just look! Just think what you've escaped! The house would have been burned down in another minute—in one minute—all burned down! Mr. Stockham has saved it. If he hadn't been here and we hadn't smelled smoke and come out here, found the wood-house all ablaze, and worked like anything to put it out, just think what would have happened! It was that horrid tramp. He'd got in here somehow and gone to sleep smoking, and his horrid pipe had set things afire. I'm so glad Mr. Stockham was here—ain't you, pa, dear?"

Mr. Lamphier looked at his daughter and at John Stockham, and at the blackened wall, and at the serenely-slumbering tramp.

"Ah, yes!" he responded. "It was fortunate you happened along, Stockham."

There was a tinge of irony in his tone, and some grimness in his smile; but Lottie did not mind that—nor did John Stockham.

They realized that, by a fortunate turn of events, Mr. Lamphier was defeated, and made to appreciate and admit the fact.

They cared little for the burned beams; they were not conscious of their dripping clothes; the slumbering tramp seemed an angel in disguise.

"Well, it's the way to do," Lottie declared, a few weeks later, when she and John Stockham were safely engaged and Mr. Lamphier had given them his blessing, and intimated that he'd thought of taking a partner, and that John might possibly do—"it's the way to do. If we'd just stood back as meek as mice, and waited for pa to come round and invite you up to the house—Mercy! I can't bear to think of it!"—[Saturday Night.

Stories of Cats.

A pair of Siberian kittens belonging to R. T. Wilson of East Nottingham, Pa., have each a blue and gray eye, and one of them has 22 toes.

The London Field tells of a cat that got nailed in under the floor, where she was 14 days before released, and had had three kittens. The kittens were well nourished, in good condition, with their eyes open. The cat herself was in a state of extreme emaciation.

Three cats of Cape Ann clubbed their kittens together and placed them in one nest in George B. Shepherd's stable. There were 13 of them. Some days two cats would remain at home with the family while another went for food, and at other times but one remained.

A kitten of Portland, Oregon, was seen to charm a rattlesnake. The snake was coiled, and with its head followed every motion of the kitten. The kitten seemed to realize the importance of the situation, and never allowed her attention to wander from the snake. The snake was killed.

A cat belonging to a Scranton (Penn.) man, is extravagantly fond of organ and guitar music, but let her master play on the violin she will dart at him as if seized with a fit, scratch him viciously and squall as though in great pain. As soon as he lays the violin down she will trot up to him, rub her head and back lovingly against his ankles and pur contentedly.

Writing by Electricity.

The wonderful invention of writing by electricity at a distance of fifty miles is thus described by the Pall Mall Gazette: "Out of the top of a box, which is about the size of an ordinary dispatch-box, protrudes what has the appearance of a stylographic pen. This, however, is not a pen, but the handle of the 'transmitter,' and its lower end is fixed to a light brass perpendicular bar. Any motion given by the hand—you hold it just like a pen—to the handle of the transmitter is communicated by this bar to two series of carbon disks contained within the box, and, after various adventures among magnets, etc., is carried again to the top of the box, where it is reproduced exactly by a small ink-holding pen, whose point rests on a white paper tape. A clockwork apparatus pulls this tape along at a gentle pace; and after a little practice you find that it is quite easy to move the handle of the transmitter so that the pen shall write legibly on the moving tape. Now, whatever is written on the tape before you is written simultaneously a mile off, or it may be fifty miles off, on a similar tape, by a similar instrument at the other end of of the wire. The instrument is very compact, and apparently efficient." The inventor is Mr. John Robertson, an American.

Transplanting Teeth.

Transplanting teeth has long been successfully performed by several prominent dentists without any proclamation. The process is painful, tedious, and requires skill and experience. An orifice is bored in the bone, into which the artificial tooth is riveted, the gum soon growing naturally around it.—[New York Times.

THE PHONOGRAPH.

How Edison Has Perfected an Extraordinary Instrument.

A Machine Which Records and Reproduces Human Speech.

To a New York Post reporter Edison, the great inventor, said of his newly-finished phonograph: "You know that I finished the first phonograph more than ten years ago. It remained more or less a toy. The germ of something wonderful was perfectly distinct, but I tried the impossible with it, and when the electric light business assumed commercial importance, I threw everything overboard for that. Nevertheless, the phonograph has been more or less constantly in my mind ever since. When resting from prolonged work upon the light, my brain would revert almost automatically to the old idea. Since the light has been finished, I have taken up the phonograph, and after eight months of steady work, have made it a commercial invention. My phonograph I expect to see in every business office. Their operation is simplicity itself, and cannot fail. The merchant or clerk who wishes to send a letter has only to set the machine in motion, and to talk in his natural voice and at the usual rate of speed into the receiver. When he has finished, the sheet, or 'phonogram,' as I call it, is ready for putting into a little box made on purpose for the mails. We are making the sheets in three sizes—one for letters of from 800 to 1000 words, another size for 4000 words. I expect that an arrangement may be made with the postoffice authorities enabling the phonogram boxes to be sent at the same rate as a letter.

"The receiver of a phonogram will put it into his apparatus and the message will be given out more clearly, more distinctly than the best telephone message ever sent. The tones of the voice in the two phonographs which I have finished are so perfectly rendered that one can distinguish between twenty different persons, each one of whom has said a few words. One tremendous advantage is that the letter may be repeated a thousand times if necessary. The phonogram does not wear out by use; moreover, it may be filed away for a hundred years and be ready the instant it is needed. If a man dictates his will to the phonograph, there will be no disputing the authenticity of the document with those who knew the tones of his voice in life. The cost of making the phonogram will be scarcely more than the cost of ordinary letter paper. The machine will read out the letter or message at the same speed with which it was dictated.

"I have experimented with a device for enabling printers to set type directly from the dictation of the phonograph, and think that it will work to a charm. It is so arranged that the printer by touching a lever with his foot allows five or ten words of the phonogram to be sounded; if he is not satisfied with the first hearing he can make it repeat the same words over and over again until he has them in type. For busy men who dictate a great deal for the press, I am sure that the phonograph will be a necessity after a very little experience.

"For musicians the phonograph is going to do wonders, owing to the extreme cheapness with which I can duplicate phonograms and the delicacy with which the apparatus gives out all the musical sounds. In the early phonograph of ten years ago, which was a very imperfect and crude affair compared to that of to-day, it was always noticed that musical sounds came out peculiarly well; the machine would whistle or sing far better than it could talk. This peculiarity of the phonograph remains. I have taken down the music of an orchestra, and the result is marvellous; each instrument can be perfectly distinguished, the strings are perfectly distinct, the violins from the cellos, the wind instruments and the wood are perfectly heard, and even in the notes of a violin the over-tones are distinct to a delicate ear. It is going to work wonders for the benefit of music-lovers. A piece for any instrument, for the piano, or for an orchestra, or an act, or the whole of an opera, musical instruments and voices, can be given out by the phonograph with a beauty of tone and a distinctness past belief, and the duplicating apparatus for phonograms is so cheap an affair that the price of music for the phonograph will be scarcely worth considering. As the phonogram will be practically indistructible by ordinary use, such music can be played over and over again.

"My first phonograph, as you remember, consisted simply of a roller carrying the foil, and provided with a diaphragm-point properly arranged to scrape or indent the foil. The roller was turned by hand. In the new instrument there is far more complication, but altogether different results. My propelling machinery consists of a small electric motor, run by a very few cells. Strange to say, I have found more difficulty in getting a motor to suit me than any other part of the apparatus. I tried various kinds of clock-work and spring motors, but found them untrustworthy and noisy. The motors I am now making are absolutely steady and noiseless. There is no part of the apparatus, the tools for which I am now making upon a large scale here, which is likely to get out of order or to work in an uncertain manner. The two finished phonographs are practically exactly what I intend to offer for sale within a few months."

Weaving in Biblical Times.

There were not many regular manufacturers among the ancient Jews. There are, however, several beautiful allusions to weaving by Job, but this, like spinning the thread, was carried on as a family employment rather than as a regular trade. It is so now among Eastern nations. The loom and the instruments for spinning are of the plainest and simplest kind. In the description of the virtuous women, Proverbs xxxi., 10, to the end we have a full and minute account of the manner in which these family employments were directed by the mistress. Nor was this only in the families of the lower and middle ranks. In the Greek and Roman histories we read of the wives of kings and generals being thus engaged. Homer, who lived soon after the time of Solomon, describes two queens—Penelope and Helen—employed at their looms. Dr. Shaw found that the women in Barbary at the present day, were the only persons who wove the hykes or upper garments. These were coarse articles and they did not use shuttles, but passed the threads of the woof with their fingers. Solomon's virtuous woman is represented by our translators of the Bible as having clothing of silk; the word rendered silk, according to some authorities should be fine cotton cloth or muslin, as they state silk was then scarcely, if at all, known. Aurelian, the Roman Emperor 1300 years after the time of Solomon, refused his wife a silk gown, because it was too expensive. We can therefore hardly suppose that a Jewish woman of the middle class could have such clothing.

Dining On a Picture.

The early days of Jules Bastien's career were a time of struggle and poverty. He was glad to draw designs for a fashion journal and once he went down to Damvillers and painted forty portraits of the villagers. The cost of living, small as his expenses were, was a serious matter. For the rent of his little attic study he paid fifty dollars a year. He breakfasted upon three sous' worth of bread and two of coffee, with milk. For dinner, at a franc and a half, about twenty-seven cents, he went to the restaurant of Mademoiselle Anna, Rue Saint-Benoit.

In those early days he painted a picture of a peasant girl walking in a forest, in spring, entrapped by Loves who were casting their nets before her feet. This picture was accepted at the Salon in 1873, through the influence of Cabanel, but it was not sold. It was the first painting that Jules Bastien exhibited, and its fate was a curious one. Kind-hearted Mademoiselle Anna understood the needy state of the young artists who visited her restaurant, and Bastien was her favorite. When he lacked the franc and a half for dinner, she cheerfully gave him credit and finally accepted this picture in payment for a year's dinners. Afterwards when the name of the artist became famous, she was offered four times the amount of her bill for her painting, but she refused to part with it, and kept the first work of her protege until her death.—[St. Nicholas.

How Sea Birds Quench Their Thirst.

The question is often asked, "Where do sea birds obtain fresh water to slake their thirst?" But we have never seen it satisfactorily answered until a few days ago. An old skipper with whom we were conversing on the subject said that he had seen these birds at sea, far from any land that could furnish them water, hovering around and under a storm cloud, clattering like ducks on a hot day at a pond, and drinking in the drops of rain as they fell. They will smell a rain squall a hundred miles or even further off, and scud for it with almost inconceivable swiftness.

How long sea birds can exist without water is only a matter of conjecture, but probably their powers of enduring thirst are increased by habit, and possibly they go without water for many days, if not for several weeks.—Golden Days.

Egypt's Ruler.

The Khedive of Egypt is a strict monogamist. He lives with his one wife and children at his palace at Ismalia, near the Nile Bridge. Every morning he rises between 4 and 5 and takes two hours' exercise. Between 7 and 8 he drives to the Abdin Palace, where he holds state receptions, receiving telegrams and attends to the affairs of state.—[Detroit Free Press.

At Sing Sing.

Visitor—"I suppose the convicts are deprived of their valuables when they arrive?"

Warden—"Yes, but even the poorest of them have a watch and chain."—[Siftings.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Applying certain measurements to a scarcely visible film of silver, Herr Wiener arrives at the conclusion that no less than 125,000,000 molecules of silver must be laid in a line to measure an inch.

The amount of force exerted by heat and cold in expansion and contraction of metal is equal to that which would be required to stretch or compress it to the same extent by mechanical means.

The Bank of France has found a valuable detective agent in photography. An enlarged photograph of an apparently genuine check showed plainly that the amount and the name of the payee had been cleverly altered. Suspected coins are photographed with genuine ones, when the counterfeits are revealed by comparison.

An experienced practical builder says that mortar in the interior of walls, especially if it be what is called "rich" mortar, is liable never to harden, but to retain its softness for centuries, though this is only the case when the interior of the wall is hermetically sealed against external air. In England, not long ago, a quantity of soft mortar was dug out of a stone wall that had stood for 800 years. It was as fresh as when placed there.

In some parts of Germany and Austria natural pumice stone has been superseded by an artificial stone, to which a suitable shape can be given and different degrees of fineness of grain obtained, which allows the stone to be used in all the industries where natural pumice stone was formerly employed. The ingredients are white sand, feldspar, and fire clay, mixed in suitable proportions to obtain the desired composition, and the paste is poured into plaster moulds, being finally placed in fire-clay receptacles and baked in ovens.

The interesting statement is made in the last municipal reports of the corporation of Chelsea, near London, that, contrary to what has generally been assumed in the relations of occupation and health, the sewermen of that place show marvellous health and vitality, notwithstanding they spend seven hours daily in the sewers, often in cramped up positions, dealing with offensive and dangerous matter. One of the sewermen, who is now pensioned off, is eighty-six years old, and was a sewerman for more than twenty-eight years; another who is yet at work is seventy four, and has followed his occupation more than thirty years.

Beecher's Peculiarities.

"There was one peculiar characteristic of Mr. Beecher's that I have not seen mentioned in the papers," said an intimate friend of the great preacher, "and that is his occasional lack of confidence in himself. Time and again he has told me that while before an audience at some public meeting, and while awaiting his turn to speak, he was often almost on the point of getting up and going out. 'As I listened to one and another speaker address the meeting,' he used to say, 'I would think, my goodness, I never can make such speeches as those; I'd better leave here at once.' But when he was once once on his feet, all these feelings vanished, of course, and he felt completely at ease. He was always subject to these times of self-depreciation, both in and out of the pulpit. When he first came to Brooklyn he used to go around the back streets just to avoid meeting people whom he might know. He combined with his wonderful vigor and boldness the shrinking timidity of a school girl."

Of Beecher's absent-mindedness, Dr. Searle, his physician, told this story: Mrs. Searle was standing at the parlor window one day when she noticed Mr. Beecher go up Mr. Raymond's stoop, over the way, and ring the bell. Before it was answered, he came down the steps and continued on his way up the street. Seeing Mrs. Searle he crossed over, and with a smile said, "Say, can you tell me where I am going this afternoon?"

"Why, you are going to baptize Mr. Howard's child to-day, are you not?"

"That's it, that's just it," he replied. "But for the life of me I couldn't recall the fact."

"Another instance I recollect," continued the doctor, "happened at his house. I was there at dinner. Major Pond was also present; spoke about a concert that was to be held in New York that evening. Mr. Beecher said he would like to attend it with him. 'But you can't go,' said Mrs. Beecher to him, 'you have an engagement for to-night.' 'Oh, no, I haven't,' he rejoined. 'I am free to-night, and I think I'll go over to the concert.' While she was trying to convince him that he really had some other matter on hand, a carriage drove up to take him to Hoboken where he was booked for a lecture."

In reference to Mr. Beecher's memory the doctor added: "It was marvellously poor. About the only thing that he could remember, he used to say, was the list of prepositions that govern the ablative case in Latin. These he could rattle off like sixty, and did so frequently."

Lullabys.

The afternoon is fair and still,
  Unveering stand the village vanes,
The sunshine sleeps on roof and sill
  And glances from my neighbor's panes
A languid sense of slumber-cheer
  Broods over all things, calm and mild,
And low from o'er the way I hear
  A mother singing to her child.

A mother's love in measures thrills
  The silence of mid-afternoon;
The baby's pouting mouth it stills
  That will not ope to cry or croon;
Soft folded to that tender breast
  The little head lies reconciled,
The songs drift o'er its dreams of rest—
  The mother sings unto her child.

No other sounds are in the air,
  And softly falls those drowsy tunes
Upon my heart like peace and prayer—
  A lullaby of childish runes;
And slumber-strains more low and sweet
  Have never yet to sleep beguiled.
"Rest, little head, and hands and feet!"
  A mother's singing to her child.

—A. W. Bellows in Yankee Blade.

HUMOROUS.

How to serve a dinner—eat it.

A sick thief should have his disease arrested.

Very few persons can hold their own on their first see voyage.

A hotel "beat" that is popular with the patrons—the sound of the dinner gong.

The only man that seems to thrive on procrastination is the one that owes his tailor.

The snail is a paradox. It is proverbially slow, yet its pace is without bound.

A Cincinnati exchange says that smoking produces selfishness. It is also good for hams.

Young man—Will you give assent to my marriage with your daughter, sir?

Old man firmly—No, sir, not a cent.

"Why, Nettie, you have put your shoes on the wrong feet." "What will I do, mamma? They's all the feet I have got."

The counterfeiter, no matter where he goes, is seldom well lodged. At least, it is believed that, where he is, he has bad quarters.

A phrenologist says that fullness under the eye denotes language. The phrenologist must have run across a man who has told somebody else he lied.

Death Comes Like Gentle Slumber.

A commonly fatal disease has a certain benumbing effect on the nerves, so that the dying suffer very little, writes Dr. T. L. Cuyler. Such has been my observation. "I had not thought," said a certain good man, "that it could be so easy to die." As life ebbs away usually sensibility to pain goes with it. So gently did a certain eminent chemist breathe his last that a teaspoonful of milk which he held in his hand was not even upset—the dead man held it still. Death is very often a slow fading out of the faculties, like the coming on of a tranquil twilight. The sense of hearing sometimes remains intensely acute, so that the dying overhear a whisper in the room. "She is sinking very fast," was whispered by an attendant in the dying chamber of a goodly woman. "No, no," was the quick response of her who had overheard the words, "No, I am not sinking. I am in the arms of my Saviour." The sense of sight generally weakens in the process of dying. A medical friend of mine said to his wife: "Set that lamp up closer to me; the room seems to be growing dark." Such were the sensations of Dr. Adam, the learned principal of the Edinburg High School, who fancied himself to be in his school-room, and gently murmured: "Boys, it is getting dark; you may go home." Of deaths on the battle-field a large proportion must be without severe physical agony, for a gunshot wound is apt to numb the sensibilities. When a bullet pierces either the heart or the brain there can be no pain. Probably our glorious martyr, Abraham Lincoln, "never knew what hurt him." Drowning is far from painful. Those who have been resuscitated tell us that their sensations were rather exhilarating.

A Crane Fishing.

A Maine physician says that one day he saw a big crane standing on a log that floated near the shore on the Kennebec river. The crane had captured a large bug, which he dropped into the stream, so that it floated down past him, and then grabbed it and again repeated the performance. He kept this up for nearly half an hour, and then a pickerel darted up from below after the bug. This was just what the bird had been waiting for, and the next moment the fish was down his throat, and he was winging his way slowly up stream.

The Biggest Check.

In the negotiations made some years ago by the English government for a loan of eighty million dollars the successful contractors were the Messrs. Rothschild. In paying the first deposit toward this amount to the government the check they drew was for the sum of six million dollars. This was probably the largest check ever drawn by private banking house.—[Detroit Free Press.

CHILTON VIEW.

Published Every Thursday Morning.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 29, 1887.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

One copy one year	$1.50
One copy six months	75
One copy four "	50

John Johnson killed his brother, Charles Johnson, in a fight in Henry county last week.

Blaine, of Maine, can be counted on as a candidate for President against Cleveland next year.

Vincent has been put to work in the tailor shop at Pratt Mines and will cut and make convict suits to order.

Gen. Kilby Smith, the distinguished Federal soldier, died in New York on the 14th inst., aged 67 years.

An attempt was made last week at St. Petersburg to assassinate the Czar. He was only wounded. Nothing else known.

Joseph Knight, book-keeper of the Manufacturer's National Bank, of Philadelphia, is charged with stealing $60,000 of the bank's funds.

Tom Woolfolk, the greatest criminal in the world's history, will hang on February 10th, for the murder of nine members of his family near Macon, Ga., last summer.

A Selma faith doctor killed a negro woman Monday by cutting off her head with a cavalry sword. He says he did it as a deed of love, as his victim wanted to go. He is in jail.

The protectionists are in the majority in both houses of congress and there is no possibility of a bill passing that would damage the manufacturing interests of the country.

The Republicans are fighting the confirmation of Secretary Lamar as Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. The objections are that he is too old and too indolent.

Two young men who were assisting revenue officers in hunting for moonshiners in the wilds of Marion county, Ala., were shot from ambush last week. One was instantly killed and the other dangerously wounded. Three desperate moonshiners arrested charged with the murder.

The Sub-Tropical Exposition at Jacksonville, Fla., from January to May promises to be an enterprise of no small importance to Florida. The managers have displayed a large amount of unadulterated American "cheek" in requesting us to make a note of the fact, and then inviting us to attend the exposition at our own expense.

Troy Messenger: We learn though a friend that Mr. H. R. Powell, of Dale county, made this year on three quarters of an acre of common land 420 gallons of syrup. At fifty cents per gallon the syrup would be worth $210. If the expense was half that amount then that piece of land paid a big profit. Why plant so much cotton when a diversified crop pays better?

The Montgomery Dispatch thinks that Alabama needs a historian. Editor Horace Hood, the brilliant and versatile "Echoes Man" is daily proving himself worthy and well qualified for the important work of writing a history of the rising young men of Alabama. If Mr. Hood would undertake the work he could give Alabamians a history of the State both interesting and valuable. "Hood's History of the Hustlers" would be alliterative, and in addition its contents would no doubt have a genuine "git up and git" ring.

The Anniston Watchman and the Hot Blast, the Tuskaloosa Gazette, the Tuskegee News and the VIEW are the protection papers in Alabama that admire and appreciate the conservatism, the wisdom and sound policy displayed by President Cleveland in his recent message discussing the tariff. While the high protection journals, being extremists, saw an extreme free trade bugbear in the message, the papers mentioned seem to agree that the document was characterized by wisdom, justice and moderation. Perhaps the President may be wrong in the matter of the internal revenue taxes. The first step in the matter of tariff reduction should be the abolition of all internal taxes, and it is believed that congress will take this view of the question notwithstanding Mr. Cleveland's position.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Neighborhood News Gathered by Our Correspondents.

Maplesville Dots.

The weather is the same all over the county.

Miss Lula DuBose has returned from Selma. She has faithfully attended her brother L. H. DuBose, who has weathered through a spell of five weeks fever. He is now at home, we hope he will soon fit his clothes as neatly as ever.

Mr. Frank Hayes was taken very ill while visiting his mother at this place.

The Mulberry Alliance received a car load of goods at this place. They were purchased in Selma.

The surveying party is about twelve miles from this place, the party will spend Christmas holidays with us. O.

Jemison Locals.

Rev. D. Y. Wyatt, of Shelby county, has accepted the call of the Presbyterian church here. While we regret to give up Dr. Armstrong who has so ably filled this pulpit during the past year, we welcome Mr. Wyatt in our midst.

Rev. Mr. Lindsey's friends are pleased to learn that he has been returned to the Jemison mission by Conference.

Prof. G. L. Speer expects to give a concert in connection with some charades &c., at the closing exercises of his school before the Xmas holidays. Wednesday night is the time and all friends and patrons of the school are cordially invited to be present.

Rev. Henry [illegible] Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., lectured to the Masons here last Saturday night; on Sunday morning he filled the Presbyterian pulpit for Mr. Wyatt and preached a most excellent sermon. Sunday night he delivered a lecture of three hours length on the Holy Land. The verdict of Mr. Coleman's audience was that he knew something to tell and knew how to tell it. He is a Methodist Episcopal minister, stands high in Masonic circles, is a fluent speaker, and has a mind richly stored with information. He has traveled extensively in the East and especially in Palestine in the interests of Masonry, and with a view of studying the Bible in the land where its scenes are laid. His lecture here was filled with valuable information, and though lengthy, delighted and entertained the audience to the end. X. Y. Z.

Verbena Personals.

This whole community was very much shocked, last Sunday afternoon. W. F. Claughton's son Wilbur, aged 13 years, fell from the upper barn floor, some twelve feet to the ground, striking on his head, from the effects of which he died in a few hours. Wilbur was a boy of fine character, and beloved by all who knew him, and the sympathy of every one goes out to the bereaved parents in this sad affliction.

Sunday was doubly sad to us for it brought the sad intelligence of the death of our beloved pastor, Rev. A. J. Briggs. We had just been made happy with the hope of having him another year, and the news of his death was sincerely a grief to us, and we feel his death truly our loss. The good of his excellent sermons will long be felt in the community.

Mrs. Mary Lanier, of Birmingham, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Gibson.

The examinations of the classes of our high school is progressing finely and attests the capability of our professor and his assistants. There will be a concert, Thursday night at the school, and charades, recitations, &c., by the pupils Friday night, which will close the exercises of the school until after the Christmas holidays.

We are glad to see our townsman, Col. Baldwin, out again, and in his usual good spirits after having suffered severely for several weeks from muscular rheumatism or neuralgia.

As Jeanie Deans once said in her memorable address to the Queen; "It is not what we have done for ourselves, but what we have done for others that we think on most pleasantly. Realize this pure pleasure by recommending White's Cream Vermifuge, the best worm medicine ever prepared. It means death to worms, health to children.

Phares Coleman, Esq., of Greensboro, has received the appointment of private secretary to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Supreme Court of Alabama vice Sterling Wood, resigned.

Do not put off until to-morrow that which should be done to-day. Especially in matters pertaining to health procrastination is dangerous. If your children show symptoms of worms, rid them of these intolerable pests by using White's Cream Vermifuge and note the happy effect. The worms will follow and your child experience a speedy relief. Your verdict will be there is no other remedy like this.

I'm going to leave, mum!"

"What for? I am sure I have done all the work myself, in order to keep a girl."

"Well, mum, ther work's not done to suit me!"

In mansions, in wretched tenement houses, in frontier shanties, in the mines, we hear commendatory words of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment because it is a never failing remedy for piles. You have no one to blame but yourself if afflicted with piles, you sit sighing in the chimney corner when a bottle of Tabler's Buckeye Pile Ointment would give relief.

A Sad Occurrence.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—During the performance of "Article 47," by Clara Morris at the Grand Opera House to-night, the play was interrupted by a scene which recalled the famous shooting case in this city some six or seven years ago. Seated in the midst of the large audience was Miss Annie Horton, great-granddaughter of John C. Calhoun, who is now an employe in the Postoffice Department. Several years ago this young woman went to the Treasury Department, where George Morgan, a son of Senator Morgan, of Alabama, was at his desk, and calling the young man out in the street, fired at him repeatedly with a revolver. The shots, however, inflicted only a slight wound, and the young clerk refused to prosecute.

At the end of the first act of "Article 47" to-night, where Miss Morris, as the Creole girl, Cora, is shot by her lover, Miss Horton became violently insane, and had to be taken from the theatre by the police.

It Should Be Supported.

Birmingham Herald: The newspaper is now recognized as the most important factor in the building up of any town or county, and when the paper has met the obligations devolving upon it, by doing all it can to build up the country morally, socially and financially, it then becomes the duty of the town and community for which it labors to give it their hearty support. No community should permit a newspaper to labor for its good without a liberal patronage from the people directly benefitted by its efforts.

Attention R. R. L.

For sprains, bruises, rheumatism, cramps, inflammation, swellings, cuts, burns, etc., in man, and splint, ring bone, windgall, epizootic, scratches, etc. in horses, Rangum Root Liniment is a sure cure. The "King of Liniments" is a universal verdict. Never fails to cure any ailment that can be reached by an external medical application. 50 cents per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

DEEP Sea Wonders exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards, wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

RICHLY Rewarded are those who read this and then act; they will find honorable employment that will not take them from their homes and families. The profits are large and sure for every industrious person, many have made and are now making several hundred dollars a month. It is easy for any one to make $5 and upwards per day, who is willing to work. Either sex, young or old; capital not needed; we start you. Everything new. No special ability required; you reader can do it as well as any one. Write to us at once for full particulars, which we mail free. Address Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

NOTICE NO. 7182.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 27, 1888, viz: Aaron Malachi, Homestead 12966 for the n ½ of s w ¼ sec 36, t 21 n, r 14 e He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Limus Cole, of Kincheon, Ala., Mike Gordan, Ned Houston, William Smitherman, of Energy, Ala.

dec22 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7181.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
December 12, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 27th, 1888, viz: Limus Cole Homestead 13639 for the n ½ of n w ¼ sec 2, township 20 north, range 14 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joacham Rockholdt and Gil Elland, of Kincheon, Ala., Aaron Malachi and Mike Gordan, of Energy, Ala.

dec22* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7171.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 10, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge of the circuit court or in his absence, the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on Jan. 21, 1888, viz: William R. Burnett, Homestead 13927, for the w ½ of ne ¼ and ne ¼ of ne ¼, sec. 26, t 21 n, r 14 e. He names the following witness to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz: Jesse Aldridge, James Mims and Silas Culp, of Clanton, and John R. Kemp, of Kincheon.

dec15 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7145.

U. S. Land Office,
Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 5, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 14, viz: Louisiana Webb, Homestead 19850 for the nw ¼ sec 12 township 21 n r 15 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: John Jones, William Thomas, William Huckaby and Gilbert Driver, all of Cooper's, Ala.

dec8 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

A SPECIFIC FOR

WOMAN'S DISEASES

—SUCH AS—

Painful Profuse. Suppressed Scanty and Irregular

MENSTRUATION or MONTHLY SICKNESS.

If taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided. Send for book "MESSAGE TO WOMEN," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLINS AGUE CURE

HEADACHE.

Nothing relieves a Headache so promptly as Collins' Ague Cure. It cleanses the stomach, promotes action of the liver, and purifies the blood, aiding you to perfect health.

MALARIAL FEVER.

A few doses of Collins' Ague Cure will quickly break up the worst case of Malarial Fever. No other remedy possesses the power of so completely eradicating Malaria from the system. CHILLS and FEVER yield at once to its influence, and the cure is permanent.

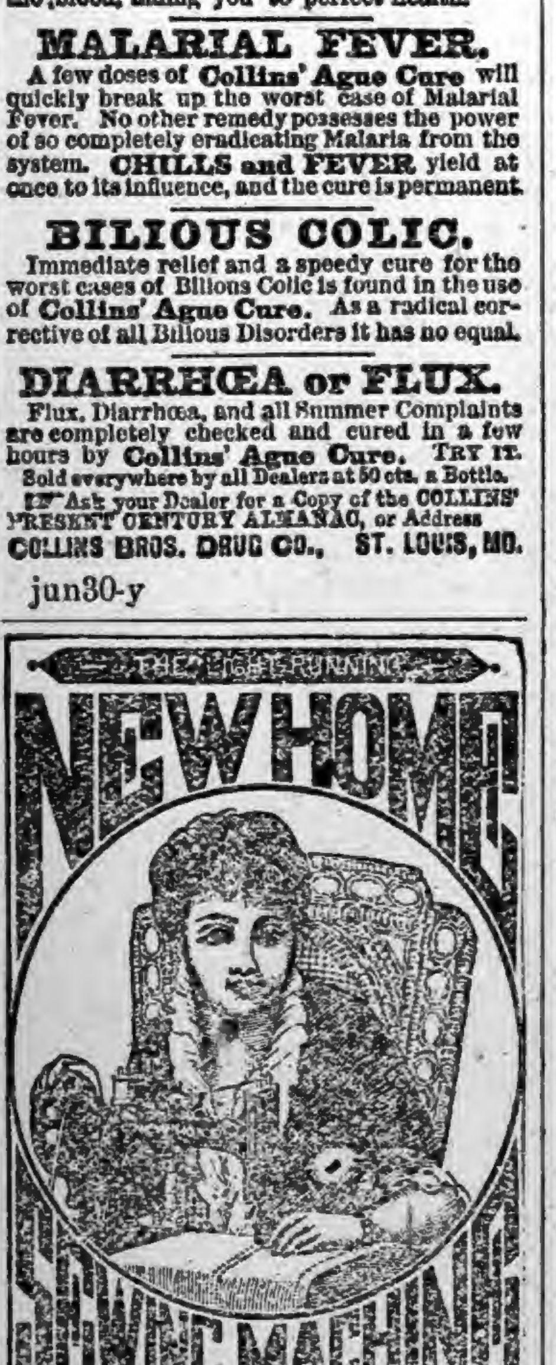
BILIOUS COLIC.

Immediate relief and a speedy cure for the worst cases of Bilious Colic is found in the use of Collins' Ague Cure. As a radical corrective of all Bilious Disorders it has no equal.

DIARRHŒA or FLUX.

Flux, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints are completely checked and cured in a few hours by Collins' Ague Cure. TRY IT. Sold everywhere by all Dealers at 50 cts. a Bottle. Ask your Dealer for a Copy of the COLLINS' PRESENT CENTURY ALMANAC, or Address COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

jun30-y



THE LIGHT RUNNING
NEW HOME
SEWING MACHINE
PERFECT IN EVERY PARTICULAR
NEVER OUT OF ORDER.
NEW HOME SEWING MACHINE CO. ORANGE, MASS.
CHICAGO ILL. — 30 UNION SQUARE, N.Y. — DALLAS, TEX.
ST. LOUIS, MO. ATLANTA, GA. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

aug10-1y

BRICK WORK

J. M. DAWSON,

CLANTON, ALA.

Is prepared to do all kinds of brick work in the best style. The patronage of the public solicited.

feb15-tf]

NOTICE NO. 7015.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 14, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January, 10, 1887, viz: John Carpenter, Homestead 13213 for the n ½ of nw ¼, and nw ¼ of ne ¼ sec 11 township 20 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz: Joel Dennis, Joe Long, Wm. W. Long, Simeon Glenn, all of Wadsworth, Ala.

nov 24 J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7063.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: General F. M. Wyatt Homestead 11305 for the n w ¼ of s w ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Martin M. McKee, James P. Mims, James M. Taylor, and Moses Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7062.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 7, 1888, viz: Martin M. McKee Homestead 13208 for the e ½ of n e ¼ and e ½ of s e ¼ sec 30, township 22 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Daniel Wyatt, James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Enoch A. Knight, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

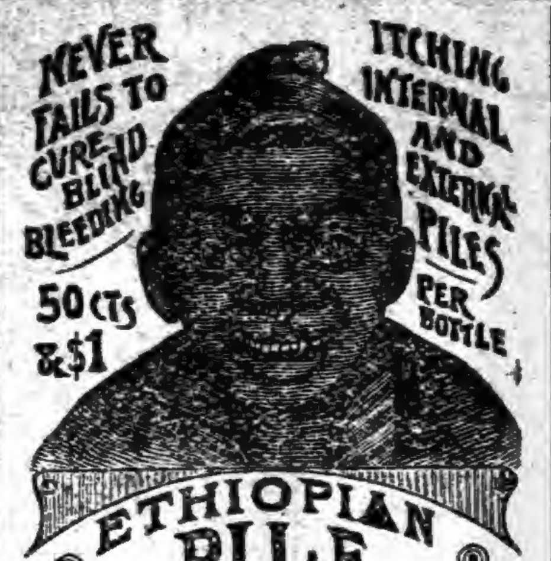
nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 6681.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court, at Clanton, Ala., on January 10, 1888, viz: John C. Arnold, Homestead No. 17903 for the n ½ of s w ¼ sec 26, township 24 n, range 12 east. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Samuel Curry, Eli D. Barfield, Gio G. West, John B. Moore, all of Brierfield, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.



NEVER FAILS TO CURE BLIND BLEEDING
ITCHING INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL PILES
50 CTS & $1
PER BOTTLE
ETHIOPIAN PILE OINTMENT.

RANGUM ROOT LINIMENT

CURES SPRAINS, BRUISES, RHEUMATISM SORE THROAT, SPAVIN SPLINT, RINGBONE EPIZOOTIC, Etc. 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

HODGES SARSAPARILLA

CURES RHEUMATISM, SCROFULA & ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD. $1 PER BOTTLE. 6 FOR $5.

TANNERS INFALLIBLE NEURALGIA CURE

CURES ALL FORMS OF NEURALGIA & NERVIOUS HEADACHE. 50 CTS PER BOX.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

MADE BY RANGUM ROOT MED. CO NASHVILLE, TENN.

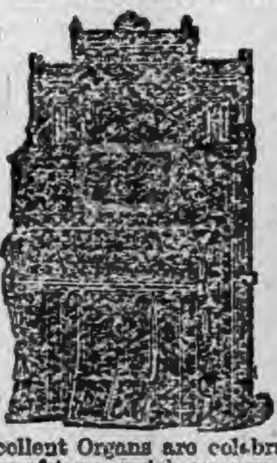
THE

CHICAGO COTTAGE ORGAN

Has attained a standard of excellence which admits of no superior.

It contains every improvement that inventive genius, skill and money can produce.

OUR AIM IS TO EXCEL.



EVERY ORGAN WARRANTED FOR FIVE YEARS.

These excellent Organs are celebrated for volume, quality of tone, quick response, variety of combination, artistic design, beauty in finish, perfect construction, making them the most attractive, ornamental and desirable organs for homes, schools, churches, lodges, societies, etc.

ESTABLISHED REPUTATION,
UNEQUALED FACILITIES,
SKILLED WORKMEN,
BEST MATERIAL,
COMBINED, MAKE THIS

THE POPULAR ORGAN

Instruction Books and Piano Stools.

Catalogues and Price Lists, on application, FREE.

The Chicago Cottage Organ Co.
Corner Randolph and Ann Streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.

L&N

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.

THE GREAT

Through Trunk Line

Between the Cities of CINCINNATI, LEXINGTON, LOUISVILLE, EVANSVILLE, ST. LOUIS, And the Cities of N. ORLEANS, MOBILE and MONTGOMERY, MEMPHIS, NASHVILLE,

Without Change and with Speed Unrivaled

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE

From New Orleans, Mobile and Montgomery, to

NORTH, EAST & WEST

PULLMAN CARS Without change to Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago, with but one change to all NORTHERN AND EASTERN CITIES.

THROUGH COACHES

From Chattanooga and Nashville to St. Louis, connecting direct for Cities in the Northwest.

EMIGRANTS Seeking homes on the line of this road will receive special low rates.

See Agents of this Company for rates, routes &c., or write C. P. ATMORE, G. P. & T. A., Louisville, Ky.

R. P. WOOLEY & CO.,

CLANTON, ALA.,

IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.

M. C. McRee,

—DEALER IN—

Dry Goods, Groceries,

—AND—

General Merchandise.

I am now receiving a new lot of goods which I am going to sell at astonishingly low prices. Try my shoes. I am handling the very best and cheapest shoes manufactured. Try them and be convinced. [aug 25-6

Blacksmithing.

Having purchased the business of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., we have located permanently in Clanton, and are prepared to do all work in the line of blacksmithing and wagon and buggy repairing.

G. W. MARCUS & BRO.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25-6.

BAINS & PEEBLES.

(SUCCESSORS TO BAINS & HERRING.)

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.

Mail and Express Orders Will Receive Prompt Attention.

FINE WINES AND LIQUORS A SPECIALTY.

1926 FIRST AVENUE, BETWEEN 19th and 20th STREETS,

Birmingham, Ala.

☞ Fine Stock of Chess Carley's Oils at Company's Prices. ☜

P. O. BOX 570. June 10 y

CORBETT BROS.

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURERS AT NASHVILLE PRICES OF

HARNESS AND SADDLES,

—AND DEALERS IN—

Lap Robes, Horse Blankets,

AND - YELLOW - SLICKERS.

1914 Second Ave., bet. 19th and 20th Streets,

—BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—

BLOOM,

The Tailor, of Montgomery, Ala.,

—DOES—

Dyeing, Scouring, Cleaning, and Repairing

Of Gents' and Ladies' garments of all colors.
Orders by Mail or Express will receive prompt attention.
Prices to suit the times. Work Guaranteed.

NO. 5 Court Street, Upstairs, - - - Opposite Dollar Store.

Thompson, Francis & Chenoweth,

Birmingham, Ala.

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE,

Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, oil and glass, Cement and Plaster, Mantles and Grates.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE!

WE ARE OPENING CHEAP

SEED RICE for PLANTERS,

AND POLISHED RICE FOR TABLE USE,

CRACKED CORN for STOCK,

The best feed on the market. No danger of colic. We can furnish

BOLTED MEAL

IN LARGE OR SMALL LOTS. COW FOOD A SPECIALTY, AND CHEAP.

SHIVERS & WISE,

mar24-y] SELMA, ALABAMA.

T. T. ASHFORD, President. J. E. MALAHY, Vice-President. T. L. McGOWAN, Sec'y and Treas'r.

Birmingham Paint, Glass and Wall Paper Co.

Office and Salerooms, 1912 Second Avenue. Depot and Warehouse Morris Avenue and 14th Street.

Birmingham, Alabama.

Jobbers and Retailers of

PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, WALL PAPER,

Plate, Skylight and Colored Glass,

Artist and Painters' Supplies, Cornice Poles, Mirrors and Mirror Plates, Picture and Room Moulding.

☞ MANUFACTURERS OF PICTURE FRAMES. ☜

We solicit trade from Chilton and adjoining counties. Write for Catalogue of Prices. Estimates for Paper Hanging and Decorating furnished.

WE EQUALIZE FREIGHT WITH MONTGOMERY.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

☞ The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are without exception the cheapest books ever published in any land or language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself:

Wonders of the World, NATURAL AND OTHER. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive.

Wonders of the Sea. A description of the many wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with profuse illustrations.

"A Pleasure Exertion," and Other Sketches. By "JOSIAH ALLEN'S WIFE." A collection of irresistibly funny sketches by the most popular humorous writer of the day.

The Aunt Keziah Papers, by CLARA AUGUSTA, author of "The Bugg Documents." A most ridiculously funny book —in every way equal to "Widow Bedott."

Christmas Stories, by CHARLES DICKENS. Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Each one is complete.

Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, puzzles and games, for the little folks at home.

Popular Recitations and Dialogues, humorous, dramatic and pathetic, including all the latest, best and most popular.

The Self-made Men of Modern Times. Contains portraits and biographies of famous self-made Americans, from the time of Franklin to the present.

Familiar Quotations. Containing the origin and authorship of many phrases frequently met in reading and conversation. A valuable work of reference.

Low Life in New York. A series of vivid pen pictures showing the dark side of life in the great city. Illustrated.

The Road to Wealth. Not an advertising circular, but a thoroughly practical work, pointing out a way by which all may make money, easily, rapidly and honestly.

One Hundred Popular Songs, sentimental, pathetic and comic, including most of the favorites, new and old.

Sir Noel's Heir. A Novel. By MRS. MAY AGNES FLEMING.

A Bartered Life. A Novel. By MARION HARLAND.

An Old Man's Sacrifice. A Novel. By MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS.

The Forellini Rubies. A Novel. By M. T. CALDOR.

The Old Oaken Chest. A Novel. By SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

The Pearl of the Ocean. A Novel. By CLARA AUGUSTA.

Hollow Ash Hall. A Novel. By MARGARET BLOUNT. Illustrated.

Cliffe House. A Novel. By ETTA W. PIERCE.

Under the Lilacs. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne."

The Diamond Bracelet. A Novel. By MRS. HENRY WOOD. Illustrated.

The Lawyer's Secret. A Novel. By MISS M. E. BRADDON.

The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. A Novel. By R. L. STEVENSON.

A Wicked Girl. A Novel. By MARY CECIL HAY.

Lady Valworth's Diamonds. A Novel. By "THE DUCHESS."

Between Two Sins. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

The Nine of Hearts. A Novel. By B. L. FARJEON.

Doris's Fortune. A Novel. By FLORENCE WARDEN.

A Low Marriage. A Novel. By MISS MULOCK. Illus.

The Guilty River. A Novel. By WILKIE COLLINS.

The Poison of Asps. A Novel. By FLORENCE MARRYAT.

Moat Grange. A Novel. By MRS. HENRY WOOD.

Forging the Fetters. A Novel. By MRS. ALEXANDER.

A Playwright's Daughter. A Novel. By MRS. ANNIE EDWARDES. Illustrated.

Fair but False. A Novel. By the author of "Dora Thorne." Illustrated.

Lancaster's Cabin. A Novel. By MRS. M. V. VICTOR. Illustrated.

Florence Irvington's Oath. A Novel. By MRS. MARY A. DENISON. Illustrated.

The Woman Hater. A Novel. By DR. J. H. ROBINSON. Illustrated.

The California Cabin. A Novel. By M. T. CALDOR.

☞ We will send any four of the above books by mail post-paid upon receipt of only 12 Cents; any ten for 25 Cents; any twenty five for 50 Cents; the entire list (40 books) for 75 Cents; the entire list bound in boards, with cloth back, for $1.10. This is the greatest bargain in books ever offered. Do not fail to take advantage of it. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Postage stamps taken for fractions of a dollar. As to our reliability, we refer to any newspaper published in New York, likewise to the Commercial Agencies. All orders filled by return mail. Address all letters: F. M. LUPTON, Publisher, No. [illegible] Murray Street, New York.

sep 5-y

CHILTON VIEW.

CLANTON, ALA., DEC. 29, 1887.

THE VIEW is published every Thursday morning, and will endeavor to cover the field of reputable country journalism. It will show no quarter to the deceitful, the immoral or the ungodly. It will always be good natured, although it can bite if necessary.

Those answering advertisements will confer a favor by mentioning this paper.

A cross mark (X) after your name means that your subscription is due and that we would be glad to have you renew.

COURT CALENDAR.

Chancery—First Thursday after the first Monday in March and September and continue three days.

rcuit—Third Monday after the Monday in February and on the Monday after the fourth Monday July, and continue two weeks each e.

mmissioners'—Regular term sec- Monday in February and August, rst Monday in April and Novem- ecial term second Monday in

First Monday in each month.

LE S. & N. ALA. RAILROAD. ass Clanton daily, as follows:

GOING SOUTH.

t	5:45 a. m.
	5:47 p. m.
	6:47 a. m.
5	6:22 p. m.

GOING NORTH.

No. 2	9:15 a. m.
No. 12	6:22 p. m.
No. 4	9:41 p. m.
No. 6	8:45 a. m.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

We predict pleasant weather for the holidays.

Subscribe for your county paper with the New Year.

R. P. Woolley has a supply of nice ribbon cane syrup. Try it.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure is gentle in action, and warranted a certain cure. 50 cents a bottle.

Mr. W. L. Sampey will leave for Tuskegee Sunday, to visit his wife's relatives.

Miss Burwell is spending Christmas in Clanton with her sister, Mrs. Lee Holt.

The danger of a malarial atmosphere may be averted if you will occasionally take a dose of Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure.

Several of our young people who are off at school are expected home the last of the week.

Mrs. W. L. Sampey, of this place, is spending Christmas with relatives in Tuskegee.

Mr. W. H. Foshee and family, of this place, are spending the holidays with relatives in Arkansas.

A disordered condition of the stomach, or malaria in the system will produce sick headache, you can remove this trouble by taking Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25 cts. per vial.

The contractor is giving the county a good job in the new bridge just below the McLin residence.

CHILTON VIEW and Montgomery Advertiser one year for $2.25 in advance. A premium with every subscription.

Send a Christmas card to your friends at a distance. You can find a nice collection of them at the VIEW Stationery Stand.

The parade of the Young Men's Fantastic Club on Monday afternoon next promises to be the biggest event of the holidays.

Don't fail to attend the Oyster Supper to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Chuch on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27th, at the Courthouse.

Christmas! Christmas!!

Don't lose your opportunity to select from the largest, best and cheapest stock of first class toys in town. Come and see.

C. L. PHILLIPS.

Appetite and sleep may be improved, every part of the system strengthened and the animal spirits regain their bouyancy by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

Mr. B. T. Rasberry and Mrs. M. A. Wilson, of Strasburg, were united in marriage, by Judge Callen, at that place on Tuesday. The VIEW extends congratulations.

If you want first class confectioneries or groceries, Christmas toys &c., call on Mrs. M. A. Butler & Bro., where you can buy them as cheap as anywhere in town. Call and see them before you buy elsewhere. They also give the best market price for chickens and eggs.

Christmas Goods.

I have just received a nice lot of toys, fire-works, candies, &c., for the holiday trade. Also a new lot of dry goods and notions. I keep the best Patent flour that can be had anywhere at $5.50 per barrel. Clothing at reduced prices to close out what I have in stock.

Respectfully,
W. L. SAMPEY.

John B. Roden, of 1908 2d Avenue, Birmingham, the old reliable bookseller and stationer, has a new advertisement in the VIEW to which attention is directed.

A difficulty occurred between two brothers, sons of Mr. Sam Caton, at Strasburg on Monday evening, which resulted in one being seriously cut by the other. He was stabbed just below the heart and also disemboweled.

Sudden change of temperature and humidity of the atmosphere often produce disorders of the kidneys and bladder. Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm to check these troubles in their incipiency.

Frequently accidents occur in the household which causes burns, cuts, sprains and bruises; for use in such cases Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment has for many years been the constant favorite family remedy.

Rev. Henry R. Coleman was delayed by the high waters and did not reach Clanton in time for the promised lecture Thursday. He reached here Friday morning and delivered a lecture to the Masonic Fraternity Friday night at the Lodge Hall.

Our Holiday Supplement.

We present a supplement to our readers with this issue which they will find filled with choice and interesting reading suitable for the Xmas tide. No paper will be issued from the office next week except to legal advertisers.

Undue exposure to cold winds, rain, bright light or malaria, may bring on inflamation and soreness of the eyes. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve will subdue the inflamation, cool and soothe the nerves, and strengthen weak and failing Eye sight. 25 cents a box.

Uususpected disorders of the kidneys are responsible for many of the ordinary ailments of humanity which neglected, develop into a serious and perhaps fatal malady. Experience would suggest the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

A movement is on foot to have the entertainment of the Young Men's Fantastic Club at the courthouse Monday night. Several married ladies' will be requested to act as chaperons and their names will be printed on the invitations so that no question can be raised as to the propriety of young ladies attending.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd, of Clanton, are the parents of a child, two months old, that weighs only two pounds; at its birth it weighed only six ounces. The child is said to be enjoying perfect health. —Advertiser's State News.

This is a base canard. No such family and no such happening at Clanton. The Advertiser did not obtain the item from the VIEW.

A beautiful woman must be healthy, and to remain healthy and beautiful she should take Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. It imparts tone and flush to the skin, strength, vigor and pure blood; is equally adapted for all ages, from the babe to the aged, of either sex.

If the stomach performs its functions actively and regularly the food of which it is the receptical, is transformed into blood of a nourishing quality, which furnishes vigor and warmth to the whole body, the remedy to give tone to the stomach is Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier.

A Sacred Present.

We were shown the other day a beautiful mother-of-pearl cross manufactured in Bethlehem, suitable as a necklace charm, which was a present from Rev. H. R. Coleman, Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky A. F. & A. M., to little Mary Duke, youngest daughter of Mr. O. A. Duke, of Clanton. The gift was accompanied by the following lines explaining its sacredness and value:

This cross to you I here present,
From Bethlehem to you is sent.
I brought it from the very place
Where Jesus came to see our race:
May cross to you in time be light,
While Christ by faith appears in sight,
And when on earth you lay it down
May you in heaven receive the crown.

H. R. C.

Death of Rev. A. J. Briggs.

Rev. A. J. Briggs, pastor of the Methodist churches at Clanton and Verbena, died at his home at Robinson Springs on last Saturday. We can scarcely write of this sad event. Mr. Briggs had a warm place in the hearts of the people of this community. A man of sterling merit and great force of character with an enlightened christian conscience, he made a deep and lasting impression for good wherever he was known. He was reappointed to this charge by the conference in session in Greensboro last week. He was taken ill while attending the conference, and was carried to his home at Robinson Springs where he died as stated. His death has left an aching void in the hearts of those friends who loved him for his noble qualities of heart and mind.

We are not informed as to what steps will be taken by the Verbena and Clanton churches to fill his place.

SOL. D. BLOCH & CO.

2017 FIRST AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA.

Cotton Factors, Commission Merchants

MANUFACTURERS' AND INSURANCE AGENTS.

—AND DEALERS IN—

Bagging, Ties, Cotton Gins, Etc.

Birmingham as a cotton market is now fully established. We have buyers, a new $100,000 compress now working, and our freight rates are so reduced as to enable us to successfully compete with any market.

We carry a large stock of bagging and ties, and we will make liberal advances on cotton shipped to us. We are also lessees of the large Compress Warehouse, and will handle on commissions all kinds of country produce, hides, beeswax, live stock, &c. Will also make purchases for our customers.

We solicit cotton shipments from the merchants and planters of Chilton and adjoining counties.

Now is the Time

to use Hodges' Sarsaparilla with Iodide of Potash, the great purifier for the blood. A certain cure for rheumatism, scrofulous affections, and all diseases peculiar to females. Renovates and invigorates the system. Physicians recommend it. Take no other. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Let everybody remember that we are in Clanton to keep the public supplied with fresh meats of all kinds, and will be found at our stand, next door to M. C. McRee's every day.

2t CARGILL & JONES.

EPO

Don't waste time and money and undergo needless torture with the knife when when Ethiopian Pile Ointment will afford instant relief and certain cure in every case of blind, bleeding, itching, internal and external piles. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Strayed

From my house, in this county, on the 15th inst., a bay mare, right hind foot white, drooped hips, a few white saddle marks on back and about 14 to 15 hands high. Nine years old. In good condition. A suitable reward for finding.

B. S. WILLIAMS,
Verbena, Ala.

The opening chapters of a splendid story for the young, by the famous showman, P. T. Barnum, appears this week in the columns of the New York Family Story Paper. The story describes the adventures of an American boy, whom Mr. Barnum calls "My Plucky Boy Tom," and whom he sent to India in search of wild, fierce, and rare animals to replace those destroyed by the disastrous fire at Bridgeport last month. The reader is thrilled by the hair-breadth escapes of this dauntless American boy when capturing the fiercest and wildest animals ever seen in any traveling show. The New York Family Story Paper is for sale at all news stands.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

Assignee's Sale.

Under the power contained in the deed of assignment executed to me by W. M. Wilson, successor of the late firm of W. M. Wilson and Brother, on the 6th day of December, 1887, for the benefit of his creditors, I will proceed to sell at the late place of business of the said W. M. Wilson in the town of Clanton, Ala., at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, January 2d, 1888, one lot of Merchandise and store fixtures, including scales, show cases and one large fire proof safe.

W. E. STEWART,
Assignee of W. M. Wilson.
W. A. COLLIER, Att'y.

Grand Raffle!

A $1500 DWELLING.

Only $3 a Chance.

The residence of James Bell in Clanton is to be raffled at THREE DOLLARS A CHANCE, with 500 chances. This residence is most conveniently situated about 300 yards from the Courthouse. It contains five rooms, and a well of excellent free stone water is on the premises, together with all necessary outhouses. The building is a new and substantial structure having been erected only two years. The lot is one acre in extent. Titles good. Drawing will take place as soon as the tickets are all sold. Tickets for sale at the VIEW STATIONERY STAND.

HERE I AM!

I have opened at my old stand in Clanton

A New Stock of Goods!

And I propose to sell them at the lowest cash prices. Call on me and secure bargains in groceries and family supplies. Respectfully,

J. W. EDWARDS.

Machine fixtures always on hand

G. E. WILLIAMS,
BLACKSMITH
—AND—
WHEELWRIGHT.
CLANTON, ALA.

Horse-shoeing done, wagons, buggies, &c., repaired, and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me a trial.

TINC

Don't suffer any longer, but use Tanner's Infallible Neuralgia Cure, the only infallible cure on earth for all forms of neuralgia and nervous headache. Rangum Root Medicine Co., Manufacturers, Nashville, Tenn 50 cents per box. Sold by all druggists. sep 1

Money to Loan!

We are prepared to negotiate mortgage loans on farming lands in Chilton county in sums of three hundred dollars and upwards. Rates cheap and negotiations speedily concluded. Apply to or correspond with

A. D. BENTLEY,
Att'y at Law, Clanton Ala., or
H. L. WILLIAMS,
ma5 1y Att'y at Law, Wetumpka.

INVENTION has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no special ability required. Capital not needed; you are started free. Cut this out and return to us and we will send you free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. Grand outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effect and does not blister. Read proof below.

Orange Mills, Fla., June 30, 1886.
Dr. B. J. Kendall Co.

Gents:—I have used your Kendall's Spavin Cure and it is wonderful to say the least. Yours respectfully,

J. L. CRARY.

From the "Spirit of the Times," June 26, 1886. The old idea that a spavin was incurable has given way before the improvements made by modern science. Among these wonderful improvements must be mentioned the most successful remedy ever discovered for the cure of this disease, Kendall's Spavin Cure, one that is certain in its effect, and will not blister. It is prepared by Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburg Falls, Vt., and has received praise on every hand for its thorough and reliable work in cases of spavin or hock lameness. It is a certain cure for rheumatism, enlargement of the joints, corns, etc., while blood spavins and bursal enlargements promptly disappear on its use. It is a standard remedy among horse owners and breeders, where its work has often been proven. It is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle or six for $5, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Assessor's Notice.

I will attend the following named places on the days here named for the purpose of assessing the taxes of Chilton county for the year 1888:

Dixie	Beat	8 Monday,	January	2
Valley Creek	"	8 Wed'sday,	"	4
R. Latham's	"	7 Friday,	"	6
Maplesville	"	7 Saturday	"	7
Macedonia	"	3 Tuesday	"	10
D. Wooley's	"	2 Wednesday	"	11
Concord C'h	"	2 Thursday	"	12
Providence	"	2 Friday	"	13
S. E. Busby's	"	2 Saturday	"	14
Jemison	"	2 Monday	"	16
Busbee's Mill	"	3 Tuesday	"	17
Strasburg	"	4 Wed'sday	"	18
Jno. Archer's	"	1 Thursday	"	19
D.H. Mullin's	"	1 Friday	"	20
Jas. Smith's	"	4 Saturday	"	21
Cane Cr'k C'h	"	4 Monday	"	23
Clanton	"	4 Tuesday	"	24
Clanton	"	4 Wed'sday	"	25
Pleas. Grove	"	6 Thursday	"	26
Benson	"	8 Friday	"	27
Verbena	"	5 Tuesday	"	31
Joe Alred's	"	5 Wed'sday	Feb'y	1
Cooper's	"	5 Thursday	"	2
Kincheon	"	6 Friday	"	3
Chamber's Mill,	beat	6, Saturday	"	9

W. A. SMITH, Tax Assessor.

NOTICE NO. 7060.

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James H. Taylor, Homestead 11273 for the e half of n e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n, range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his contintinuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: James P. Mims, General F. M. Wyatt, Daniel Wyatt, Thomas J. Bates, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

NOTICE NO. 7061.

Land Office at Montgomery, Ala.,
November 22, 1887.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the judge or in his absence the clerk of the circuit court at Clanton, Ala., on January 9, 1888, viz: James P. Mims, Homestead application 11247 for the west half of n e ¼, the n e ¼ of n w ¼ and n w ¼ of s e ¼ sec 6, township 21 n range 16 e. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land viz: James H. Taylor, Martin M. McKee, General F. M. Wyatt, and Daniel Wyatt, all of Cooper's Station, Ala.

nov24* J. G. HARRIS, Register.

Good News for Everybody!

JOHN B. RODEN,
THE OLD RELIABLE
BOOKSELLER & STATIONER
1908 2d Avenue, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.,

Now proposes to sell at actual cost for cash only, his entire stock of Books, Writing Papers, Albums, Plush Goods, Bronze and Leather Goods, and in fact everything in his mammoth store for cash to make a change in his business. Same price to everybody. Do not wait, but call at once. Remember 1908 2d Avenue, Birmingham, Ala.

This Space Belongs to

A. J. BROOKS,
VERBENA, ALA.

Who can give you bargains in anything you may want to buy.

JOEL WHITE, Bookseller and Stationer,
—MONTGOMERY, ALA.—

Large Stock! Low Prices!

Everything in the Book, Stationery and Blank Book line. Fancy Goods, Toys, Xmas Goods, Gifts for Children, Gifts for all ages. Special attention of all Merchandise Dealers is called to my Blank Book Stock.

GOODS THE BEST. PRICES THE LOWEST.

☞ No trouble to answer inquiries. ☜

IF YOU WANT NICE FRESH GROCERIES CALL ON

W. H. SARTOR,
FIRST DOOR WEST OF THE DRUG STORE, MAIN STREET,
Clanton, Ala.

☞ In addition to everything in the Grocery line I also carry a nice stock of fresh Stick and Fancy Candies, Fruits and other Confectioneries. Highest market price paid in trade for Country Produce. mar4

LOMB & HERSHEY CO.,

We offer you the benefit of more than 20 years' experience and claim to be the only firm in the South who sell uniformly at Manufacturers' net prices. Don't pay more for old goods than we ask for new.

We shall continue to deal in Railroad Supplies, every style and size of Engines, Boilers, Saw Mills, Tools and Equipments for Foundries and Machine Shops; Wood-working Machinery; Brick Machinery, and all kinds of Plantation Machinery and Implements. The best Cylinder and Lubricating Oils at reasonable prices our specialty.

☞ Office Corner First Avenue and 21st Street, Birmingham, Ala.

DAVIN MACHINERY COMPANY,
Machinery & Mill Supplies,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

ENGINES, BOILERS, SAW MILLS, CORN MILLS, SHINGLE MACHINES, CORN MILLS, SUGAR MILLS,

COTTON GINS, COTTON PRESSES, PULLEYS, SHAFTING, BELTING, and MACHINISTS' SUPPLIES.

Largest Stock in the State.

Write for Circulars and Prices. [oct27y]

TROY STEAM LAUNDRY,
Nos. 17 & 19 N. Lawrence Street,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
P. O. BOX 282.

☞ Orders by mail are solicited and will receive prompt attention.

A. J. MASSEY,
OPERATIVE AND MECHANICAL DENTIST.

Teeth extracted without Pain. Inserting teeth a specialty.

☞ Will go far and near.
Clanton and Rockford, Ala. [aug18-6

W. A. Ricketts,
—DEALER IN—
Guns and Ammunition,
GUN AND LOCKSMITH,
205 20th St., BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

BANDMAN & CO.,
Wholesale Grocers,
P. O BOX 251,
1st Avenue, bet. 18th and 19th Streets,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
Jan 13 6m

TRESSLAR,
Artistic Photographer
10 COURT SQUARE,
Montgomery.

Life Size Photographs a Specialty.

Photographs, on Silk, Satin and Linen
Photographs on watch dials.
Enameled Photographs.

All Sittings made Instantaneously.
Old Pictures Copied and Enlarged.

☞ Correspondence solicited. ☜
[Jan21-tf]

Nabers & Morrow,
Wholesale Druggists,
FIRST AVENUE,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
MEDICINES,
Fine Wines, Liquors,
Oils, Etc.

☞ Agents for Chess Carley & Co.'s Oils. [june 10]

J. M. Hutchason's
BOARDING, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

Select Dray and Plantation Mules constantly on hand.

Draying and Hauling Promptly Attended to

Always ready to take Contracts for filling in Dirt

Moving Stone, Engines, Boilers, Machinery and other heavy hauling.

RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS AND DAMAGE.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. Handsome Carriages and Double Teams, with or without Drivers.

☞ MONTGOMERY STABLES, ☜
Lawrence Street, Opp. P. O.,
Telephone 446. july

J. H. SHEPHERD
THE LEADING
PHOTOGRAPHER.
—OF—
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
NORTH SIDE SECOND AVENUE
(Between 19th and 20th Sts.)

Photographs of All Kinds
Work Done in the
BEST STYLE.

Call on him and have your picture taken. [mar24-y

M. ISRAEL,
Leading Tailor.
1900½ Cor. 1st Ave. and 19th Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Keeps constantly in stock a full line of

Elegant Goods.

ready to be made up in the latest style and with the best workmanship. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a trial. [mar 24-y

T. M. Edwards,
—DEALER IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES.
Cor. Main St. and Railroad Ave.
CLANTON, ALA.

☞ Call on me before purchasing elsewhere.

RUBBER STAMP with your name in Fancy Type, 25 Visiting Cards, and India Ink to mark Linen, only 25cts. (stamps.) Book of 2000 styles free with each order. Agents wanted. Big pay. THALMAN MFG Co., Baltimore, Md.

COME TO JEMISON
And Buy Your Goods at the CHEAP CASH STORE
—OF—
LANGSTON, HAND & COMPANY,
NO SHODDY GOODS!
LOW PRICES
"QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS" IS MY MOTTO.
I can sell you Anything you want to buy, and will pay Highest Market Price for your Cotton and Produce.

MINERAL CITY TIN AND STOVE HOUSE.
SECOND AVE. BETWEEN 18th AND 19th STREETS,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
PAT WALSH, Manager.
A Large Line of HEATING and COOKING STOVES always on hand
ALL KINDS OF
Tin, Sheet Iron Roofing and Job Work
DONE ON SHORT NOTICE.
Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. nov-11

Butler & Gatchell,
922 Broad Street, SELMA, ALA.
CHEAPEST PLACE in the State for SCHOOL BOOKS, Blank Books, Writing Paper, Gospel Hymns, Hammocks, Base Ball Goods, Pictures and Picture Frames, Photograph and Autograph Albums,
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS,
Sheet Music and Scrap Books,
Rubber Stamps made to order. Mail or telegraph orders promptly attended to. Subscriptions received for any paper or magazine published. (mar 24-1y

THOROUGH BUSINESS EDUCATION.
Bryant and Stratton } THE LOUISVILLE Business College,
Corner Third and Jefferson Streets. Entrance, No. 406 Third Street.
LOUISVILLE, KY.
BOOK-KEEPING, BANKING, PENMANSHIP, TELEGRAPHY, SHORT-HAND AND ENGLISH TRAINING.
For Catalogue Address College as Above.

JOHN P. LEEPER.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
DOORS, SASH AND BLINDS STAIR RAILS,
Balusters, Newel Posts, Etc.
Office and Warerooms, cor. Morris Avenue and 22nd Street,
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
YOUR ORDERS SOLICITED.

H. H. BARCLIFT & CO.
—DEALERS IN—
DRY GOODS & GROCERIES
CORNER SECOND AVE. AND SPRING STREETS,
Avondale, Ala.
When you are in the city be sure to call on us, and the prices we will quote you, will cause you to buy whatever you may need in the Dry Goods or Grocery line. [mar 24-1y]

C. J. HADAWAY,
25 DEXTER AVENUE, Opposite the Post Office, MONTGOMERY, ALA.
Saddles & Harness, Coll rs & Pads, Whips & Lashers, Robes
AND BLANKETS. SUCCESS COLLAR PADS.
-HORSE BRUSHES.-
Will take Old Harness in exchange for new ones.
—REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS DONE.—
Nov. 17-6m]

ADVERTISE NOW.
We will insert you a nice, well-displayed advertisement at as low rates as any first-class paper can afford to do. Advertising rates made known on application.
SUPPORT YOUR HOME PAPER.

CLIPPINGS FOR THE CURIOUS.

A young Mexican girl is soon to appear in the arena as a bull-fighter.

Books in their present form were invented by Attalus, king of Pergamus, in 887.

By an inundation at Dort, Holland, in 1447, seventy-two villages were swept away and 100,000 people perished.

The first known circulating library is said to be that of St. Pamphilus of Cæsarea, who in 309 A. D., collected 30,000 volumes to lend out.

The origin of spinning, weaving and dyeing is ascribed by the Egyptians to Isis, by the Greeks to Minerva, and by the Peruvians to the wife of Manco Copac.

The Roman Empire ended with the taking of Rome by Odoacer, who was made king of Italy, A. D., 476. This was 1229 years after the building of the "Eternal City."

A railroad station agent at Dunkirk, New York, in his leisure time has whittled out of 280 pieces of wood a perfect model of a locomotive and tender. He was five months at the job.

It is said that hawks are frequently seen flying southward on the approach of winter, but are never seen on the return flight, though found again in the north when the winter is past.

A gold nugget weighing 22 1-2 ounces and valued at $500 was picked up by George Liles on his placer claim at Atlanta, Idaho. It was the largest nugget ever found in the territory.

There is a watch in a Swiss museum only three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, inserted in the top of a pencil case. Its little dial indicates not only hours, minutes and seconds, but also days of the month.

The building of railroads in Mexico has been accompanied by a singular phenomena. Wherever the rails are laid rain follows, and where there are no rails there has been a drought. The fact is said to be well authenticated.

A weeping rose tree in a garden at Roosteren, Holland, is so large that thirty performers lately gave a concert under its branches. It is sixty-five feet in circumference, and was estimated to have 10,000 roses at the time of the performance.

"Would Kiss the Hand," &c.

Maurice Barrymore is an Englishman, says a New York Sun writer. His courage is invincible and his wit perpetual. He has a good temper, but once in a while he gets ruffled. Such was the case one night last spring when young Mr. Van Brunt looked at him for a long while in a chophouse, and then expressed a deep contempt for actors in general, and Barrymore in particular. The actor overlooked the first affront or two, but finally Van Brunt became so pointed in his remarks that there was no evading them. He is a good amateur sparrer. Barrymore stepped up to him politely and said in a most engaging voice:

"Perhaps, sir, you would like to step outside and repeat this conversation."

"With all the pleasure in life, sir" said Van Brunt, delightedly, as he winked at his friends. They all trooped out to Twenty-sixth street. It was about 3 o'clock in the morning, and the moon was shining brightly. Van Brunt took off his coat and winked at his friends. Barrymore asked Van Brunt if he was ready, and he replied that he was. It must have been two minutes later when Van Brunt was carried into Paul's chophouse by Barrymore and his friends, and raw beefsteak and oysters were applied humanely to his swollen jaw, blackened eyes, and generally beaten exterior.

"Who on earth," gasped Van Brunt when he had sufficiently recovered to recall what had happened, "is that man?"

"Maurice Barrymore, the actor, formerly champion middle-weight boxer of all England."

"Ah, champion of all England, eh?" said the amateur, drawing himself up as much as possible, and looking more content. "Then this is no disgrace."

Home, Sweet Home, in Dakota.

A gentleman hunting for land in Dakota came across a boarded-up claim shanty with half-a-dozen boards across the door, upon which were the following touching inscriptions: "Four miles from a nayber. Sixty miles from a postofis. Twenty-five miles from a raleroad. A hundred atey from timber. 250 feet from water. God bless our home. We have gone east to spend the winter with my wife's folks."

Very Encouraging.

"Do you think, doctor, we will have the cholera here in New York this winter?" asked an inquisitive man of a New York health officer.

"I have studied the matter closely," replied the official with great deliberation, "and it is my opinion, from all I can gather, that if our present exemption from cholera continues for six months we will not have any cholera this winter."---[Texas Siftings.

After Hours.

Blind Man.—Do you know that man going down the street.

Deaf-and-Dumb-Man---Slightly, just merely to speak to. Do you know him?

Blind man---Not personally---only by sight.---[Texas Siftings.

A Western Delivery.

Customer (to Nevada hotel proprietor) ---What have you got in the way of game, landlord?

Landlord (rubbing his hand appetizingly)—Well, sir, I can get you up a couple of nice grasshoppers on toast.

"A THREE-TIME WINNER."

Has Hanlan Lost His Grip?—Philosophical Training Demanded.

The defeat of "Ned" Hanlan by Teemer at Toronto in August indicates the "end of the glory" of the doughty champion.

He has sustained his record with admirable pluck and success, but the tremendous strain of years of training must certainly some day find its limit.

Apropos of this we recall the following interesting reminiscence of aquatic annals:

On a fine, bright day in August, 1871, an excited multitude of 15,000 to 20,000 persons lined the shores of the beautiful Kenebecassis, near St. John, N. B., attracted by a four-oared race between the famous Paris crew of that city and a picked English crew for $5,000 and the championship of the world. Wallace Ross, the present renowned oarsman, pulled stroke for the Blue Nose crew, and "Jim" Renforth, champion sculler and swimmer of England and of the world, was stroke in the English shell.

Excitement was at fever heat.

But three hundred yards of the course had been covered when the Englishmen noticed that the rivals were creeping away.

"Give us a dozen, Jim," said the veteran Harry Kelly, ex-champion of England, who was pulling No. 3 oar.

"I can't boys, I'm done," said Renforth, and with these words he fell forward, an inanimate heap in the boat.

"He has been poisoned by book-makers," was the cry, and belief.

Everything that science and skill could suggest for his restoration was tried; but after terrible struggles of agony, the strong man, the flower of the athletes and pride of his countrymen, passed away.

The stomach was analyzed but no sign or trace of poison could be found therein, though general examination showed a very strange condition of the blood and the life-giving and health-preserving organs caused by years of unwise training. While the muscular development was perfect the heart and kidneys were badly congested.

The whole system was, therefore, in just that state when the most simple departure from ordinary living and exertion was of momentous consequence. His wonderful strength only made his dying paroxysms more dreadful and the fatality more certain.

Hanlan is now in Australia. Beach, champion of that country, is a powerful fellow, who probably understands the liability of athletes to death from over-training, the effect thereof being very serious on the heart, blood and kidneys, as shown by poor Renforth's sudden death.

Within the past three years he has taken particular care of himself, and when training, always reinforces the kidneys and prevents blood congestion in them and the consequent ill-effect on the heart by using Warner's safe cure, the sportsman's universal favorite, and says he "is astonished at the great benefit."

Harry Wyatt, the celebrated English trainer of athletes, who continues himself to be one of the finest of specimens of manhood and one of the most successful of trainers, writes over his own signature to the English Sporting Life, September 5th, saying: "I consider Warner's safe cure invaluable for all training purposes and outdoor exercise. I have been in the habit of using it for a long time. I am satisfied that it pulled me through when nothing else would, and it is always a three-time winner!"

Beach's and Wyatt's method of training is sound and should be followed by all.

Boisterous Little King.

The baby king of Spain, having reached the mature age of 17 months was on hand at the opening of the Cortes. His royal legs being yet two weak to support him with the dignity becoming a monarch, he sat on his mother's knee during the drive from the palace, and on entering the Cortes was handed over to a buxom and gorgeously attired Astrurian nurse. His majesty resented the change by grabbing at his nurse's hair and her gold and silver bangles. They managed to pacify him, however, and he allowed himself to be taken into the senate house without a protest. Here there was a mighty gathering of princes, grandees, ambassadors and legislators, many superbly apparelled and blazing with decorations and jewels. His majesty did not seem to like the look of things, and commenced to whimper. The queen, looking regal indeed in black velvet robes and diamond coronet, had him placed in the nurse's arms alongside of her on the throne dais. He stopped whimpering for a while, and kept his big eyes fixed on his royal mother's coronet, but when the queen commenced to read her speech in a dignified and measured tone to the grand assembly, King Alfonso XIII, possibly thinking he was being scolded, protested audibly. The gorgeous nurse strove to pacify him and succeeded for a moment. When, however, reference was made to Spain's cordial relations with other powers, his majesty sobbed loudly, and the sobbing developed into a howl as his mother spoke of her friendly feelings to the sultan of Morocco. Happily at this critical moment King Alfonzo's eye was caught by the glittering decorations on the breast of old Marshal Concha, upon which he gazed in silent ecstasy until the ceremony had concluded. Then when the queen got into her carriage and clear of all the grand people, she hugged the baby and said he had been a good boy, just as any other mother would have done.

Woman's Inhumanity.

The state of Indiana has a separate prison for females, which is under woman's management. It has been suspected that great indignities and cruelties were heaped upon the inmates and a recent investigation shows that the stories have not been at all exaggerated. A witness before the investigating committee of the Legislature said: "I could tell you things which would make the very hair stand on your head—how the poor girls are knocked down, handcuffed, bucked and gagged and thrown into a little dark, damp cell and kept there for a week, two weeks, three weeks on four slices of old bread and two cups of water a day and three or four old comforters to lie on."

Atrocious.

The most inhuman punishment of a child by its parents ever brought to light in this country, was in the case of a small colored boy of Boston, Mass., who was examined by the municipal court of that city. The boy was punished for going skating without permission, by being placed with his bare feet upon a hot stove until his soles were blistered. The father confessed the atrocious deed, but said that he was compelled to do something to keep the child at home.

A CANADIAN challenge for the America's cup is talked of, but does not alarm our yachtsmen. Unlike the Yankees, Canadians seem ready to take to the sea for the love of it, and their entire yacht fleet would make but a poor showing beside that of any one of a dozen American clubs.

"The Proper Study of Mankind is Man," says the illustrious Pope. If he had included woman in the list he would have been nearer the truth if not so poetical. Dr. R. V. Pierce has made them both a life study, especially woman, and the peculiar derangements to which her delicate system is liable. Many women in the land who are acquainted with Dr. Pierce only through his "Favorite Prescription," bless him with all their hearts, for he has brought them the panacea for all those chronic ailments peculiar to their sex; such as leucorrhœa, prolapsus and other displacements, ulceration, "internal fever," bloating, tendency to internal cancer, and other ailments. Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

A foggy day in London caused the consumption of 5,000,000 feet of gas more than usual.

If afflicted with sore eyes use Dr. Isaac Thompson's Eye-water. Druggists sell it at 25c. per bottle.

The Crime of Lella Burgess.

The Savannah News says:—There is a girl named Lella Burgess serving a life term in the Dade County coal mine, the story of whose crime is somewhat strange. Her father, James Burgess, lived near Martin, in the western part of the State. He had two daughters, the youngest of whom was Lella. About three years ago he joined the church, and became a regular church attendant. He was pained to see that his two daughters, now grown to young womanhood, did not care to attend the religious service with the regularity that he did, and where all should have been concord the bitterest kind of discord grew up. After a while Burgess told the girls that a revival was about to open, and that he expected them to attend every service, and if they did not there would be somebody to whip. For three mornings the girls failed to appear at the "sunrise" meetings. On the fourth morning Burgess pulled the girls out of bed and began to chastise one of them severely. When he had beaten her into submission he began on the other. Lella, who was the first one chastised, slipped out of the room, procured an axe, and with one stroke buried the edge of it in her father's skull. The gash was five inches long and penetrated the brain half an inch. Afterwards the girl sat looking sullenly at the dead body of her father, oblivious of the crowds which pressed in to behold the scene of blood. She was convicted of the highest grade of manslaughter, and took her place among the convicts uncomplainingly, merely saying that she would commit the crime over again before she would be compelled to go church so early in the morning.

THE MOUTH.—A New York photographer poses the mouths of his female patrons before the camera by making them say some word over several times while the picture is being taken. He has different words for different styles of mouths. When a pleasant, bland and serene mouth is wanted he makes the woman say "bosom." If, however, a haughty and distinguished attitude of mouth is wanted, she says "brush." "Flip" makes a large mouth look small, and "cabbage" enlarges the mouth. An air of interesting melancholy is caused by the pronunciation of "kerchunk," and for an expressoon of sweetness and resignation "s'cat" is the most proper word.

A Wonderful Food and Medicine,

Known and used by physicians all over the world. SCOTT'S EMULSION not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food that builds up the wasted body. "I have been using Scott's Emulsion for several years, and am pleased with its action. My patients say it is pleasant and palatable, and all grow stronger and gain flesh by the use of it. I use it in all cases of wasting diseases, and it is specially useful for children when nutrient medication is needed, as in Marasmus."—T. W. PIERCE, M. D., Knoxville, Ala.

The importation of silver ore from Mexico to El Paso, Tex., was 6,762 tons in one month.

Blowing Up Hell Gate

has been a laborious and costly work, but the end justifies the effort. Obstructions in any important channel means disaster. Obstructions in the organs of the human body bring inevitable disease. They must be cleared away, or physical wreck will follow. Keep the liver in order, and the pure blood courses through the body conveying health, strength and life; let it become disordered and the channels are clogged with impurities, which result in disease and death. No other medicine equals Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" for acting upon the liver and purify the blood.

A released convict in Nebraska has sued his lawyer for $30,000 for malpractice.

No Trouble to Swallow

Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" (the original "little liver pills") and no pain or griping. Cure sick or bilious headache, sour stomach, and cleanse the system and bowels. 25 cts. a vial.

De Lesseps says that the Panama Canal will be open by 1890.

We would be pleased to know of a man or woman who has never had headache or been subject to constipation. As these seem to be universal troubles a little advice may be in order. Why should persons cram their stomachs with nauseating purgative pills, etc., which sicken and debilitate, when such a pleasant and sterling remedy as Prickly Ash Bitters will act mildly and effectively on the liver, kidney, stomach and bowels, and at the same time tone up and strengthen the whole system, causing headache, constipation, and all such distressing evils to quickly disappear.

ITCHING PILES.—Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in many cases removes the tumors. It is equally efficacious in curing all Skin Diseases. DR. SWAYNE & SON, Proprietors, Phila. By mail for 50 cents. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT for sale by druggists.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C., 181 Pearl St., N. Y.

Like Fainting Ladies.

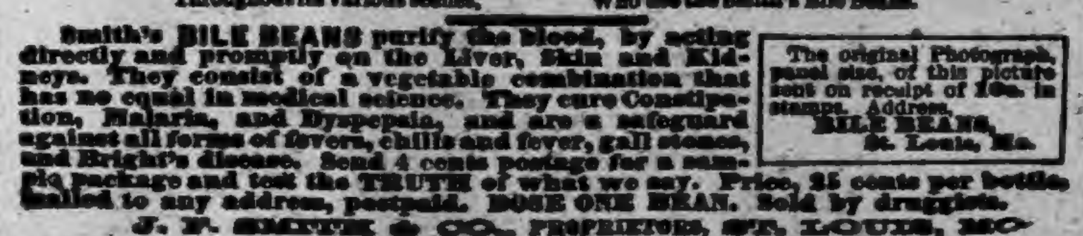
Why are good resolutions like fainting ladies? They should be carried out, and parents should not forget the resolutions that would never suffer them to be without that cough and croup cure, Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

Taylor's Hospital Cure," is a positive, pleasant and painless remedy for Catarrh. Sent on ten days' trial. If it does not meet the requirements, the money will be returned. Address, City Hall Pharmacy, 264 Broadway, New York. Free pamphlet.

Pains and Aches
In various parts of the body, more particularly in the back, shoulders and joints, are the unwelcome indications that rheumatism has gained a foothold, and you are "in for it" for a longer or shorter period. Rheumatism is caused by lactic acid in the blood, and is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eradicates every impurity from the blood and fills it with richness and health.
"I used Hood's Sarsaparilla last spring, and can truly say it helped me very much. To those suffering with bilious complaints, nervous prostration or rheumatism I heartily recommend it."—MRS. E. CARPENTER, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1, six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar

FREE for 1 yr. on trial LUM SMITH'S (16 pp) Herald, Phila., Pa. Send 12c for 1 year's postage, and join our Conundrum Club. Big Prizes.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION



This represents a healthy life,
Throughout its various scenes,
Just such a life as they enjoy
Who use the Smith's Bile Beans.

Smith's BILE BEANS purify the blood, by acting directly and promptly on the Liver, Skin and Kidneys. They consist of a vegetable combination that has no equal in medical science. They cure Constipation, Malaria, and Dyspepsia, and are a safeguard against all forms of fevers, chills and fever, gall stones, and Bright's disease. Send 4 cents postage for a sample package and test the TRUTH of what we say. Price, 25 cents per bottle, mailed to any address, postpaid. DOSE ONE BEAN. Sold by druggists.
J. F. SMITH & CO., PROPRIETORS, ST. LOUIS, MO.

The original Photograph, panel size, of this picture sent on receipt of 10c. in stamps. Address,
BILE BEANS,
St. Louis, Mo.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!
BRODIE'S ENGLISH SPECIFIC is a certain and infallible cure for Asthma, in every stage. It not only gives immediate relief, but is a sure and permanent cure. Since introduction, it has a Record of 3,700 cures in 60 days. So certain are we of its power to cure, that we will send it to you by mail, FREE for trial. It never fails. If suffering, send your name and address at once to
GEO. L. PFLUME & CO.,
P. O. Box 828. 30 Richmond St., Cincinnati, O.

A PROMINENT MERCHANT WRITES.
I Was Bound to Keep Trying as Long as Life Lasted.
WORTHVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 19, 1887.
Dr. Kilmer, Dear Sir—I wrote you some time ago about my case, without the least faith that you could do anything for me, as I had six different physicians and got no relief, and was repeatedly told that I could not be cured, but I was bound to keep trying as long as life lasted. I was urged by my wife to write you about my case, as I did in the spring. You wrote me to try your Swamp-Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder cure. I used it as directed and the result was, before I had taken the third bottle I was entirely cured, and have been gaining ever since. My case was a Hemorrhage of the Bladder, which had been draining my life for two years, and I can say to-day that I can eat, sleep and work better than I have before in twenty years. I say God bless you, and may the afflicted do as I have done. Use Swamp-Root and be healed.
Yours truly,
GEO. D. MACOMBER.
Don't neglect early symptoms. At druggists $1.00 per bottle, 6 bottles $5.00, or by express, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The best and surest Remedy for Cure of all diseases caused by any derangement of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels. Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilious Complaints and Malaria of all kinds yield readily to the beneficent influence of
PRICKLY ASH BITTERS
It is pleasant to the taste, tones up the system, restores and preserves health.
It is purely Vegetable, and cannot fail to prove beneficial, both to old and young.
As a Blood Purifier it is superior to all others. Sold everywhere at $1.00 a bottle.

KIDDER'S
DIGESTYLIN
A SURE CURE FOR
INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA.
Over 5,000 Physicians have sent us their approval of DIGESTYLIN, saying that it is the best preparation for Indigestion that they have ever used.
We have never heard of a case of Dyspepsia where DIGESTYLIN was taken that was not cured.
FOR CHOLERA INFANTUM.
IT WILL CURE THE MOST AGGRAVATED CASES.
IT WILL STOP VOMITING IN PREGNANCY.
IT WILL RELIEVE CONSTIPATION.
For Summer Complaints and Chronic Diarrhœa, which are the direct results of imperfect digestion, DIGESTYLIN will effect an immediate cure.
Take DYGESTYLIN for all pains and disorders of the stomach; they all come from indigestion. Ask your druggist for DIGESTYLIN (price $1 per large bottle). If he does not have it send one dollar to us and we will send a bottle to you, express prepaid. Do not hesitate to send your money. Our house is reliable. Established twenty-five years.
WM. F. KIDDER & CO.,
Manufacturing Chemists, 83 John St., N. Y.

MARVELOUS
MEMORY
DISCOVERY.
Wholly unlike artificial systems.
Any book learned in one reading.
Recommended by MARK TWAIN, RICHARD PROCTOR, the Scientist, Hons. W. W. ASTOR, JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Dr. MINOR, &c. Class of 100 Columbia Law students; 200 at Meriden; 250 at Norwich; 350 at Oberlin College; two classes of 200 each at Yale; 400 at University of Penn, Phila.; 400 at Wellesley College, and three large classes at Chatauqua University, &c. Prospectus POST FREE from
PROF. LOISETTE, 237 Fifth Ave., New York.

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES COLD IN HEAD CATARRH ROSE-COLD HAY-FEVER DEAFNESS HEADACHE PRICE 50 CENTS ELY BROS. OWEGO N.Y. U.S.A.
YOU WILL SAVE MONEY, Time, Pain, Trouble and will CURE
CATARRH
BY USING
ELY'S CREAM BALM.
Apply Balm into each nostril.
Ely Bros., 235 Greenwich St., N. Y.

JONES
HE PAYS the FREIGHT
5 Ton Wagon Scales,
Iron Levers, Steel Bearings, Brass Tare Beam and Beam Box for $60.
Every size Scale. For free price list mention this paper and address
JONES OF BINGHAMTON,
BINGHAMTON, N. Y.

4 MAGAZINES FOR THE YOUNG
from baby to grown ups; best for the several ages; Babyland, The Pansy, Our Little Men and Women, Wide Awake. What do they cost? Send 15 cents for samples of all or 5 for any one. You can get them all, if you like, for a little work.
D. LOTHROP COMPANY, BOSTON.

AGENTS Send for E. B. TREAT'S new books, including MOTHER, HOME, and HEAVEN prose and poetry; by 400 best authors 146,000 sold. Elegantly Ill., $2.75. Send $1 for outfit. Also 5000 Curiosities of the Bible, $2.00, By Mail. E. B. TREAT, 757 Broadway, N. Y.

WANTED---LADIES.
In City or Country, for our Holiday Trade, to take light, pleasant work at their own homes. $1. to $3. per day can be quietly made, work sent by mail any distance. Particulars free. No canvassing. Address at once CRESCENT ART CO., 147A Milk St., Boston, Mass. P. O. Box 5170.

SOLDIERS all get Pensions, if ½ disabled; Officers' travel pay, bounty collected; Deserters relieved; 22 years' practice. Success or no fee. Laws sent free. A. W. McCormick & Son, Washington, D. C.

Blair's Pills. Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy.
Oval Box, 34; round, 14 Pills.

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $1.50, FREE. Lines not under the horse's feet. Write Brewster Safety Rein Holder Co., Holly, Mich.

$230 A MONTH. Agents Wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample Free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

Pensions to Soldiers & Heirs. Send stamp for circulars. COL. L. BINGHAM, Att'y, Washington, D. C.

HOME STUDY. Book-keeping, Penmanship, Arithmetic, Shorthand, &c., thoroughly taught by mail. Circulars free. BRYANT'S COLLEGE, 457 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE By return mail. Full Description Moody's New Tailor System of Dress Cutting. MOODY & CO., Cincinnati, O.

FOR MAN
AND BEAST!
Mexican Mustang
Liniment
PENETRATES MUSCLES to the VERY BONES. TRY IT!

'88.
FOR the year 1888 Frank Leslie's POPULAR MONTHLY, which has been aptly styled "The Monarch of the Monthlies," will be better than ever. Articles upon topics of current public interest; sketches of eminent persons; strong and brilliant stories; poetry of a high order; all profusely illustrated, and by writers of recognized merit, will fill its pages. To the old and favorite corps of contributors will be added writers of promise, and no effort will be spared to keep the magazine in the foremost rank.
In the November number was begun an earnest and powerful tale,
PRINCE LUCIFER,
By ETTA W. PIERCE,
which has already attracted widespread attention, and charmed multitudes of readers. Subscriptions may begin, if desired, with the November number.
Each issue contains a
Full-Page Picture in Colors,
the series of twelve forming for the year a beautiful collection of gems of modern art.
The POPULAR MONTHLY contains 128 large octavo pages, nearly twice the matter of similar publications, and is not only the best but by far the cheapest of any of the magazines for the people.
$3.00 per Year; 25c. a Copy.
SPECIMEN COPIES, 15 CTS.
MRS. FRANK LESLIE,
53, 55 and 57 PARK PLACE, NEW YORK.

ROUGH ON RATS
TRADE MARK
DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE
Gone Where the Woodbine Twineth.
Rats are smart, but "Rough on Rats" beats them. Clears out Rats, Mice, Roaches, Water Bugs, Flies, Beetles, Moths, Ants, Mosquitoes, Bed-bugs, Hen Lice, Insects, Potato Bugs, Sparrows, Skunks, Weasel, Gophers, Chipmunks, Moles, Musk Rats, Jack Rabbits, Squirrels. 15c. and 25c. Druggists.
"ROUGH ON PAIN" Plaster, Porosed, 15c.
"ROUGH ON COUGHS." Coughs, colds, 25c.

ALL SKIN HUMORS CURED BY
ROUGH ON ITCH
"Rough on Itch" Ointment cures Skin Humors, Pimples, Flesh Worms, Ring Worm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Itch, Ivy Poison, Barber's Itch, Scald Head, Eczema. 50c. Drug. or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City.

ROUGH ON PILES
Cures Piles or Hemorrhoids, Itching, Protruding, Bleeding, Internal and external remedy in each package. Sure cure, 50c. Druggists or mail. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

EXHAUSTED VITALITY
A Great Medical Work for Young and Middle-Aged Men.
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE
KNOW THYSELF.
PUBLISHED by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass. WM. H. PARKER, M.D., Consulting Physician. More than one million copies sold. It treats upon Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline, Exhausted Vitality, Impaired Vigor, and Impurities of the Blood, and the untold miseries consequent thereon. Contains 300 pages, substantial embossed binding, full gilt. Warranted the best popular medical treatise published in the English language. Price only $1 by mail, postpaid, and concealed in a plain wrapper. Illustrative sample free if you send now. Address as above.

ASTHMA
BRONCHITIS, HAY FEVER, and all Diseases of the BLOOD, can be cured only by DR. HAIR'S SYSTEM of Treatment, which is now recognized by the medical world as the only one that will positively and permanently cure Asthma, its kindred affections and all blood diseases. Not only does it excel all other methods in giving quick relief, but it absolutely cures the worst cases permanently. Thousands have been cured by it. Convincing and conclusive proof will be found in my 64 page Treatise, sent free.
Dr. B. W. HAIR, 233 W. FOURTH ST., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St. New York.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO.
JEWELERS.
Atlanta, Ga.
Send for Catalogue.

BUSINESS
Education a specialty at MOORE'S BUSINESS UNIVERSITY, Atlanta, Ga. One of the best schools in the Country. Send for Circulars.

AGENTS WANTED to sell NOVELTY RUG MACHINES and RUG PATTERNS, for making Rugs, Tidies, Hoods, Mittens, etc. Machine sent by mail for $1. Send for late reduced price list. E. Ross & Co., Toledo, O.

$100 to $300 A MONTH can be made working for us. AGENTS preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

PATENTS Obtained. Send stamp for Inventors' Guide. L. BINGHAM, Patent Attorney, Washington, D. C.

OPIUM Morphine Habit Cured in [illegible] No pay till cured. [illegible] Lebanon, Ohio.

PENSIONS [illegible] and Heirs. [illegible] R. H. GELSTON & CO., Washington, [illegible]

GOLD [illegible]